A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 163 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

Agents wanted in every town and county in the Dominion. $100 to $200 a month easily made. For further particulars address

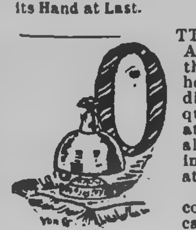
LEGISLATION SHELVED!

NO REMEDIAL LEGISLATION THIS YEAR IS THE DECISION.

After Long and Animated Discussion the Cabinet Decides to Delay the Enforcing of the Remedial Order—The Government Shows its Hand at Last.



OTTAWA, July 5.—Another meeting of the Cabinet is being held this forenoon to discuss the school question. It begins at ten o'clock, and all the Ministers now in the city were in attendance.

The Public Accounts, which was called this morning, was cancelled to allow the Ministers to attend the Cabinet meeting.

DOUBT AS TO A DECISION.

There are all kinds of reports in circulation as to the result of today's meeting, but it is indeed very doubtful if any decision will be reached today, and that although Mr. Foster promised to give a statement to the House, it is very doubtful if he will be able to do so before Monday next.

It is, however, expected that some line of action will be reached at today's meeting. The question whether there will be a bill or no bill will likely be decided upon.

This matter being once got over, the details will be got over in due course.

The French Ministers told the Quebec Conservative members to be all on hand today, as they might be required, but they were not told why they were wanted.

YESTERDAY'S DIVISION.

It is said that yesterday's meeting of the Cabinet stood as follows:

For remedial legislation: Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Sir Adolphe Carron, Sir Charles Tupper, and Messrs. Ouimet, Angiers and Costigan.

Against remedial legislation: Messrs. Haggart, Foster, Montague, Daly, Dickey, Ferguson and Sir Frank Smith.

This would make seven against and six for, there being thirteen ministers present. Sir Frank Smith is in favor of a commission.

NO LEGISLATION.

OTTAWA, July 5.—It is learned semi-officially that it was decided at today's Cabinet meeting that there will be no remedial legislation this session, and a statement will be made in the House to this effect.

In this connection it is said there will be a fall session for this purpose. This means nothing, since meantime there will be dissolution.

POLITICAL JOURNALS.

One of the features of the whole Manitoba school case has been the attitude of the Toronto political journals toward the crisis existing since the Manitoba Legislature resumed two weeks ago to consider the reply to the remedial order.

The leading Conservative paper, the World, was the first to acknowledge the existence of a crisis. The next day the Globe took the same line, and both have daily related the latest phases of what the whole country knew to be a most critical situation.

On the other hand, the Mail, which is the Conservative organ, but by no means a newspaper, and hence a very inefficient champion of the Conservative cause, has played the ostrich act, it put its dear, stupid old head in the sand, and in its own peculiar way denied the existence of a crisis, poking poor fun at the newspapers which it described as manufacturing the critical idea in their own imagination.

THE MAIL WAKES UP.

Only a day or two ago the Mail had its head in the sand thus, but today it has one side of its cranium exposed, and one eye has caught a glimpse of the crisis. Its Ottawa editorial says:

"For five hours the Cabinet was in session today considering the grave and important issue. It met at ten and rose at three. The committee meetings which required the presence of Ministers were cancelled and the same course of action has been taken for tomorrow. It is abundantly plain, therefore, that the Government is concentrating all its efforts towards a solution of the issue with which it is now face to face. In the corridors, the school question is the only subject discussed and of it everyone is talking. Not a day passes now without the leader of the House of Commons being interrogated on the floor of the House as to the policy of the Administration.

"DOUBTLESS DISCUSSED."

"From the very best authority the correspondent of the Mail and Empire has it that absolutely nothing in the nature of finality was reached today. The subject was doubtless discussed in many of its bearings, and it may be taken for granted that an effort was made to lay down a basis on which conciliatory action will be possible. That progress is being made may be inferred from the fact that the Council will resume tomorrow where it left off today, with the possibility of reaching a conclusion before the House meets tomorrow. The cry that there is a crisis, which has again gone forth, has much more foundation today than it had a week ago, when the matter was absolutely not before the Government. The present is admittedly a critical time. It is by common consent regarded as a moment when moderation on the part of our public men alone can ensure the permanence and stability of the policy that commends itself to the majority of Canadians. How far this has been exercised in the inner Council of the nation the events of a few days at most must make clear.

A GRAVE SITUATION.

There is no disregarding the gravity of the situation, yet the Liberals, through their press, are calling for a hasty decision. Tonight their local organ here declares for greater speed, and accuses the Government of procrastination. It has not yet had forty-eight hours to consider the most embarrassing question that has arisen since Confederation, yet here the Liberals are using their prints to convince the advocates of Separate schools at once to strike for their pound of flesh.

By no means the least ridiculous statement in that owl like, organic guff is the assertion that this question, which the whole country has been discussing since the Manitoba Government sent out its answer ten days or more ago, has not been before the Ottawa Cabinet.

A Trolley Accident.

TORONTO, July 5.—Rev. W. F. Wilson, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, went home by a back street today. He was stepping off a trolley at the corner of Richmond and George streets, when he lost his footing. He was thrown a considerable distance, and his trousers were badly torn, his boot was laid open and his silk hat was smashed. Mr. Wilson was fortunate enough to escape without receiving any personal injuries beyond a few scratches.

LYNCHED A COLOURED PREACHER.

Committed an Assault Upon a White Woman —Horribly Mutilated.

Special to the Times.

LAKE CITY, Fla., July 5.—At Hope Henry, at a colored church five miles west of here, a party took Robert Bennett, a young colored preacher from the pulpit, carried him a short distance off and lynched him. When the body was found by the roadside the brains were shot out, the throat was cut and both ears were cut off. A protracted meeting was in progress at the church and the preachers and congregation had all gone to sleep awaiting and awatching with "mourners in a trance," and it was just before daybreak when the party entered and roused Bunnett who was asleep in the pulpit and dragged him out over another preacher and took him away. His offence, it is said, was an assault upon a white woman in Suwanee County recently and from there the lynchers are said to have come. The usual warning was left attached to the body.

SIX ASPHYXIATED.

By the Accidental Turning on of a Gas Jet in the Sleeping-Rooms.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, July 5.—Six people, members of the same family, were asphyxiated by gas last night and were found dead in their beds today. The dead are: Frederick Hellman, bricklayer, 36 years old; Ida Hellman his wife; Fritz Hellman, aged 12; Ida Hellman, aged 10; William Hellman, aged 8; Hedwig Hellman, aged 4. The family lived at 601 Cornelia street. The deaths are supposed to have resulted from an accidental turning on of a gas jet in the sleeping rooms.

IMPALED ON A STAKE.

Horrible Accident to a Farmer in His Barn.

Special to the Times.

LYONS, N.Y., July 5.—Charles Bastian, a North Lyons farmer, was unloading hay with a patent hay fork in his barn. At each corner of his wagon was a sharp stake. In walking back and forth he fell upon one stake, so that the stake struck him under the chin, and penetrated through the chin, palate, floor of the mouth tongue and hard palate, and dislocating several teeth, came out through the upper lip, passing squarley through the tongue. By a superhuman effort Bastian grabbed the stake and drew himself so that he got loose. The doctor says it is a wonder Bastian escaped without breaking his neck.

NEARLY SUFFOCATED.

Two Port Dover Men Have a Narrow Escape from Death.

Special to the Times.

PORT DOVER, Ont., July 5.—James Brennan and Benjamin Dixon were nearly suffocated in the Penman Co.'s factory this morning. Brennan was overcome while painting the inside of a tank and Dixon tried to rescue him. After several hours' hard work both were restored to consciousness.

A STRANGE CASE.

Mr. H. McCarron of Detroit Completely Cured of Blood Poisoning.

Special to The Times.

DETROIT, Mich., July 1—A very curious incident occurred here, and one which will be of continental interest. Mr. Hugh McCarron, a well known notary public, has been a sufferer for many years from a peculiar form of blood poisoning, inducing the most frightful pains in the breast and back. The best doctors were consulted without being able to give any relief and Mr. McCarron decided that his case was hopeless. He was finally recommended to make a trial of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and did so with the faint hope that they might have some effect in his case, the peculiar nature of which did not lead him to associate it with kidney complaint. To his surprise the effects of the remedy were noticeable from the very first, and he is now thoroughly restored to health by this means.

RIOTING IN BOSTON.

Anti-Separate Schools Parade by A. P. Aites.

Special to the Times.

BOSTON, July 5.—A riot took place in East Boston this after during the parade of the A.P.A. Lodges, Patriotic Sons of America, Orange Lodges and other anti-Catholic organizations. It began with an exchange of insults between the paraders and the thousands of sightseers who lined the sidewalks and ended with the killing of one person and the injury of two others. The affair was known as the Little School House Parade and was intended as a demonstration against separate schools under religious authority. There were about 1,200 persons in the parade and they marched under the protection of 300 policemen who not alone led the parade but flanked the colmun on both sides for a hundred yards. The parade was headed by a fac simile of a New England school house. The street became thronged with people and there ensued.

A TERRIBLE BATTLE.

Gradually Andrews was driven up Saratoga street. He fell and a man with a revolver fired two shots. Andrews slashed and feinted with his sabre as he retreated, but cut only once, when a young man named Stewart of Brook street had his nose slashed off. A messenger was sent for the police and Captain Irish detailed three men to the rescue. Many heads were broken before the crowd went scurrying down Saratoga street. Michael Doyle, of Morris street, was clubbed so severely that he is now dying at the City Hospital. John Willis lies dead at the East Boston police station. Patrick A. Kelly has the back of his head split open and John Quirk suffers from a wound just above the left temple. During the fight a number of the paraders drew pistols ond began firing indiscriminately. Willis, the man killed, is said to have been an involuntary participant in the affair. Just a few feet from Willis stood John Ross, one of the paraders. Ross pulled his pistol on Willis, according to the testimony of a man who stood next to him, and fired. The bullet struck Willis just above the right hip, passing into his abdomen. The wounded man fell to the pavement. When Willis fell Quirk sprang towards him and bent over the bleeding body. He claims that Ross pointed his pistol at him and fired again, the bullet grazing his right temple. Ross and a man named Harold Brown were arrested on suspicion, while many persons are held as witnesses.

Charged with Rape,

BELLEVILLE, July 5.—Wm. Jackson has been committed for trial on the charge of rape, his alleged victim being a girl named Beatrice Wood of Tudor township.

JULY 4TH FATALITIES.

MANY DEATHS ARE THE RESULT OF THE CELEBRATION.

Tremendous Explosion of Fireworks—Capt. Webb's Death—Three Drowned in the Delaware—Shot and Drowned.

Special to the Times.

BOSTON, Mass., July 5.

THE Fourth of July parade of the patriotic societies of Boston and vicinity at East Boston yesterday ended in a pitched battle between some of the paraders and the spectators, in which sticks, stones and revolvers were used with fatal effect. John W. Wills, a laborer, of East Boston, was shot and instantly killed. Michael Doyle, of East Boston, had his head split open by a club, and now lies dying at the hospital. A young man named Stewart had his nose cut off with a sabre in the hands of one of the paraders. Patrick Kelly sustained a severe scalp wound, whether from a club or a bullet is not known, and Officer A. S. Bates was hit in the mouth by a brick, thrown by an unknown person, and lost several teeth. It is claimed the trouble all resulted from the persistence of those who managed the parade in introducing as a feature a float presenting "The little red school house," which, from its association as the emblem of the American Protective Association, has become obnoxious to many persons.

TWO MEN SHOT.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 5.—Common Councilman Charles J. Kinster was fatally shot in the head during a flag raising at a club house down town yesterday. He died a few hours afterwards at the hospital. James Lennon has been arrested, charged with doing the shooting, which he claims was accidental. In another section of the city, Joseph Godfrey, a pugilist and Boyd Wylie, an expoliceman, both of whom had been drinking, were celebrating the fourth with a revolver, which exploded while in the hands of Godfrey, the bullet entering Wylie's abdomen and producing a mortal wound. Godfrey is in custody.

HURT BY A GIANT POWDER CRACKER.

PROVIDENCE, July 5.—"Dobby" Smith the New York horse owner was fatally injured last night. He was standing in front of the Narragansett hotel, when he was struck in the abdomen by a giant powder cracker.

FORTY FELL INTO THE WATER.

BRISTOL, Ind., July 5.—Last evening while about 300 of the population of Bristol were gathered on a bridge spanning the St. Joseph river, watching a tub race, one hundred feet of the sidewalk of the bridge went down carrying with it one hundred persons. The fall was about 30 feet and the iron fell on many. The town was crazed with excitement and in a short time the victims of the accident were all removed from the water and all the physicians throughout the surrounding country were summoned to attend the injured, which number about forty, many of whom are fatally injured.

OVER 100 PEOPLE INJURED.

LA SALLE, Ill., July 5.—The Fourth of July celebration here had a sad ending last night, and three persons are fatally injured as the result of an accident during the fireworks display. A bomb rocket was sent up, but after going a short distance it fell and exploded, setting fire to a large quantity of fireworks, which exploded with terrible force. Six thousand people were within a block of the place at the time and a terrible panic followed. Horses ran away and the crowd stampeded crushing women and children under foot. One hundred persons were more or less seriously injured.

THREE DROWNED IN THE DELAWARE.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 5.—Three persons were drowned in the Delaware river yesterday at Beverley, N. J., a town about 12 miles above this city, by the capsizing of a boat. The drowned persons were John Anderson, Frank Bevans, and Miss Marembeck. All of the unfortunates were residents of Philadelphia. The party consisting of six persons left the city on Wednesday night, intending to spend the fourth of July in cruising on the Delaware. When they reached Beverley it was suggested that they go ashore, and the small boat was lowered. All had taken their seats in the boat with the exception of Mrs. Munce. In stepping from the yacht into the boat she slipped and her feet striking the gunwale, the boat was overturned, all the occupants being thrown into the water. Mrs. Bevans, Mrs. Munce, and Miss Jennings were rescued by the two men who had charge of the yacht but the other three occupants of the boat were carried away by the swift current before rescuers reached the scene. Their bodies have not yet been recovered.

SAILSBURY'S POLICY.

Strong Imperial, Colonial and Domestic Program.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, July 5.—The Chronicle will to-morrow publish what purports to be a confidential document summarizing the Government's policy under the Radicals. Under the first head is the Imperial policy, including a strong navy, the second head is devoted to the colonial policy, including the development of Africa and improved facilities of intercourse between the Mother Country and the colonies.

The third head treats of the domestic policy, embracing poor law reform, the easy transfer of land, removal of the registration grievances, restriction of the immigration of paupers, aliens, financial reforms, the amending of the employers' liability act, facilities to enable workingmen to purchase dwellings, agricultural legislation and other matters.

LOST BOTH FEET.

In Trying to Board a Moving Train a Tramp Meets with Terrible Injuries.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, July 5.—A man named Wm. Moran, whose home is at 17 Campbell road Halifax, left there two months ago and has since been tramping round the country looking for work. He struck Toronto a couple of days ago, and being unable to find anything to do decided to try and get home again. At 9 o'clock last night with a friend he attempted to board a C.P.R. express for the east at the foot of Princess street, and in doing so slipped and fell underneath a car. The wheels passed over his feet, terribly crushing the right one and completely severing the toes from the left. He was found lying on the track, and Dr. Garrat was called and had Moran removed to St. Michael's hospital. The right foot will probably have to be amputated.

THEY WANTED HIS LIFE.

INDIANS ON THE BLACKFOOT RESERVE BECOME VIOLENT.

They Kill the Government Agent and Prepare to Murder Missionary Tims—The Members of the Tribe Called to the Sun Dance.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, July 4, lady missionary, just returned from the Northwest, relates these interesting facts in today's Globe: On the Blackfoot Reserve, near Gleichen, N. W. T., there are about 1,300 Indians. Rev. J.W. Tims, an English church missionary, has been engaged there for the last twelve years. One of the little Indian boys died and his father claimed that the ration distributor, Mr. Skynner, did not give the boy extra rations. and he was shot dead by the boy's father, who escaped across the prairies. His tribesmen claim that he is insane.

There came to be a general dissatisfaction with Mr. Tims, for no good reason, unless it was that he forbade the Indian children of the church home from attending their native dances. Then a little Indian girl at the home took sick and died and this added fury to the inflamed passions of the Indians, and they determined to kill Mr. Tims.

WANTED PAGAN BURIAL.

Trouble was renewed over the funeral. Mr. Hardyman, of the house, was loth that the girl should be buried without Christian rites, while the Indians seemed determined to conduct the burial in their own Pagan way. Mr. Hardyman was plainly told that he must not follow the body to the grave, and when he firmly insisted on doing so a brawny squaw rushed towards him with a murderous looking knife in her hand. Some of the men seized the squaw, and [illegible] distance, the procession moved on [illegible] but eventually two or three of the braves stopped him, and said that if he did not go back he would be instantly shot. He was reluctantly compelled to abandon his design.

DOOMED TO DEATH.

The next move was to send out runners to the camp of the Bloods with the news that Mr. Timms was doomed to die, and to send up all there armed braves to the sun dance that begins this week. On June 27 the clergyman was forced to leave the ungrateful people among whom he had laboured like a slave, with scarcely a slave's recompense, for 12 long years. Mr. Tims has taken infinite pains to learn their language, which, when he went there, had never been reduced to writing. He has mastered it so perfectly that he has compiled a dictionary and grammar, as well as a large portion of the Bible and several devotional books, which he has had printed in it. His home is empty and in the meantime the mission is closed.

COTTLE TELLS HIS STORY.

The Buffalo Lawyer Says Emery Did Not Get a Cent.

Special to The Times.

BUFFALO, July 4.—Lawyer O. C. Cottle did not throw very much additional light on his kidnapping when he was sworn before the grand jury yesterday.

It was expected that he could tell all about his dealings with John C. Emery or Claude Loraine Strong, as the principal in the crime was known when he lived in Buffalo a dozen years ago, about the frequent requests of Emery for money and the trip of his son, Edmund C. Cottle, to Fort Erie to secure his father's freedom.

But Cottle did nothing of the kind. He threshed over all the old straw that he did last week, referred briefly to the transactions he had with Emery and told the dramatic experience he had in the Baynes street house.

Cottle definitely settled one question that has been asked very much lately. When asked if any money was paid to Emery or Allen for his release he answered positively that none had been to his knowledge.

Mr. Kenefick asked him to tell of his dealings with Emery in relation to his business transactions, but Mr. Cottle simply stated that he had some business dealings with Emery and did not go into the details,

Cottle went all over his old story in relation to the way he received a note a week ago yesterday asking him to go to a certain house with the messenger to transact some business. Mr. Cottle said he accompanied the messenger in a buggy to the house on Baynes street, that when he entered the place Emery jumped forward and that the two men handcuffed him, shackled his feet, put a dog collar around his neck and kept him on bread and water.

Mr. Cottle related how he had been told to send a note to his wife for $2,5000 cash and $5,000 in a promisary note while the cold muzzle of a revolver was held to his temple. He then described how be was released.

BOB. FITZSIMMONS FREE.

The Noted Pug Acquitted by the Jury Yesterday.

Special to the Times.

SYRACUSE, July 4.—Fitzsimmons is free. Shortly after eight o'clock tonight the jury filed in before a crowded court room and after they had answered to their various names the foreman announced the verdict "Not guilty." Immediately a cheer went up. Such a boisterous demonstration has not been seen in the Onondaga County court house in years. County Judge Ross pounded with his gavel in vain for order and finally commanded the sheriff and his deputies to put everybody under arrest. This had the effect of quieting the crowd and inasmuch as the order was not carried out everybody went away happy. On account of the verdict the 4th of July demonstration seems to have started in early for Bob Fitzsimmons friends are celebrating in the good old fashioned way. The summing up of Attorney House, of New York, for the defence, was an eloquent effort and it took the jury but a short time to arrive at the verdict of acquittal.

International Railway Congress.

LONDON, July 4.—Today's session of the International Railway Congresss, sections 4 and 5 combined, was presided over by M. Leon. The chief subject of discussion was the method adopted by the great railways to encourage the building or working of light feeder lines. Mr. H. S. Haines, President of the American Railway Association, declared himself opposed to the construction of secondary lines upon any other than the normal gauge. Uniformity in this regard, he said, was especially necessary where the light lines act as feeders to the greater systems. Mr. Haines narrated a number of instances of the working of the feeder system in support of his contention, and cited a few of the experiences of American railway lines. Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High Commissioner, spoke on the views of Mr. Haines. Usually, he said, railways were constructed with a view of increasing facilities for commerce, but in Canada they had been built for the purpose of creating traffic, and often very much in advance of the country.

Buffalo's Big Day.

BUFFALO, N.Y., July 4.—Independence Day was celebrated in Buffalo on an unusual scale today In the morning there was a monster parade with over 10,000 men in line, which, with the exercises that followed it, were in commemoration of the raising of the first flag on the new steel liberty pole on the Terrace, almost on the exact spot where the first white settler in Buffalo built his log hut a hundred years ago. The procession was one of the largest that ever marched through the streets of Buffalo.

RECURRENT DREAMS.

Howells Describes Them and His Singular Experience While Abroad.

I have heard people say they have sometimes dreamed of a thing and awakened from their dream and then fallen asleep and dreamed of the same thing, but I believe that this is all one continuous dream; that they did not really waken, but only dreamed that they awakened. I have never had any such dream, but at one time I had a recurrent dream, which was so singular that I thought no one else had ever had a recurrent dream till I proved that it was rather common by starting the inquiry in the contributors' club in the Atlantic Monthly, when I found that great numbers of people have recurrent dreams. My own recurrent dreams began to come during the first year of my Consulate at Venice, where I had hoped to find the same kind of poetic dimness on the phases of American life which I wished to treat in literature as the distance of time would have given. I should not wish any such dimness now, but those were my romantic days, and I was sorely baffled by its absence. The disappointment began to haunt my nights as well as my days, and a dream repeated itself from week to week for a matter of eight or ten months to one effect.

I dreamed that I had gone home to America, and that people met me and said: "Why, you have given up your place!" and I always answered: "Certainly not; I haven't done at all what I mean to do there yet. I am only here on my ten days' leave." I meant the ten days which a Consul might take each quarter without applying to the Department of State; and then I would reflect how impossible it was that I should make the visit in that time. I saw that I should be found out and dismissed from my office and publicly disgraced. Then, suddenly, I was not Consul at Venice, and had not been, but Consul at Delhi, in India; and the distress I felt would all end in a splendid Oriental phantasmagory of elephants and native princes, with their retinues in procession, which I suppose was mostly out of my reading of De Quincey. This dream, with no variation that I can recall, persisted till I broke it up by saying the morning after it had recurred that I had dreamt that dream again, and so it began to fade away, coming less and less frequently, and at last ceasing altogether.—Harper's Magazine.

Tricking a Crab.

In Africa there exists a certain member of the crab genus commonly known as the great tree crab. This peculiar shellfish has an offensive trick of crawling up the cocoanut trees, biting off the cocoanuts, and then creeping down again backwards.

The theory is that the nuts are shattered by the fall, and the great tree crab is thus enabled to enjoy a hearty meal. Now, the natives who inhabit regions infested by this ill-conditioned crab are well aware that the lower portion of the crab's anatomy is soft and sensitive, and they believe that the "bivalve" was thus constructed in order that he might know when he had reached the ground, and when, consequently, he might with safety release his grasp of the trunk. So what they do in order to stop his depredations, which often ruin the cocoanut crops, is this: While the crab is engaged in nipping off the cocoanut they climb half way up the trees and there drive a row of long nails right around the tree, allowing an inch or so of the nails to project. The crab has no knowledge of disaster, nor yet of the fitness of things. As he descends, the sensitive part of his body suddenly touches the nails. Thinking he has reached the ground, he naturally lets go. Instantly he falls backwards, and cracks his own shell on the ground.

LIGHTNING STRIKES TOMBS.

Workmen in a Cemetery Find Monuments Badly Splintered.

Special to the Times.

PHILADELPHIA, July 4.—A curious discovery was made by the workmen who were trimming up the graves in lot B. of Monument cemetery, on Norris street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth, yesterday morning. When they came to the Washington Lafayette memorial obelisk they were astonished to find many pieces of marble scattered around, while on the obelisk itself were several zigzag furrows. Adjacent to this is the Colwell monument, a great granite structure. It was spirally marked and slabs of granite were strewn around its base. One of the heavy twelve inch granite posts at the corner of the iron railing was shattered and some of the ironwork was twisted.

Colonel Enoch Taylor, of the Cemetery Company, who was in the grounds, said that there was no doubt the injury was due to lightning. In the heavy storm of Thursday last several bolts were seen to strike over the cemetery.

The Times

PETERBOROUGH JULY 6 1895.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

In the police court on Saturday, William Lundy was found guilty of common assault. There were two charges and he was fined $25 on each.

A Forest Fire.

Mr. Wm. Forest, of Galway, near Bass Lake, had his house, barns and outbuildings swept by fire on Saturday. All the family were away at the time. Mr. Davis cut some logs around here last winter, and fire has been running through the slash lately. A favorable wind blew the fire across the fields, and took the buildings. There is said to be insurance of $1,000.

Commandant Booth's Visit.

Commandant Booth spent Saturday night and all of yesterday with the local Corps of the Army, and the special open air and barrack's meetings were marked by unusually large attendance and increased fervor. The Commandant, by his visit, has greatly encouraged the local officers and members, and they feel capable of more vigorous and aggressive work in the good cause, in consequence.

Look Out For Them.

Farmers in the vicinity of Lindsay have been victimized by peddlers of stoves, which articles they have had forced upon them through the bait of snap bargains and easy terms of payment. The whole affair, however, turns out to be a fraud. The stoves may be purchased for half the price from any regular dealer, and the agreement signed to pay on the installment plan proves to be a note at thirty days.

Ontario Bank Management.

The Lindsay Post says: A large number of friends in town are pleased to learn that by the resignation of Mr. Charles Holland, general manager of the Ontario Bank, Mr. Charles McGill, manager of the Peterboro' branch for many years, has obtained deserved promotion. At a meeting of the directors the other day the vacant position was offered to Mr. McGill, who accepted. The new manager has an enviable reputation as a shrewd financier, and is a thorough gentleman in every respect, as the Lindsay curlers well know, he having visited the town many times during the past fourteen years with different rinks of the Peterboro' club.

The Athletics Won.

The lacrosse match on the Driving Park grounds Thursday afternoon between a Madoc team and the Athletics resulted in a decided victory for the Athletics. They played all around their opponents and secured three successive goals with a rush. The fourth goal was scored by the Madoc team. It was the first and only time they scored, for the Athletics scored three times more making the score 6 goals to 1. The Athletics are putting up a strong game this year and will doubtless add several more victories to their credit before the season closes.

Good Work Recognized.

Mr. G. W. Hatton has forwarded a cheque for $25 to the Secretary of the Peterborough Fire Brigade accompanied by the following letter:

PETERBOROUGH, July 2, 1895.

To the Secretary of the Peterborough Fire Brigade.

Dear Sir,—Enclosed please find my check for $25 on account of services rendered to me at the time my residence was destroyed by fire, June 17th. I wish to convey my heartiest appreciation to the brigade's efforts on that occasion.

Yours very truly,
G. W. HATTON.

A Favorable Outlook.

At present the outlook for the coming harvest is, on the whole, encouraging. Hay is light in places, but in others, even in some of the sections from which the most discouraging reports have been received, there promises to be a fair yield. Barley, generally, looks poorly, but then the raw material for beer does not cut such a figure now as it did when the American market was open to us. Spring wheat looks as if it might come up to the average and peas and oats promise to go much beyond the usual yield. Roots also are coming on well, so that altogether there is cause for satisfaction rather than discouragement.

St. Andrew's S.S. Picnic.

The picnic and excursion of the St. Andrew's Sunday School took place Wednesday afternoon to Idyl Wyld per steamer City of Peterborough. The delightful trip down the river was thoroughly enjoyed by the party which numbered in the neighborhood of 300. At Idyl Wyld a most pleasant afternoon was spent in games and sports. Of the latter the greatest amusement was occasioned in the "putting the heavy weight" event in which Rev. Mr. McWilliams was an enthusiastic contestant. The reverend gentleman displayed great muscular power, and threw the weight so much farther than any of the other contestants that he was unanimously voted the prize which consisted of a sugar-headed cane.

Trent Canal Appropriation,

On the item of $400,000 for the Trent canal, Mr. Haggart said that the total estimated cost was in the neighborhood of six million dollars, but the adoption of a new design, viz., utilizing the natural water stretches, using hydraulic lifts, and concrete locks, would reduce the cost to four and a half million dollars. This would be spread over a number of years. Mr. McMullen protested against the expenditure of money in connection with a work of this kind. He would never consent to a policy of insane expenditure, declaring his bitter opposition to it. Mr. Hughes defended the utility of the canal, which would be a great benefit to the farmers, and predicted that within five years Mr. McMullen would apologize for the statement he had made. The item passed. The committee rose and reported progress.—Toronto Mail.

ENDED HER OWN LIFE.

A DOSE OF PARIS GREEN KILLED MRS. MARGARET O'BRIEN.

She Freely Acknowledged that She took the Poison with Suicidal Intent, but Refused to Tell Her Reasons—Deceased was 73 Years of Age.

A very deplorable tragedy was enacted at the residence of Mr. Wm. Drake, 198 Perry street Wednesday morning, when his aged mother, Mrs. Margaret O'Brien took her own life by swallowing a large quantity of paris green.

Mrs. O'Brien was in her 73rd year and possessed excellent health and good mental activity, and therefor the rash deed she committed almost at the end of life's journey, is all the more deplorable, and quite inexplicable, for no apparent cause exists for the act. She has had a great deal of trouble during the last years of her life, but latterly, her existence and environments in the home of her son have been most pleasant. It is thought that brooding and worry over past troubles might have been the cause of her suicide.

The paris green was kept in the house for use in the garden. It is thought that Mrs. O'Brien secured this and took the dose about 7 o'clock in the morning. About 9 o'clock it was first noticed that something was the matter with her and almost immediately she became violently ill. Medical aid was summoned but nothing could be done to check the deadly effect of the poison, and although she was kept alive until late in the afternoon she passed away then.

When her illness was first noticed Mrs. O'Brien acknowledged that she had taken a dose of paris green with suicidal intent. She was urged to tell why she had done so, but refused to tell her reasons, and no amount of persuasion would induce her to tell the cause.

Coroner Bell was notified of the affair, and after inquiring into all the circumstances did not think there was any necessity of holding an inquest.

The funeral took place Friday afternoon.

NEARLY DROWNED.

The Adventure of Three Boys in a Leaky Canoe.

On Tuesday afternoon three small boys embarked in a leaky canoe on the Little Lake at the Ashburnham wharf. By the time they had paddled 300 yards from shore the canoe had become half filled with water. In the alarm the boys upset their craft and all three were left struggling in the water.

The boys started to swim ashore and two of them succeeded in doing so, but the third became exhausted and crying aloud to his companions to save him, sank.

Mr. Charles Calcutt, who was fortunately passing at the time heard the boy's cries and he immediately swam out and rescued the lad who would surely have been drowned had it not been for his timely aid. Mr. Calcutt is deserving of especial praise for the prompt and brave manner in which he effected the rescue of the boy.

Why Not You?

When thousands of people are taking Hood's Sarsaparilla to overcome the weakness and langour which are so common at this season, why are you not doing the same? When you know that Hood's Sarsaparilla has power to cure rheumatism, dyspepsia and all diseases caused by impure blood, why do you continue to suffer? Hood's cures others, why not you?

HOOD'S PILLS are prompt and efficient. 25c.

INDIANS UGLY.

Braves on the Blackfoot Reserve in a State of Excitement.

An alarming report has reached Toronto re the condition of the braves on the Blackfoot Reserve near Gleichen, North-West Territories.

It is said that they are in a very ugly mood and even go so far as to threaten to murder all whites on the reservation. One of the latter, the Rev. J. W. Tims, a clergyman from England, sent out by the Church Missionary Society some twelve years ago, who has endured every hardship and deprivation in which his wife and children have shared, in an effort to conciliate the savages and and win their affection, has been obliged to flee for his life, and indications are that he would be shot if he returned.

The braves have their war paint on and are looking for blood. Efforts are being made to quiet them.

This is the reserve on which Frank Skynnes, the ration distributor, was killed last winter. The trouble has been brewing since the shooting of his murderer. The cause is hard to ascertain, the reasons the Indians give being very childish and indefinite.

CHEMONG PARK RAILWAY.

It is Probable that the Line Will be Constructed at Once.

The prospects of an electric railway being constructed between Peterborough and Chemong Park, and in running order next summer are very bright. A company has been formed for the purpose of constructing and operating the road and a charter has been secured. The township of Smith has granted this company a franchise for one side of the road and the town of Peterborough has granted the right of way over any one street not used by the Street Railway Company, which will give the line connection with the two railways.

The projectors believe that the railway will be a paying investment from the start. Close estimates have been made and it is calculated that the construction and equipment of the road and the running expenses for one season will not cost more than $40,000.

Mr. Fobert, the manager of the Chemong Park hotel is interested in the project. Last summer, when travel was lighter than for several previous seasons, he kept a register of the number of people who visited the park in a period covering three months, and the number amounted to 20,156. If these people had ridden on the electric railway both ways, paying a return fare of 20 cents each, the receipts would have amounted to over $4,000—a handsome interest on the investment. If the electric road is built, it is thought that the number of people who visit the park will be more than doubled. It is believed that stock in the company will be placed on the market in a few months.

The building of this railway will be a great convenience to the citizens of Peterborough, affording a ride that many will avail themselves of.

SAVED TWO LIVES.

The Royal Humane Society Should Recognize this Act of Heroism.

Residents of Young's Point are unanimous in their admiration of an almost unprecedented act of bravery and heroism performed by a young boy, the son of a resident of that place.

On Monday the little sons of Messrs. W. A. Graham and Andrew Hatton went in bathing and ventured out beyond their depth. They cried loudly for help, but were caught by the strong current and swept out into about 14 feet of water.

Ephraim Godfrey, a lad between 12 and 14 years of age heard the cries of the drowning lads and reached the water's edge just as the first boy was sinking. He threw off what clothes he could and plunged into the water. By the time he reached the spot young Hatton was out of sight and diving he saw him stretched out at full length on the bottom. He got a firm grasp of the boy's clothes and brought him to the surface and then held his head above water while he swam ashore.

Leaving him on the banks he turned and saw that young Graham had also disappeared and Godfrey again swam out to the spot where he had previously seen him struggling. Again he dived and saw the prostrate form of the lad lying on the bottom. In the same manner he brought Graham to the surface and although nearly exhausted by this time, succeeded in swimming ashore with his unconscious charge.

Without waiting a moment to rest, he ran for assistance and neighbors were soon at the work of resuscitating the two lads. Their efforts were rewarded by bringing both of them to consciousness and they are now fully recovered and little the worse for their narrow escape from death.

The remarkable deed of young Godfrey and the noble heroism he displayed in rescuing the two lads from certain death has created much excitement in the village. Had the boys remained under the water a minute longer it is doubtful if life could have been brought back to them. Godfrey is a slight built little fellow not 14 years of age, and that he should have performed a feat which would have taxed the strength and endurance of a man, seems almost incredible. His great act of bravery will be brought to the attention of the Royal Humane Society, and it is the general opinion of residents of Young's Point that he should receive the highest recognition bestowed by this society.

AT PICTON.

The 57th Captured the Town and Were Royally Entertained.

The 57th Battalion returned home Tuesday morning at seven o'clock from their outing at Picton. It was a sleepy and tired looking party that got off the special train, for very little sleep had been indulged in during the trip. At Picton the town received the boys in red most cordially, and during their stay they were entertained liberally and magnanimously. Picton was en fete, and the street were buried in bunting and brilliant with flying colors. Citizens seemed to be animated with but one idea, and that was to look after the visitors in uniform. The officers of the Picton battalion displayed great forethought in the arrangements which had been made for the reception and entertainment of the visiting battalions, and there was absolutely nothing lacking.

The 57th made a creditable showing and it was acknowledged on all sides that as far as appearance, marching and physique went, they eclipsed the other visiting battalions. The battalion band was adjudged by far the superior present, and thousands cheered them whenever they played.

The 57th had a royal good time and returned home with pleasant remembrances of Picton and the hospitality of her citizens and citizen soldiers. The officers in command of the companies which went to Picton were:

Lt.-Col. Bell, commanding, Major's Edwards and Brennan, Surgeon Halliday, Capt. Mason, Adjutant, Capt. Dennistoun, acting Paymaster.

"A" Co.—Capt. Stevenson, Lieut. Ames, 21 non-coms. and men.

"B" Co.—Capt. Schofield, Lieut. Clegg, 32 non-coms. and men.

"C" Co.—Capt. Hill, Lieut. Eastwood, 22 non-coms. and men.

"D" Co.—Capt. Lech, Lieut. McGill, Capt. Snyder (Durham Field Battery), attached, 21 non-coms. and men.

"E" Co.—Capt. Miller, Lieut. Bennett, (31st Battalion), attached, 34 non coms. and men.

"F" Co.—Capt. Hayes, Lieut. Mills, 35 non coms. and men.

The band mustered 37 men, under Bandmaster Miller. The bugle and drum corps were 20 strong under Bugle Major Sharpe. The pioneer corps numbered 7 under Sergt. Donnelly, and the ambulance 13 in charge of Sergt. Connal.

A Big Excursion.

The picnic and excursion of the George Street Methodist Sunday School to Jubilee Point and Idyl Wyld Thursday was undoubtedly the largest of the season. The City of Peterborough with Palace barge conveyed the large party down the river. It is estimated that fully 800 took in the trip, which proved very delightful. At Idyl Wyld the day was spent in games and sports and the children fairly revelled in the large grounds and park. Tea was served at Jubilee Point on the return. A large excursion of the Lock Works employees spent a pleasant day at Buckhorn yesterday. Today the Sunday school of St. Luke's, Ashburnham, will go to Jubilee Point.

RELIGIOUS CIRCLES AGOG.

Rev. Dr. Galbraith Defies the Conference and Uses Strong Words.

Religious circles in Toronto are very much excited over existing affairs in the Elm street church, and the pronounced stand that church's pastor has taken in regard to them.

The Rev. Dr. Galbraith treated his congregation to a sermon of an unusual character last night. Being the regular week night service over 300 members were present and listened to the pastor for over three hours while he reviewed the old choir trouble and other difficulties that have grown out of it. The substance of the dispute is that the Quarterly Board claims the right to have charge of the music, while the pastor has ruled that that part of the church business belongs to the Trustee Board. The former body will not submit to his ruling, the pastor will not deviate from it, and has warned the treasurer not to pay any sums for music without the authority of the trustees.

Dr. Galbraith, in the course of a warm address, declared that he would not resign as pastor of the church for any conference on earth. He would rather resign from the Methodist ministry. After telling his hearers that he had an excellent record as a peacemaker, and that he was an authority on the discipline, he informed them that he was independent of any official board. Although there was no provisions in the laws of the church for the payment of organist, he read a legal opinion from W. R. Riddle to the effect that the matter was foreign to the Quarterly Board. He charged the Quarterly Board with fraud in having paid $600 for music and said that they were perpetuating robbery in trying to continue it. Only for the disgrace of the matter he would take it into court, and there was no tribunal in the land that would not condemn the course of the Quarterly Board.

"A MEAN LIAR."

He said the statements that had been made in the press concerning him were lies. He had been told by newspaper editors that the statements had been made by an official. "Such an official is a mean liar. Let him show his hand and I will very soon show him where he is."

Referring to the effort made to have him removed at the late conference he said: "I'm not going to move at the present time. They petitioned for my removal because of my ruling respecting the trustees. They would not submit to my ruling or carry it to the Court of Appeal, but stood in the position of mutineers. As they had driven the trustees out, so they thought they could drive the pastor out. They wished the conference to condemn me, to put a stigma on Galbraith. If conference had done that Galbraith would not have preached another sermon in a Methodist pulpit. (Applause.) I do not want your cheering. No conference on earth would, in such a case, have made me submit."

With great warmth the doctor said he had received treatment which was worse than being stoned in the streets of Toronto a dozen times over. He would like to have peace on disciplinary lines, but on no basis. He declared that the case involved the whole Methodist church, for mutiny could not be tolerated. The first concession must come from the Quarterly Board. He would stick to his position if it meant the breaking up of the congregation. The doctor pronounced the benediction at 11.30.

Mrs. O'Brien's Death.

The unfortunate death of Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, announced Thursday, took place at the home of her granddaughter and not of her son. It seems that the deceased has been in ill-health, suffering from malaria, for some years, and that she sought relieve from this affliction by taking the poison. The funeral will take place this afternoon.

Wedding at Lindsay.

Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, says the Watchman, a very interesting event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Workman, Adelaide street, being the marriage of their daughter Bertha to Dr. D. Shier. The knot was deftly tied by Rev. J. S. Shorey in the presence of a large number of invited guests. The bridesmaids were Miss Spier and Miss Walters, and Rev. Mr. Spier assisted his brother through the trying ordeal. The happy couple left on the 6.10 train for Toronto and points west.

A Very Narrow Escape.

On Sunday afternoon last Mr. John Carew's little four year old daughter, Annie, had a narrow escape from death or very serious injury. While playing on the lawn she struck a match, and in some way the skirt of her muslin dress became ignited without her noticing it. When she felt the heat she screamed for help, and started to run. Luckily Mr. Carew was lying on the sofa, and he ran out and caught her, smothering the flames with his hands and sustaining several severe burns while doing so. The little girl was painfully though not seriously injured, but had not he father been at hand she would have sustained severe if not fatal burns as her light clothing was burning fiercely.—Lindsay Post.

Railway Notes.

Mr. Hannaford, chief engineer of the Grand Trunk, passed through town Thursday on a tour of inspection. Mrs. Hannaford accompanied him.

The Rathbun Co., of Oshawa, are building an electric railway from the lake up to the town. The Grand Trunk ballast train from Brooklin pit is now working there. The company will take Grand Trunk freight cars and draw them to the foundries and such places in town as will have any freight for shipment, thus doing away with the present cartage system.

Between 8.15 and 8.45 p.m. Thursday a large cedar post was placed on its end in the culvert at the first crossing east of Reaboro, evidently with the intention of causing the derailment of the first train that passed over the road. Conductor Gall's freight special struck it about 8.50 p.m., but fortunately no damage was done. If the authorities find out the party or parties who had a hand in it they will make it warm for them.

Mr. Martyn, a farmer living in Clarke township, one day last week brought to town a very large eagle which had carried away a two-year old gander from his flock. He followed and captured it by shooting it in the wing.—Bowmanville Statesman.

A fish was caught near Idyl Wyld yesterday which is neither a lunge or a mastiff. It weighs 23 pounds and has a head half as long as its body. Hundreds have viewed it, but none of them could tell to what species it belongs.

Mrs. David Breeze, who is at Mr. Breeze's island at Boschink, Stony lake, gives an account of a peculiar occurrence in that vicinity one day last week. A sound like escaping steam attracted their attention, and upon looking out upon the water they saw the water of the lake rise in the air to a distance of six or seven feet in a straight line towards the main land. They imagined that some one had put down a charge of dynamite for fish, but examination showed this to be wrong, and they were at a loss to explain the phenomenon. The theory advanced is that gas escaped from the rock bottom and the explosion caused the upheaval and agitation of the water. This has occurred in waters in other latitudes, but has never been reported in this section before.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH. JULY 6 1895.

It would be interesting to know what the Minister of Justice thinks of the defence of St Louis by his colleague in the Cabinet.

The excess of United States Government expenditure over receipts during the fiscal year ended on Sunday was forty-two million eight hundred thousand dollars.

There's something wrong at Ottawa. Twenty-four hours have passed since anybody proposed a plan whereby parliament might shirk the Manitoba school question.

The certificate of character Hon. Mr. Ouimet sees fit to give St. Louis should be a strong piece of evidence in defence of the contractor whom the Government is suing.

Many United States journals will be surprised and grieved to learn that the Manitoba legislature has adjourned without taking the necessary steps to secede from the Dominion.

If you look for it you'll find the law of compensation in everything. Thus, although the drought has spoiled the quality of the raspberries, you get more of 'em to the quart than you would have got if rain had swelled them.

The employment of convicts to build rural roads would solve the problems of good roads and prison labor, but it seems almost useless to hope for the experiment being made. Our governments and parliaments seem to have an innate hatred radical reforms and a prejudice against discussing practical social problems.

Twenty-seven persons drew pensions in 1894 on account of their share in defending Upper Canada against the American invaders in 1812-15. This speaks well for the longevity of Canadians. The British force at Waterloo was ten times greater than that engaged in the defence of Canada, and the Waterloo veterans are all gone.

Earl Dufferin has, it is said, been offered the post of Foreign Secretary in the Salisbury Government. A better man for the office could not possibly be chosen. The Earl's remarkable ability, coupled with the practical experience gained as Viceroy of India and as Ambassador at Constantinople, St. Petersburg and Paris, fit him in an exceptional manner for the post to which he is said to have been called.

A Connecticut clergyman has distinguished himself by openly thanking God for the failure of the apple crop because there would be less cider manufactured, and the temperance cause would be benefited thereby. To be consistent, he should also pray for the total destruction of the corn, rye, wheat, and barley crops, and thus leave his parishoners dependent on potato whiskey for their spirituous stimulants.

Strange, isn't it? that after scientific metallurgists and practical mining experts from various parts of the world have for thirty years been studying the mineral lands of North Hastings and filling the earth full of holes in their hunt for gold up there, and have been only moderately successful, a Buffalo man named Sprague should now come along and gobble up thousands of acres of gold land containing enough of the yellow metal to pay off the debt of the United States. But Sprague says so.

The trolley fatal accident record in New York has reached 115. In Philadelphia the number of accidents from electric cars has caused the authorities to pass an ordinance requiring every trolley car to be equipped with a fender which will clear the track without crushing the object that may be upon it. As the record of one day in that city recently was three killed and seven maimed, it is believed the companies will be the more willing to comply with the law to escape the great number of suits for damages that are piling up in the courts against them, with the gloomy outlook of heavy findings by sympathetic juries. The great difficulty lies in providing a fender that will fully meet the requirements.

Market Reports.

PETERBOROUGH

The sheep market has been exceptionally good this week and the outlook is bright. Messrs. Welsh, Kennedy & Co. shipped a large number to the European markets on Wednesday.

Hogs were not in good demand during the week, and the supply was small; but it is expected that they will find ready buyers on Tuesday next.

Prices in wheat have declined. Oats, peas, barley, &c., are in good demand at the undermentioned prices. Good hay is advancing, and much sought after at from $15 to $16 per ton. Potted plants, flowers, fruit, green vegetables and fish are in great demand.

LIVE STOCK.

July 5.—Shippers are getting little encouragement out of cable advices these days. Latest accounts of sales show no improvement, and London and Glasgow advices have in some cases been even lower than they were. There were about 600 head of butchers' cattle, 500 calves, 750 sheep and lambs and 50 store hogs and small pigs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir today. The butchers were present in large number, but trade was very dull, with prices declining on every hand. There were no prime cattle on the market today. A few head of the best cattle were bought by shippers at 4½c per lb, and 4c per lb seemed to be the top price paid by the butchers, with moderately good dry cows and rough steers at from 3½c to 3¾c per lb, and the leaner beasts, of which there were more than the usual number, were sold from a little over 2c to nearly 3c per lb. Calves were plentiful and rather lower in price, common calves selling at from $2 to $4 each and superior veals from $5 to $7 50 each. Shippers are paying from 3c to 3½c per lb for good large sheep and the others sold at from 2½c to 3½c per lb, according to quality. Good lambs sell at from $3 to $3 50 each and common ones at $2 to $2 75 each. Fat hogs continue to sell at from 4½c to 4¾c per lb. Store hogs sell at from $5 to $9 each and young pigs at from $1 25 to $2 25 each.

ENTRANCED.

She walks the earth and gently draws
Her life from strange and hidden laws.
This scene to her is but a show,
A vapor, a wreath of snow,
A stain upon the glass of time
Through which she views some fairer clime
All that to us is vague ideal,
To her is solid firm and real,
Upon a shifting screen are cast
The figures that endure at last
The archetype, and primal form
That slipped aside when man was born.
All things are taught her in a show
Of varied sights that come and go;
And while we plod and grope and plod,
She views the living art of God.
As Dante saw the hells unclose,
And heaven expanding like a rose,
Thick o'er her now the visions stream,
Like motes within a shifting beam;
And entranced with upward gaze
She sees the darting glory-rays,
And feels the brooding of the dove
O'ershadow her with perfect love.
Her soul, on tiptoe for the light,
Leans with a passionate delight,
And in some stronger ectasy,
Will slip beyond and leave the clay,
Like a forgotten garment lost
Beside the steamlet she has crossed.
As birds at evening dart and run,
And melt into the setting sun,
Her rare sweet being we may miss,
But heaven will glow with added bliss.

MY LORD THE ELEPHANT

When I was stationed up in the hill country some twenty years ago I used to be passionately fond of hunting. I hadn't been out from England long, and the novelty of following big game had not yet lost its charms. My duties did not occupy a great deal of my time and I could often be absent a week or ten days more without serious inconvenience to anyone. With a couple of natives and my old "Henry," I then set forth on Mowcha, my elephant. Mowcha was an exceptionally fine specimen of his race, endowed with all its virtues and but few of its faults. He was strong, patient, sagacious, and devoted to his master. He had never been used as a working elephant, but only for the purposes of the chase. You should have seen his unwieldly bulk making its way noiselessly through the thick jungle grass, his great feet lifted and put down with the utmost caution, his flexible trunk darting in all directions to scent the game, and his small eyes gleaming with excitement. He seemed to know instinctively the moment to fire, and then he would not move a muscle. You know it requires no small amount of nerve to stand perfectly still with a Bengal devil in a striped skin charging at one and too often it happens that your well directed shot is spoiled by your elephant's speedy retreat.

The natives deemed Mowcha superhuman on account of his intelligence and strength, and his mahout always called him "My Lord the Elephant," and treated him with the greatest respect. You know the hindoo belief, that the souls of one's ancestors have to reside for a period after death in the bodies of animals till they have atoned for their shortcomings on earth; , lest and they might unwittingly treat some of their grandfathers or greatgrandfathers with disrespect, which would be a criminal violation of their religion, it is their custom to give to each of their inmates of the jungle a particular title as for instance, His Highness the Tiger Our King the Lion, etc. So Mowcha was more often addressed as My Lord the Elephant, than by his real name.

He was a great pet in the regiment, and for the children at the station there was no better sport than to climb into the howdah shrieking with laughter, and have a ride on Mowcha. He seemed to enjoy it as much as they did, and carried his burden with the greatest dignity. He was really hanndsome, as elephants go, and looked his best when adorned with his scarlet trappings and harness, and bearing the howdah filled with merry children; and it was a pretty sight to see them afterward bestowing upon him his reward in the shape of pineapples, bananas and mangoes, all of which he loved to stow away in his capacious stomach.

I tell you these details that you may understand my grief when he suddenly disappeared one night in early spring. My Lord the Elephant had been restless for several days, his mahout informed me afterward, and that evening he had managed to break his chain and had vanished in the darkness. Whether he had been spirited away by a clever thief or had decided that he had worked for man long enough and would now return to his native woods and the society of his kind, we never knew, of course, but we missed him more than one would think, and for some time the cry among the children was "If Mowcha were only here!"

I tried a number of other elephants for my hunting, but could not fill his place; and, as my duties increased about that time, my gun rarely left its case, and my cartridge belt hung, unused on the wall.

About three or four years later I was invited to spend the Christmas holidays with an English friend who was giving a house party at his place further up the hills. I easily obtained leave and started with but one servant, Ramon. He had formerly been Mowcha's mahout, but after that brute's uncanny disappearance he had attached himself to me, and proved to be a very handy fellow. We were mounted on hardy little ponies, and the first day made about fifty miles, spending the night at the hut of one of the forest rangers who had stationed by the government as a guard along the edges of large and important forests. The next day we plunged into the forest itself. Toward midday we were startled by hearing a fearful, thunderous roaring, as of some monster in its death agony. At that distance I did not recognize it as the voice of any wild animal I was acquainted with, and turned to Ramon for an explanation. His dark skin was bleached to ashen gray.

"It's a herd of elephants!" he exclaimed, "and they are sounding their battle cry. If they come this way, it means certain death. We cannot escape them."

It certainly seemed as though they were headed in our direction, for the noise grew louder, and we could feel the ground trembling beneath us at the tramping of many feet.

"Follow me, sahib!" cried Ramon, as he threw himself from his horse and hastened to one of the larger trees, which he began to ascend with the utmost rapidity. I did the same, my progress being hindered, however, by my heavy riding boots. He had no time to secure our ponies, and the frightened animals, as soon as they were released, sprang nimbly through the thickets and disappeared; and with them, of course, vanished our only means of escape from the forest, even though the elephants should pass us by unharmed.

We reached our position of safety none too soon. I could see the heavy forest branches shaking violently, and soon a huge gray mass broke through shambling along at a remarkable rate of speed, not twenty yards from us, and screaming with vicious rage.

"It's a rogue elephant, sahib," said Ramon. "They are chasing him from the herd."

Such indeed seemed to be the case, for a hundred yards behind him came another enormous figure, which was headed straight for our place of refuge. As by lightning flash I saw the horrible death that menaced us. I already felt myself falling to the ground, in a second more to be trampled to death under those immense feet. But at that instant I heard Ramon call out boldly: "Let-rah gaj," (lie down). The great beast paused. "Let-rah, let-rah!" again he cried; and to my astonishment, the creature obediently went down upon his knees.

Ramon quickly descended, calling me to follow. Where a black leads a white man does not lag behind, and down I went. I did not understand how the magical transformation had been effected, but as I turned and caught sight of the animal, I comprehended it all; around the great foreleg was a chain, the end of which still trailed on the ground. The quick eyes of the native had seen it; he knew that the animal must have been in captivity at some time, and called out the word of command hoping that it would be obeyed. He was not disappointed for; although the small eyes still gleamed with an ugly red light, and the trunk waved mutinously in the air, the great creature had not forgotten his former training. He approached him cautiously at first, but presently Ramon rushed fearlessly up to the brute and petted him effusively, calling him by every name of endearment. "Ah, 'tis thou, My Lord the Elephant! 'Tis thou, leader of the herd, wiser than the wise man of the temple, beautiful as a lotus bud, strong as the winds of heaven! Oh great Lord Mowcha! Thy slave salutes thee!"

Truly enough it was our old Mowcha who, in spite of lapse of time and change of place, had not forgotten his old masters and the familiar word of command.

All this had happened within a few moments. The great herd was still crashing through the forest all around us, trumpeting with rage and shaking the ground in their fury. Should one of them chance to come near enough to see us our lives would not be worth a farthing. Mowcha seemed to understand the situation perfectly, for, his anger all gone, he seized Ramon gently with his strong trunk and set him upon his back, where the mahout usually rides; he grasped me with the same ease and placed me beside him. Then he rose and started off at a good pace in the direction opposite to that taken by the rest of his fellows and soon their screams and thunderings had died away in the distance.

We wondered where My Lord the Elephant intended to convey us, whether to his native jungles or to the post again. Ramon tried to guide him, but found it impossible without the help of the usual ankus, or goad, so we confined our efforts to keeping our balance and staying on his back, a somewhat difficult task without the aid of harness or howdah.

Briefly told, his strong, steady pace never failed for over ten hours until we entered the post again. Our approach had been descried from afar, and every living soul had turned out to view the spectacle. When it was perceived that it was Mowcha, dear old Mowcha, who was bringing us back in safety, a hearty cheer broke from all throats, a cheer for My Lord the Elephant. The children clapped their hands and shrieked with joy, and even the soldiers shared the general enthusiasm.

We gave My Lord the Elephant a feast such as never elephant had had before, but he did not seem to enjoy the dainties spread before him so much as the moment when the howdah was placed on his back and he was led forth, surrounded by the children, whom he once more bore solemnly around the post.

For two days he remained with us and was the object of attention and love; then he became restless, and we fancied he again longed for his forest home. So the cruel chain was stricken off his huge foot, and My Lord the Elephant with roses and branches wreathed around his great neck and hanging from his stubby tusks, was led forth in triumphal procession and given his liberty. It was the best present we could give him; he accepted it gratefully, and soon the huge, gray mass had disappeared.

It is as the embodiment of strength, love and gratitude that I remember him; and because he saved me from a fearful death that I drink to My Lord the Elephant.—Our Animal Friends.

A Mysterious Napoleonic Puzzle.

One day the Emperor met a grizzled, one-armed soldier and asked him where he lost his arm.

"Sire, at Austerlitz," replied the veteran, with a respectful salute.

"And were you not decorated?"

"No sire."

"Then here is my own iron cross of the Legion of Honor for you. I make you a chevalier."

"Your Majesty names me a chevalier because I have lost one arm. What would Your Majesty have done if I had lost both?" asked the crafty old fellow.

"In that case," replied the Emperor, proudly, "I should have made you an officer of the Legion."

Whereupon the veteran of Austerlitz at once drew his sword and unflinchingly cut off his other arm.

The only thing mysterious about this inspiring little incident is: How did he do it?

Caterpillars by the Ton.

Thirty-six tons of caterpillars and a large number of cocoons were destroyed in the effort to drive the pest from the young plantations of trees on Hongkong Island. They appeared on the pine trees with which the Government is trying to reafforest the island, and lasted for two months. Stations were established where the caterpillars were received and paid for by weight. This method seems to have been successful. It is estimated that 85,000,000 insects were killed.—London Public Opinion.

Tea.

England consumes 600,000 pounds or about 4,000,000 gallons of tea each day, which is as much as is used by the rest of Europe, North and South America, Africa and Australia combined. The green tea of former days has almost ceased to be known, while the Twankay, Hyson, and gunpowder teas are seldom heard from. China only supplies one-twelfth of the quantity, the rest coming from India and Ceylon. The Indian tea goes half as far again as the Chinese as regards color and flavor.

Aluminum in Billiard Balls.

A new substitute for ivory as the composition of billiard balls has been discovered in a combination of steel and aluminum, and according to the proprietor of a Chestnut street billiard room, this innovation will soon be introduced into several of the billiard establishments of the city. The new composition will, of course, be much cheaper than ivory, and will be absolutely proof against chipping. The ease with which a draw or "english" could be imparted to the new composition is not known, but the general belief is that the balls will respond much quicker than the ivory ones. Old billiard enthusiasts place no confidence in the invention, but curiosity has attained such proportions that the popularity of the new balls would be assured, at least for a short time. —Philadelphia Record.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

CATTLE HUSBANDRY.

Those Six and a Half Cent Steers From Maine.

In a recent issue of The Mirror and Farmer, attention was called to a pair of oxen sold in the Massachusetts markets that were fed by C. W. Randall of Maine. Regarding such sales as beacon lights for the guidance of those who are begging for markets for the poor off stuff that most New England farmers are trying to force on unwilling markets, Mr. Randall was asked to give further information in regard to their breed, method of feeding and any other information that he might have to impart in relation to them. He says:

"Yours at hand. Will say that the oxen that I sold were five years old; breed, Herefords. Those oxen were kept in the barn summer and winter, and have done the work of the farm. They had all the good hay they would eat and four quarters of meal and bran apiece daily. Just as good cattle can be duplicated with good care and sense in feeding if they are fine grades. My method of raising steers from calves is to let them have the milk until they are six months old. I give them provender as soon as they will eat it. They have good care all the time. I let them run in the pasture summers, but do not give them provender when out to grass. In the winter they have all they will eat, with some provender. I generally sell mine when they are three years old. I raise Hereford steers altogether, as I think they are more easily raised than Durhams. I have never written for publication, but if you find items that you desire to use, you are free to use the publish them.—C. W. Randall."

Readers will understand that the letter is in answer to specific questions. We invite attention to the reply to the question whether the management of the oxen was under special advantages and involved a degree of skill not easily within reach of those who would apply themselves to the task of raising extra fine steers. His reply is as we expected and to the point, which in effect is breed from good animals and apply good sense in the feeding. Now there was nothing in the feeding that was extravagant, the one point being that they were kept growing. We infer that they were given the milk of the cow western style until six months old. This is unnecessary, as abundant evidence shows. Skim-milk has been found an adequate substitute for new milk in calf growing.

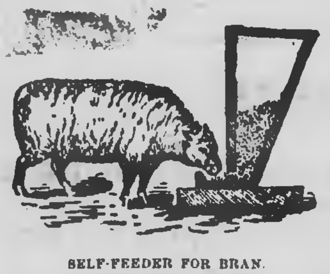
Steers have sold for as low as $40 that weighed 1,500 pounds, and within a year. What a chasm between this sum and $97.50. It is the farmer that sells the former steers that is played out and not the farm. Farming abandons such farmers and not they the business; they are run out by events.—Mirror and Farmer.

CARING FOR LAMBS.

How to Start the Young Creatures in the Way of Quick Growth.

While the lamb is young is the time to start it in the way of quick growth. Its future usefulness as a manufacturer of mutton from hay and corn depends very largely on the start it gets during its first few weeks of existence. If it once gets stunted, no amount of subsequent coaxing can make it do its best. At first you must feed the lamb through its mother. To make her give plenty of milk, she needs, in the winter time, all the clover and hay she will eat. It should be good clover hay—early cut and well cured. She needs plenty of wheat bran. If you do not wish to fatten her for market, I would give her no corn, or very little. If I wanted to fatten her with the lamb, I should give her a ration of this mixture by weight: 100 parts of corn meal, 100 parts of wheat bran, ten parts of linseed meal. I would gradually accustom her to this food, and as she became used to it, I would give her all she would eat, feeding it by preference in a self-feeder.

Now, if lambs are to go to market as fat lambs, I can suggest no better food for them than that mixture. Yet, if they are to eat grass during the summer and be fattened next winter, as by far the greater part must be, I would not give the corn meal, as they would do better during the summer without having had it. Lambs will do exceedingly well on good clover hay and unlimited wheat bran. That is the way I am feeding ours at present.



SELF-FEEDER FOR BRAN.

If the lambs are to be used for breeding stock, I would avoid giving corn meals as a heating or fattening food. Give oats, bran and linseed meal. If the ewe lambs when grass is green in the spring, she ought not to need any other food; yet the lambs pay well for the grain that you give them. It may pay you to continue the wheat bran all summer. I show a diagram of a good self-feeder for bran, which can be eaten from by both ewes and lambs. The cut shows a cross-section. It may hold twenty bushels or more.—J. E. Wing, in Country Gentleman.

Crib Biting.

It is a very bad habit of many horses. It is really, more or less, nothing but swallowing air,—a pressing down forcibly into the stomach great mouthfuls of air, which often causes by its accumulation colic and severe pain. If this bad custom is persevered in, it leads gradually to derangement of the digestive organs and chronic catarrh of the stomach. It is exceedingly difficult to make a horse abandon the vice. Many animals learn this disagreeable habit from a crib-biting companion. Therefore, crib-biters should be isolated from their fellows. Sewhars, in his book "The Horse," ably translated, revised, and edited by Dr. George Fleming, and just issued from the press, says that weariness and hunger are the principal causes of crib biting "therefore, a plentiful supply of food and sufficient work are the best preventives of this unfortunate propensity."—London Live Stock Journal.

UPSET BY AN ICEBERG.

Three Sailors of the Ill Fated Schooner Arctic Drowned.

Special to the Times.

St. John's, Nfld., July 4.—The prorogation of the legislature takes place tomorrow afternoon. The session has lasted seven months.

Last night the House passed a bill preventing all civil servants from availing themselves of contracts they are under at present to compel the government to pay them anything above the amount of their reduced salaries as provided by the retrenchment bill. It also passed a bill giving seven provincial trustees of the Commercial bank whose appointments were cancelled by the Supreme Court on the ground of irregularities, $1,500 for fourteen days service. Six of these extrees are government supporters, hence the indemnity. Tonight the contingencies bill was debated, and allowances to government supporters are always included in this bill. Three men, part of the crew of the schooner Arctic were drowned yesterday by the overturning of an iceberg which capsized their boat.

Isolating the Macedonian Bands — Serious Events Impending.

Special to the Times.

Sofia, July 4.—The Turkish authorities have seized all the boats on the River Vardar, to prevent the Macedonian bands from communication with one another. A part of the population of Kaazanevrokop have formed themselves into an insurgent band.

Berlin, July 4.—The great powers which signed the Berlin treaty have given a friendly warning to Bulgaria against raising the Macedonian question.

Constantinople, July 4. — Serious events are imminent in Macedonia. Large sums of money have been collected in Bulgaria, and Martina rifles purchased and several sent into Macedonia.

London, July 4.—The Times tomorrow will say:—"An outbreak would entail such terrible atrocities through the inability of Turkey to control the turbulent Albanians that the European powers may be compelled to assemble a congress to discuss the Sultan's offer of a general system of reforms for the Christian provinces of "Turkey."

CUPID AND PSYCHE

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the Erie Medical Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "Complete Manhood." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

A CONSERVATIVE CENSUS ON REMEDIAL LEGISLATION.

Thirty-Nine will Oppose it—Two-Cent a Mile Amendment Knocked Out—A Motion to Strike Out Cameron's Salary.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 4.—The indications continue to multiply that there will be no remedial legislation this session. It is reported that the Government whips privately polled the Conservative mem. and found thirtynine of them against remedial legislation. The Orangemen particularly are a unit and appear to be acting in concert. Today or tomorrow, it is expected, the Cabinet will decide on its policy and at once make an announcement. In the House, Mr. McCarthy again asked Mr. Foster what the Government proposed to do, but Mr. Foster thought the member from North Simcoe to insistant. They could not be expected to prepare legislation as fast as he wanted it.

NOT TREATED ALIKE.

In reply to Mr. Brodeur, Mr. Wallace said the statues of Sir John Macdonald and Maisoneuve had been exempted from duty. That of Dr. Chenier, the patriot leader of 1837, had not yet been decided.

The civil service bill passed its second reading. It abolishes third class clerks and substitutes writers. The minimum age for these was fixed at 18 and for messengers, packers and sorters at 13.

NO TWO CENT RATE YET.

To the International Radial Railway Company's bill Mr. Maclean moved the insertion of a two cent clause. Mr. Mulock approved of the idea, but wanted a more general measure. Mr. Edgar moved that the bill pass subject to any general legislation hereafter adopted in regard to rates. This carried.

In supply on the vote for Indian schools in the Maritime Provinces, Major Hughes asked if these schools were under the control of religious bodies.

Mr. Daly replied that they were controlled by the Roman Catholic Church.

Mr. Hughes—"Have you taken any steps to place the schools on a national footing?"

Mr. Daly—"No."

Mr. Hughes—"Then it's time you did."

WANTED CAMERON'S SCALP.

Col. Denison called attention to the recent hazing at Kingston. He blamed the commandant, General Cameron, for not knowing and suppressing what was going on. He did not regard General Cameron as the right man for the position, and moved to strike out his salary of $3,163.

The Minister of Militia defended General Cameron, while Sir Richard Cartwright declared that he was not fit for the position.

Col. Denison said the hazing of young Plummer, of Toronto, showed a lack of discipline, and Major Hughes remarked that it was about time they looked about for a new commandant.

Col. Denison's motion was defeated by 26 to 8. The eight comprised Denison, Smith (Ontario), Maclean, Sproule, Semple, Mulock, Forbes and McMullen.

A BOARD OF CUSTOMS.

Controller Wallace has given notice for the appointment of a board of custom appraisers.

Dr. Sproule has given notice of a special committee to investigate the affairs of the Temperance Colonization Society.

A deputation of fruit growers asked Mr. Angers for cold storage accommodation to ship fruit to England. He promised them part of that provided for the dairymen for a few experimental shipments in the fall. The Government could not, however, take charge of the sales of fruit.

Hood's Makes Them Healthy.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has been used in our family for a long time. I regard it as the best family medicine. My children are using it every day and the effect has been to make them feel and look perfectly healthy." Albert Chamberlin, City Inspector, No. 333 Parliament street, Toronto, Canada.

HOOD'S PILLS cure sick headache.

HAVE NOT DECIDED.

The Government has not yet Reached a Decision.

Special to The Times.

Ottawa, July 4. — The Government spent this morning in consultation on the school question. It was given out that no decision was reached. Many Conservative members have, during the last two days, notified the Government that they cannot support them in remedial legislation. Opinion is gathering strong that no legislative action will be taken this session.

ONTARIO TORIES DON'T WANT TO VOTE.

Ottawa, July 4.—The Citizen, sizing up the political situation today says it is no secret that a large majority of Ontario Conservatives would prefer some other solution than one which would bring them to a vote on a remedial bill. Quebec Conservatives are equally strong in favor of such a policy.

CLAUSES OF THE FORESTERS' BILL DROPPED.

Ottawa, July 4.—Dr. Oronhyatekha dropped all the clauses of the Foresters' bill at the meeting of the Banking and Commerce Committee, save the clause increasing power to assure up to $5,000. He argued at great length in support of this. The committee adjourned without taking action.

A bylaw was passed to borrow $40,000 from the Bank of Montreal to meet current expenses.

GREAT SAVING BY PURCHASING THE LARGER SIZES

AN AFFAIR OF HONOR.

Or the Story of a Duel that Never Came Off and the Very Good Reason Therefor.

Mr. Arthur Blake, an artist.
Miss Dora Swayne, his fiancee.
Scene, the Swayne library.

Dora—Come in here, Arthur, its so much cozier than in the drawing-room. I was just reading that red book on the table. It contains the most fascinating accounts of duels.

Arthur (starting slightly)—If that isn't queer!

Dora—What—my taste? Why, the stories are perfectly stirring! They're all about the days when men were ready "to wipe out the slightest insinuation against her honor with their heart's blood. In those days men were brave! But, do sit down, and don't look so glum. Why, you're actually pale, dear! Are you ill?

Arthur (attempting to smile)—Not a bit, darling. Just a little worried, that's all. But, tell me, Dora, don't you think dueling was a barbarious custom?

Dora—Not at all!

Arthur (singularly concerned)—You don't mean to say, dear, that you consider civilization very high where a man, because of some real or imagined insult, may satisfy his rage by committing murder?

Dora (incensed)—I fail to see how civilization is degraded by the existence of personal honor and courage.

Arthur—Suppose you were living in a duelling age and a duelling country, would you want one dear to you to risk his life rather than have some fool call him a coward?

Dora—Under any circumstances whatever, I prefer bravery to cowardice.

Arthur (with tragic earnestness)—Then, Dora, if your lover should refuse to accept such an absurd challenge——

Dora—I should heartily despise him!

Arthur (taking a long breath and leaning back determinedly)—That settes it. At the club last night I found myself called upon to resent a remark of Blackson's and to-day he sent me a formal challenge. What now?

Dora (clutching his coat-sleves)—Arthur! You're not in earnest?

Arthur (calmly)—Thoroughly so, dear. He refused to apologize, but said he'd give me all the satisfaction I desired, at any time and place, and with any weapons.

Dora—What a—what a blusterer he must be! As though any one fought duels in America to-day! (Trying to conceal her anxiety.) Of course you'll simply ignore his absurd note, Arthur.

Arthur (concealing his joy)—Well, that would hardly be polite, you know. I'll write to him in the morning, and choose mahlsitcks for weapons. As for swords or pistols, I'd be more afraid of my own than his, though he is an expert with each.

Dora (with white face)—But—why—Arthur! You're not really going to fight him? Why, it's ridiculous—and it's against the law and everything. Oh, Arthur, he'll kill you!

Arthur (taking her in his arms, but apparently unmoved)—I suppose he will, as I never handled a deadly weapon. But my honor is at stake, dear, and you would have me defend it at any cost. You would despise me if—

Dora (hysterically)—I shouldn't. Rather than have you stand up before that murderer I'd have you forty cowards! Promise me you won't go, dear?

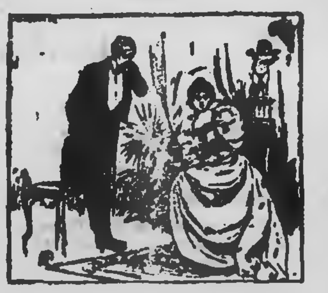
Arthur—With all my heart. (Necessary pause.) What reply shall I send him, Dora?

Dora (indignantly)—None. I'll write to him myself, and tell him that he's a nasty, horrid bully; and that he shan't kill you because you belong to me; and that he ought to be ashamed of himself! Now don't ever say duel to me as long as I live. Kiss me.

Arthur (mischievously)—Darling, has the red book lost its attractiveness?

Dora—Not a bit. I shall read every word of it. But, dear (clinging to him and shuddering ever so slightly) that's different!

Repartee.



Cholly—Would you marry me if I asked you?

Dolly—No!

Cholly—Hum! You needn't be so smart. I don't intend to ask you.

The Modern Girl.

"John," she said thoughtfully, "of course it is well to be proud of your daughter's success at the seminary, but—but"—

"But what, my dear?" he asked.

"Well, it seems to me that you are a trifle thoughtless at times."

"I don't quite understand you," he said.

"It's all right to speak of her standing in her class," she explained, "and it is all right to be proud of her social accomplishments. Talk of her taste if you wish to, her cooking and her singing lessons, her vivacity, her knowledge of modern languages and her sunny disposition, but—but"——

"Well, what is it? Where have I made any mistake?"

"Why, it's about time to find a husband for her, and I would suggest, John, that you say nothing about her gymnasium work or the fact that she played centre rush on the seminary football team. I have noticed that that has a tendency to discourage young men."

His Ultimatum.

"And you reject my offer?" he said to her, intensely. "You refuse to be the one woman in all the world to me?"

"I'm afraid so," she confessed, rather kindly, for she meant well.

"Then I have but one thing to say to you, madam," he said, reaching for his hat.

"I am sure you have my permission to say that. What is it?"

He drew himself up to his full height.

"There are others," he replied haughtily, and passed out of the game.

Time for a Change.

She—May I suggest an occasional change in your style of dancing?

He—Certainly; what change do you desire?

She—You might step on my right foot now and then; my left has about all it can stand.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

A NIAGARA MYSTERY.

BODY OF A BUFFALO MERCHANT TAKEN FROM THE RAPIDS.

Said to be a Case of Suicide—Despondency the Cause—Judge Macdougal and Extradition Cases.

Special to the Times.

NIAGARA FALLS, July 4.—A floater and the body of a man was found near the Maid of the Mist landing on the Canadian side this morning, by A. Spencer. The body was taken in charge by Coronor Moose and had apparently been in the water but a few days. On the shirt was written A. Wood, and in the pocket of his coat was found a letter addressed to A. Woods, 155 Massachusets street, Buffalo. The police of Buffalo being informed of the facts, wired that the man was a Buffalo commission merchant, and lived at the above address, and had his office at 233 Seneca street, that city, and had been

MISSING SINCE SATURDAY

when he left his wife during the afternoon saying he was going to the post office to cash a check he had received from his sister, who lived at Springford, near Norwich, Ont. He had been in ill health both physically and mentally, for the past two weeks and the doctor had suggested that he take a rest, but he seemed to be on the mend and nothing was done. The man no doubt came to the Falls and committed suicide by drowning himself in the river below the Falls. His body evidently did not come over the Falls. He was 47 years old and leaves a wife and three children.

EXTRADITION CASES.

TORONTO, July 4.—Judge Macdougall's court was occupied during a portion of today's session with a further consideration of the various extradition cases now upon the docket. The notorious Charles Bothschild, alias Hutton, alias Diamond Charlie, will in all probability return to Moberly, Mo., for trial as his fifteen days for appeal ends today and so far no appeal has been made. Western officers are expected to come any minute to receive their prisoner. Ten charges were originally laid against the prisoner, but his counsel, Mr. Johnston, has got them reduced to two, one in Moberly and the other in Gainsboro Ga.

DARING JAIL BREAKERS.

Forced to Surrender the Keys at the Pistol's Point,

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, July 4.—The three Springfield postoffice thieves—Joseph Killorn, Charles Allen and Harry Russell—escaped this morning from Ludlow street jail. The three men entered the office of Keeper Schneer at the same time, Russell leveled a revolver at the head of Schneer, who was also in the office, and the two others covered Schneer with weapons. They threatened to kill him if a single outcry was made. Allen took the keys from Schneer while the other two still held their revolvers at the head of Schneer. With the keys he opened the door leading to the vestibule and escaped.

Hanged the Man She Loved.

RAMIRENA, Tex., July 4.—Yesterday, on the witness stand, Miss Bessie Harris, the pretty daughter of a wealthy farmer, broke down and confessed that she hanged Albert Blackman, a suitor of whom she was insanely jealous. She said that she was impelled to do the deed by stories her parents told of Blackman's infidelity to her.

Seven Were Killed.

SPEZZIN Italy, July 4.—While the torpedo boat Aquila was undergoing trials today her boiler exploded. Seven men were killed and 13 injured. The other six men aboard of her escaped uninjured. The vessel was badly damaged.

About 200 Men Thrown Out of Work.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 4.—Fire last night destroyed Brunett's saw mill and Laidlaw's salmon cannery at Westminster. The loss is estimated at $100,000; insurance about $76,000. The destruction of the mill throws 200 men out of employment.

The Usual Story.

MAJUNGA, Madagascar, July 4.—Several thousand Hovas who attacked French outposts at Tsarasaotra recently were repulsed. General Metzinger arrived on the scene and ordered an attack on the Hovas' position at Beritsoka. The natives were routed with heavy losses. They left their tents and baggage. The French losses were two killed and fifteen wounded.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Death of James Padget.

The death of Mr. James Padget occurred at Emily on Thursday, July 4th, in his 89th year. Deceased was born in Ireland and came to Canada in 1814. Shortly after his arrival on Canadian soil he took up his residence in Emily, and he has lived there up to the time of his death. He was a member of the church of England and his life was characterized by quietness and goodness. He was blessed with a family of 8 children—4 living.

Not Dead Yet.

The Cobourg Post says it will be interesting to many to know that the projected railway from Cobourg to the C.P.R. is still alive, and every once and a while a step advancing the scheme is made. The latest was at Ottawa on Saturday last, when Mr. Guillet, M.P., and Mr. R. W. Leonard, engineer of the Cobourg, Northumberland & Pacific Railway, secured the consent of the Railway Committee for the proposed road to cross the Central Ontario Railway at the Central Ontario Junction.

God Save the Queen.

Does not Meet With Public Favor.

The business men of Campbellford have been inconvenienced by the change of time in the railway service on the Grand Junction, as they have only one hour and a half in which to do their correspondence in time for the mail train going eastward in the morning, and when any business is required at the bank, this is impossible. The time is altogether too short, and the old system of mail service was far more preferable. It is hoped that better accommodation will be afforded the public along the Grand Junction line at no distant date.

Accident.

On Sunday last while Mr. T. Sullivan and wife, who live a short distance from Lakefield, were going into Douro on a trip to see his mother, he met with a very severe accident. It appear that while he was driving down a hill near Mr. M. Hynes farm, the horse shied and upset the buggy, throwing the occupants out into the ditch, Mr. Sullivan striking his shoulder against a large stone, and breaking his left shoulder blade. Mrs. Sullivan was also considerably shaken and bruised but not seriously injured. Dr. J. R. Fraser was summoned and attended the injured man, who will no doubt be laid up for a few weeks.

Twenty Thousand Roses.

There are nearly 20,000 rose trees in bloom now at Dunlop's conservatories Bloor-st. west, Toronto. Visitors are always well come. Mr. Dunlop is proud of his establishment and takes pleasure in speaking of his beauties. THE GRAYS ARRIVE.

The Preliminary Investigation will open on July 16.

Thomas and Hessie Gray and their six children, the youngest a child in arms, 15 months old, and the oldest under 12 years of age, arrived in Peterborough yesterday noon in charge of Chief Provincial Detective John Murray. The party arrived on the noon train, and the Grays were met by numerous friends who apprehended their arrival and gathered at the depot to bid them cheer and good will. From the depot Detective Murray took his charges to Magistrate Edmison's office and they were remanded until Friday next, Mr. W. A. Stratton appearing for the defendants. Thomas and Hessie Gray were then taken to the county jail, the mother carrying the little 15 months old babe in her arms and leading the children. The latter, however, the jail authorities refused to lock up, and it is understood that kind friends of the Grays have provided for these poor children. Although it was the noon hour, and the sun was pouring down relentlessly, the man and woman were compelled to walk to the jail and climb the tiresome hill, exposed not only to the oppressive heat but to the still more oppressive and offensive gaze of a large crowd of curious men and boys, who crowded around them as though they were wild animals and the procession a part of a circus.

While in Magistrate Edminson's office Mr. and Mrs. Gray showed no fear of the result of the trial which they will soon be put upon. Both appear confident that an investigation would clear them of the awful charge hanging equally over their heads, and while neither said much, the few words they exchanged with newspaper men present was indicative of the greatest absence of fear or insecure feeling. They waived extradition proceedings, upon the condition that Detective Murray should bring their children with them. Speaking of Detective Murray they had nothing but words of praise for him, stating that he treated them, and especially the children, with the greatest consideration.

Detective Murray and his charges left Ocala on Saturday afternoon and reached Jacksonville, the metropolis of Florida, on Saturday night. They embarked at once on the Clyde line steamer Algonquin, for New York, and the steamer left the next morning on the early tide, which enables the vessel to safely cross the sandbar at the mouth of the St. John's river at Mayport into the Atlantic. The trip was a pleasant one, and no time was lost. Mrs. Gray was sea sick the entire trip, and says the officers of the boat treated her with scant courtsey, it having become known that they were charged with murder.

Reaching New York on Wednesday they left immediately for Canada and reached Hamilton on Thursday night. They spent the night there. Yesterday they passed through Toronto and at the Union station the Grays had a consultation with lawyer W. G. Murdoch, whom they engaged to defend them. Mr. Murdoch is a keen and shrewd criminal lawyer and was associated with the defense in the recent Hyam's trial.

In Florida the Grays lived on a small truck farm at Agnew station, a few miles from Ocala. The frost killed their first vegetable crop, which was nearly matured at Christmas, and in consequence Gray found it necessary to work on the railway at 65 cents a day. Mrs. Gray earned $3 a week picking berries. However, as truck farmers raise two crops a year in Florida, their second, or summer crop, was doing nicely and they would have realized something from it this summer. Just three weeks ago Gray was arrested and placed in jail and his wife was arrested a week or 10 days later. Gray fully corroborated the description of the Ocala jail and the treatment accorded prisoners, which THE TIMES described in a recent issue. The horror of their confinement they will never forget.

While they have been remanded for one week, it is not the intention of the Crown to open the investigation until Tuesday, July 16.

BOARD OF TRADE.

A Special Meeting Last Night—Unsatisfactory Mail Service.

A special meeting of the Board of Trade was held last night at which there were present, President B. Shortly, presiding, and Messrs. Schofield, Hall, Kells, Campbell, Dobbin, Dumble, Fair. Meldrum, Mason and Hamilton. In the absence of Secretary Hay, Mr. Geo. Schofield filled the office of secretary.

The president reported that Secretary Hay had received replies from a number of towns and villages re tax exemption on machinery. None of the towns or villages heard from had machinery exemption bylaws. They dealt with each case separately and in all of the places heard from machinery was exempt from taxation.

Mr. Campbell proposed the name of Mr. F. W. Taylor, of the bank of Montreal, for membership, and a vote being taken Mr. Taylor was unanimously elected a member of the Board of Trade.

The matter of the change of train service between Peterborough and Belleville was brought up by Mr. Campbell. The mail train now arrived at 8.15 and left at 8.45 which left only 30 minutes to answer and mail letters to Belleville in the morning. This was a great inconvenience.

It appears that a freight train with passenger coach attached leaves for Belleville at 3 o'clock. This train, however, did not carry mail. On motion of Mr. Campbell, seconded by Mr. Mulholland, the secretary was instructed to write to the post office inspector of this division informing him of the great inconvenience occasioned by the recent change of time table and asking that an effort be made to have the 3 o'clock train carry the mail.

The Board then adjourned until September.

THE CURLERS' SMOKER.

A Testimonial to Mr. McGill Upon His Withdrawal from the Club.

The members of the Peterborough Curling Club spent a very pleasant evening last night in the club's rooms at the rink, the occasion being the smoking concert of the club. The event which is only second in enjoyment with the members to an exciting contest when the ice is keen, was very well attended, although some of the oldest and most prominent members were unavoidably absent. At nine o'clock the rooms were well filled, and the fragrant fumes of tobacco were curling from numerous pipes, while a spirited conversation was maintained between the puffs. Among those who were present were the following:

President George Edmison and Messrs. Charles McGill, E. H. D. Hall, Joseph Taylor, Montreal: John Fanning, W. Thompson, Dickson Davidson, John Crane, H. Phelan, W. D. Parker. "Monty" Montgomery, Andrew McNeil, Dr. R. B. Boucher, W. H. Robertson, W. H. Hill, E. Brown, W. G. Ferguson, Carese LeBrun, R. Max Dennistoun, G. W. Hatton, Mr. Allen, J. S. Knapman, A. St. A. Smith, John McKee, W. Salisbury, Robert Salisbury, D. W. Dumble, police magistrate; R. H. Fortye, Thomas Dunn, H. LeBrun, E. B. Edwards, R. S. Davidson, Alex. Elliott, Daniel Bellegbem, Adam Hall, R. C. Kells, Robt. Innes, W. B. Bamford, Wm. Snowden, R. B. McKee, H. R. H. Kenner, A. Blade, Robt. Fair.

A PRESENTATION.

It has been with deep regret that the Peterborough Curling club has known that Mr. Charles McGill had found it necessary to withdraw from active membership in the curling club, and they took this occasion of paying him a slight testimonial of esteem and an evidence of the appreciation which the entire membership feels for the great services he has rendered the club during his 14 year s connection with it, and also for the many personal services he has rendered during the years he has held the position of secretary. President Edmison voiced the appreciation of the individual membership in the following words:

It falls to my lot as president of the Peterborough Curling Club to state the circumstances which brought us together this evening. I am sure that all present sincerely regret the cause of the gathering—the withdrawal of our secretary, Mr. Charles McGill. We know that he has substantially withdrawn from our club, and while we hope that he will often meet with us on the ice, we know we shall not see as much of him as formerly, as his duties in Toronto will require part of his time. The circumstances which renders this so, we all sincerely appreciate. We come here to express our gratitude for what he has done in the past for this club. When he came here 14 years ago, our club was small and comparatively insignificant. Its present prosperity is due to him; as secretary he has no equal (applause). As president I don't know where to look for one of his equal. (Voice: Toronto). Yes, we might find one of his size in Toronto.

I thought I should call this club together, continued Mr. Edmison, in order to keep the spirits of the members up, and to spend a social evening, and I invited Mr. McGill to be present. I wasn't sure he would be in town, so there was some little trouble in determining whether we would hold the smoker tonight or not; and believing from information received early in the afternoon, I caused a notice to be placed in the evening papers postponing the affair. Later on Mr. McGill arrived in town. No doubt this uncertainty is the cause of the absence of some of our members. I feel sure they would all be here if the misunderstanding had not occurred, and while it was not my intention to slight any of the members, I am sure Mr. McGill will understand and appreciate the cause of their absence. However, we have a fair representation present, and considering that the notice of this event was only sent out on Monday, I hope Mr. McGill will not think the representation too small.

In addition to asking Mr. McGill to attend a smoking concert, we have prepared a small gift. It is not as valuable a one as we would wish but one which we hope he will accept. Although withdrawing from the club, we hope he will visit us as often as he can and give us the benefit of his own countenance and come and "soup 'em up" in good old style. We are not going to present him with "stanes" or brooms or he might beat us when we meet him on other ice.

At this junction Mr. R. Max Dennistoun appeared carrying a beautiful silver tea service and tray which he presented with well chosen words. He said he was sure he was voicing the sentiment of the members in repeating the president's reference to Mr. McGill's great work, not only in bringing the standing of the club to its present enviable position but by infusing the members with the true spirit of sportsmanship.

Mr. McGill modestly replied to the words of President Edmison and Mr. Dennistoun. He said he was very much obliged for their remarks. He was proud to be a member of the curling club and always had been. It was now stronger than ever and he could leave it feeling that it would always prosper. He felt that he should like to retain his membership, and he was sure he would always retain his interest in it.

He was sure he had not worked for the club in the unselfish way spoken of. He had always taken a personal interest in curling and in the club, and it was partly gratifying a personal liking that he had taken the interest spoken of. His connection with the club had done him good and he felt that through it he had benefited quite as much as the club.

Mr. E. B. Edwards moved that Mr. McGill be made an honorary member of the club. Mr. D. W. Dumble seconded the motion. In doing so he made a few very happy remarks. His connection with the club had always been a real pleasure to him. It had brightened his winter life and robbed the long severe winters of their terror—to him, at least—and now, instead of dreading the winter, he was eagerly waiting for the first ice. It was a gentlemanly, kindly and noble game; a game in which the courtesy and kindness of those who engaged in it, became most pleasantly manifest, and he believed that while engaged in curling, a fellowship of lasting benefit was indulged in. He took great pleasure in seconding the motion. He was sure the class of "goods" turned out in Peterborough was appreciated—whether curlers, bank presidents, or bank managers. And Peterborough was going to continue in this direction. (Applause). He trusted the spirit of kindliness and good will which at present existed, would continue to the end.

President Edmison then called for a vote and Mr. McGill was unanimously elected a life honorary member of the club.

Mr. McGill returned thanks for this mark of esteem in a few brief words. He said he appreciated it more than anything the club could have done. He was sure the club would have no difficulty in filling his place. He was not altogether retiring from the club (cheers). He hoped to be able to often indulge in a game with the members, and his interest in the club would continue.

Brief remarks were also made by Councillor Cahill, Mr. W. D. Parker and others, all of a complimentary nature to Mr. McGill. These were followed by songs by Mr. Thomas Dunn, Mr. R. Max. Dennistoun, Mr. H. Phelan, Mr. H. LeBrun and Mr. F. W. Taylor, of Montreal. Mr. Yokome, of the Examiner proposed a toast to the health of Mr. W. D. Parker, of the Ontario Bank, and in a few complimentary words spoke of his general acceptance to the business men of Peterborough in his new relations with the bank and referred to his selection for the position as extremely gratifying to the business men, as Mr. Parker was well qualified to assume the increased duties and it was indeed fortunate that a gentleman of his ability and popularity had been chosen.

Mr. Parker replied briefly. He explained that while Mr. McGill would find it necessary to spend at least part of his time in Toronto, he was still manager of the local branch, and although he would assume, in his absence, Mr. McGill's duties to a certain extent, he was glad to know that he would have constant access to Mr. McGill's advice and counsel, and this fact gave him a confidence he would otherwise not feel in assuming his increased duties. He thanked the proposer of the toast for his complimentary remarks. A most enjoyable evening was spent, and when it came to an end all present felt that the first smoker of the curling club in 1895, was an entire and long to be remembered success.

The picnic of St. Luke's Sunday school down the river yesterday per City of Peterborough, was largely attended.

At the examinations at McGills College, Montreal, Mr. D. C. King, son of Dr. King, and Mr. W. H. Pigeon, son of Dr. Pigeon, were successful in passing their first year's examinations in medicine.

The marriage of Rev. Gerald Willoughby, of Sarnia, son of Rev. N. R. Willoughby, formerly pastor of George street Methodist church, to Miss Maud Walker, daughter of Rev. George Walker, of Wiarton, took place in the Wiarton Methodist church on Wednesday.

Mr. R. J. Creelman, of Creelman Bros., Georgetown, was in town yesterday. This firm has the agency for the new typewriter, the Blickensderfer, which is a marvellous little machine, and does its work as well if not better than high priced typewriters. It is sold remarkably cheap, and several citizens have purchased them.

One night lately some evil disposed parties entered the barn of Mr. O. Wolfraim near Castleton and disfigured two valuable horses by shaving their tails and manes. The horses had been engaged for the cavalry at Kingston during the annual drill and were to have started for the camp the following morning. It is to be hoped that the perpetrators of this vicious act will be discovered and receive the full penalty for the crime.—Enterprise.

A peculiar law suit was tried in the Division Court at Guelph lately. David Martin owned a pair of fox terrier pups, left motherless when a day or two old. L. Cutten was the proprietor of a cat whose kittens had gone to a watery grave in the River Speed. Mr. Martin induced Mr. Cutton to allow Mr. Cutton's cat to perform the duties of a mother for Mr. Martin's pups. The pups lived and thrived in the care of their adopted mother. Mr. Cutten brought an action to recover pay for the services rendered in the rearing of Mr. Martin's pups.

The Cobourg Sentinal-Star says that at the evening service in the King street Methodist church on Sunday, the pastor answered some questions, among others, "What do you think of bicycle riding on Sunday for pleasure?" He said that the great majority of bicycle riders who rode on Sunday did so for pleasure, and as far as he knew, it was as bad to break the Sabbath in one way as in another, and whether wheeling, buggy riding, boating or in any other way, it was wrong to seek pleasure on the Sabbath. Still they do it.

MAN'S INHUMANITY TO MAN.

Editor Morning Times.

DEAR SIR,—"Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn." This sentiment was sharply illustrated in Peterborough this day when the Gray family arrived from Florida on their way to jail, under the escort of Detective Murray, and charged with the awful crime of murder.

Weary, and broken in spirit the prisoners dragged themselves along the sidewalk from the lawyer's office to the jail, and they were closely followed by a howling, gaping mob of that class whose chief delight and highest ambition is to have the privilege of witnessing a dog fight or an execution. Far be it from us to say one word in reference to the prisoner's guilt or innocence. That will be decided by the proper tribunal, but bearing in mind that according to British law the prisoner must be considered innocent till proved guilty, we may be allowed to say that it was indeed a sorry sight and it brought sadness to many a heart to see the poor woman struggling along to a cell in the jail. She was barely able to walk with her baby in her arms and four young children trudging along at her feet, and no doubt all this suffering was intensified by being forced to exhibit herself to the idle gaze of the heartless rabble. We do not pretend to say where the blame rests for this harsh usage of the prisoners, but we have heard many a respectable citizen say that he would gladly have paid a cab hire himself for the prisoners rather than to have it supposed that the guardians of the law in Peterborough were in the smallest degree destitute of the ordinary feelings of humanity. The writer never saw the prisoners nor the able Detective Murray till this day, and he was forcibly reminded of the aphorism that appearances often deceive. The prisoners shewed that innocent, unsophisticated look which is so common in rural life, while the clever detective could scarcely conceal the well trained craft and necessary duplicity of his strange calling. And if the prisoners and the detective were put in a room by themselves, and an utter stranger to the trio was told that one of them had committed a crime and was commissioned to hit upon the guilty party, it is highly probable that in nine cases out of ten the prisoners would be sent home, and the worthy detective would be very improperly detained till the authorities would have time to investigate.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 161 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

THE ST. HENRI MURDER.

THE SUSPECTED HUSBAND PLACED IN A CELL.

Exhaustive Review of the Testimony by the Coroner—Important New Evidence Secured—The Accused Assumes an Air of Innocence.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 6.—Deemers, against whom the jury this afternoon returned a verdict for the murder of his wife is now lodged in the Montreal jail. The accused maintains his coolness and protests his innocence. The arrest of Deemers is another sensational feature in the dark murder mystery. On the 13th of June Mrs. Deemers was found in her home at St. Henri brutally murdered, her throat having been horribly slashed. The inquest has been proceeding since and the case which has become known as the has excited great public interest. There was apparently no motive for the crime. Mrs. Deemers was a quiet, inoffensive woman, with no enemies and on good terms with her neighbors. The woman was not outraged and there was no robbery. The mystery was deepened by the absence of a motive. Suspicion finally settled upon her husband whom it is sworn had had trouble with his wife whom he threatened. He stated that he had left the house quite early as usual in the morning of the day of the murder and had not returned until notified of his wife's death of which he emphatically declared he knew nothing. The doctor's evidence was to the effect that the condition of the body showed that the woman must have been killed early in the morning, but this theory was upset by the evidence of two women who swore they saw Mrs Deemers in the morning.

ST. HENRI MURDER MYSTERY,

It was the coroner's duty to allow Demers to say all that he had said. The husband was the only one that said that the wife had told him that she had been courted by a rich man of St. Mathias, but the name was never mentioned. The husband says he is the only one whom he suspects. It was his duty as coroner, to tell the jury that it was not her husband who had first spoken of this lover. It was only a few days after when he had heard that the police were looking for such an individual. There is not a word of evidence to show that there had been any lover, or that she had had enemies who would want to have her to die. They would have to examine if a person near to her had any interest in doing away with her. It had been shown that the husband and wife were not leading a happy life. The deceased was jealous and often reproached her husband on that score. That was in evidence from Demers' own sister, and she added that when the deceased had reproached him for it he had thrown her so violently on the bed that she had feared for her life. They would have to decide if this was the motive of the murder. They would have to consider at what time the murder had been committed. The and most difficult. They would have to say if the woman had died after, in the forenoon or in the morning or during the night. They would have to weigh the evidence of the Bergeaons, mother, daughter and son, and consider if the evidence was supported by facts of a nature to place it on a solid basis.

The coroner reminded them that the evidence of the husband given under oath could not be used against him. The spirit of the law is that a man should not incriminate himself. They could and should take his unsworn evidence for, as well as against him. Demers appearing as a witness has revealed a man of extraordinary sangfroid and his evidence must be favorable to him and should be considered by any court. Demers answered the questions put to him clearly and without hesitation.

There was no doubt that his "I think not," is a formal denial of the charge against him. If Demers' attitude outside of the inquest had been of a nature to tell against him it would have been shown. His attitude was altogether favorable, going to his work as usual. It was in the interests of justice that Demers should be questioned as he had been publicly, he had given any answer that was favorable to him and British justice, which has been so boasted has allowed certain police officers to wring confessions from accused parties, and to send "stool-pigeons" to gaol for that purpose. He did not believe in this manner of procedure, and he wanted Demers to have the benefit of a public examination.

If he had been convinced of Demers' guilt he would have been arrested long before. It was because he felt that Demers could be arrested when wanted that he was not locked up. Demers had not always said the truth. He said he had never quarrelled with his wife, and insisted though warned on the word "never."

At half past two this afternoon the jury recommended that Demers be placed under arrest and this was accordingly done. He was taken to the police station.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

A Father in Chicago Kills his Wife, Four Children and Himself.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, July 6.—A horrible tragedy took place in this city at an early hour yesterday morning, resulting in the death of six human beings. Frederick Hellman, a prosperous mason contractor, deliberately murdered his wife and four little children, and then killed himself. Relatives of the family, who live next door, got access to the house through a window, and found the six dead bodies in one of the bedrooms. All had been suffocated by gas, which was still pouring from an open jet.

It was first thought the affair was an accident, but a letter written by Hellman the previous evening clearly disclosed his intention of killing himself, although no mention is made of the family. No motive can be found for the deed, as the murderer was in a good financial condition and was devoted to his family. He had a sunstroke some years ago and it is believed the man was temporarily insane. The jury returned a verdict of suicide and murder.

Hellman was 37 years old, his wife 32, and the children ranged in age from 11 to 3 The gas fixtures were only put in the house about ten days ago, and it is thought he had the deed in prospect at that time.

An Inland Revenue Official Dies.

BROCKVILLE, July 6.—Herbert Fitzsimmons, a member of the Inland Revenue staff here, and son of the late Postmaster Fitzsimmons, died at his residence this morning.

JUST ONCE TOO OFTEN.

Wm. Figgles was not true to his Canadian Wife—Now he is Sorry.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, July 6.—William H. Figgles, 36, an Englishman, of New Haven, Conn., was arraigned before Judge Moore, in the Court of Sessions, Brooklyn, this morning in an indictment charging him with bigamy. He married Jennie Waters in Ontario 17 years ago. He, his wife and two children lived last together on Cayler street in Green Point.

In April last he went to a ball, at which he danced with Kate Barton, of 355 Grand street. After that he courted her. Then he went to New Haven to live. Figgles said, in pleading guilty, that he had never lived happily with his wife, and that he married Kate because he thought she would make him a pleasant home.

THE SULKY FRENCH

There May be a Bolt Among Them Before the End of the Session.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 6.—A very uneasy feeling prevails here concerning the probable action of the French when postponement of action on the school question is officially announced. Your correspondent is informed that there will be a French bolt, though perhaps not of great dimensions, before the end of the session. Yesterday many French members were sulking and would not enter the House.

DRAWS MADE AT HENLEY.

HOW THE CREWS WILL ROW IN THE GREAT RACE.

Argonauts to Engage the London Four—"Buck" Will Tackle the Hon. Rupert, While F. H. will Have One of the Nickalls.

Special to the Times.

HENLEY-ON-THE-THAMES, July 6.—The drawing for the heats in regatta here next Tuesday and following days, took place today, and the fours for the Stewards' Challenge Cup will be coupled as follows:

Heat A—Argonaut Rowing Club, of Toronto, and London Rowing Club.

Heat B—The winner of Heat A and New College Rowing Club, Oxford.

Heat C—The Leander Rowing Club and the Thames Rowing Club.

Heat D—The winners in Heats B and C.

For the Diamond Sculls the draw resulted in the brothers Nickalls being selected for the first heat.

For the second Bush Thompson and Hon. Rupert Guinness are paired.

Third heat the winner of the second and R. K. Beaumont of the Burton Rowing Club.

Fourth heat the winner of the first heat and F. H. Thompson of the Argonants.

Fifth heat the winner of the third and fourth heats.

As predicted, the sporting papers have come to regard the Canadians with favour, and places them first for the fours and singles. Sporting Life says:—"The Argonants are a fine crew and do their work in such a clean and easy manner that it is difficult to tell when they are paddling and when they are rowing. They are likely to make a hard race with England's best rowers."

If the weather holds up there will be a great crowd here for the week. Even today large numbers came from town to see the crews at practice. The Argonants are in the best of health and vigor, and, barring accidents, should give a good account of themselves. "Bush," who had a lively spin to Fawley Court today, is regarded by the knowing ones as "fit to win," and the men themselves, after carefully observing their opponents are very hopeful that in both events for which they are entered they will not be far from the front. They expressed this opinion today after doing a fast trial over the full score.

HENLEY ON THAMES, July 6.—The Cornell crew are regaining their strength. They rowed over the course this morning, in good time, covering the distance in 7 minutes ann 4 seconds.

The wind was very favorable to the Cornell men, blowing directly against their backs. They began at a stroke of 46 to the minute, and in no time got below 44. They reached Fawley Court in three minutes and 27 seconds and covered the course in 7 minutes and 4 seconds. The Leander Boat Club's eight also rowed, but the wind had fallen by the time they got out. They passed Fawley Court in 3 minutes and 30 seconds, but their time for the full course was 8 minutes and 7 seconds. The time made by the Thames Rowing Club was 3 minutes and 29 seconds to Fawley Court, and 7 minutes and 14 seconds for the full course.

E. A. Thompson sculled to Fawley Court in 4 minutes and 12 seconds. The Argonauts' four also took a hard pull over the full course.

BIG BLAZE AT OSWEGO.

Several Stores Burned—One Woman Losses her Life.

Special to The Times.

OSWEGO, N. Y., July 6.—A disastrous fire started about 2.30 o'clock Saturday morning on the east side of the river. Wallace's department store, Kingston's pharmacy, Burden & Marsden's drygoods store, Miner's grocery and Jibson & Madigan's shoe store were burned. The loss is $133,000 and insurance $80,450.

Mrs. Isaac Bond, a womam 47 years old who lived over the Wallace store in Second street, was burned in the fire. She got out of the building all right, but was seen to turn and go back, presumably for some of her belongings. Before she got upstairs a loud explosion was heard and she is supposed to have fallen back.

A Deserved Sentence.

DUBLIN, July 6.—M. Cleary, living in the town of Clona was convicted today of manslaughter for murdering his wife last March. Cleary believed his wife was bewitched and upon the advice of the family doctor and in the presence of his father and a number of other relatives, he put her over a fire and afterwards stripped her and poured paris green over her body and set it on fire. The woman was burned to death without the slightest effort on the part of the spectators to extinguish the flames which were consuming her. He said that she was not his wife but a witch that he burned.

Cleary was sentenced to 20 years imprisonment. His accomplices were also convicted, Patrick Kennedy was condemned to five and John Dunne to three years, Wm. and Jas. Kearney to eighteen months each and Patrick Bolen and Michael Kennedy to six months each.

FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

A BOY KIDNAPPED FROM VICTORIA INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

A man Given Three Months For Selling Tobacco Juice for a Corn Cure—Upper Canada College Nearing a Crisis and it is Feared it is Doomed.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, July 6.—Relying on the fact that there is a great portion of the public always waiting to be gulled, John Gunshner has for many years sold tobacco juice as corn cure. Recently, however, people have been getting onto Gunshner's curves and he has been forced to discontinue the practice of selling it. Being too lazy to work Gunshner was compelled to resort to begging. He is a big, rough, dirty looking fellow, and if money was refused him a perfect torrent of abuse poured from his lips while he made threatening gestures. Bloor street west was his rendezvous on Friday, and after a constable had watched him threaten several people he was arrested. He will live in jail for the next three months.

STRAW AND HAY IN HER HAIR.

Lilly Abbott, a silly-looking girl, how has no friends or home, fell into the hands of P. C. Charlton about 4.30 this morning. She was strolling along Seaton street, with pieces of straw and hay sticking in her hair and clothes. She said that she slept in the Haven all night, but indications pointed to a night in a stable. Her case will be disposed of on Monday.

JAY WILL GET FAT IN JAIL.

"Well, do you want to go down?" asked Police Magistrate Denison of John Jay, who grew too fat to work at his profession, which was that of a living skeleton in a dime museum. "Yes, your Worship," replied the heavyweight, who tips the scales at 95 pounds. "How long would you like?" "About two months." He got it.

UPPER CANADA DOOMED.

That there's something radically wrong with Upper Canada College everyone who has paid any attention to the matter, or anyone who has even read the newspapers, knows. In short, in the words of Goldwin Smith, it is doomed.

Matters seem to be approaching a crisis, although a big effort is being made to have an efficient principal and staff in their places when the next term opens. It is now said that many of the old boys are agitating for the appointment of W. S. Jackson, the late Dean, to the principalship, and that they are leaving nothing undone to carry the point. But it is also said that there are those who have "Gentle" John Martland in sight and that he is about to visit England for the purpose of picking a staff to assist him when he assumes the principalship. It is five years since Mr. Martland was connected with the college; he was for twenty years head boarding house master.

A BOY KIDNAPPED.

Over two years ago Mrs. Hayward, wife of Geo. Hayward, a Yonge street expressman, became so infatuated with a young barber named William Hobbs that she left the man she had sworn at the altar to love, honor and obey and went and lived in adultery with the tonsorial artist.

But Barber Hobbs was encumbered with a wife, and when that lady realized that her lawful husband was being some other woman's unlawful husband, she straightway created trouble, and life after that was not a bed of roses for either Mr. Hobbs or Mrs. Hayward. Things came to such a pass that for a time a police court calendar without the names of Hobbs or Hayward was a curiosity. Finally Toronto became too hot for the erring couple and they left for pastures new, if Buffalo can be so described.

Despite the transference of Mrs. Hayward's affections from her husband she retained a tender regard for her 13 year old son Eddie, who some months ago was sent to the Industrial school of Mimico for petty larceny, and wrote him that she would be over to see him on Dominion Day. She didn't come, but her paramour did, and in the crowd at the school the lad was lured away, kidnapped and taken, presumably, to Buffalo.

The police are looking for the kidnapper.

SAW THE SERPENT.

Cape Breton Sailors Responsible for the Sea Yarn.

Special to The Times.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 6.—Capt. McNeil of the packet Susan reports meeting a peculiar sea monster about twelve miles off Bird Island. Fish or whatever it may be called, was perfectly white in color and Capt. McNeil calculates was 80 feet in length. Its head was about eight feet long and was shaped somewhat like an alligators. It was swimming on the top of the water and when first observed was about 200 yards from the vessel. Capt. McNeil watched it for about 20 minutes or more until it disappeared from view. Some fishermen of the district of Antigonish state that this peculiar monster has been seen on several previous occasions.

Bound Hand on Foot.

PAISLEY, Ont., July 6.—It was at one o'clock yesterday morning when three masked burglars entered the residence of David Black, a bachelor, and bound him hand and foot, throwing a quilt over his head. The robbers threatened to pour coal oil over Black and set him on fire if he did not divulge where they could find $500 in cash. Mr. Black was just as far at sea as the robbers as to the location in the house of such a large sum and told them so. Then they escaped, taking with them about $3 in cash and a couple of pairs of boots. There had been $500 in the house the day before, but it was placed in a bank

His Bowels Exposed.

FORESTVILLE, July 6.—On Thursday Henry Martin, 22 years old, was at work in William Hornburg's sawmill at Sheridan. In taking a board off the ways it caught on the saw, and threw him upon it. A great chunk was cut from his side, exposing his bowels. He bled to death in a short time.

Drowned at Brockville.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., July 6.—Johnny Gleason, 7 years old, fell in the river near steamer Haggart's dock yesterday afternoon, and was drowned.

Killed by a Horse's Kick.

GRAVENHURST, Ont., July 6.—Herman Bornemann, a farmer living a few miles from this town, while putting a horse in his stable yesterday, was kicked just over the heart, and killed.

BRITISH EAST AFRICA

A very important acquisition was mad by Great Britian on Monday. The territory of the British East Africa Company was formally transferred in the Government. The company's charter was surrendered in consideration of $250,000. Of course, this territory was nominally British while it was in possession of the company, but it has now attained the dignity of a British province and becomes a part of the Empire's great colonial system.

The lands thus acquired include Uganda and all that tract extending from the coast nearly opposite the island of Zanzibar to the great interior lake, Victoria Nyanza, and thence westward to the undefined boundary of the Congo Free State. It reaches northward to Egypt, including considerable territory now claimed by the Mahdi. All of Albert Nyanza and the nothern half of Victoria Nyanza are included in the possession, while along the coast it reaches to the Italian protectorate.

A study of the map of Africa show that Great britain now lacks but little of having an unbroken stretch of territory from the Cape of Good Hope to the borders of Egypt. And, as Egypt is practicly a British province, it may be said that Great Britain very nearly owns from the Cape to the mouth of the Nile. The single wedge which prevents this chain from being complete is the territory o the Germans, extending from the coast to the eastern shore of Lake Tanganyika and including the southern part of the Victoria Nyanza. The lands of the British South Africa Company touch the southern shores of Lake Tanganyika. So the little stretch between Tanganyika and Victoria is all that prevents the line from being unbroken. Most of these possessions are in the interior. Portugal has the coast line of Mozambique, including the mouth of the Zambesi River, and Italy has Somaliland, though the British control the coast of the Gulf of Aden. Great Britian has done in Africa what France did in North America—taken the interior, while her rivals were sattling on the coasts.

It is said to be the ambition of Cecil Rhodes to make the chain of British possessions from the Cape to the mouth of the Nile complete. The only Power which intervenes, and which is strong enough to make trouble, is Germany. The German possessions can be got around, however, by encroaching on the territory of the Congo Free State to the west of Lake Tanganyika, and it would not be surprising if this should prove to be the next move of the British. There is a possibility, moreover, that Germany can be induced to trade its possessions for territory elsewhere. The Germans, unlike the French, have never shown jealousy of British colonial acquisitions, and would not hesitate to advance them if an advantageous trade were offered. Great Britain would then have practically all the eastern half of Africa, including the Soudan, as far west as the Niger River, though the conquest of the Mahdists in the Eastern Soudan would be necessary before she could take full possession. The absorption of the Portuguese and Italian possessions would not be difficult and the Dark Continent would begin to look decidedly British.

Two years and six months in state prison is what McLaughlin, New York's deposed inspector of police, gets for these crime of accepting bribes. McLaughlin, had long enjoyed the reputation of being one of the most able and successful criminal-hunters in New York. He will be welcomed to prison by scores of old acquaintances whom he helped to send there, and who will be glad to see him.

LITERARY NOTES.

It is said that Esther, in General Wallace's "Ben Hur," was named after his mother.

"Thanatopsis" means "a vision of death." Bryant's poem of that name was published in 1816; it has been set to music.

"The Silver Fork school" was a name given to a group of writers of fiction in England who laid great stress upon matters of etiquette.

Fanny Crosby, the blind hymn-writer, was not born blind, but lost her sight when very young. Her husband, Alexander Van Alstyne, is also blind.

Captain Charles King, the novelist, is a West Point graduate. He has served in the United States artillery and also in the cavalry. He was retired from active service in 1879 on account of a wound received in the Apache campaign of 1874.

Homer is the poet to whom is assigned the authorship of the "Iliad" and "Odyssey." Of his personality nothing is known. Seven cities have contended for the honor of his birth.

Maarten Maarten's first book was called "An Old Maid's Love." His real name is J. M. W. Vander Poorten-Schwartz, and he is a Hollander by birth.

The Astor Library in New York City is an endowed reference library. It was founded in 1849 by John Jacob Astor, and it has received successive gifts from different members of the family. The library numbers over 245,000 volumes, and is, for the most part, admirably selected. Its range is general.

The real name of Madame Sans-Gene was Therese Ficquer. At the age of eighteen she donned the garb of a French soldier, and for twenty-two years she participated in the military glories of France. With Napoleon's fall her career ended. Her last days were not prosperous. After Napoleon's fall she opened a cook's shop, which failed. In 1818 she married a quartermaster of the gendarmes, a friend of her youth. Eleven years afterward her husband died, leaving her in very poor circumstances. Finally she was compelled to beg a place in a Hospital des Menages, where she dictated her memoirs and died.

POINTS FOR SHOPPERS.

A novelty among ribbons is the stilettoed or perforated sort. These come in pale delicate tints alone.

Black and white are likely to be a livery this year, the ground white, the stripes narrower and closer together than usual.

Big, white wash buttons come to match the white braids of various designs that are shown to trim suits of duck, pique and Galatea.

Tiny Chine flowers, on white grounded glaces, are much used for evening dresses and for blouses, and recall the Dolly Vardens, popular some time since.

A novelty in blouses is made of an India-patterned silk handkerchief, the corners being used to form pointed epaulets and basque, with straps of dark-red velvet over the shoulders.

Linen grenadine is a material of very loose weave, and is shown in brown and wood tones. It is found chiefly at the linen stores and comes in plain, dotted and striped designs.

A waist of soft black silk seen recently was made in a blouse effect, with violet velvet choux or rosettes set in irregular fashion about in its fullness. The collar was of silk, with violet rosettes.

"Angel" sleeves are shown on the tea gowns, those of a cobwebby net with an applique border being very fleecy and halo-like. They (the sleeves) are very long, with wide, fan points, and are most graceful and effective.

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

In country stables there is no excuse for foul odors.

Whatever you would like a pig to be you can have by selecting a boar that is a pattern of what you want.

When horses are kept in dark stables and brought out into the sunlight, the eyes are in great danger of injury.

The temperature of a stable should never go below the freezing point. The proper temperature is about sixty degrees.

Solitary confinement in a dark stable has a tendency to make a horse vicious. It affects the brain, as it does the brain of a human being in such confinement.

When hogs are fed upon alfalfa, they can be finished up nicely on Egyptian corn, and in some sections where alfalfa grows, this corn grows better than any other fat-producing grain.

At the last Smithfield show of England lambs of about 300 days of age tipped the scale at 222 pounds, giving about two-thirds of a pound of growth per day since birth. A fine record.

Young animals should be fed considerable bulk in order to develop the stomach. Heifer calves especially should be fed considerable bulky food. When concentrated food alone is fed, the stomach is contracted.—Farmer's Voice.

NEWSPAPERDOM.

Ten editors are members of the English parliament.

There are twenty-five women running country papers in Kansas.

A Spanish paper in the Pyrenees regularly suspends publication in hot weather.

One undoubted Americanism has taken firm root in England; the Times has adopted "gerrymandering."

In order to foster British commerce with Japan the British Trade Journal has determined to issue a regular quarterly edition in Japanese and to print and publish it in Japan.

Longmans, of London, are starting a new magazine for spotrs, to be called the Badminton Magazine, which will also contain "fiction which possesses a more or less pronounced savor of sport." The editor will be Mr. Alfred Watson, who assisted the duke of Beaufort in editing the Badminton Library.

PROGRESS OF SCIENCE.

Billiard balls of cast steel have been made and used successfully at Stockholm. They are hollow and weigh about as much as the ordinary ivory balls. A lathe is used to turn them to perfect smoothness.

The advance of natural history within the last 100 years has been so great that the science is practically a product of the century. Even as great a naturalist as Linnaeus thought that swallows pass the winter under the ice, and held other beliefs which may now seem equally absurd.

Electrical Treatment

210 Cowan Ave., Toronto.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

TREES THAT DO NOT DIE

THEY SURVIVE HACKING, HEWING, AND BURNING AND UPROOTING.

The Baobab Tree of South Africa Cannot Be Exterminated—The Nullah Tree Another Example—When Uprooted It Grows More Roots Elsewhere.

There are some trees and plants which it is exceedingly difficult to kill. An example is a tree found in South Africa, called the baobab tree, that is most useful to the natives. No matter what sort of treatment it receives it never seems to be the worse for it.

The natives make a strong cord that lasts for years out of the fibres contained in the pounded bark, and for this purpose the whole of the trunk, as far as they can possibly reach it, is barked, a course of treatment which if applied to any other tree would undoubtedly ruin if not kill it. The only effect, however, upon the extraordinary baobab tree is to make it throw out a new bark, apparently as capable of answering the natives' purposes as the old one.

No external injury, not even fire, appears to be able to injure this tough tree to any extent. If an axe be driven in with a hard blow, it can only with great difficulty be extracted, on account of the soft, spongy wood closing upon it. Neither can any injury be done to the tree from within, and even cutting it down does not exterminate it; it continues to grow after it is lying on the ground.

The nullah tree of the East Indies is also almost impossible to kill. It can be cut and hacked in any shape, and although uprooted and allowed to lie on the sandy plains for months an upright branch or new trunk will grow.

At Umballa, Bengal, India, there is a large tree that has had an experience. It is situated on the camping-ground used for regiments passing through Umballa, or for the infantry regiments which come down from the hill stations in winter for drill on the plains. The canteen tent is pitched near it, and the soldiers derive a great benefit from this curious tree, as the prostrate portion answers the purpose of two long seats and the upright part serves as a shade from the hot sun.

Another strange plant, belonging somewhat to this species, is the devil plant, found near the Lake of Nicaragua. It is of such a deadly nature that it destroys all insects and vegetable life in its vicinity. Nothing seems to be able to kill it, and though it has been burned down several times, it springs up again in vigorous life, without any loss of vitality.

In Jamaica there is to be found the life-plant, also almost impossible to kill. The writer knows it to be a fact that when a leaf is cut off and hung up by a string to dry or wither, it sends out white threadlike roots, gathers moisture from the air, and begins to grow new leaves. And still further, when it is pressed and packed away, in a botanist's herbarium it has really been known to outgrow the leaves of the book in which it was placed. The only way known to kill it is by applying a red-hot iron to it, or by steeping it in boiling water.

These few examples give some idea of the extraordinary creations of the vegetable world, many of which must appear incredible to the unscientific. They do not realize that there is an infinitely greater variety of species in the vegetable world than in that part of the animal world visible to their eyes.

The trees and plants mentioned are among those whose extraordinary qualities are well authenticated. There have been many reports of still more remarkable vegetables, which, while they are not clearly verified by scientific works, cannot be proved to be untrue.

For instance, there is the plant which feeds on meat, and which, while it ordinarily nourishes itself on small birds and mice, shows a fondness for raw beef when it is placed in its way. Another has the power of coating itself with copper extracted from the soil in which it grows. Various persons have reported the discovery of plants similar to the devil plant of Nicaragua already mentioned, but possessing still more deadly powers, even to the endangering of human life

For the Iron Bar Duke.

A Birmingham firm has just completed a palanquin which a firm trading in Central Africa intends as a present for a native chief. The body of the vehicle consists of a spring mattress, supported on a frame which is carried by a pair of lancewood shafts, sixteen feet long. The mattress is jointed, and there is a well in the centre of the vehicle, so that the occupant of the palanquin may adopt either a sitting, reclining or a recumbent attitude, the couch being cushioned with thick horse hair cushions, upholstered in silk tabouret. The canopy, consisting of fine blue cloth curtains with a gold and silk border, and festoons of terra-cotta silk, has a pyramidal roof, surmounted by a crown, while the brasswork of the frame has finals designed from the barbed spearheads in use in the chief's district. The structure would be handsome in its way, but for the fact that the woodwork of the body has painted upon it in large letters on each side the name and title of the chief, namely, "Coffee Adam—Iron Bar Duke." This feature, for which the manufacturer is not responsible, is expected to particularly please the dusky potentate, but it is fatal to the artistic pretensions of the design.

To Flash From Vancouver to Mexico.

The Mazamas, a society of mountain climbers, was organized in Oregon last year. On July 10, they will attempt to convey, by means of heliographs, along the line of mountain peaks, a message from British Columbia to Mexico and return. The mountains in Oregon and Washington to be used are Baker, Ranier, St. Helens, Adams, Hood, Jefferson, Three Sisters, Diamond Peak, Thielson, Scott and Pitt, and in California, Mounts Shasta, Tellac, Round Top, Dana, Lyell, Silliman, Whitney, Lowe, Baldy, etc. The modern heliograph Morse code will be used. Members of the Mazas in British Columbia are entering actively into the matter, and the British Columbia Garrison Artillery, Col. Prior, commandant, will substantially assist in the arrangements.

An Interesting Woman.

A very interesting woman is Mme. Rostokska, of Lille, France. Not only is she 112 years old and a major's widow, but she was the cantiniere of a Polish regiment in the Russian campaign, was under fire twelve times and received three wounds. She was decorated with the silver cross. Besides this she has survived her fifteen children, the last of whom she buried at the age of 80.

By the Accidental Turning on of a Gas Jet in the Sleeping-Rooms.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, July 5.—Six people, members of the same family, were asphyxiated by gas last night and were found dead in their beds today. The dead are: Frederick Hellman, bricklayer, 36 years old; Ida Hellman his wife; Fritz Hellman, aged 12; Ida Hellman, aged 10; William Hellman, aged 8; Hedwig Hellman, aged 4. The family lived at 601 Cornelia street. The deaths are supposed to have resulted from an accidental turning on of a gas jet in the sleeping rooms.

IMPALED ON A STAKE.

Horrible Accident to a Farmer in His Barn.

Special to the Times.

LYONS, N.Y., July 5.—Charles Bastian, a North Lyons farmer, was unloading hay with a patent hay fork in his barn. At each corner of his wagon was a sharp stake. In walking back and forth he fell upon one stake, so that the stake struck him under the chin, and penetrated through the chin, palate, floor of the mouth tongue and hard palate, and dislocating several teeth, came out through the upper lip, passing squarley through the tongue. By a superhuman effort Bastian grabbed the stake and drew himself so that he got loose. The doctor says it is a wonder Bastian escaped without breaking his neck.

PORT DOVER, Ont., July 5.—James Brennan and Benjamin Dixon were nearly suffocated in the Penman Co.'s factory this morning. Brennan was overcome while painting the inside of a tank and Dixon tried to rescue him. After several hours' hard work both were restored to consciousness.

RIOTING IN BOSTON.

Anti-Separate Schools Parade by A. P. Aites.

Special to the Times.

BOSTON, July 5.—A riot took place in East Boston this after during the parade of the A.P.A. Lodges, Patriotic Sons of America, Orange Lodges and other anti-Catholic organizations. It began with an exchange of insults between the paraders and the thousands of sightseers who lined the sidewalks and ended with the killing of one person and the injury of two others. The affair was known as the Little School House Parade and was intended as a demonstration against separate schools under religious authority. There were about 1,200 persons in the parade and they marched under the protection of 300 policemen who not alone led the parade but flanked the colmun on both sides for a hundred yards. The parade was headed by a fac simile of a New England school house. The street became thronged with people and there ensued.

A TERRIBLE BATTLE.

Gradually Andrews was driven up Saratoga street. He fell and a man with a revolver fired two shots. Andrews slashed and feinted with his sabre as he retreated, but cut only once, when a young man named Stewart of Brook street had his nose slashed off. A messenger was sent for the police and Captain Irish detailed three men to the rescue. Many heads were broken before the crowd went scurrying down Saratoga street. Michael Doyle, of Morris street, was clubbed so severely that he is now dying at the City Hospital. John Willis lies dead at the East Boston police station. Patrick A. Kelly has the back of his head split open and John Quirk suffers from a wound just above the left temple. During the fight a number of the paraders drew pistols and began firing indiscriminately. Willis, the man killed, is said to have been an involuntary participant in the affair. Just a few feet from Willis stood John Ross, one of the paraders. Ross pulled his pistol on Willis, according to the testimony of a man who stood next to him, and fired. The bullet struck Willis just above the right hip, passing into his abdomen. The wounded man fell to the pavement. When Willis fell Quirk sprang towards him and bent over the bleeding body. He claims that Ross pointed his pistol at him and fired again, the bullet grazing his right temple. Ross and a man named Harold Brown were arrested on suspicion, while many persons are held as witnesses.

A Boy's Horrible Death

CHATHAM, July 4.—A ten year old boy named Palmer, living near Fargo, fell from a horse he was riding to the pasture field yesterday and the animal tramped him to death.

A Trolley Accident.

TORONTO, July 5.—Rev. W. F. Wilson, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, went home by a back street today. He was stepping off a trolley at the corner of Richmond and George streets, when he lost his footing. He was thrown a considerable distance, and his trousers were badly torn, his boot was laid open and his silk hat was smashed. Mr. Wilson was fortunate enough to escape without receiving any personal injuries beyond a few scratches.

COLOSSAL FORTUNES.

SOME RICH MEN WHO LIVE IN THE OLD WORLD.

India and China Regions of Vast and Hidden Wealth—The Duke of Cumberland Measures His Plate by the Ton—Some Rich German Noblemen.

The death of the Russian Privy Councillor, Theodore Bailewski, serves to recall how very little is known even in England, of the existence in the Old World of millionaires beside whose wealth even that of the Goulds, Rockefellers, the Vanderbilts and the Astors sinks into comparative insignificance. True, it is wealth that is not so extensively advertised in the public press as that of the great American millionaires, and hence is but little heard of outside of their own country.

But we doubt if there is any American or English millionaire whose riches are so boundless as, for instance, those of M. Basilewski. His fortune was simply incalculable, and his gold mines in Siberia, which have been in his family for generations, and are famous for the richness of their ore, constitute only a portion of the estate that he has left to his brother, each of his four sisters receiving huge legacies, and nothing being left to his divorced wife, who was the cause of such a sensational law suit at St. Petersburg and Paris some fifteen years ago. Most of the large sturgeon fisheries in Russia belonged to him, and his estates in Cranburg and Smolensk are of the size of kingdoms.

Equally inexhaustible and incalculable is the wealth of the Demindoffs, which also consists in great part of mining property, this house enjoying almost the monopoly of malachite and lapis lazuli, besides possessing gold and silver mines in Russia of great richness.

Then, too, there are the Yousoupoffs, who control almost the entire output of turquoise in the world, this, however, being merely an incidental feature of the many resources of revenue of the Princess, who is now the sole heiress of the property. Her husband, who has been permitted by the Czar to assume her name and title, is descended in the third generation from a Philadelphian named Elton, who entered the service of the Czar Paul at the close of the last century.

Little is known of the extent of the wealth of the late Archduke Albert, whose estates comprise a goodly portion of the entire Empire, and who owned something like 50 per cent. of all the big manufactories and industrial establishments in the dominion of his nephew, Emperor Francis Joseph.

In this case, as in that of the Russian arch-millionaires, it is literally impossible to calculate the fortune of the Archduke with any degree of precision, since a portion consists of mine property. But equally incalculable is the fortune of the Czar of Russia, which has been variously estimated at from $600,000,000 to $900,000,000 and the income from which is about $20,000,000 per annum. But this is probably below the actual figure, and it must be borne in mind that among the personal estates of Emperor Nicholas are huge tracts of territory as big as the State of New York, and abounding in mineral wealth which is yet only in the early stages of development.

Then, too, think of that Anlgo-Hanoverian Prince who bears the title of the Duke of Cumberland, and who is the de jure sovereign of the Duchy of Brunswick. His wealth is so great that he measures his family plate, his silver and gold dinner services, etc., not by the hundred weight, as ordinary millionaires do, or by the ounce, as do people of small fortune, but by the ton, and on his last visit to England for a three-months' stay he brought along with him just fourteen tons—long tons at that—of plate for temporary use.

There are some German noblemen, especially in Silesia, such as the Prince of Pless, Prince Puckler, and Count Henckel-Donnersmarck, whose revenues exceed even those of the English Duke of Westminster, who has an ever-increasing income of about $6,000,000 a year, and whose one dread is that he and his family are doomed to die in a poor house.

During a few days that preceded the official deposition of Khedive Ismail and after he had received private intimations from Constantinople of the fate that was in store for him, long trains of ammunition wagons loaded with specie and precious stones made their way across the desert from Cairo to Suez by night under strong escort of personal guards of the Khedive. It is estimated that he carried away with him $100,000,000 on that occasion—that in addition to the property which he had already intrusted for safekeeping to various European banks and in addition also to the enormous landed estates, which the Egyptian Government subsequently purchased from him at a cost of $15,000,000.

This fortune represented the fruits of eighteen years of cruel exaction and wholesale confiscation. For in those days whenever a man became rich in Egypt he was sure to be found guilty of some imaginary offense that furnished a pretext for the seizure and absorption of his property by the Khedive.

Nor has any one probably any idea of the vast wealth that lies concealed in Asia, particularly in India and China, the reason for this being that Orientals have no confidence in banks, and prefer to conceal rather than to boast of the possession of wealth. As a general rule it is buried beneath the ground, and the only evidences thereof that are to be seen are the jewels which the owners occasionally wear and their estates.

One old Chinaman, Wam Po, who was Russian Consul at Singapore, was known to possess in land alone and in visible property a fortune to the amount of $80,000,000.

"Do you think," he asked "that there is any truth in the saying, "All the world loves a lover?" "Why, of course," she replied; "that's one of the things we take for granted." "I'm glad to hear you say so. You know I have always told you that you are all the world to me."

Chollie—Baw Jove, do you know, I think I'll be cwemated when I'm dead. Miss Figg—Why, Mr. Lytewayte? Chollie—Just fancy, now, a fellow being in a grave for a year or so, and then dug up again for some purpose or another. Don't you see, his clothes would be all out of fashion by that time?

Underhill—Doctor, how can sleeplessness be cured?

Doctor—Well, the patient should count slowly, and in a meditative manner, 500, and then——

Underhill—That's all very nice, doctor, but the baby can't count.—Pearson's Weekly.

LYNCHED A COLOURED PREACHER.

Committed an Assault Upon a White Woman—Horribly Mutilated.

Special to the Times.

LAKE CITY, Fla., July 5.—At Hope Henry, at a colored church five miles west of here, a party took Robert Bennett, a young colored preacher from the pulpit, carried him a short distance off and lynched him. When the body was found by the roadside the brains were shot out, the throat was cut and both ears were cut off. A protracted meeting was in progress at the church and the preachers and congregation had all gone to sleep awaiting and awatching with "mourners in a trance," and it was just before daybreak when the party entered and roused Bennett who was asleep in the pulpit and dragged him out over another preacher and took him away. His offence, it is said, was an assault upon a white woman in Suwanee County recently and from there the lynchers are said to have come. The usual warning was left attached to the body.

SAILSBURY'S POLICY.

Strong Imperial, Colonial and Domestic Program.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, July 5.—The Chronicle will tomorrow publish what purports to be a confidential document summarising the Government's policy under the Radicals Under the first head is the Imperial policy, including a strong navy, the second head is devoted to the colonial policy, including the development of Africa and improved facilities of intercourse between the Mother Country and the colonies.

The third head treats of the domestic policy, embracing poor law reform, the easy transfer of land, removal of the registration grievances, restriction of the immigration of paupers, aliens, financial reforms, the amending of the employers' liability act, facilities to enable workingmen to purchase dwellings, agricultural legislation and other matters.

LOST BOTH FEET.

In Trying to Board a Moving Train a Tramp Meets with Terrible Injuries.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, July 5.—A man named Wm. Moran, whose home is at 17 Campbell road Halifax, left there two months ago and has since been tramping round the country looking for work. He struck Toronto a couple of days ago, and being unable to find anything to do decided to try and get home again. At 9 o'clock last night with a friend he attempted to board a C.P.R. express for the east at the foot of Princess street, and in doing so slipped and fell underneath a car. The wheels passed over his feet, terribly crushing the right one and completely severing the toes from the left. He was found lying on the track, and Dr. Garrat was called and had Moran removed to St. Micheal's hospital. The right foot will probably have to be amputated.

"THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE IS HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE."

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way."

And another thus:

"If you dumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

POND'S EXTRACT

IMPRESSED ON THE MEMORY

That Pond's Extract is without equal for relieving pain, and that no remedy should be accepted as "just as good." And unscrupulous druggists will insist on trying to force upon purchasers weak imitations which are irritating, uncertain and even poisonous, very different from genuine Pond's Extract, which is universally known as a great healer, pacifier and comforter. Nature's own remedy for all pain is genuine Pond's Extract.

Avoid substitutes; accept genuine only, with buff-wrapper and yellow label.

MILLIE HARKIES FREE.

She Served Half of Her Six Months Sentence for Bigamy.

Special to The Times.

NRANGEVILLE, July 6.—Millie Harkies, who was sentenced last march to six months in jail for bigamy, has been released after serving three months. Her health declined until her condition became serious. Three local physicians examined her and reported that further imprisonment would result in her contracting consumption. The case was laid before the Attorney General's Department and it was decided to pardon her.

A GIRL IN CAPTIVITY.

Stolen by Indians and Held—The Bands Whereabouts.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, July 6.—J. W. McKay of Thessalon writes the chief of police that a band of Indians having in company a young girl have encamped near this village. He has heard that the girl was stolen from near Toronto and he wants the police to take action. The girl has auburn hair and is very fair and is continually in tears. She always walks between two squaws and this makes the Thessalon men suspicious. Inspector Stark will refer the matter to the Attorney General's Dehartment.

VICTIMIZED BY A MEDIUM.

Yost of Typewriter Fame Swindled Out of Thousands.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, July 6.—The Herald publishes an expose of a series of gross frauds through the impositions of Henry A. Rogers, a professional medium, the victim being G. W. N. Yost, the inventor of the typewriter. Mr. Yost, who is now nearly 70 years of age, has expended thousands of dollars in pursuing the ignis fatuus which Henry A. Rogers has danced before his deluded eyes. Mr. Yost is estranged from his family, and is believed by them to be mentally irresponsible.

Tried to Work a Pass.

HAMILTON, July 6.—A woman of 25 or 30 years of age, giving her name as Jane Ince alias Grace Truscott, of Toronto, tried to work the sympathy dodge on the Stuart street station officials last evening to get a pass to Toronto. She said three men took her across the bay earlier in the evening and stole her money and gold watch and chain. The police were notified, and on Detectives Doyle and Campbell interviewing the woman, she admitted her story was false, and that she told it in order to get a ticket for Toronto.

The Cuban Rebellion.

NEW YORK, July 6.—A special from Key West to the Times says: A letter received by a Cuban on Wednesday night by the steamer Mascotte from his brother who is in Cuba, says that on July 1st. Gen. Jose Maceo defeated General Salcedo and Sandoval near Guantanamo. The Spaniards retreated. Maceo did not pursue them because his men fatigued from long marching prior to the fight. He was unable to learn the Spanish loss, but the insurgents lost 53 killed and wounded. The insurgents had an advantageous position during the fight. It is believed that the Spanish losses were very great. General Martinez Campos has forbidden the newspapers to publish the movements of General Maximo Gomez's army.

Abducted a Wealthy Widow.

LONDON, July 6.—Ernest Crane and James Hook were yesterday committed for trial on the charge of having kidnapped Mrs. Gordon, widow of the late Hon. Sackville Gordon, at the instance of an American named Clamp, with whom Mrs. Gordon had lived, in order to obtain her bonds, money and jewels.

A [illegible] Girl's Mishap.

BRANTFORD, July 6.—Sarah Stevens, aged 19, employed at the works of the Cordage Company in West Brantford, was caught by the machinery while passing between the spinning frames. One side of her face and neck and also one shoulder were severely lacerated. One arm was so injured that amputation was necessary.

Fell 1,200 Feet.

MILAN, Mo., July 6.—John Cunningham, an aeronaut, was instantly killed at Winaga, Thursday. He had made three successful ascensions during the day, but the fourth time fell about 1,200 feet, and his body was smashed to a pulp.

There is a saying that you must go abroad to get the news of your town. Here's a story that comes all the way from London, Eng., where it appeared recently in the Daily Telegraph, and it will stand on record for a long time as the "boss" perversion of facts:

"The details of an extraordinary marriage scheme, which has just been concluded, have now transpired at Montreal, and the affair is attracting a great deal of attention owing to the novelty of the proposal. The scheme has been launched in connection with a large contingent of settlers of French extraction who came from Michigan and have been gathered together by Father Paradis. They are now preparing to start for Temiscamingue in the province of Quebec, where lands have been secured. Among the colonists are two hundred bachelors and an equal number of maidens, who are severally engaged to be married, but their weddings have not yet taken place because of poverty. Father Paradis, to urge each couple to join the colonists, promised to give each a farm and to have a great marriage ceremony in public in April, when the whole 400 are to be married at the same time. On this condition they joined."

A Remarkable Invention.

Ordnance experts all over the world will be very much interested in the experiments being conducted by Francois Allard, a Quebec blacksmith, who appears to have succeeded in hardening aluminum so as to permit of its use in the manufacture of cannon. Allard is the same genius who discovered some years ago the lost art of hardening copper, but it is too expensive a process to admit of such metal being practically used. Recently he made a small cannon of tempered aluminum about thirty inches long and with a bore five inches in diameter. From this he repeatedly fired a charge of a pound of powder without injuring the piece. The most remarkable part of these tests was that the metal of the barrel was only a quarter of an inch thick. There is no telling what a revolution will be brought about in the manufacture of big guns if Allard's future experiments in this line turn out as well as those already made.

A Very Busy Man.

Editor Buggin, of the Plattsville Echo, is the busiest man we know of. He runs a livery stable, carries the mail to the station, runs a 'bus line, a boarding house, an express office, a newspaper and laundry agency. If any man outside of Arizona can beat this we'd like to hear from him.—Drumbo Record.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

A STRANGE CASE,

Mr. H. McCarron of Detroit Completely Cured of Blood Poisoning.

Special to The Times.

DETROIT, Mich., July 1—A very curious incident occurred here, and one which will be of continental interest. Mr. Hugh McCarron, a well known notary public, has been a sufferer for many years from a peculiar form of blood poisoning, inducing the most frightful pains in the breast and back. The best doctors were consulted without being able to give any relief and Mr. McCarron decided that his case was hopeless. He was finally recommended to make a trial of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and did so with the faint hope that they might have some effect in his case, the peculiar nature of which did not lead him to associate it with kidney complaint. To his surprise the effects of the remedy were noticeable from the very first, and he is now thoroughly restored to health by this means.

Burned at Sea, the Crew Saved.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 6.—The British ship Marion Frazier brings news that the Norwegian ship Ejeld, coal laden, 275 days out from Grimsby, Wales, and bound for this port, was burned at sea in latitude 10 south, longtitude 118 west. The crew of 26 men took to the boats and were picked up after fourteen days by the ship Centaur, bound for the United Kingdom.

In Advanced Years

The strength and pure blood necessary to resist the effects of cold seasons are given by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I have for the last 25 years of my life been complaining of a weakness of the lungs and colds in the head, especially in the winter. Last fall I was again attacked. Reading of Hood's Sarsaparilla I was led to try it. I am now taking the fifth bottle with good results. I can positively say that I have not spent a winter as free from coughs or pains and difficult breathing spells for the last 25 years as was last winter. I can lie down and sleep all night without any annoyance from cough or pain in the lungs or asthmatic difficulty." E. M. CHAMBERS, J. P., Cornhill, N. B.

The Weather.

PROBS.—Mostly fair, with moderate winds, continued very warm, local thunder storms.

It was a Scorcher.

The thermometer yesterday reached the highest point this summer. At noon the mercury registered 92° in the shade. The air was dry and dusty and altogether citizens found great difficulty in keeping cool.

Fighting Fire at Lindsay.

The very dry spell was very nearly the cause of a serious fire at Lakefield early on Sunday morning. In some mysterious way the swamp at the south of the village became ignited and grave fears were felt for the lumber yard and railroad. The fire brigade and citizens turned out and after a hard fight succeeded in extinguishing the flames.

Rev. A. de Barrit Coming.

The Rev. A. de Barritt, of the South American Evangelical Mission will be in Peterborough from August 18 to September 4, inclusive. Meetings have been arranged in almost every church in the city, but Mr. de Barritt has some of the week nights at liberty, applications for which can be sent, care of Dr. Torrance, Peterborough. Mr. de Barritt is preaching and lecturing on the needs of South America.

Police Court Notes.

Thomas Reeves and his wife appeared before Magistrate Dumble on Saturday morning, charged with drunkeness. They promised to leave town if let go, and they were given the opportunity. Joseph Guerin was charged with trying to get liquor on Sunday, May 12th, at Alex. O'Brien's tavern, Hunter street. The case was dismissed after hearing the evidence. On a charge of disorderly conduct Joseph Murphy was fined $2 and costs. Richard Gairy, of Downeyville, was sent to jail for one month for indecent exposure of person.

A Narrow Escape.

Last evening as the Coboconk train was pulling out at a slow rate of speed up Victoria avenue a person who had a parcel for Driver Dayman jumped off the sidewalk and held the parcel up to the cab window, and Mr. Dayman, making a supreme effort, reached sufficiently far out to catch hold of one end, but over-balanced and fell to the ground. One foot fell on the rail, and a cry of horror went up from the spectators, who expected that it would be ground to pieces. Providentially, however, the slowly revolving wheel pushed Mr. Dayman's limb along the smooth rail until he had time to scramble out of harm's way. The whole scene did not occupy ten seconds, but those who witnessed it say it seemed to last half an hour. Mr. Dayman's foot was badly sprained and bruised, but he is the happiest man in the G.T.R. service today as a result of his narrow escape from being maimed for life.—Lindsay Post.

KILLED WHILE HAYING.

THE SHOCKING DEATH OF MR. JAMES DAVIDSON, OF NORTH MONAGHAN.

In an Effort to Save His Child, the Horses Attached to the Hay Wagon Which He Was Loading, Run Away and He Receives Fatal Injuries.

A most shocking accident and fatality occurred on the farm of Mr. James Davidson, Lot 6, Concession 13, boundary line, North Monaghan, on Saturday afternoon, which resulted in the death of Mr. Davidson.

Mr. Davidson and a farm hand were at work in a hay field taking in hay. Mr. Davidson was on top of the load and the farm hand was "pitching." One of Mr. Davidson's children was raking, driving a one-horse rake, when the animal became frightened and ran away.

Directing the farm hand to run and catch the runaway horse, Mr. Davidson remained on the load. The runaway horse circled around the field, and then headed for the gate. Fearing that the animal would escape this way, Mr. Davidson jumped from the top of the load to the whiffle-trees, and was about to step to the ground, when the horses attached to the hay wagon became frightened and made off at tremendous speed.

Just how it happened is not known. The farm hand had caught the runaway horse attached to the hay rake, and looking around saw the team struggling near the fence, while Mr. Davidson was lying near by, with blood oozing from a wound in the head. He was immediately carried to the house and a messenger was dispatched for Dr. Halliday, who upon making an examination found that the injured man was suffering from a severe scalp wound and four broken ribs, and every evidence of internal injuries were present.

It was feared from the outset that the internal injuries would result fatally and these fears were sadly realized when at the expiration of 4 hours from the time the accident took place, Mr. Davidson passed away surrounded by his sorrowing and grief stricken family.

Deceased was in his 59th year and leaves a family. He was a lifelong resident of North Monaghan, and has lived on the farm upon which he met such a shocking end, for many years. He is well and widely known in Peterborough and his many friends both in Peterborough and this county, will learn of his sad death, with deep regreet. The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the family residence, boundary line, North Monaghan, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

Don't forget the Fishing excursion to Jubilee Point and Idyl Wild, per steamer City of Peterborough, this afternoon, July 8th. Tickets 25 and 50 cts.

ORANGEMEN AT CHURCH.

Rev. W. R. Young Preaches an Able Sermon to 250 of the Order.

Rev. W. B. Young preached an eloquent sermon to the Orangemen, Loyal True Blues and 'Prentice Boys in the George street Methodist church last night.

The church parade was one of the largest of the year and numbered about 250. The Fire Brigade Band headed the march to the church. The following lodges formed the parade:

L. O. L. No. 80 — Worshipful Master Joseph Jones.

L. O. L. No. 49—Worshipful Master R. Maxwell.

L. O. L. No. 457 (Nassau)—Worshipful Master R. Campbell.

L. O. L. No. 178—Worshipful Master J. Atkinson.

L.O.L. No. 321—Worshipful Master Joseph Saunders.

'Prentice Boys, No. 7—Worshipful Master R. Jamieson.

Loyal True Blues, Rising Sun, No 9—Master, G. Duncan.

Loyal True Blues, Queen's Own, No. 48, Master, W. Tremain.

Rev. W. R. Young, preached from 2nd. Thessalonians, 2 chap., 3 verse, and 3rd. chap, 6 verse. His discourse was able and impressive, and was spoken of in the highest praise by all who heard him. He dwelt upon the obligations of the order and mentioned that part of their obligations which was that none, other than a Protestant, should set upon the throne of Britain. He reminded them that this was a solemn obligation. They did not want to go back to the days when Queen Mary occupied the throne—that period of blood.

Another of their obligations was that they were not to persecute those of other religious faith. This obligation of the orange order was the keystone to religious liberty and no country could prosper without this liberty. Then there was that obligation which said they should not become connected with the Roman Catholic faith, or allow their children to be reared and educated in that faith. Adhere closely to all these important obligations.

The reverend gentleman referred to the Educational question. He said it should never have been brought into politics, and he hoped to see it lifted upon a higher and more solid platform, out of reach of politics and political influence. In this connection he took occasion to voice his resentment of the statement made by a Kingston clergyman, who had said that the public schools were hotbeds of immorality. He repudiated this statement in the strongest words. He had received his education in a public school.

The orange order was never intended to be a political power as some had tried to make it. Orangemen could look back upon their past record with pride, and they could always be relied upon to stand loyal to civil and religious liberty, their country and their Queen.

CHURCH NOTES.

PURCHASED A REVOLVER.

Murray Tells a New York Reporter that Mrs. Gray Bought a Gun.

The Buffalo Express publishes an interview which its New York correspondent had with Detective John Murray when the latter reached New York from Florida. To the correspondent Detective Murray relates many facts already known, and in addition some things that have not been published here. As will be seen by reading the interview, the correspondent says Detective Murray informed him that Mrs. Gray purchased a revolver which she showed to Mrs. McGregor. This, if true, will be an important piece of evidence for the prosecution. The interview is published for what it is worth:

"On the steamer Algonquin of the Clyde Line, which arrived at midnight last night from Jacksonville, was J. W. Murray of the provincial detective force of Ontario, and with him were Thomas Gray, 31 years old, his wife Hessie, 29 years old, and their six children.

Murray said Mr. and Mrs. Gray were wanted in Canada for the murder on February 22, 1894, of David Scollie, a small farmer living near the town of Peterborough. Gray is of medium size and good looking. He is slender and has brown hair. His wife is a little woman with quick eyes. Their children range in age between 2 and 10 years. Murray told the following story.

About four years ago the Grays were working for Graham Weir, a farmer, who lived two miles from the town of Peterborough. Near by was a farm owned by David Scollie, who lived on it. Scollie was a bachelor, and said to be well off. Helping the Grays work Mr. Weir's farm were Mrs. Gray's sister, Mrs. McGregor, and Mrs. McGregor's husband, William.

Weir also was well to do, and was in the habit of leaving the Grays and McGregors at times to run the farm. McGregor found that the Grays were stealing from Weir and told Weir that fact. Weir discharged the Grays. All this was about four years ago.

Then David Scollie took the Grays in. The Grays and Scollie made a contract by which the Grays were to work the farm and take care of Mr. Scollie, and in turn he agreed that the farm should be left to them at his death. That condition of affairs continued about two years.

Scollie was in good health, and there seemed no immediate prospect of the farm being left to the Grays. Mrs. Gray spoke to her sister of this. She said the old man Scollie was likely to live as long as any of them, and she would like to get rid of him.

Scollie heard of Mrs. Gray's remarks and said to her, in effect: "If you are not satisfied with your contract with me after working under it for two years, you can get out."

The Grays didn't like this, and subsequently they drew up a bill for about $1,500 for services and tried to collect it. Scollie took it to the lawyer, who drew up the contract, and the lawyer said the Grays could not collect it. That was in the fall of 1893.

Subsequently, Mrs. Gray told Mrs. McGregor, it is said, that she had bought a revolver, that she was going to induce Scollie to go to a swamp, and that she intended to kill him and cut off his head. She showed her sister the revolver. Mrs. McGregor told her sister she would be found out, and persuaded her not to do anything at that time.

In December of the same year, Mrs. Gray is said to have told her sister that she was going to poison Scollie, cut off his head and burn the house. Mrs. McGregor again tried to dissuade her sister, and told her she would be found out. To that Mrs. Gray is said to have replied: "How can they, if I burn down the house?"

At 2 a.m. on February 22, 1894, Mrs. Gray sent her eldest girl over to Mrs. McGregor. The child looked back and saw that the Scollie house was on fire. She told Mrs. McGregor as much as she could.

Mr. McGregor started towards the burning house, and on the way met Mrs. Gray. She had a bundle in her arms "Where is Davy?" asked Mr. McGregor. "I don't know. I called to him," replied Mrs. Gray. "I must see about it," replied McGregor, and he hurried to the house.

On the way he aroused a neighboring farmer named Burnham. They saw as they approached the house that only the upper part was on fire. Mrs. Gray had told McGregor in what part of the house Scollie was.

His body was found, dressed, and in a bed in an entirely different part of the house from that mentioned by Mrs. Gray. The body was burned only a little, but the head, says Detective Murray, had been cut off.

Subsequently Mrs. Gray collected the insurance on the house. She is said to have told Mrs. McGregor that she had sent her husband away, as it would not do to have him around. Some of the facts connected with the death of Mr. Scollie and the burning of the house reached the insurance people. The body was exhumed. The Grays were indicted.

Murray was set to work on the case. He found that the Grays were near Ocala, in Marion county, Fla. He telegraphed that they should be arrested, and they were taken into custody about 8 days ago. Their coming to New York followed,

Both Mr. and Mrs. Gray was brought here in irons. They were kept aboard the Algonquin last night.

REEGAN'S NARROW ESCAPE.

He Was Knocked Off Martin's Dam and Sank Twice.

Patrick Reegan, a river driver, had a narrow escape from death by drowning on Saturday afternoon.

Reegan and several companions were fishing from the Martin's dam, when a floating log struck Reegan and knocked him into the water. He was partly stunned by the blow and immediately sank. It was half a minute before he reappeared and almost immediately he went under for the second time.

A crowd soon gathered around and it was generally believed that Reegan would be drowned. He appeared, however, for the second time, and this time so near the dam that William Simpson, a friend of Reegan's and also a river driver, was enabled to catch hold of him.

Reegan was pulled out totally exhausted, and it was some time before he could stand up and walk around. He had a narrow escape.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives tha, will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

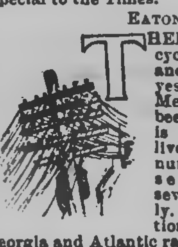
A TERRIBLE CYCLONE.

IT DEVASTATES THE SOUTHERN AND SOUTH-WESTERN STATES.

Rain and Hail Poured Down in Torrents—Barns Unroofed and Houses Blown Down—Wreck and Ruin Everywhere.

Special to the Times.

EATONTON, Ga., July 8.



THERE was a terrific cyclone across this and Morgan counties yesterday afternoon. Meagre accounts have been received, but it is known that two lives were lost and a number of persons severely injured, several of them fatally. At Willard's Station, on the Middle Georgia and Atlantic railroad, every house was torn to pieces. Henry Adams, white, and Bob Hardy, colored, were killed outright. Over in Morgan county, Andrew Perry's farm buildings and houses were blown down. Perry and his family were buried in the falling timbers. Perry is injured internally and will probably die. His wife is in a critical condition. The house of Jas. Collier was demolished and two of his children were injured by the wreck. Robertson's plantation was swept clear of everything. The Robertson family fled to the cellar and escaped without serious injurious. Twenty persons are known to have been badly injured and the list of fatalities will hardly be less than ten.

A BRIDGE WASHED AWAY.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 8.—The wires are down in nearly every direction out of Milwaukee. It seems that a severe storm, approaching a cyclone, has passed over the south-western part of the State, probably doing serious damage. Passengers arriving on a late train from the south on the Chicago and North-western railroad report that the storm washed out a bridge near Waukegan, and that the train was obliged to go over the Harvard branch to Kenosha. North of Waukegan, in Wisconsin, telegraph poles and trees were levelled along the line and there were signs of a devastating storm. It is reported that four men, who were out in a boat near Waukegan, were drowned.

CHICAGO WAS STRUCK.

CHICAGO, July 8. — Despatches from many points in the central and northern portions of Illinois and Southern Wisconsin tell of furious storms. The weather all through the State has been oppressively hot all day and the storm came with remarkable suddenness toward evening. It is feared that when the returns are all in, it will be found that there was greater loss of life than already reported. At Savannagh, Illinois, the storm almost reached the proportions of a cyclone. At Peoria several buildings were unroofed, one three story frame block was completely destroyed and much damage done to trees, awning and windows.

HAIL BROKE WINDOWS.

DELAVAN, Wis., July 8.—The most destructive rainstorm that ever visited this locality came last night. The wind blew down houses and barns, uprooted trees and blowed up cornfields. On the south shore of Delevan Lake the devastation was great. The wind was accompanied by a deluge of rain and great hailstones that broke windows and levelled fields of grain. The roads and fields are strewn with the debris of trees, fences and building.

THEY WANT DRY WEATHER HERE.

ELDORADO SPRINGS, Mo., July 8.—A heavy rain amounting to a cloud burst fell here last night and nearly all the streams in this part of the country are out of their banks. The wheat and oats which were re-shocked after the wind and hail storm of last week are now thought to be soaked clean through, and unless a few dry warm days come soon they will mould and spoil. Clear Creek, three miles west of town, almost reached the high water mark and was full of floating fences and small bridges. Rain is still falling, and with no prospect of cessation.

FISH HATCHERY DESTROYED.

WASHBURN, Wis., July 8.—The heavy rains of the last two days have caused great damage in this section. The fish hatchery way at Ashland Junction is almost destroyed.

A SUDDEN CHANGE.

OSHKOSH, Wis., July 8.—The most severe hail storm in years occurred last evening. Much damage must have been done to crops. The thermometer dropped 25 degrees in ten minutes.

COMMENDABLE PROMPTITUDE.

A Resident of St. John, N. B., Makes a Successful trial of Dodd's Kikney Pills.

ST. JOHN, N. B. July 8.—Mr. Robert Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the Kidneys for over seven years, and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures affected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking thre boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health.

MAY PLEDGE ITSELF

Absolutely to Remedial Legislation if no Bill is Brought Down this Session.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, July 8.—The general impression is that if the Government does not bring down a bill this session it will pledge itself absolutely to remedial legislation in the event of Manitoba's continued refusal.

The Citizen, the Government organ here, says this morning that it is by no means certain that no legislation of a remedial character will be introduced this session

YANKEE BUNCOMBE ABROAD.

Amusing Utterances of a United States Envoy to a French Newspaper.

Special to the Times.

PARIS, July 8.—The Figaro prints what purports to be an interview with United States Ambassador Eustis, in which that gentleman is made to say that nothing has been decided regarding the candidacy for the Presidency of the United States.

Concerning Canada, Mr. Eustis is alleged to have said that it rested entirely with the United States whether Canada would be taken into the American Federation. The Government of the United States preferred to allow that question to rest, at the same time however, giving Great Britain to understand that there must be no nonsense or Canada would be annexed.

A MINISTER'S CRAZY ACT.

Sent an Infernal Machine to the Girl Who Rejected Him.

Special to the Times.

TACOMA, Washington, July 8. — Mrs. Mattie Chambers, of Centralia, has received an infernal machine. Her father says the box containing the machine was addressed to her by a Christian church minister who was jilted by Mrs. Chambers about a year ago and was last heard from at Raleigh, N. C. A year ago the minister promised to go away and not press his suit longer, but later he heard the rumor coupling Mrs. Chambers' name with that of William Hale, of Centralia. He wrote her several letters objecting to Hale's attentions. No attention was paid to his missives and then the infernal machine arrived. It consisted of a box made to hold a physician's thermometer with a piece of sandpaper under the lid. A fulminating cap, a parlor match and a bit of rubber band were so arranged as to ignite the match and cap and cause a large dynamite bomb just beneath the cover to explode when the lid was withdrawn. The country postmaster's curiosity probably saved the woman's life, as he pried open the box when he saw the end of the sandpaper projecting through a break in the package.

RIOTING AT A PICNIC.

TERRIBLE MELEE BETWEEN GERMAN PICNICKERS AND TOUGHS.

Three Were Killed in the Fight and 54 Injured—The Inoffensive Germans Were Set Upon by the Toughs Who Had Been Freely Supplied with Liquor.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, July 8.—Startling reports of a desperate riot at Siberia, Perry county, Ind., are coming in by telephone and couriers from the scene of the encounter. A thousand men and women took part in the fight, that three men are dead, four fatally hurt and fifty seriously injured. The dead are: Fred Elmer, William Gayo, Frank Hart. These are fatally hurt: Peter Bennett, Robert Dodge, Abner Stroud, Samuel Wilson.

Siberia is but a hamlet of a few dozen straggling houses and a Roman Catholic church, the congregation of which is composed of Germans. They are simple and inoffensive people, but have been greatly annoyed by persons opposed to their religion.

Thursday they planned to enjoy a great picnic in the woods surrounding the village. The entire population turned out to enjoy the picnic, and all went smoothly enough until several gangs of disturbers appeared on the scene and began to make trouble.

There were a number of booths on the grounds where intoxicants were served. These were liberally patronized by the intruders, who soon began to insult the Germans and their wives. The priest, who was present, counseled his people to avoid trouble if possible and to pay no attention to the half-drunken marauders.

Mistaking this tolerance for cowardice, the intruders became bolder and soon precipitated a fight which in a few moments assumed the proportions of a riot, in which everybody took part. Clubs and bottles were brought into play, and the peaceful picnic was immediately transformed into a great mass of struggling, cursing men and screaming women.

Samuel Wilson, a leader of the outsiders, was armed with a huge knife, which he wielded on every side, stabbing and cutting many persons. He was finally opposed by a sturdy German, who was more than a match for him, until Wilson plunged the knife into his neck.

As the man fell back his wife sprang through the crowd and dealt Wilson a terrible blow with a beer bottle, crushing his skull. During the melee one of the intruders kicked a woman about to become a mother, killing her child and fatally injuring her

It soon became apparent to the attacking party that they would be annihiliated if the fight was continued, and after their leader was stricken down they ran hastily through the woods to where their horses were tethered and escaped, leaving three of their number on the ground for dead.

IT WAS A MILD RUCTION.

A Characteristic Meeting of the Irish Nationalist—Could Not Organize.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 8.—The Irish National Convention met in Omagh, County Tyrone and was the scene of constant disturbances. Owing to the disputes between Timothy Healy, John Dillon and Dr. Kenny no chairman could be appointed, and organization of the convention was not effected. A strong force of police was stationed outside the building in readiness to quell any violent disorder.

MISS BEGAN'S BRITISH FLAG.

For the Fifteenth Time on the 4th of July She Flies it From Her Window.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Flapping in the sloppy breezes all through the glorious Independence day, a British flag hung from a window ledge staff at No. 160 Ninth Avenue. Below were two tiny American flags that looked utterly insignificant.

Miss Jane Reagan, dressmaker, lives there. She is a pleasant spoken woman.

"Have you any particular reason for displaying this flag to day?" she was asked by a reporter.

"No; why should I have?"

"Have you ever displayed it on any day but the 4th of July?"

"No; I have lived here for fifteen years, and each 4th of July I have hung it out."

"Are you a British subject?"

"I am of British parents. I came from Canada. I don't see anthing unusual about this flag, I am going to fly it every 4th of July.

PARLIAMENT DISSOLVED.

The Proclamation Signed by Her Majesty at Windsor.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 8.—The Marquis of Salisbury, Baron Halsbury, the Lord High Chancellor and the Marquis of Lansdowne the Secretary of State for War, attended the meeting of the Privy Council held at Windsor Castle at 2 o'clock this afternoon at which the Queen signed the proclamation dissolving Parliament, and the order to issue writs for the general elections.

FORTY-THREE LIVES LOST

A TERRIBLE CLOUDBURST CREATES DESOLATION AND DEATH.

The States of Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois Visited by the Cyclone—A Woman and Child Said to Have Disappeared Whilst the Storm Was in Progress.

Special to The Times.

ST. LOUIS, July 8.—Thursday morning last telegraphic reports began to arrive in this city of rains at western points. These reports grew in numbers Friday and covered a large territory, indicating that the entire eastern section was washed off the Rocky Mountains from Nebraska and Iowa lines to Texas was swept by a storm Friday night when the severest blow came. Reports of loss of life and destruction to property came with every telegram, and a downpour which was first regarded as a blessing was their ruin. Fields of grain that promised the most bountiful yield in years are bare of vegetation. It is too early to sum up the loss, but it is appalling to those whom angry element spared life have little left to sustain it. Stories of the storm are so similar that a statistical summary is all there is left to tell. The storm's focus embraced an area of 25,000 square miles.

LOST OF LIFE

is reported from Winona, Mo., where 11 corpses have been found and as many more missing. At Baxter Springs in South Western Kansas, five were killed and 11 seriously injured by a cyclone that accompanied the storm; one was drowned at Columbus and two at Ottawa, Kas. At Vanbrun, Ark., a woman and her child were drowned. A family of five were encamped on the banks of Fish Creek in Indian Territory yesterday, but nothing of their belonging was found except part of their wagon on a pile of drift wood. Three were drowned at Fayette, Ark., one at Paolia, Kas., one at Richards, Kas., and six of a hunting party in the Indian Territory. This gives a known and probable loss of 43 lives. This total will be increased when the receding water permits a thorough search. The loss in property can be placed in millions. The storm spent itself in Illinois, but having lost its force proved a blessing to the crops. The greatest burden falls upon farmers, as the season is too far spent to plant new crops and suffering and experiences recall horrors of Johnstown.

MANY LEFT HOMELESS.

Destruction of a Cornwall Suburb Yesterday.

Special to The Times.

CORNWALL, July 8.—About one o'clock this afternoon some boys playing in a shed in the French settlement just outside the eastern limits of the town accidentally set fire to the building. A high wind was blowing and the flames communicated with great rapidity to the adjoining houses, which were of wood, and by four o'clock the whole district, comprising about forty houses, was a mass of smouldering ruins. It is reported that a child was burned to death, but the rumor is not verified. The Cornwall fire engine being in Montreal undergoing repairs and the settlement having no apparatus, the fire had full scope and burned until there was no more food for the flames. The Cornwall fire brigade put all their hose on the town hydrants, but could not get within 1,200 feet of the fire. The town council took prompt measures to relieve the distress of the hundreds of homeless people. A very large building several blocks away was thrown open, tables were set, beds prepared and everything possible was done to relieve the distressed families. The total loss has not yet been estimated, but it is believed that most of the houses destroyed were insured.

RIOTS IN INDIA.

Four Persons Killed and over 100 Persons Seriously Wounded.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 8.—The India Office has received a dispatch from Bombay saying a riot has occurred at Kattywar in the province of Guzerat, resulting in the killing of four persons and wounding 184, twelve of them seriously. The riot grew out of the clashing of a Hindoo marriage procession and a Mahometan Mohurrum procession.

SHOCKING OUTRAGES.

An Unknown Fiend Already Charged With Five Murders.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, July 8.—A series of outrages and murders of girls of ages ranging from four to seven years has created great excitement among the working classes in the district of Walthamstowe, seven miles north of London. Within two months five little ones have been decoyed from near their homes and have vanished completely. Searching parties have subsequently found their bodies lying in fields, stripped of all clothing and giving evidence of having been outraged. In every case the victims have been children playing along the roadside. Immediate cause of death in every case has been strangulation. Police inquiry into the case points to a well dressed man of 30, but here the clue is lost. A child 4 years old, after having been subject to horrible treatment, was found in a field by persons attracted by her cries. The child was unable to describe her assailant. Several half witted men have been arrested on suspicion, but established alibis and they were liberated. The miscreant usually hides the bodies of his victims in secluded places in the fields and under hedges and covers them with leaves. There is as yet absolutely no trace of him.

Grover Once More Happy.

BUZZARD BAY, July 8.—At Gray Gables the quiet and picturesque summer resort of President Cleveland at half past four this afternoon a little girl was born unto Mrs. Cleveland. Dr. Joseph D. Bryant, the attending physician tonight informed a reporter of the United Press that both mother and child were doing well.

Martin's Fearful Death.

FORESTVILLE, July 8.—Henry Martin, 22 years of age, employed in William Hernberg's saw mill at Sheridan, was taking a board off the ways yesterday, it caught on the saw and threw him upon it. A great piece was cut from his side; the saw mangled one leg and cut off the other near the ankle. The man bled to death in a short time.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 9 1895.

YOUNG'S POINT.

LUMBERING.

Lumbering is very brisk here at present, a number of large drives having passed over the slide during the last couple of weeks. Three drives belonging to the Rathbun Company, each containing about 100,000 pieces, passed through here last week under the management of Mr. D. Callaghan, assisted by Messrs. Cronin, McIlveally and McCarthy. Following came the drive of Mr. Alfred McDonald, numbering 40,000 pieces, Maurice Dineen, foreman, which ran the slide in the remarkably short time of two days. Then came John Dwyer's drive of 100,000 pieces, the property of the Dixon Company, the last of which passed over on Tuesday. The previous drives had better move on or there may be a collision, as the Dwyer's gang consists of such well known drivers as Wm. and Tom Saunderson and "Hemlock" Bill Dwyer. Great credit is due all the men for the quiet and orderly manner in which they conducted themselves while in the neighborhood.

IMPROVEMENTS.

Among the many improvements in our village this season is noted the addition which Mr. P. P. Young has built to his residence. A commodious diningroom and kitchen have been erected and new flooring laid throughout the house, when to the painters have finished their work Mr. Young's residence will be one of the handsomest on the banks of the Trent Valley Canal.

FIRE.

The material which the Young's Point Punt Club had placed on the shore of Crab Lake, Township of Burleigh, for the erection of a lodge was destroyed by fire between Friday night and Sunday morning. As the grass and trees in the immediate neighborhood were unharmed, the deed is doubtless the work of an incendiary, who if caught will be prosecuted the utmost limit of the law, as a reward of $50 will be offered for information which will lead to the conviction of the fire bug.

FOREST FIRES.

Forest fires are raging in the vicinity of Young's Point and Burleigh Falls, which will do serious damage unless rain comes soon to check the progress of the flames. Campers and others cannot be too careful leaving fires as at this dry, season a spark falling into the dry grass and being fanned by the wind into a flame, might cause untold loss.

NOTES.

The warm sultry weather of the present week is driving cottagers, campers and tourists to seek the balmy breeze of Stony Lake, and the steamers are doing a rushing trade.

FISHING.

Fishing is excellent and large catches are being made daily by the guests of the local hotels. The proprietor of the Carleton House furnishes boats, bait and guides for the accommodation of his guests, and fishermen visiting the village will receive the best of treatment at the hands of Mr. George Chalmers, manager of the boathouse.

LARGE EXCURSION.

The steamer Mary Ellen assisted the steamer Columbian in conveying the large number of excursionists from Madoc from Lakefield to Chemong on Thursday of last week. The people of Madoc expressed their intention of coming again next season, which speaks well for the courtesy extended to them by the genial Captain Scollard and his obliging crew.

PERSONAL.

Father Collins, of Peterborough, accompanied by Father Coty, of Hamilton, are spending a few days in the village, the guests of Mr. C. Young, and are meeting with great success with the rod and line.

Misses Minnie Myer and Gertie Sullivan, of Peterborough spent the day with their friend Miss Nellie Young.

The guests registered at the Carleton House are:—D. Jewett, W. Baine, D Simons, J. Cummings, J. Blaine, J. Brown, H. Snowden, H. Robinson, J. LePiante, O. B. Shortly, and W. J. Thompson, Peterborough; John Line, London; J. R. Griffin, Lakefield; A. McCrer, Kingston; J. A. Irwin, J. W. Ames, Toronto; A. A. Smith, Keeneath; Wm. H. Shuart, Chas. W. Gorthong, Rochester, N. Y.; B. F. Freeman, D. McCabe, Peterborough

STEEL CLAD FORTS.

HOW THE LOWER BAY OF NEW YORK MAY BE MADE IMPREGNABLE.

Romer Shoal Utilized—Eight Powerful Rifles to be Mounted in Heavily Armored Revolving Steel Turrets—Other Guns Between Them.

Veterans of the late American civil war who saw the effect of shells bursting in old fashioned masonry walls at Fort Pulaski and at various other points in the south do not need to be told that defences like Fort Wadsworth and Fort Lafayette are not now forts at all. Under the fire of old fashioned Dahlgren and Parrott guns even, they would not be forts, but slaughter pens; and before the devilish energy of modern high power rifles they would crumble like stucco.

Fort Hamilton having a considerable amount of earthwork, would not be quite as bad, but it can no longer be regarded as a serious protection for New York. On Sandy Hook there already exist modern earthworks of great value for both their resisting and attacking powers, and sites for similar gun emplacements have been selected on Coney Island and its vicinity.

But while these batteries would do much to resist the approach of a hostile fleet toward this city, it has been deemed desirable to design even stronger fortifications.

On a line running about east-northeast and west-southwest, across Romer Shoal, four steel turrets are to be set up. The old method of building a foundation in shallow water by throwing down loose rock and then placing concrete blocks on top of this rip-rap work will probably not now be adopted. It is expected that steel piling will be sunk to take the weight of the forts, and these piles will then be connected by steel plates until the water can be pumped out. Ample space below the lowest tide level will thus be secured for machinery, magazines and quarters.

Upon solid foundations will then be erected sloping barbettes, above which will be revolving turrets. The backing of both barbettes and turrets will be much more solid than that which can be given to similar defences on board ship, and there is every probability that the forts will be absolutely invulnerable to the heaviest ordnance mounted on any ship of war. As the barbettes must extend several feet below the lowest low water mark, and also several feet above the highest high water mark, it is proposed to face them with cement so applied as to protect the metal from the corrosive action of the salt water.

Each turret will have its own revolving machinery. The thickness of the armor plate will be determined by the relative status of armor and the gun at the time when the forts are ready for their steel protection, and—to a certain extent—the calibre and length of gun will be dependent upon that relative status. It is to be expected, however, that the four forts will contain eight of the most powerful pieces that can be made.

The alignment of the forts is such as to enable all of them to command the approach to the main ship channel and to sweep the whole front of the bay entrance. With such a battery in place the ocean bottom from Navesink lights to Rockaway Beach could be made a great mine field, and a hostile fleet could have little hope of clearing a way through the torpedoes commanded by such guns.

In the wing connections between the turrets will be mounted a number of 6-inch rapid fire guns, with, perhaps, also a few 8-inch.

A lighthouse caps the summit of one of the turrets, though in war time, of course, there would be no light, and probably the structure itself would be taken down.

TOOTH WORMS.

The Chinese Dentist Looks for Them When the Teeth Ache.

It would seem that in dentistry as well as in ways that are dark "the heathen Chinee is peculiar," and in the Journal of the British Dental Association Mr. C. Robbins has communicated some curious essays on the subject written in English by Chinese students at the Anglo-Chinese College, Foochow. They describe in quaint language the performances of the dentists who are usually itinerants of the Sequah order.

They appear to have three methods of treatment: 1. Extraction, the patient's attention being distracted and his lamentations overpowered by the beating of a loud gong. 2. The application of arsenic to kill an exposed pulp; and, 3. the extraction of "tooth worms." This latter operation, usually performed by women, is very frequently resorted to, and undoubtedly worms are produced from the tooth, as these amateur dentists adopt the same principle as the lithotomist in the story—who used always to provide against finding his diagnosis had been mistaken by taking a pebble of suitable size in his waistcoat pocket—and themselves introduce these worms, which are usually concealed under their long finger nails. A Chinese student describes the operation thus (we give his own words):

"Now let me advert to the practice of arresting the tooth worms. One of my relatives was once attacked by a severe cold, and after the cold was broken up by restoring activity to his skin he had a neuralgia which gave him such an intense suffering that he could neither eat nor repose, but moaned with a voice so audible and so plaintive that it sent a thrill to the heart of every one in the house. On the second day his suffering increased to a remarkable degree: indeed, it is impossible even at this distant period to reflect without horror on the miseries of his toothache state. Finally, he submitted to the operation of a woman dentist whose agency was to arrest tooth worms. Her general operation is as follows: A chopstick and a silver pin are the only instruments she requires in her normal act. She is willing to exhibit them to any one who conceives an inclination of discerning her trickery. She brings the chopstick in contact with the diseased tooth and cautiously pokes it through with a pin in search of the odious worms; after a while scrapes out a lump of yellow minute worms on the chopstick and immerses it in a cup of water. Each lump consists of from ten to fifteen worms, and sometimes two or three hundred worms are scraped if the patient makes an exact bargain at first that the fee should be defrayed according to the number of worms scraped. The general fee is 400 cash (1s 2d), and only the poor may take advantage of being in penury to pay 200 cash.

Butchers Are Good Riders.

It is a curious fact that all butchers are natural horsemen. It is hard to explain but is perhaps due to their dealing in meat which makes them like horseflesh.—Buffalo Enquirer.

FLOWERS OF LOVE.

Give the living the flowers of love,
  Let their perfume fill the air,
And their sweetness and beauty cheer
  Hearts that are burdened with care.

Give the living the flowers of love,
  Nor wait till the journey's o'er,
When the hungry heart and patient lips
  Are still for evermore.

Give the living the flowers of love,
  Let each day hold in store
Some memory of kindness done
  To those who go before.

Give the living the flowers of love,
Oh! bitter the tears that fall
For thoughtless acts and cruel words,
When death has ended all.

A MISUNDERSTOOD DOG.

He came in a crate by the evening stage—an ungainly St. Bernard puppy with legs long enough for a dog twice his size. A card on the top of his wicker cage read:

BILL HENDERSON,
Keene Center,
Adirondacks.

The crowd on the store porch waiting for the mail to be sorted looked the new-comer over and expressed their several opinions as to his breed. Some "calated he had shepherd in him," and others "swan he hadn't."

"See that haow he bobs that hed of his'n," said Israel Lukens, an old hunter, peering into the crate. "Hello thar, 'Long Legs,' haow goes it?—hungry, be ye?" and the puppy licked the old man's hand.

"What ye got in thar?—a lion?" shouted Alfred Hammer from the road, on his way to the lumber shanty.

By this time the mail was sorted, and the crowd scuffled into the store. A kerosene lamp sent long shadows scurrying over the low ceiling and diffused a mellow light half way down the counter, at the further end of which was strewn a tumbled assortment of lumbermen's shirts and some old pairs of childrens' boots, the remnant of the winter stock. Great drifts of blue tobacco smoke floated lazily toward the lamp and, ascending, were lost in the shadows.

The puppy, left alone on the porch, heard the laughter and the voices of the men inside, and began to whine. When realizing that this only added to his loneliness, he cocked his head and looked up at the stars and the great range sleeping clear out against them. He could hear the roar of the river as it swung through the valley, and far down the road the baying of the hound. Then came the sound of a wagon clattering along and the next instant Bill Henderson reined in his team and called out:

"Dog here for aour folks?"

The door was opened by the postmaster.

"Some of my womern's relatives daown in Fort Ti," Henderson continued, 'w'rit that they had one of them St. Bernards and wanted we should take it. I told my wife, sez I, we got enough haounds to feed without goin' into no fancy breeds."

Ten minutes later the puppy was lifted out of the crate and tumbled into the wagon, and Henderson drove off. As they rattled down the road the cool air seemed to revive the puppy. It felt good to get out of the close crate, and though at first he cowered against the dashboard he began gradually to feel more like himself. Now and then he would put up his foolish shaggy head and try to make friends with Henderson. But Henderson was surly. He regarded the puppy as more of an encumbrance than anything else. Such friendly beginnings on the part of the puppy were greeted with a kick that sent him shivering under the seat again. Henderson hadn't much heart even towards his neighbors, and when it came to the animals he had less.

When Henderson reached his cabin Mandy, his "womern," came out with a candle to see the new dog, and the puppy was brought into the kitchen, where he walked about awkwardly and was mauled by the children. After a scanty supper he was turned out among the hounds in the wood-shed, where he lay shivering with cold and fear until Henderson's eldest boy came for him in the morning and hitched him to a cart.

If he was not harnessed to the cart by the eldest boy and lashed up and down the road in the broiling sun, he was dragged into the cabin on wet days and mauled by the rest of the children. One morning he growled. Henderson's "womern" said "she knowed that the dog was ugly soon as she sot her two eyes on him," and that "it was nothin' short of Providence he hadn't bit some of the young uns."

Henderson said he'd take him where he wouldn't get back in a hurry, and the next day the puppy was hitched under a peddler's wagon and departed amid the gibes of the Henderson children and the snarling of the Henderson hounds. The peddler drove along in the blinding heat and dust, and before he had gone two miles the puppy had hard work to keep his chain slack, his feet began to bleed and he whined piteously

When the cart reached the valley, six miles distant, and stopped in front of the post office, the puppy lay unconscious against the hind wheel, his eyes were closed and blood oozed from his nostrils. Some one unhitched the chain and dragged him a few feet away on the grass under a tree.

Two men passing stopped.

"Guess he's dead," said one. "Looks like he's been ugly, anyhow," said the other, and they passed on.

The shadows lengthened until only the great slides far up on "Great mountain" were high enough to catch the rays of the red sun. A few lamps beamed at the windows down the single street, and a gentle breeze rustled the leaves overhead.

When the dew fell the puppy opened his eyes.

It seemed to him that he was back once more in the crate at the store. He could see the stars glitter and hear the roar of the river.

As the wind freshened and blew down the valley he staggered on his feet and tottered up the road, whining. For a moment he stopped in front of the store and stood in the glare of the lamps. Some village cur snarled at him. Limping up the wooden steps, he waited until a man opened the store door, then he slunk in, bobbed his head and wagged his bedraggled tail.

"I'll bet you cigars that dog's mad," said a rough lumberman in a slouch hat.

"I golly, Bill, you're right," replied his partner, nodding approvingly. "This dog your'n, Ed?" he shouted, sarcastically, to a big fellow in a blue shirt, as he opened the door, and the crowd roared to a man.

"I'll tell you what I'll do," said another. "I'll give half a dollar for his hide if anyone'll shoot him."

THE SULKY FRENCH.

There May be a Bolt Among Them Before the End of the Session.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 6.—A very uneasy feeling prevails here concerning the probable action of the French when postponement of action on the school question is officially announced. Your correspondent is informed that there will be a French bolt, though perhaps not of great dimensions, before the end of the session. Yesterday many French members were sulking and would not enter the House.

BIG BLAZE AT OSWEGO.

Several Stores Burned—One Woman Losses her Life.

Special to The Times.

OSWEGO, N. Y., July 6.—A disastrous fire started about 2.30 o'clock Saturday morning on the east side of the river. Wallace's department store, Kingston's pharmacy, Burden & Marsden's drygoods store, Miner's grocery and Jibson & Madigan's shoe store were burned. The loss is $153,000 and insurance $80,150.

Mrs. Isaac Bond, a womam 47 years old who lived over the Wallace store in Second street, was burned in the fire. She got out of the building all right, but was seen to turn and go back, presumably for some of her belongings. Before she got upstairs a loud explosion was heard and she is supposed to have fallen back.

SAW THE SERPENT.

Cape Breton Sailors Responsible for the Sea Yarn.

Special to The Times.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 6.—Capt. McNeil of the packet Susan reports meeting a peculiar sea monster about twelve miles off Bird Island. Fish or whatever it may be called, was perfectly white in color and Capt. McNeil calculates was 80 feet in length. Its head was about eight feet long and was shaped somewhat like an alligators. It was swimming on the top of the water and when first observed was about 200 yards from the vessel. Capt. McNeil watched it for about 20 minutes or more until it disappeared from view. Some fishermen of the district of Antagonish state that this peculiar monster has been seen on several previous occasions.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

A Father in Chicago Kills his Wife, Four Children and Himself.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, July 6.—A horrible tragedy took place in this city at an early hour yesterday morning, resulting in the death of six human beings. Frederick Hellman, a prosperous mason contractor, deliberately murdered his wife and four little children, and then killed himself. Relatives of the family, who live next door, got access to the house through a window, and found the six dead bodies in one of the bedrooms. All had been suffocated by gas, which was still pouring from an open jet.

It was first thought the affair was an accident, but a letter written by Hellman the previous evening clearly disclosed his intention of killing himself, although no mention is made of the family. No motive can be found for the deed, as the murderer was in a good financial condition and was devoted to his family. He had a sunstroke some years ago and it is believed the man was temporarily insane. The jury returned a verdict of suicide and murder.

Hellman was 37 years old, his wife 32, and the children ranged in age from 11 to 3 The gas fixtures were only put in the house about ten days ago, and it is thought he had the deed in prospect at that time.

Bound Hand on Foot.

PAISLEY, Ont., July 6.—It was at one o'clock yesterday morning when three masked burglars entered the residence of David Black, a bachelor, and bound him hand and foot, throwing a quilt over his head. The robbers threatened to pour coal oil over Black and set him on fire if he did not divulge where they could find $500 in cash. Mr. Black was just as far at sea as the robbers as to the location in the house of such a large sum and told them so. Then they escaped, taking with them about $3 in cash and a couple of pairs of boots. There had been $500 in the house the day before, but it was placed in a bank

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, over-work, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

The Enormous Sun Arcturus.

If the earth were situated midway between the sun and Arcturus it would receive 5,196 times as much light from that star as it would from the sun! It is quite probable, moreover, that the heat of Arcturus exceeds the solar heat in the same ratio, for the spectroscope shows that, although Arcturus is surrounded with a cloak of metallic vapors proportionately far more extensive than the sun's, yet, smothered as the great star seems in some respects to be, it rivals Sirius itself in the intensity of its radiant energy. If we suppose the radiation of Arcturus to be the same per unit of surface as the sun's it follows that Arcturus exceeds the sun about 375,000 times in volume, and that its diameter is no less than 62,850,000 miles! Imagine the earth and the other planets constituting the solar system removed to Arcturus, and set revolving around it in orbits of the same forms and sizes in which they circle about the sun. Poor Mercury! For that little planet it would indeed be a jump from the frying pan into the fire, because as it rushed to perihelion Mercury would plunge more than 2,500,000 miles beneath the surface of the giant star. Venus and the earth would perhaps melt like snowflakes at the mouth of a furnace. Even far-away Neptune, the remotest member of the system, would be bathed in torrid heat.

Ireland's Patron Saint.

There were probably three Patricks in Ireland at about the same time, and facts in the life of each of them have been commingled to make the traditional life of the patron saint of Erin. Patrick, or Succat, or Succath, was of Scotch family, and having been stolen from home by the Picts served as a slave in Ireland for some years. He recovered his freedom and after a "few years' preparation" returned to Ireland as a missionary about 432 A. D. He died about 469 A. D. This Patrick was never in Rome, and probably was not a Roman Catholic. From Rome, however, came in 431 A. D. Palladius Patricius, sent by Pope Celestine, who was a Roman Catholic. The third Patrick was Senn Patraice, or Old Patrick, about whom there are various stories. There are two Latin writings attributed to St. Patrick, the Confession and the Epistle, and these are very old. But the existence of St. Patrick is not mentioned by any of the writers of the time or for many years later, so that to historians the subject is still obscure and uncertain.

Quick Work.

A few nights ago the whole garrison of Paris was mobilized without warning at an hour's notice. Directions were sent at eleven o'clock to have the men ordered out at midnight, ready for war. They were armed, provided with rations and ammunition and marched through the streets to the different railroad stations within two hours.

MANNERS OF GREAT MEN.

Fox would never stand covered in the presence of ladies.

Calhoun was so absent-minded that he often forgot he was in company.

Andrew Jackson was rough in his manners, but could be polite when he pleased. He was always courteous to ladies.

The Duke of Marlborough said that he owed his success as much to his elegant deportment as to his talents.

Byron was affable to his equals and to those whom he wished to please, but haughty and distant to most others.

Talleyrand owed his success in life, to no small extent, to the uniform courtesy with which he treated every one.

Haydn was the personification of courtesy. He once said: "It does not pay to be impolite, even to a dog."

Raleigh's courtesy in throwing his cloak in the mud for Queen Elizabeth to step on was characteristic of his usual behavior toward ladies.

Walter Scott was almost too polite. His unwillingness to disoblige others, even in small matters, often caused him great inconvenience.

Gladstone is polite to everybody. At his country home he knows everyone in the vicinity, and has a kindly word for even the poorest farm laborer.

William Penn's formal but kindly politeness impessed even the Indians with whom he dealt. One of the names given him by them was "The Good Big Chief."

Cromwell, in spite of the position which he attained, never departed from the simplicity of life of an English country gentleman. In conversation he was quiet and unassuming.

George Washington had a stately courtesy, inclined to pomposity, that kept every one at a distance. He always wanted it clearly understood that he was the Father of his Country.

TO INTEREST AND ENTERTAIN.

The shores of the British Islands, Holland and France maintain the greatest number of lighthouses in proportion to mileage.

European marmots remain dormant during the winter. Before becoming torpid they carefilly cement the etrance to their dwelling.

It is believed by microscopists that the highest powers of their instruments have not yet revealed the most minute forms of aimal life.

Lamp posts are let for advertising pur poses by the Shoreditch Vestry in London. The money received goes to support a technical school.

An old woman died in France recently, leaving all her property to the city of Paris. On searching her possessions an old warming pan was found stowed away under a sink with the sum of 55,000,000 francs in gold, bank notes and bonds.

The highest salaried employe in the United States is supposed to be the president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, Henry B. Hyde. He receives annually $100,000. John A. McCall gets $75,000 to be president of the New York Life.

The Spanish Government has purchased the cruiser built at Keil for China, but not delivered because the Chinese Government failed to pay for it. The cruiser will be sent to Cuba.

At the Bordeaux exhibition the special feature will be the largest bottle ever made. It will be 115 feet high and divided into stories, in the lowest of which there will be a restaurant; a winding staircase will lead up the neck to a kiosque, taking the place of the cork, where there will be room for thirty-five persons at a time to sit and look over the exhibition grounds and the city.

RECENT NOVELTIES.

A pair of tongs for handling cuspidors when cleaning.

A pocket knife with the back provided with pencil holder and eraser.

A battery cell, with the electrolyte consisting of a mixture of lactic aid, a mineral acid and an alkali.

An electric switch or door plate formed of transparent material coated inside with luminous paint.

A detachable eye-glassholder, provided with a diagonally recessed clasp for holding eye-glasses at any angle.

A new form of belt gearing made of rubber or other tubes charged with compressed air, so as to firmly grasp the machinery.

A new method of manufacturing varnish without the use of driers, whereby linseed oil or mixtures containing gum or resin with oil and turpentine are formed into emulsions with water and sulphuric acid, and an electric current passed through the mixture to facilitate the process of oxidation.

FACTS TERSELY PUT.

Under the laws of Alfred the Great nearly all crimes were punished by fines for freemen and by the whipping-post for thralls.

Under Charlemagne's laws an eye was put out for the first theft, the nose was cut off for the second and the entire head for the third.

England is not generally thought of as a gold-producing country, but Knowledge says that there are perhaps few countries in the world in which the metal is more generally distributed. The principal mines in Wales, now abandoned, were worked as long ago as the Roman occupation.

Prof. Geikie writes in Nature that geologists have been on the whole inclined to acquiesce in Lord Kelvin's theory that the earth is about a hundred million years old, but some biologists have reduced the estimate to only ten million years.

IN AND AROUND ENGLAND.

Lord Randolph Churchill, who was supposed to be bankrupt, left an estate valued at $500,000.

England, according to the navy estimates, intends to build next year ten new first-class battle ships, six first-class, thirteen second and third class cruisers, and from forty-five to fifty torpedo boat destroyers.

Oranges are coming to the London market in great abundance. Pines are not at all expensive, and English grapes continue to be cheap.

The attempt of Great Britain to secure the extradition of James Balfour, ex-member of parliament, from Argentina, has thus far cost £40,000.

They say Patti will receive $12,000 for six performances at Covent Garden, $2,000 a night. She is still quoted at the top of the vocal price list.

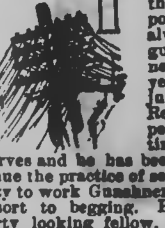
ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

A BOY KIDNAPPED FROM VICTORIA INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

A man Given Three Months For Selling Tobacco Juice for a Corn Cure—Upper Canada College Nearing a Crisis and it is Feared it is Doomed.

Special to the Times.



TORONTO, July 6.—Relying on the fact that there is a great portion of the public always waiting to be gulled, John Gunshner has for many years sold tobacco juice as corn cure. Recently, however, people have been getting onto Gunshner's curves and he has been forced to discontinue the practice of selling it. Being too lazy to work Gunshner was compelled to resort to begging. He is a big, rough, dirty looking fellow, and if money was refused him a perfect torrent of abuse poured from his lips while he made threatening gestures. Bloor street west was his rendezvous on Friday, and after a constable had watched him threaten several people he was arrested. He will live in jail for the next three months.

STRAW AND HAY IN HER HAIR.

Lilly Abbott, a silly-looking girl, how has no friends or home, fell into the hands of P. C. Charlton about 4.30 this morning. She was strolling along Seaton street, with pieces of straw and hay sticking in her hair and clothes. She said that she slept in the Haven all night, but indications pointed to a night in a stable. Her case will be disposed of on Monday.

JAY WILL GET FAT IN JAIL.

"Well, do you want to go down?" asked Police Magistrate Denison of John Jay, who grew too fat to work at his profession, which was that of a living skeleton in a dime museum. "Yes, your Worship," replied the heavyweight, who tips the scales at 95 pounds. "How long would you like?" "Abcut two months." He got it.

UPPER CANADA DOOMED.

That there's something radically wrong with Upper Canada College everyone who has paid any attention to the matter, or anyone who has even read the newspapers, knows. In short, in the words of Goldwin Smith, it is doomed.

Matters seem to be approaching a crisis, although a big effort is being made to have an efficient principal and staff in their places when the next term opens. It is now said that many of the old boys are agitating for the appointment of W. S. Jackson, the late Dean, to the principalship, and that they are leaving nothing undone to carry the point. But it is also said that there are those who have "Gentle" John Martland in sight and that he is about to visit England for the purpose of picking a staff to assist him when he assumes the principalship. It is five years since Mr. Martland was connected with the college; he was for twenty years head boarding house master.

A BOY KIDNAPPED.

Over two years ago Mrs. Hayward, wife of Geo. Hayward, a Yonge street expressman, became so infatuated with a young barber named William Hobbs that she left the man she had sworn at the altar to love, honor and obey and went and lived in adultery with the tonsorial artist.

But Barber Hobbs was encumbered with a wife, and when that lady realized that her lawful husband was being some other woman's unlawful husband, she straightway created trouble, and life after that was not a bed of roses for either Mr. Hobbs or Mrs. Hayward. Things came to such a pass that for a time a police court calendar without the names of Hobbs or Hayward was a curiosity. Finally Toronto became too hot for the erring couple and they left for pastures new, if Buffalo can be so described.

Despite the transference of Mrs. Hayward's affections from her husband she retained a tender regard for her 13 year old son Eddie, who some months ago was sent to the Industrial school of Mimico for petty larceny, and wrote him that she would be over to see him on Dominion Day. She didn't come, but her paramour did, and in the crowd at the school the lad was lured away, kidnapped and taken, presumably, to Buffalo.

The police are looking for the kidnapper.

His Bowels Exposed.

FORESTVILLE, July 6.—On Thursday Henry Martin, 22 years old, was at work in William Horsburg's sawmill at Sheridan. In taking a board off the ways it caught on the saw, and threw him upon it. A great chunk was cut from his side, exposing his bowels. He bled to death in a short time.

Drowned at Brockville.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., July 6.—Johnny Gleason, 7 years old, fell in the river near steamer Haggart's dock yesterday afternoon, and was drowned.

Killed by a Horse's Kick.

GRAVENHURST, Ont., July 6.—Herman Bornemann, a farmer living a few miles from this town, while putting a horse in his stable yesterday, was kicked just over the heart, and killed.

POND'S EXTRACT

IMPRESSED ON THE MEMORY

That Pond's Extract is without equal for relieving pain, and that no remedy should be accepted as "just as good." And unscrupulous druggists will insist on trying to force upon purchasers weak imitations which are irritating, uncertain and even poisonous, very different from genuine Pond's Extract, which is universally known as a great healer, pacifier and comforter. Nature's own remedy for all pain is genuine Pond's Extract.

Avoid substitutes; accept genuine only, with buff-wrapper and yellow label.

THE DROWNING RECORD.

A Buffalo Man Who Did as He Was Told—Met Death While Bathing.

Special to the Times.

BUFFALO, July 8.—Fred Meister, aged 25, was told by a jocular saloonkeeper yesterday to "Go and drown yourself," and proceeded to carry out the instructions, piling his garments on the dock and leaving a letter stating that he was observing the orders of the saloonkeeper in taking his life.

MONTREAL, July 8. — A young man named George Chisholm, while attending a church picnic at St. Rose on Saturday, was drowned while bathing.

LEAMINGTON, Ont., July 8. — Walter Reid, 18 years of age, of the 9th con., Mersea, was drowned in the lake here yesterday.

QUEBEC, July 8.—Joseph Boily, aged 19, was drowned Saturday while fishing at Montmorency Falls.

A boy named Lamontaign, aged seven years, was drowned last night at Champlain market wharf.

ST. CATHARINES, July 8.—Joseph Myers, aged 16, son of Anthony Myers, baker, was drowned in the old canal below lock 2, Saturday night while in bathing.

STILL ANOTHER.

Death of Thomas Phillips, One of the Heroes of Balak'ava.

Special to the Times.

JACKSON, Mich., July 8.—Thomas Phillips, an Englishman, died at his home at Woodville, west of this city, Friday, at the age of 70 years. He was a member of the famous Light Brigade, whose charge at Balaklava October 25, 1854, was the subject of Tennyson's well known poem. Mr. Phillips came out of the battle with many bullet wounds and saber cuts, though none of them proved serious. He had among his possessions a bronze medal commemorating the deed of the brigade, each surviving member having received one from the hand of Queen Victoria. By his death the remanent of this band of heroes is reduced to three, who are supported by pensions in England.

Convict Curtis Released.

LONDON, July 8.—John Curtin, or John Curtin Kent as he was usually called, who was convicted of complicity in an attempt to blow up British warships with dynamite between eight and nine years ago and sentenced to life imprisonment was today released from Portland prison, where he has been confined. Curtin will remain for a short time in Bristol and will then sail for the United States.

Flew Past the Record.

TORONTO, July 8.—Two pigeons belonging to J. Jessimen of this city, members of the Queen City Homing Pigeon club flew from Montreal to Toronto today in 8 hours, 17 minutes, 37 seconds. The occasion was a race in which 20 birds took part. The time is 2½ hours better than any previous record.

In 1828 the commander of Fort Dearborn, the site of Chicago, reported to the secretary of war as follows: "I would respectfully remark that this post should be abandoned, because the nature of the surrounding country is such that it is impossible that it should ever support a population sufficient to justify the expense of sustaining a fort at this pace."

It was a happy thought on the part of the President of the French Republic to visit the camp at Sathonay and inspect the troops about to leave for Madagascar. He has once more shown that he knows how to win the heart of the people, and for the tranquility of France it is most desirable that he should continue to be the popular President par excellence.

FOR THE FARMER.

If manure is exposed to bleaching for drainage, it is to be expected that it will lose the greater part of its value.

Forty-seven per cent. of the population of France are engaged in agriculture, while in 1851 fifty-seven per cent. were so engaged. Machinery on the farm has given a similar tendency in other European countries.

Roman lamps were of many sizes, but most of them very closely resembled what is at present denominated a sauce or gravy boat. At one end there was a ring through which the finger was passed when the light was carried; the body of the vessel was filled with oil, and at the other end there was a small tube through which a rag wick was passed.

LESSONS OF THE WAR.

While the Japanese repeated their accustomed practice of forcing the fighting, there is not, from a naval point of view, much to be gained by a study of the operations.

The manner in which the Chinese torpedo boats broke for the open sea when they found themselves penned in the harbor awakens in the reader an anticipation of a concerted attack upon the Japanese fleet until it is seen that the torpedo craft merely wished to get away, and not to get at the foe. Considering that they were pursued by only four or five ships, they might at last have tried to destroy some of the latter by a combined rush at them.

The chief lesson of the war between China and Japan so far is the discovery that the Japanese are sea fighters of the first class. There are other nations than China that may find Japan's fleet a very hard nut to crack.

May Sue the Commandant.

A "despatch" written by Commandant Herbert Booth, of the Salvation Army, and sent to England, is likely to be the cause of another lively fight between the Commandant and Brigadier De Barrett, late of the Army. The despatch contains statements reflecting on the character of the Brigadier, which he considers damaging to his future prospects. He has placed the matter in the hands of his solicitor, and demands a full and complete retraction of the alleged libelous statements, failing which he will sue for damages.

The Right to Use Post Cards.

At Montreal on Monday Judge Champagne rendered an interesting judgment in the case of Ouimet vs. Robidoux. The plaintiff claimed $50 damages because defendant wrote him a post card asking the payment of an account with threats of legal proceedings if it was not paid. The defence was that a post card was a means of communication authorized by law, and that no malice was intended. The court maintained this plea and dismissed the action, holding moreover that no damage whatever was shown to have been suffered by plaintiff. A previous judgment was rendered in the same sense some time ago.

Received Severe Injuries.

Mr. W. J. Judge, a nephew of Mr. W. W. Logan, took in the Oddfellows' excursion to Kingston on Monday last, and did not return until next day. On the return trip he, with a couple of friends, jumped off at Keene station to partake of some lunch. They had to climb a fence, and Mr. Judge had the misfortune to trip and fall, striking on the wheels of a small boys express wagon. He thought nothing of it until Wednesday, when he was compelled to seek his bed, as he suffered from pains and internal bleeding. Dr. McAlpine was called in and it was found that the young man had ruptured one of his kidneys. An operation was talked of, but Dr. McAlpine would not consent, as Judge is in a very weak condition and it was thought he could not survive the operation. Although very low at present, we are pleased to state that he is progressing nicely, and the doctors hold out great hopes of his recovery.—Lindsay Post.

Hood's Makes Them Healthy.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has been used in our family for a long time. I regard it as the best family medicine. My children are using it every day and the effect has been to make them feel and look perfectly healthy." Albert Chamberlin, City Inspector, No. 333 Parliament street, Toronto, Canada.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Items of Interest Intelligently Presented for Busy Readers.

Park street church will be enlarged by two wings.

A special meeting of the Board of Education will be held this evening.

The Epworth League of Mark street methodist church, Ashburnham, will hold their picnic and excursion today to Jubilee Point, per City of Peterborough.

Rev. Father Connolly, of Campbellford, has been appointed by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor to be priest of the parish of Hastings. Father McClosky, of Brighton, will go to Campbellford, and Rev. Father Collins to Brighton.

The oddfellows of Picton will hold a grand demonstration on July 23, 24, and 25. They have invited the Peterborough lodges to attend and it is likely they will. Peterborough Canton, No. 10, has already decided to take in the event.

There was an accident on Irondale and Bancroft railway on Saturday night. The small engine ran off the line and was dumped in the ditch. Miss Eva Austin, of Haliburton, was in the carriage and sustained some serious injuries, but she is recovering.

Another big society demonstration is on the boards for August 19th, when the Ancient Order of Foresters, of Toronto, and districts east will have a celebration here, which promises to be largely attended. Four gentlemen representing the Order were in town on Saturday making arrangements. A monster procession will be a feature and among the bands to be present is that of the Grenadiers of Toronto. A promenade concert will be held in the evening.

RAIN IS ON THE WAY.

And May It Come—Some Statistics of Heat and Rain.

"Yes," said Old Probs yesterday morning, "there will be rain over the larger portion of Ontario Tuesday, and I don't see why we should escape it. The high pressure lying over the lake region has kept away the rain, but it is moving to the North West, where they have had rain during their low pressure period, and the pressure is going down here. From 30.20 to 30.40 has been the average here, but this morning it is 29.60, or 6 16ths less than it has been for some time.

"The last two days of May and the first three days of June, 93 degrees were registered and the average mean maximum during June was 79."

"Here is a record of average temperature made from temperatures taken six times per day:—30th May 79; 31st May 79; 1st June 79; 2nd June 82; 3rd June 77; 4th July 73. The maximum on June 7th was 92 and on the 4th of July and 7th June it registered 105."

AVERAGE MAXIMUMS.

1855—June	29	79
1858— "	26	80
1864— "	25	82
1880— "	24	79
1888— "	22	79

"The average rain for the first six months during the last 54 years has been 11.63 inches. This year it has been 5.77 inches, a little less than half the average. Last year we had in May 9 thirty seven inches of rain, which was larger than the average. The average rainfall for May has been three inches, and for June the average has been 2.95. This year it has been one-quarter that: so you may judge what is our need of rain."

THE GRAYS' TRIAL.

Preliminary Hearing to Commence on the 16th of this Month.

The preliminary hearing of the charge of murder against the Grays will commence on Tuesday, July 16th. The Grays will be formally arraigned before that, but on that day the famous case will really open. An expert shorthand reporter has been engaged, and elaborate preparations are being made to push the preliminary examination through without any loss of time.

Strawberries, thirteen boxes for $1.00 at J. B. Oke's.

A Troublesome Tramp.

An Otonabee farmer named Mulcahey, applied to Clerk Woods, of Ashburnham, last night, during the Council meeting, for a warrant for the arrest of a tramp. He did not know the man's name, and consequently did not get the warrant. Mulcahey said the tramp had chased his little girls in the morning, but he headed him off and went at him with a club. The tramp had hung around all day evidently waiting until darkness to get revenge, and he was afraid would do him some injury during the night.

Twenty Thousand Roses.

There are nearly 20,000 rose trees in bloom now at Dunlop's conservatories Bloor-st. west, Toronto. Visitors are always well come. Mr. Dunlop is proud of his establishment and takes pleasure in speaking of his beauties. He ships them by mail and express to all parts of Canada, and as these orders are filled direct from the trees, he guarantees them to arrive in good condition. Sale room, 45 Yonge-st., and 45 King street west

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

STONY LAKE ITEMS.

From our own Correspondent.

One day last week Mr. John Kincaide, of Peterborough, a veteran capturer of the finny tribe, landed a 22 pound maskinonge opposite Salmon Island, while trolling. The fish was sent to Peterborough, and no doubt many of your readers have seen it.

Mr. John Craig, M.P.P. for Centre Wellington, has erected a handsome cottage on Salmon Island, and will occupy it with his family on or about the 14th of next month. The building is 18x24, and is a credit to the builder, Mr. John Alexander, of Peterborough.

Mr. Christopher Crowe, of Stony Lake, saw a year old deer in the lake last week. He overtook it, lifted it into a punt, tied it, and brought it home. Corn and other green stuff is devoured ravenously, and the little thing is beginning to look upon man as a friend and not an enemy.

Mr. Thos. Hull, of Stony Lake, runs a steam yacht night and morning, to the various camps, and supplies necessaries at a reasonable rate. The accommodation is appreciated by the campers as the articles furnished are as good as the market affords. Hull is a pusher, and his good wife seconds his efforts.

Campers are arriving daily, and few of the cottages are untenanted at the present writing. Fishing is good, and the sport appreciative.

A man from Norwood has a good supply store on the farm of Mr. Christopher Crowe. It will not be long until the campers at Stony Lake will have telephone communications with Lakefield and Peterborough. The boon is desirable and would be a paying speculation.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous coveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

FRENCH MEMBERS RESIGN

THE DEFEAT OF THE BOWELL GOVERNMENT VERY LIKELY.

Manitoba's Attitude is Uncompromising Since the Decision of the Government Was Made —Mr. Anger's Resigns and Resignations Have Been Sent in.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, July 9.—The cyclone of political excitement which struck Ottawa yesterday when it was reported that three Ministers had resigned has not yet abated in intensity. The first rumor was, however, somewhat overdrawn. Instead of the report of three withdrawals from the Cabinet we have today the actual fact that one Minister actually has given up his portfolio.

ANGERS LETS GO.

Angers has submitted his resignation to the Premier, but his two Quebec colleagues — Caron and Oulmet — are still waiting events.

Bowell and Caron are in conference with a view to bridging the chasm. The French demand is that the Government will either bring down a remedial measure at once or make a supplemental statement pledging itself to complete restoration of Separate schools and not a partial remedy.

This, if acceeded to, will at once bring about the resignation of Controller Wallace, who has already intimated to his friends that he is unalterably opposed to coercion.

An effort will be made today to embarrass the Government in the House. Joncas has an amendment which practically is a vote of want of confidence. But before it comes up, the French may change their attitude.

A FRENCH CAUCUS THIS AFTERNOON.

A caucus has been called for this afternoon just before the House opens, when the three kicking Ministers will be present. One plan which is advocated by the dissentients is for the France Conservative members to leave the House in a body when the non-confidence motion is proposed.

MAY BE AN IMMEDIATE DISSOLUTION.

If this is done and defeat ensues there will be an immediate dissolution and an appeal to the people under most extraordinary conditions.

THE UNREASONING FRENCH.

The blame for the alarming complications is placed by Conservatives upon the unreasoning French.

Today the Government organ here, the Citizen, declares that nothing could be devised better calculated to render remedial legislation impossible than a rebellion of the French wing of the Conservative party at the present juncture. Such action would evince an arbitrary spirit certain to react with tremendous force in Ontario. "Let it once be understood," says the Citizen, "that the French members refuse a delay of six months for the purpose of negotiating with Manitoba, notwithstanding that a pledge of legislation at the end of that period has been given, and the fate of remedial legislation will be sealed forever. No government that attempted it could obtain a corporal's guard in Ontario."

AN UNMISTAKEABLE WARNING

This warning has not been sounded without consultation with the party leaders. It is plainly an intimation that the French must speedily come to terms or take the responsibility for a smash.

The Governor General arrived this morning.

NO COMPROMISE.

THE PEOPLE OF MANITOBA WOULD OUST ANY GOVERNMENT THAT THOUGHT OF IT.

WINNIPEG, July 9.—Premier Greenway and Attorney General Sifton are out of town.

Hon. Mr. Cameron, was, however, approached by your correspondent for his opinion as to what answer his Government would make to the proposed request of the Dominion Government that Manitoba should restore Separate Schools. Mr. Cameron said it would be nonsence to expect the Manitoba Government to express any opinion until they knew the nature of the request. He would not talk and he felt sure none of his colleagues would.

NO PROSPECT OF COMPROMISE.

The view obtains here in Local Government circles that there is not the slightest prospect of Greenway making the smallest move towards a compromise. This feeling is due to the fact that the people of Manitoba, who are above the Government, are a unit in demanding that the national schools be maintained in their integrity and that no concessions be made to Rome. The Government could live and take any other course.

The Tribune, usually recognized as the Government's mouthpiece, indicates editorially today that there is not the slightest hope of the Dominion inducing Mr. Greenway to make any compromise.

The answer of the Greenway Government to the remedial order, while temperate, was not conclusive and emphatic in stating the adherence of the Government to national schools and in indicating that no compromise would be made. Many believe that the action at Ottawa yesterday means that the last has been heard of remedial legislation.

THE WRONG MEN RESIGNED.

The Tribune thus concludes an article headed "The Wrong Ministers Resigned." "By their contemptible conduct the Dominion Government have not only alienated Quebec, but by pledging themselves to remedial legislation alienated all Protestant Canada and effectually destroyed themselves. To our mind it would be much more seemly and in accord with the fitness of things for the Ontario Ministers to resign."

THE GOVERNMENT POLICY.

"The Government has had this matter under consideration," said the Finance Minister in the Commons yesterday, "and has decided that the reply of Manitoba holds out hope of an amicable settlement of the question. A reply will, accordingly be sent to Manitoba asking if that Province is prepared to take action upon that line.

"Another session of the present Parliament will be held before the first Thursday in January next. If by that time Manitoba fails to remedy the grievance the Dominion Government will be prepared at the next session to introduce the press to a conclusion such legislation as will remove the complaint of the minority based on the lines of the judgment of the Privy Council and remedial order."

PARKHURST IN BROCKVILLE.

A Series of Accusations Preferred Against the Chief of Police.

Special to the Times.

BROCKVILLE, July 9.—The Police investigation opened this morning at 10.20 before his honor Judge McDonald. T N. Marshall appeared for the prosecution, E. J. Reynolds for the Town and J. A. Hutcheson for Chief Rose and the Police. The Judge read the motion of the town council appointing him to hold the investigation and in pursuance opened it. The following are the charges made made first. That Chas. Rose of the town of Brockville in the County of Leeds, being the Chief of Police of the said town did unlawfully ask, receive and take from one James Golden, of the township of Elizabeth, in the said County of Leeds, the sum of eleven dollars and fifty cents, claiming that the same was in settlement of a charge of larceny of a pair of boots made by a shoemaker of the city of Ogdenburg, in the state of New York, against a relative of the said James Golden; That the said Charles Rose, having arrested one Andrew Hunter, for the alleged commission of a felony, and being offered the sum of ten dollars to relieve the said Hunter, did take the ten dollars and did release the said Hunter from custody.

Then follows several charges of bribery.

TWENTY-FIVE KILLED !

TERRIBLE RAILROAD DISASTER AT SOUTH QUEBEC YESTERDAY.

An Excursion Train Telescopes Another Train —Twenty-five Were Killed and Forty Injured —An Appaling Disaster in the Lower Provinces.

Special to The Times.

SOUTH QUEBEC, Levis Co., July 9.—A dreadful accident occurred at Craig's Road station at 3.45 a.m. A pilgrim excursion from Sherbrooke was being run in two sections. The first section stopped at Craig's Road to cross an up train, when the following section ran into the rear of it, the engine plowing through the Pullman and first class cars.

So far as can be ascertained there are 15 killed and 40 wounded. The driver, Peter McLeod, of Richmond, and the fireman, Dick Perkins, of the colliding train, were killed, and their bodies so far have not been found. Ten passenger cars and engine are wrecked. The track will be blocked for some time.

Later.—The death roll has now swelled to twenty five, while the number of injured has not been exaggerated in former reports. The wounded are scattered far and wide among the residents and it will be hard to arrive at any definite list for an hour or so yet.

The trains carrying the pilgrims were made up of residents from Sherbrooke, Magog, Windsor Mills and surrounding parishes. A special train from Levis with railway officials and wrecking crew and doctors arrived early this morning and have done great service in their respective spheres. A train was made up about 9 o'clock, and the most of the dead and wounded were conveyed in it to Levis.

SEVEN RICHMOND PEOPLE KILLED.

RICHMOND, Quebec, July 9.—The following residents of Richmond were killed in the railroad smash up at Craigs Road this morning: Charles Bedard, Miss Bedard, Hector McLeod, Richard Perkins, Rev. M. Mercer, Rev. M. Dignon, Mr. Cogan.

FORTY MEN KILLED.

ALEXANDRIA, July 9.—A caisson of the big bridge now building at Nage Hame, by a French firm, collapsed today and 40 workmen perished.

DIED IN A DENTIST'S CHAIR.

A Young Man Succumbs Under the Influence of Chloroform.

Special to the Times.

WOODSTOCK, July 9.—Wm. Barnes, a baker, employed by J. McCormick, confectioner, expired this afternoon in Dr. A. M. Clarke's dentist parlors while having some teeth extracted. He had for some time been troubled with face ache, and desired to have his teeth removed while under the influence of chloroform, so Dr. McLurg was called in to administer it. Four teeth had been successfully removed, and during the extraction of the fifth he suddenly gasped and is supposed to have almost immediately expired. Drs. Rich and Odlum were called to assist in reviving him, but after an hour and a half their efforts were unsuccessful, and they were forced to pronounce him dead. It is their opinion that death was caused by paralysis of the heart as a result of the action of the chloroform.

TORONTO-NEW YORK.

Solid Train to be Run Via Hamilton Over the T. H. & B. Road.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, July 9.—A local paper has the following: The deal by which the Vanderbilt interests are to get control of the new Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo railroad has been put through. Representatives of the New York Central, Michigan Central, Canadian Pacific, and Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo met at the Grand Central station and signed the traffic arrangement contract. According to the provisions of the deal the C. P. R. will operate the line from Toronto to Buffalo as soon as it is completed. The rest of the T. H. & B. system, consisting of a line from Waterford to Welland, will be operated by the Vanderbilt interests. The C.P.R. will have the privilege of running direct to the Grand Central station over the New York Central tracts and will put on solid trains from Toronto to New York city via Hamilton.

Run Down and Killed.

CHICAGO, July 9.—In western desperado style a man, supposed to be C. E. Cole, assaulted and attempted to rob P. G. McGloin in his saloon at 64 Adams street, in the heart of the business district, this evening. After seriously wounding McGloin the thief escaped, and made the most remarkable race for liberty ever seen in the streets of Chicago. After firing into the mob that pursued him, and seriously wounded three citizens, he was run down and killed by Officer Rosenthal, opposite the entrance of the Auditorium, on Congress street. The wounded are:—P. G. McGloin, saloonkeeper, three wounds in head, will recover; H. H. Sternberg, shot in abdomen, taken to hospital, will probably die; Samuel Stone, shot in right leg, will recover.

DECOYED INTO AMBUSH.

THE SPANIARDS LED INTO A TRAP BY THE CUBAN REBELS.

Mount Vesuvius in Action—111 in the Shade in Italy—Turkish Rule in Macedonia—Radicals Released.

Special to the Times.

HAVANA, July 9.—Advices that have reached here from Santiago de Cuba are to the effect that Major Sauches, commanding government forces, discovered 1,500 insurgents under command of Rebel Chief Rabi, strongly posted near Nanzillo. Major Sauches thereupon sent messages to Major Azner inviting to join forces and attack the rebels. The insurgents captured the messenger and hanged him. They then sent a reply to Major Sauches directing that an attack on the insurgents be made at another point. Major Sauches fell into the trap and arrived as directed in the forged message. His forces were attacked by the rebels in narrow defile. The insurgents charged on the Spanish troops in a most plucky manner, wielding deadly machets freely. The troops were unable to manoeuvre owing to lack of space. Two sergeants, one at the head of 30, and the other at the head of 12 men gained commanding positions and succeeded in checking the insurgents, shooting all that came within range of their rifles. The

FIRE WAS SO DEADLY

that the rebels made no further attempt to charge and the troops were enabled to escape from the defile where they had been ambushed. The government loss was 50 killed and wounded.

MACEDONIA AGITATION.

SOFIA, July 9.—Bulgaria has sent a note to the Powers stating that she permitted the agitation to continue in Macedonia, believing it was purely moral and believing that repression would excite dangerous secret agitation. In the note Bulgaria denies that hostile bands have caused frontier troubles and appeals to the powers to pacify Macedonia as they have pacified Armenia.

VESUVIUS IN ACTION.

NAPLES, July 9.—Crowds of people are flocking to this city to witness the eruption of Mount Vesuvius. The Prince of Naples and the Crown Prince of Italy has arrived for the purpose. There was an immense emission of ashes today.

111 IN SHADE.

ROME, July 9.—Intense heat prevails all through Italy and several deaths have been reported. The thermometer yesterday registered 111 in the shade.

ONE FOR ARBITRATION.

PARIS, July 9.—The chamber of deputies today adopted a motion made by M. Claude Barodet, asking the Government to negotiate a permanent arbitration treaty between France and the United States.

RADICALS RELEASED.

BELGRADE, July 9.—The first act of the new Servian Cabinet was to release all Radicals who had been convicted of conspiring with the Royal Family in the Cebanitz trial.

A DENIAL.

LONDON, July 9.—The Daily News will print a denial of the report that Gen. Lord Roberts has refused to accept the position of commander in chief of the British army.

THE KAISER IN SWEDEN.

STOCKHOLM, July 9.—Emperor William of Germany, accompanied by the Crown Prince and a party of guests paid a visit to the Castle and inspected the famous collection of antique weapons, Gobel in tapestries, etc., contained therein. They expressed themselves as highly pleased with the visit. His Majesty has decided to remain in Stockholm longer than he had intended and will make a tour of the north after leaving. The weather throughout his stay has been fine.

Killed by His Son-in-Law.

MIDDLETOWN, July 9.—Joseph Townsend, a prominent resident of Livingston Manor, was shot and instantly killed there this morning by George Brethaner, his son-in-law, as the result of a quarrel. Brethaner was arrested.

Betrayed Secrets.

BERLIN, July 9.—The High Court at Liepsic has sentenced a Mets coal pedler named Haune, and sergeant in the German army named Schrieber, respectfully to four years and eight years imprisonment for betraying military secrets to the French.

Shot His Wife's Betrayer.

HAMILTON, July 9.—Word was received here this morning that Edwin Hilder, who belonged to Hamilton, and whose mother lives in this city, was murdered in Whitehall, N. Y., on Saturday by Newell Blanchard. Jealousy promoted the deed, Hilder having been seen with Blanchard's wife on several occasions. Blanchard had several times threatened to take Hilder's life, and on Saturday last he met him with his wife and shot him dead. The deceased was about 22 years of age and left Hamilton four years ago. He was a member of the fire department in Whitehall.

Sunday Cars in Kingston.

KINGSTON, July 9.—Rev. S. Houston went to Mayor Wright to see is he (the Mayor) could not stop the electric cars from running on Sunday. The Mayor said he was willing to do what he could for the Lord's Day Observance Society, but he was not quite clear on the law. Mr. Houston says the local branch will wait and see what action the Central Executive Committee at Toronto will take. Ten thousand fares were collected Sunday.

Tickets for the Corbett Fitzsimmons Fight.

DALLAS, Texas, July 9.—The sale of tickets for the Corbett Fitzsimmons fight will begin at 10 a.m. Wednesday. The prices of seats will be: box with five chairs $200, or $40 per chair; reserved seats $20; general admission $10.

A Venezuela Yarn.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Respecting the information brought to the United States by the Red Line steamer Venezuela, that a number of rifles and thousands of rounds of ammuition were shipped to Venezuela to be used in the outbreak under guidance of Dr. Rojas Paul on account of dissatisfaction regarding the bad financial condition of the country, Senor Jos. Andre, Venezuela minister to the United States, said tonight that her story was an old one and had been revived on several occasions. The latest advices he had received from his government gave no intimation of an uprising of any kind.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH. JULY 10 1895.

A raft containing over seven million feet of lumber, mostly white pine, is on its way down the Mississippi to St. Louis. It is believe to be the biggest raft ever floated down the river. Carried by rail the lumber would make four and a half miles of car loads.

Hugh Ryan on Tuesday refused to inform the public Accounts Committee at Ottawa whether or not he had ever contributed to party campaign funds. Mr. Ryan should be compelled to answer. His firm secured the contract for building the lock at the Sault a figure above what was asked by other tenderers, and they obtained contracts for a lot of extras afterwards without being forced to compete for them. The country is entitled to know if any of the profit on these peculiar transactions was applied to fund intended to corrupt the electorate.

In Manitoba, when the census of 1890 was taken, there were but 20,000 Catholics as against 30,000 Anglicans. Both these bodies demand separate schools for their children. But only that of the former is listened to. Why? If the claim of 20,000 Catholics is just, that of 30,000 Anglicans is still more so. Why, then, we ask again, should a privilege be accorded to a small body which is denied a larger one? This is a phase of the question to which those who talk about the "injustice" done the Manitoba minority by the legislation of 1890 is respectfully directed.

Poets have sung the praises of that heroic youth who, to win the king's daughter, dove into the maelstrom and brought back the golden cup which the king had flung into the whirling waters; and of De Lorme, who leaped into the lion's pit to recover the glove which his lady had tossed there in order to prove the quality of his love. But these feats daring for the sake of imperious beauties pale before the act of the young Texan farmer who, to prove his love for his best girl and his confidence in her, allowed her to hang him. The girl, who is now under arrest on a charge of murder, no doubt realises by this time that hanging a lover up is a poor use to put him to. She might better have turned him down.

DID NOT KILL INSTANTLY.

Even the doctors who presided over the electrocution of Buchanan admit that death was not instantaneous, for the heart could be heard beating after the first shock was applied, even without the aid of instruments. The explanation is offered, however, that the first shock rendered him insensible and that he felt no pain from the subsequent burning. That can be only a guess. Those who have received electric shocks accidentally do not report that the experience is painless. The same argument might with as much plausibility be made for hanging, that it renders the victim unconscious at the first shutting-off of breath and the subsequent choking is painless.

The only-really painless form of death is by chloroform or similar drugs. If the purpose is to make the execution of criminals painless, that is the proper system to adopt. The advantage claimed for electrocution was, not that it would be painless, but that it would be instantaneous, that a single shock will not kill and that is necessary to repeat the operation to bring even the appearance of death. Even then there is the horrible doubt whether the victim really dies from the shock or from the surgeons knives which are applied immediately afterward.

But, supposing that electricity does kill, it does not kill instantly, so the system is not fulfilling the expectation on which it was adopted. The sensible thing to do is to abolish it and adopt some plan which involves less uncertainty.

GEMS OF THOUGHT.

No one is useless in this world who lightens the burden of it for another.

We attract hearts by the qualities we display; we retain them by the qualities we possess.

Though we travel the world over to find the beautiful, we must carry it with us to find it not.

Though the body may shirk labor, the brain is not idle. If it does not grow corn it will grow thistles.

Poverty is not dishonorable in itself, but only when it arises from idleness, intemperance, extravagance, and folly.

It is good discretion not to make too much of any man at the first, because one cannot hold out that proportion.

Nothing is more destructive of individual character than for a man to lose all faith in his own abilities for the prosecution of his work.

Deride not any man's deformities, but bless God they are not yours. Men shall answer at God's bar for their vicious habits, but not for their natural imperfections.

Now what is first and foremost among the reasons which make a nation strong and great? Work. Not machine work: but work into which the worker puts his pride, his joy, his happiness.

To commit the execution of a purpose to one who disapproves of the plan of it, is to employ but one-third of the man; his heart and his head are against you, you have commanded only his hands.

The great moments of life are but moments like the others. Your doom is spoken in a word or two. A single look from the eyes, a mere pressure of the hand, may decide it; or of the lips, though they cannot speak.

FARM FAGOTS.

Every state and territory of the United States has an experiment station, the total number being 55.

The spring sales of Aberdeen Angus bulls in England show an average of $102 for 250 animals.

The wheat crop of South America has steadily increased from 48,650,000 bushels in 1891 to 104,000,000 bushels in 1893.

The Iowa State Agricultural society, which is in debt, recently arranged for the sale of 20,000 tickets to the people of Des Moines.

The price of first-class mutton sheep and lambs on the great markets is decidedly encouraging to the friends of mutton sheep.

Massachusetts creameries are catching the spirit of organization, and are moving for an association similar to those elswhere formed.

The bill prohibiting adulterations in butter and cheese has been signed by the Governor of Missouri, and is therefore a law of that State.

The Ontario experiment station advises that apple trees be planted far enough apart so that when full grown they will not touch each other.

Cattle feeders in the West have used cottonseed more heavily than ever before, and it is reported that they are quite well pleased with its use.

A Kentucky exchange notes the fact that cattle were selling for export purposes at five cents a pound, live weight, in the blue grass countries.

Electrical Treatment

210 Cowan Ave., Toronto.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

TANSY PILLS!

OUT OF THE ORDINARY RUN.

If all our carrying vessels were anchored in one harbor, there would be a fleet of 23,586 sail and wheelers.

A negro boy of Cherokee, Ga., who was attacked by rattlesnakes and bitten several times, recovered within a few days.

London University, after limiting itself for nearly sixty years to conferring degrees upon examination, now proposes to take up instruction.

A white rainbow was seen recently at Westnewton Aspatria, in Cumberland, during a hard frost. It lasted for more than half an hour, and was much broader than the ordinary rainbow.

Shavings are coming into demand for bed and mattress filling, and the Wisconsin planing mills have struck a bonanza in packing them like hay and sending them all over the country.

Dinah Salifou, the Senegalese monarch who was one of the human curiosities of the late Paris exhibition, is petitioning for an increase of the allowance of $20 a month accorded to him by the French government after he was deposed.

A Vienna specialist was recently summoned to Temesvar to decide whether the bishop's leg should be amputated or not. The train was stalled in the snow but he consulted with the Temesvar doctors by telephone, and the leg came off.

FOR MEN AND WOMEN.

New York has twenty-seven female barbers.

Women are naturally more prone to insanity than are men.

All the very good Roman Emperors had very bad wives.

No woman has ever written an epic poem that became known to the world.

Napoleon's campaigns made one million French women widows, and three million children homeless.

The average European woman's life is shorter than the man's, but over two-thirds of the centenarians are women.

A committee, headed by the Marchioness of Queensberry, has been formed in London to revive the agitation for the release of Mrs. Maybrick from prison.

American women spend $20,000,000 a year for chewing gum, and yet the ready flow of female conversation is not checked. Grumpy old bachelors will hold that it only tends to strengthen the jaws.

Japanese politeness translates into queer English. "How is your honorable wife?" one gentleman will ask. "I thank you, honorable sir, my dirty fool of a wife is well," is the answer.

TIPS FOR THE GIRLS.

Flowers are to be much used to trim evening gowns.

Large soft rosettes of velvet will be on the early spring hats.

Leghorn hats trimmed with ostrich feathers and lace are to be worn again.

English walking gloves for spring are of finely-dressed dog skin or Swedish kid.

There are now one hundred and seventy-seven women doctors in the United Kingdom.

There is a new button made apparently of twisted wire, with a large stone ball in the centre.

Violet bouquets for the crush collars and to wear on the wrap are as fashionable as for the hats.

Fancy fans are very popular, and are to be had in feathers tufted with blossoms of tiny curls of contrasting ostrich tips.

The best veils to wear have light sprays and spots on a clear ground, and greatly improve the appearance of a poor complexion.

Almost every bodice of recent date for evening dresses and walking gowns alike, has a pouched front, which conceals the waist line and overhangs the skirt.

PERSONALS.

Thomas A. Edison plays poker. But it is only for fun and relaxation and no gamblers need apply.

Prince Massimo, of Italy, thinks that his is the oldest family in Europe. He traces his ancestry to Quintus Fabius Maximus.

Gladstone's trip to the Riviera appears to have restored him to vigorous health. Some of his friends say that he has not looked better in several years.

Mgr. Capel, well known as a Roman Catholic ecclesiastic some years ago, has become a ranchman since he took up his residence in California, and is now said to be very wealthy.

Signor Cavallotti, the opposition leader in the Italian chamber of deputies, has received nearly a dozen challenges from aggrieved ministerial journalists. He has referred all the would be duellists to the law courts.

The Empress of Austria has not had a portrait taken for thirty years. She wants to be remembered as the brilliant beauty who was almost six feet tall, whose hair came below her knees, and whose waist measured seventeen inches.

FARM FAGOTS.

An exchange says that a gallon of pure pine tar is very useful about a sheepyard. Stir the drinking water now and then with a tarry stick. It is an excellent tonic.

Russia is interesting herself in a grand scheme of irrigation for a vast tract of country now desert-like in character. Fifty million dollars have been appropriated to begin the work.

In blanketing a horse, see that the blanket is sufficiently large to cover the animal from the neck to the tail; see also that the breast flaps protect this sensative prat, and the blanket is large enough to cover sides and flank fully.

AMERICAN CITIES.

Knoxville, Tenn., is named after Gen. Henry Knox, of Massachusetts. It was first called Fort Knox.

A representative in the Illinois legislature has introduced a bill to make Chicago a state in herself. It is probably done as a matter of self-defence to prevent Chicago from absorbing the remainder of Illinois.

Greater New York, a topographic statistician points out, will cover an area of 317 square miles; three times the size of London and twelve times that of Paris. Rome, Babylon and Memphis are not to be mentioned in the comparison.

FORTY-THREE LIVES LOST

A TERRIBLE CLOUDBURST CREATES DESOLATION AND DEATH.

The States of Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois Visited by the Cyclone—A Woman and Child Said to Have Disappeared Whilst the Storm Was in Progress.

Special to The Times.

ST. LOUIS, July 8.—Thursday morning last telegraphic reports began to arrive in this city of rains at western points. These reports grew in numbers Friday and covered a large territory, indicating that the entire eastern section was washed off the Rocky Mountains from Nebraska and Iowa lines to Texas was swept by a storm Friday night when the severest blow came. Reports of loss of life and destruction to property came with every telegram, and a downpour which was first regarded as a blessing was their ruin. Fields of grain that promised the most bountiful yield in years are bare of vegetation. It is too early to sum up the loss, but it is appalling to those whom angry element spared life have little left to sustain it. Stories of the storm are so similar that a statistical summary is all there is left to tell. The storm's focus embraced an area of 25,000 square miles.

LOST OF LIFE

is reported from Winona, Mo., where 11 corpses have been found and as many more missing. At Baxter Springs in South Western Kansas, five were killed and 11 seriously injured by a cyclone that accompanied the storm; one was drowned at Columbus and two at Ottawa, Kas. At Vanbrun, Ark., a woman and her child were drowned. A family of five were encamped on the banks of Fish Creek in Indian Territory yesterday, but nothing of their belonging was found except part of their wagon on a pile of drift wood. Three were drowned at Fayette, Ark., one at Paolia, Kas., one at Richards, Kas., and six of a hunting party in the Indian Territory. This gives a known and probable loss of 43 lives. This total will be increased when the receding water permits a thorough search. The loss in property can be placed in millions. The storm spent itself in Illinois, but having lost its force proved a blessing to the crops. The greatest burden falls upon farmers, as the season is too far spent to plant new crops and suffering and experiences recall horrors of Johnstown.

RIOTS IN INDIA.

Four Persons Killed and over 100 Persons Seriously Wounded.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 8.—The India Office has received a dispatch from Bombay saying a riot has occurred at Kattywar in the province of Guzerat, resulting in the killing of four persons and wounding 184, twelve of them seriously. The riot grew out of the clashing of a Hindoo marriage procession and a Mahometan Mohurrun procession.

PARLIAMENT DISSOLVED.

The Proclamation Signed by Her Majesty at Windsor.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 8.—The Marquis of Salisbury, Baron Halsbury, the Lord High Chancellor and the Marquis of Lansdowne the Secretary of State for War, attended the meeting of the Privy Council held at Windsor Castle at 2 o'clock this afternoon at which the Queen signed the proclamation dissolving Parliament, and the order to issue writs for the general elections.

MANY LEFT HOMELESS.

Destruction of a Cornwall Suburb Yesterday.

Special to The Times.

CORNWALL, July 8.—About one o'clock this afternoon some boys playing in a shed in the French settlement just outside the eastern limits of the town accidentally set fire to the building. A high wind was blowing and the flames communicated with great rapidity to the adjoining houses, which were of wood, and by four o'clock the whole district, comprising about forty houses, was a mass of smouldering ruins. It is reported that a child was burned to death, but the rumor is not verified. The Cornwall fire engine being in Montreal undergoing repairs and the settlement having no apparatus, the fire had full scope and burned until there was no more food for the flames. The Cornwall fire brigade put all their hose on the town hydrants, but could not get within 1,200 feet of the fire. The town council took prompt measures to relieve the distress of the hundreds of homeless people. A very large building several blocks away was thrown open, tables were set, beds prepared and everything possible was done to relieve the distressed families. The total loss has not yet been estimated, but it is believed that most of the houses destroyed were insured.

A MISUNDERSTOOD DOG.

counter bet he could hit him "first crack."

Just then the puppy settled slowly on his haunches, looked up at the butcher's boy and wagged his tail.

"Look out—don't ye come near me," said the butcher's boy.

The next instant a well-directed boot rolled the puppy into the road. He staggered to his feet and stood gazing up at the crowd on the porch, his limbs trembling. The storekeeper came out with a box of cartridges and a Winchester. Throwing a shell into the magazine he handed the rifle to the butcher's boy.

There was a pause.

"Git that hind sight fine on him." It was the man in the slouch hat telling the butcher's boy.

"Hyar!" came a stern voice out of the dusk, and the next instant the old hunter, Israel Lukens, had the butcher's boy by the throat.

"You young skunk," he thundered, wrenching the rifle away from the butcher's boy. "Thought ye'd be powerful cunnin', didn't ye? I see that there puppy when he came daown to the centre. Thar an't nothin' the matter with that dog; he's been used awfully. Henderson's folks had him, and them young ones liked to kill him."

The old man loosened his vice-like grip, and the butcher's boy slunk into the store. One by one the crowd followed sheepishly, while the puppy trembled against the old man's bootleg. When the latch clicked on the last men Israel took the puppy up in his arms.

"Poor leetle cuss," he said, as he carried the puppy down the road to his cabin.

And so the puppy lived with Israel, and one August day the old hunter left his cabin at daylight with his dog.

"Hadn't ye better git a couple of the boys to help ye, Israel, if you're agoin' to git out them hemlock?" said Jerushy his wife, as he left.

"I presume likely I had," said Israel, leaning on his ax at the gate. "Frank—he's ought to went to the centre to-day to git them shingles, and Pete calculated he'd go fishin'. No," he continued, "I guess I'll make aout well enough alone, thar an't so much but what I kin handle it," and, shouldering his ax, he disappeared in the woods, talking to the dog.

It was about noon when Jerushy finished her washing and sat shelling peas in the coolest corner of the summer kitchen. Outside in the tangled garden the bees tumbled lazily over the flowers and the yellow jackets crawled in and out among the bunches of dried herbs hung under the eaves of the rickety porch. Below from the valley, swimming in the August heat, came the harsh droning of the mill, broken at intervals by the delicate ping, as the log left the saw.

"Thar!" she said to herself, starting up as the mill whistle blew. "I hain't mosen' had my hands out of the dish water and it's plumb noon." She felt something struggling at her skirts, and looking around she saw the dog. "Wall, if that don't beat all," said the old lady, readjusting her steel spectacles "What ails ye—stop it, ye fool!"

But the dog kept tugging at her dress.

"Got a mushrat, have ye?" said the old lady, coaxingly. "Wall I presume we'll have to go and see it 'fore ye'll git your satisfy."

At her willingness to follow the dog loosened his hold and ran ahead, barking incessantly.

The two crossed the road and followed the trail of the path leading to Israel's "leetle piece," as the hunter called his lumber cutting.. When he reached the brook the dog stopped, snuffing to the right and left; suddenly he stopped and began to howl, and Jerushy, looking at the edge of somealders, saw the print of Israel's shoe in the mud.

Then the truth seemed to flash across her mind.

"Suthin's happened to Israel or that dog wouldn't perform like that, I'll warrant ye," she said, hurrying on.

The dog barked sharply, and plunged on through the woods, the old lady following as best she could, calling at intervals:

"Israel, Israel, whar be ye? Be ye hurt?"

Suddenly the dog stopped and listened, and Jerushy heard far up the mountain a faint halloo.

Ten minutes later she found the old man buried under a hemlock, unhurt, but unable to move hand or foot.

As Jerushy stood by wringing her hands the dog tried to ferret himself beneath the pile of debris, tugging at Israel's coat.

"Oh, Israel, be you a dyin'?" moaned Jerushy.

"Dyin'? No," Israel replied. "I hain't hurt none—ye see, I mistrusted this here tree wan't agoin' to fall right, but 'fore I knowed it she come right top of me. If it wan't for that young spruce I presume likely it'd a killed me. And he came and told ye!" said the old man. "Wall, I swan!"

When the neighbors came and hauled the old man out the dog's joy knew no bounds.

"Thought he wasn't no good, did ye, friends?" said the old hunter, turning to the bystanders.

"Ye hain't no bines broke, have ye, Israel?" asked a mild old man, once sheriff of the county.

"It's a good thing the dog come daown and told your woman, Israel, wasn't it?" drawled a tall, lanky fellow.

"I'm tickled to see ye hain't hurt," said another, as the procession filed down the mountain.

But Israel did not answer; he was talking to the dog.—Detroit Free Press.

An Electrical Marine Log.

In the year 1878 Admiral Fleurials, of the French navy, brought out an electric log, which, after trials and improvements, was recently adopted by the minister of marine. It may be described as a small water mill with a wheel consisting of seven arms tipped with cups like the anemometer of Robinson. There are two sets of four cups mounted on the ends of the same axle, and as they revolved in the water while the ship moved a contact on the axle interrupted an electric current flowing through a wire between the ship and the log and sounded a telepone. The note given out by the telephone was a measure of the number of revolutions per minute of the log and the speed of the ship. At high speeds, however, the ear was not quick at recognizing the note, and Admiral Fleurials has substituted for the telephone an electric bell, which is struck every twenty-four reovlutions of the mill wheel or vanes. By timing the interval bewteen two strokes of the bell, the speed of the ship is obtained.—Industrial Journal.

A Characteristic Meeting of the Irish Nationalist—Could Not Organize.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 8.—The Irish National convention met in Omagh, County Tyrone and was the scene of constant disturbances. Owing to the disputes between Timothy Healy, John Dillon and Dr. Kenny no chairman could be appointed, and organization of the convention was not effected. A strong force of police was stationed outside the building in readiness to quell any violent disorder.

MAY PLEDGE ITSELF

Absolutely to Remedial Legislation if no Bill is Brought Down this Session.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, July 8.—The general impression is that if the Government does not bring down a bill this session it will pledge itself absolutely to remedial legislation in the event of Manitoba's continued refusal.

The Citizen, the Government organ here, says this morning that it is by no means certain that no legislation of a remedial character will be introduced this session

YANKEE BUNCOMBE ABROAD.

Amusing Utterances of a United States Envoy to a French Newspaper.

Special to the Times.

PARIS, July 8.—The Figaro prints what purports to be an interview with United States Ambassador Eustis, in which that gentleman is made to say that nothing has been decided regarding the candidacy for the Presidency of the United States.

Concerning Canada, Mr. Eustis is alleged to have said that it rested entirely with the United States whether Canada would be taken into the American Federation. The Government of the United States preferred to allow that question to rest, at the same time however, giving Great Britain to understand that there must be no nonsense or Canada would be annexed.

SHOCKING OUTRAGES.

An Unknown Fiend Already Charged With Five Murders.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, July 8.—A series of outrages and murders of girls of ages ranging from four to seven years has created great excitement among the working classes in the district of Walthamstowe, seven miles north of London. Within two months five little ones have been decoyed from near their homes and have vanished completely Searching parties have subsequently found their bodies lying in fields, stripped of all clothing and giving evidence of having been outraged. In every case the victims have been children playing along the roadside. Immediate cause of death in every case has been strangulation. Police inquiry into the case points to a well dressed man of 30, but here the clue is lost. A child 4 years old, after having been subject to horrible treatment, was found in a field by persons attracted by her cries. The child was unable to describe her assailant. Several half witted men have been arrested on suspicion, but established alibis and they were liberated. The miscreant usually hides the bodies of his victims in secluded places in the fields and under hedges and covers them with leaves. There is as yet absolutely no trace of him.

Grover Once More Happy.

BUZZARD BAY, July 8.—At Gray Gables the quiet and picturesque summer resort of President Cleveland at half past four this afternoon a little girl was born unto Mrs. Cleveland. Dr. Joseph D. Bryant, the attending physician tonight informed a reporter of the United Press that both mother and child were doing well.

Martin's Fearful Death.

FORESTVILLE, July 8.—Henry Martin, 22 years of age, employed in William Hornburg's saw mill at Sheridan, was taking a board off the ways yesterday, it caught on the saw and threw him upon it. A great piece was cut from his side; the saw mangled one leg and cut off the other near the ankle. The man bled to death in a short time.

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way"

And another thus:

"If you Jumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

Shakespeare's Young Men.

There are between twenty and thirty young men in the non-historical plays, and an examination of their peculiarities and characteristics enables us to form some conception of Shakespeare's own ideal of young manhood.

In the first place, it is noticeable what physical perfection they are all supposed to have. The poet's young hero should, as a general thing, "laugh merrily," like Valentine, "eat and drink heartily, walk manfully, and only look sad when his purse is empty." He should be able to "climb walls with Romeo, wrestle like Orlando, fence and fight pirates like Hamlet, or swim through the stormy waves like Ferdinand; and he should enjoy doing it."

Further, Shakespeare seems to lay stress on the young man's "being natural, unaffected, as if to him affectation indicated a weakness somewhere in the man's character." Indeed, no characteristic of Shakespeare's is more conspicuous than his thorough openness and honesty—his contempt for everything that savors of affectation or sham. Note his repeated sharp hits at false hair and paint in women, at foppery and aping of foreign fashions in men, at the small conceit of travelers who came home, as Rosalind says, "to lisp and wear strange suits, disable all the benefits of their own country, and be out of love with their nativity," who have seen much, yet have nothing from it worth the getting. He has the same dislike for the affected and artificial style of the day in speech and writing. How he delights to show it up in his earliest plays no less than in the later ones. How he gradually freed himself from the rhetorical conceits and mannerisms of the time—the excessive playing upon words, the running of a metaphor into the ground, so to speak, the over-indulgence in classical allusions, and the like. How he pricks all swollen pretense and pomposity! How he burlesques the ranting of the actor, and the extravagance of the dramatist who furnishes him with the fictitious passion to tear in tatters! His dislike for Puritans, which crops out in a few passages, appears to have been due to their canting ways rather than their peculiar tenets.

Again, Shakespeare "seems to value very highly a decided capacity for friendship between men." This is also eminently characteristic of the man. As a friend he himself must have been capable of measureless personal devotion. The first 126 sonnets, most of which are addressed to one and the same friend—a man, not a woman—would suffice to prove this, if we had nothing else from his pen. But we have also the striking pictures of manly friendship in the plays; and some of these—for instance, that of Antonio and Bassanio, of Brutus and Cassius, of Hamlet and Horatio—are perhaps unsurpassed by any of his delineations of the love of man and woman.

ST. JOHN, N. B. July 8.—Mr. Robert Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the Kidneys for over seven years, and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures affected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking thre boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide area of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

A Quiet Wedding.

Miss Louise Brown, daughter of the late Charles Brown, was quietly married yesterday afternoon to Mr. Herbert Cox, at the family residence, 75 Isabella street. The wedding was postponed from last Wednesday on account of the sudden death of the bride's father. Dr. Potts and Dr. Johnston performed the ceremony, and only the relatives and close friends of the contracting parties were present.—Toronto Mail.

A Serious Complication.

A married lady on Antrim street was taken violently ill yesterday, and it was reported that she had attempted suicide by taking a large dose of paris green. A doctor was summoned and soon brought relief. Last night a TIMES reporter interviewed the doctor in attendance and tried to verify the rumor. "I heard that the lady had taken paris green," said the doctor, "but found no evidences of it when I attended her. I do not thing it would be fair to say that she had attempted suicide." When asked the cause of her sickness the man of medicine replied: "Nervous prostration and family quarrels."

Railway Notes.

A locomotive and fifteen freight cars loaded with stone went to the bottom of Lake Erie at Kelly's Island, Saturday. The engineer, Louis H. Cover, was seriously if not fatally burned. The cars were ascending a steep incline dock when the engineer lost control of the engine, and the entire train backed into the lake.

The gross earnings of the Canadian Pacific railway for May, 1895, were $1,441, 422.79, working expenses, $896,772.90, and net profits, $544,648.80, as against $513,538. 80 net profits for the same month last year. From January 1st to May 31st the gross earnings were $6,043,371.41, working expenses, $4,101,447.70, and net profits, $1,941, 923.71, as against $1,849,273.23 net profits for the same period last year.

Had an Undress Parade.

Two Peterborough young men while fishing down the river conceived the idea of taking a bath. They deposited their clothing, effects and tackle in their canoe and drew it, as they supposed, a sufficient distance up on the bank to insure its safety. In some way the boat floated off, was carried unperceived down stream and canoe and contents were hopelessly lost. The young men were, of course, totally nude. They were a great distance from an habitation, in a wilderness of the limits of which they were in ignorance. They were without food with the exception of a few wild berries, and, moreover, the black flies, which were uncommonly numerous, took advantage of their condition to make their situation most deplorable. All day the young men wandered aimlessly in every direction, when by chance they encountered a party of anglers who gave them assistance.

The Dead-Letter Office.

From the report of the Postmaster-General some information is gleaned concerning an interesting branch of the public service—the dead letter office. Altogether 1,066,853 communications came under this head. By far the greater portion of these were restored to life, or to their owners, which in official language, amounts to the same thing. The dead letters containing articles of value numbered 19,483, and of these 18,522 were delivered eventually to the owners. There were 3,545 dead letters containing money, amounting to $16,130. Among the contents of other dead letters were 556 checks, 230 drafts, 861 money orders, 300 promissory notes, 49 deeds, 12 baptismal certificates, 9 death certificates, 2 certificates of Methodist ordination, 2 certificates of P.P.A., 15 baby dresses, 10 cakes, 1 chalice, 2 pieces of chewing gum, 1 church garment, 7 collars, 12 false teeth, 2 glass eyes, 223 insurance policies, 2 hotel licenses, 28 mortgages, 8 pawn tickets, 9 pills, 1 plaster, 1 rattlesnake rattle, 1 box of corn salve, and 1 coffin plate.

OSLER WILL PROSECUTE.

The Great Criminal Lawyer will Conduct the Gray Case.

B. B. Osler, Q.C., it is said, will prosecute the Grays at the Peterborough Assizes in September for the alleged murder of David Scollie. As in the Hendershott case, the Gray's evidence given at the inquest will not be admissable at their trial.

It was rumored that an important witness for the Crown had skipped out and would keep out of sight. The rumor could not be positively verified but there may be something in it.

The Grays will be brought before Magistrate Edmison on Friday morning, when they will be remanded until the following Tuesday, July 16.

OFF TO BOSTON.

The International Christian Endeavour Convention Opens in Boston To-night.

This evening the great International Christian Endeavour Convention will be opened in Boston.

A preparatory meeting of the Board of Trustees was held yesterday, and at night twenty simultaneous meetings were held in twenty of the principal churches, among the speakers being the Rev. William Patterson, of Toronto.

On Thursday three meetings will be held and the delegates formally welcomed. In the afternoon demoninational rallies will be held.

Among the speakers Saturday morning will be Rev. A. M. Phillips, of Montreal, formerly of Toronto, who will speak for Canada.

The convention will be concluded on Monday evening.

SHORT FRUIT CROP.

Berries and Currants Scarce and Poor in Quality.

The canny housewife who intends putting down small fruit this year will make her purchases this week. By delaying it longer she will take chances on getting a very poor line of currants and berries and perhaps on not getting any at all.

The dry weather has made a mighty difference both in the quality and quantity of small fruit. For instance a bunch of toothpicks should go with every box of raspberries. They contain nothing but seeds and the best this year could not be compared to the last pickings of favorable seasons.

On the market yesterday they were selling at from 12½c to 15c.

Black raspberries have also made their appearance. In quality they are even worse than the red. They are so dry that in cream they taste like sand.

Cherries are rather luscious. They should; they are in the height of their season, and are selling for $1.40 a basket.

There is no shortage in the red current or the gooseberry crops and the specimens of these fruits that are now on the market are as good as one would wish for. They are selling at from 75 cents to $1.50 a basket, for be it known there is mighty difference between the best and the poorest quality.

New potatoes are yet too dear to feed to the cow. They are selling for 40 cents a peck, but you can get a better article for that money than you could some time ago. As yet they are being all imported, so are tomatoes that are selling for seven cents a pound.

Strawberries, thirteen boxes for $1.00 at J. B. Oke's.

'CYCLISTS UNDER THE BAN.

Some Peterborough Riders Suspended for Different Causes—C.W.A. Bulletin.

The recent bulletin of the Racing Board of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association will make interesting reading for a number of Canadian cyclists. The principal items of interest are given below:

For riding in classes in which they are not eligible, the following are suspended until August 1: Ellison Cooper, Brantford; M. W. Robinson and N. Robinson, of Kingston.

Thomas Southam, of Toronto, class B man, competed in an unsanctioned race at Peterborough, and is suspended until August 1. For competing with him Geo. Evans, of Peterborough, is declared in Class B. and is suspended for 30 days for riding in an unsanctioned race.

For competing at unsanctioned races at Oakville, after being warned, H. Leahy and F. Frost are suspended until September 1.

For riding for cash prizes at Hastings on July 1 the following are declared professional bicycle riders: Evans Hall, Peterborough, and F. Tyler and P. Quigley, of Hastings.

D. Reid, of Mono, is suspended till October 1 for riding at unsanctioned races, after having been suspended before for the same offence.

The following are suspended till August 5 for riding at unsanctioned races: At Trenton, Messrs. Pellatier, Cowley, Snider, Ireland and Coleman; at Bothwell, Isaac Waterworth, J. Morrison, Reilly, Newsom and Charles Gould; at Milton, W. F. Dewar and George Lindsay; at Orangeville, Ramsden of Erin, Bain of Elora, and John Kearns of Orangeville; at Arthur, Louis Smith and A. Turner; at Port Hope, J. Rosevar, W. Bellamy of Port Hope, J. W. Burden, M. Galbraith of Bowmanville, R. Johnson of Port Hope, C. J. Bickle of Lakefield, A. B. Hamilton, J. W. Johnson and H. Moore of Toronto; at Midland, Fred Goiss and W. MacLean.

Messrs. Little, Longbeed, Shillinglaw and Harley received permits from W. B. Clark to compete outside of Canada on July 4.

For looking around while riding a bicycle race, John Wills and Cecil Elliott of Toronto are suspended till July 20.

The following tracks have filed measurement with the Board: Windsor, N.S., A. A. Association track; Athens Driving Park.

NEW SCHOOL INSPECTOR.

MR. ALEXANDER WHERRY OF WINDSOR APPOINTED BY THE BOARD.

His Salary Will Be $1,100 per Annum—Miss Francis Spence, of Port Perry Appointed to Fill Miss Marty's Place at a Salary of $900—List of Teachers Re-appointed.

At a special meeting of the Board of Education held last night, the vacant inspectorship was filled by the appointment of Mr. Alexander Wherry, Model School Master, of Windsor, at a salary of $1,100 per annum. The vacancy on the Collegiate Institute staff was filled by the appointment of Miss Francis Spence, of Port Perry, at a salary of $900 per annum. There were present at the meeting, Dr. Burnham in the chair, and Trustees Ferguson, Denne, Wrighton, Hartley, Law, Boucher, Edgecumbe, Hamilton, Caldwell, McKee and Hill. The report of the Committe on Appointments is as follows:

COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Committee on Appointments beg leave to submit and recommend the adoption of the following report.

1. That the resignation of Miss Marty of the Collegiate Institute staff be accepted and that Miss Francis Spence, B.A. of Port Perry be appointed as her successor at a salary of $900 per annum—services to begin at the regular school opening August the 26th.

2. That the resignation of Mr. Lewis of the public school staff be accepted and that his position be filled by the appointment of Mr. James D. Denny at a salary of $450 per annum, with annual schedule of increased as per minutes—services to begin at the next regular school session.

3. That in reference to the two applications from members of the Collegiate Institute staff for increase of salary, your committe for the present cannot recommend such increase though the services of the gentlemen in question are highly valued and appreciated. Your committee believe that a system of graded salaries on lines something similar to that now in force in the public schools, can with advantage be adopted for the Collegiate Institute, and this question will be fully considered at a subsequent meeting.

4. Your committee have given the question of Inspectorship the fullest consideration and have decided to recommend that the position be filled on terms somewhat modified to those applicable to the first incumbent of the office. We believe that the true way to inspect and to give an intelligent report on the work done in the several classes, is to ascertain the status of each grade by devoting a very considerable time to teaching. The Inspector will thus, not only have an accurate knowledge of how the work is progressing in each room, but he will be in a position to convey to the teachers the most approved methods of imparting instruction and maintaining discipline. To carry out this theory in practice the office must necessarily be a dual one and the executive officer must act in the capacity—first, as a supervising principal not having actually in charge a class of pupils, and second as an inspector. Your Committee have pleasure in recommending for the position Mr. Alexander Wherry, Model School master of the City of Windsor, at a salary of $1,100 a year—$800 of which to be paid him for acting as supervising principal and the balance $300 for filling the position of inspector.

Mr. Wherry is recommended as being one of the most successful Model School trustees in the province.

5. That the principal of the Central school and those of the different Ward schools be known as Head masters of their respective schools and that they be appointed as such.

6. That the Public school teachers whose names are hereto attached be appointed at the salaries indicated, opposite respective names.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. HILL,
Chairman.

NOTIONS.

It was moved by Mr. Law, seconded by Dr. Boucher, that the Baptist Mission House in the South Ward be rented at the lowest possible rate and that a kindergarten class be opened in said room (at the expiration of the holidays) for the benefit of the children residing south of Dalhousie street. Referred to Supervision Committee to report at next meeting.

Moved by Mr. Hamilton, seconded by Mr. McKee, that the Treasurer be instructed to pay for the addition to the South Ward school on the certificate of the architect, signed by the chairman of the Property Committee. Carried.

Moved by Trustees Hamilton and McKee that tenders for the heating of the new addition to the South Ward school and also for kalsomining and striping of the outside walls and for necessary repairs to the different schools, be advertised for.

The Board adjourned subject to the call of the chairman. It will probably not meet until September.

THE TREASURESHIP.

Editor Morning Times.

DEAR SIR,—Having confidence in the town Council to an extent that does not permit me to believe they will sanction anything so unwise and undesirable as the combining of the offices of town clerk and town treasurership, I think an evening paper which has taken a strong stand against this combination is unduly and needlessly alarmed. As a matter of fact the treasurership is not yet vacant but is still in the safe and capable hands of Mr. Charles McGill, and this being so, this hurry and talk about a probable successor for the office, savors somewhat of the unseemly.

But, presuming the office to be vacant, and considering the choice of a successor for it, I do not think the Council will seriously entertain the combining of this office with that of the clerkship. The experiences of cities, towns and villages throughout this province have been that these offices should be distinct, and it is the general rule that they are. Here in Peterborough county we find that Douro, North Monaghan, Lakefield, Ennismore, Ashburnham, Dummer, Asphodel and other places have each a clerk and a treasurer. I could mention hundreds of municipalities where this is so, and I believe the principle is wise and precautionary and one which the Council will recognize as such.

Reverting to the treasurership as it is today, everyone will concede that the finances of the town and affairs pertaining thereto, have prospered under the supervision of the present treasurer, and that Peterborough has gained by reason of the knowledge and financial ability which Mr. McGill has given the town's affairs the benefit of. There is no good reason why the town should not continue to derive this benefit. Mr. McGill should be urged to retain the treasurership, and failing his consent, the office should be offered to Mr. John Crane, of the Ontario Bank. Mr. Crane is fully conversant with the financial affairs of the town, he having had the opportunity as an employee of the bank, to gain an insight into them. In fact the work involved in the office of treasureship has been largely attended to by Mr. Crane. I do not see where anything can be gained by making a change.

RATEPAYER.

[THE TIMES fully concurs in the views of "Ratepayer." The financial affairs of the town have never been in better hands and the necessity for a change will be generally regretted. However, the office is not vacant, and we voice popular feeling in expressing a hope that it will not be. But in the event of Mr. McGill resigning, we would heartily urge Mr. Crane for the position.—ED.]

Hood's Makes Them Healthy.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has been used in our family for a long time. I regard it as the best family medicine. My children are using it every day and the effect has been to make them feel and look perfectly healthy." Albert Chamberlin, City Inspector, No. 333 Parliament street, Toronto, Canada.

Tenders FOR Indian Timber Limits

SEALED TENDERS will be received by the undersigned up to noon of Friday, the 30th August, next, for the green standing pine, spruce and tamarac timber over nine inches in diameter at the stump, and all dead and fallen timber, on the Temiscamingue Indian Reserve, which contains an area of 60 square miles and is situated at the head of Lake Temiscamingue, in the County of Pontiac, in the Province of Quebec.

And also sealed tenders for the green standing pine over nine inches in diameter at the stump, and all dead and fallen timber, on the Wahnapitae Indian Reserve, situated on the north shore of Lake Wahnapitae, in the District of Nipissing, in the Province of Ontario, containing an area of four square miles.

Each tenderer shall state the sum he is willing to pay in cash as a bonus for each limit over and above the ordinary Crown dues chargeable under tariff of the Department, and there shall accompany each tender an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion in favour of the undersigned for TEN PER CENT. of the amount of the tender, which sum shall be forfeited in the case of the failure of the successful tenderer to complete purchase of limit as hereinafter specified; and in the case of unsuccessful tenderers the cheque will be returned.

The successful tenderer shall, within fifteen days from date of notice of acceptance, pay the balance of bonus, together with ground rent and license fee, and furnish satisfactory bonds by himself and two sureties for the proper carrying out of the terms of license.

The purchaser or purchasers will be allowed ten years for the removal of the timber specified in the licenses, the Department reserving the right to authorize the cutting and removal of timber of other descriptions by the Indians.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Further information as to the rate of dues, &c., can be had on application to the undersigned.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 132 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

HAVE NOT BOLTED YET.

THE FRENCH CONSERVATIVE MEMBERS POSTPONED THEIR ACT.

An Ultimatum was Sent to Ouimet by the English-Speaking Members of the Cabinet and a Defiant Reply Was Returned—The End Today.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 10.—The excitement of the last two days was nothing to that which prevailed when the House met today. Word had been sent out that the two divisions in the Cabinet had reached the stage of open war and that actual hostilities would open the moment the Speaker took the chair.

As a consequence the galleries were crowded long before three o'clock with citizens anxious to witness what they expected would prove the beginning of the greatest Parliamentary conflict since Confederation.

TWENTY FOUR HOURS GRACE.

The crowds were, however, in a measure disappointed as the French Conservatives at a caucus this morning decided to give the Government another 24 hours in which to come to terms.

But this action of the Quebec kickers did not restrain Laurier. No sooner had the House been called to order than the Opposition leader again asked for explanations regarding the rumored resignations.

FOSTER AN OLD TOMORROW.

"I will have to ask my hon. friend to cultivate the virtue of patience a little longer," said Foster, "Tomorrow when the House assembles I may be able to enlighten him."

"I think I have already shown that I have that virtue," answered Laurier.

"As a further evidence that I have it," continued the affable leader of the Left, "I will wait till tomorrow,"—(Laughter and applause).

IN THE SENATE.

In the Senate a scene similar to that which occurred in the Commons was enacted.

Senator Scott, as Leader of the Opposition, asked for information also.

"I will be able to relieve the hon. gentleman and the country of all anxiety tomorrow," replied the Premier, and the incident was over.

None of the French Ministers were in their places in either houses.

OUIMET'S BOLD REPLY.

The English speaking Ministers this morning sent a messenger to Ouimet with an ultimatum. They declared that unless there is a settlement today Ontario's Ministers will resign. To this Ouimet is said to have replied: "If it affords them any satisfaction, let them resign." The negotiator replied: "If you will not consent to terms, there are other French Canadians who will take your place and do so." To this Ouimet answered: "Let them take our place and see if they can keep it."

OUT TO STAY.

Ouimet has authorised the publication of this statement: "We have resigned and are out to stay, unless we receive the written pledge of every member of the Government that legislation will be introduced next session and that it will restore to Manitoba a complete system of Separate schools."

A MUSKOKA MURDER,

Mr. Webb, of Eddington, Receives Fatal Injuries from Two Italians.

Special to the Times.

ROSSEAU, Muskoka, July 10.—Word was received here yesterday morning of a quarrel at Edginton, in which two Italians shot and wounded Mr. and Mrs. Webb, of Edginton, in the afternoon the report was verified, and it was added that Mr. Webb had died from the effects of the wounds. His wife is expected to recover. The murderers are still at large.

MICHIGAN FOREST FIRES.

Valuable Timber Destroyed—Streams and Wells are Dry.

Special to The Times.

ALPENA, Mich., July 10.—Forest fires have been raging in this vicinity for the last ten days, and much valuable timber has been destroyed. The farm buildings of John Hammond northeast of here, were burned yesterday, spreading the flames in all directions. Most of the streams and wells are dry and no water is to be had. Telephone wires are down and it is impossible to get news from the country.

$100,000,000 TO BE SPENT

In Providing Japan With a New Navy—The Japs Have Lots of Cash.

Special to The Times.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—It is the belief among naval officers that Japan will use a large part of war indemnity which China is to pay her, for the purpose of materially increasing her navy. The financial resources of Japan will be very abundant during the coming year, as she will receive over $100,000,000 before next May and thereafter about $20,000,000 a year for five years. This will be drawn from China and will be in addition to Japan's usual receipts from customs.

HAD NO RAILWAY SHARES.

But had a Cinch on Mines Reached by a Bonused Railway.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 10.—The Hon. John Costigan admitted in the Public Accounts Committee this morning that he purchased Gypsum Mines reached by the Tobique Railway. The purchase was made on May 12th, 1890, and on May 13th a subsidy was brought down in Parliament. A few days ago, it will be remembered, the Minister indignantly denied that he had any shares in the Tobique Railway, but now it appears he was at least indirectly benefitted by the construction of the line which was so liberally aided by the Government.

A Fatal Plunge.

KINGSTON, July 10.—Last evening Mrs. Roy, wife of the captain of the barge Cunningham, from Montreal to Trenton, fell off the cabin into the river near Alexander Bay, N.Y., and was drowned before the crew were aware of her absence. The body was brought here, confined and sent to her home in Sorel for burial. The deceased was mother of seven children, the youngest being an infant.

CORNELL'S COLLAPSE.

The American College Crew Finished a Poor Race and Were Hissed.

Special to the Times.

HENLEY ON THAMES, July 10.—Trinity Hall and Cornell started on the fourth heat of the trials for the Grand Challenge Cup at 12.30. At the half mile Cornell was leading, but Trinity Hall run the race by eight lengths, the Cornell crew being utterly exhausted at the finish. As the Cornell boat crossed the finish line Fennell tumbled from his seat in a dead faint.

When the Cornell men reached the finish line they were greeted with groans and hisses. They made a miserable showing after the first half mile nearly every man in the boat dropping his oar at different times. They rowed like a lot of schoolboys and the spectators who lined the shore were delighted to see them in this dilemma after the manner in which they got the race from the Leanders yesterday. At the hotels the English oarsmen roundly damned the Americans and said they could expect nothing better from an American crew. Hall, the Canadian who sat in the Cornell boat, did the best work of the crew and he is deserving of all praise.

The concensus of opinion is that the Americans were hopelessly overtrained, but they admit that they are no match for the Englishmen.

In the fifth heat for the Grand Challenge Cup New College beat Eton.

In the second heat for the Steward's challenge cup the London Rowing Club won from New college, Oxford, but they had a much easier race than when they met the Argonauts, of Canada.

In the third heat for the Stewards Challenge Cup the Thames crew beat the Leanders.

FIVE WERE CREMATED.

EMPLOYEES OF A DETROIT LIVERY STABLE BURNED TO DEATH.

Three of Them Were Canadians—Cooped in a Death Trap in the Fourth Story of a Blazing Building.

Special to the Times.

DETROIT, July 10.—In the livery stable of G. F. Case, No. 41 West Congress st., a brick four storey structure fire broke out at 2 o'clock this morning. All the employes were lodged and fed in the building. On the fourth floor were sleeping accommodations for 25 men. How many held bed last night is not definitely known but five horrible burned and charred bodies three of whom are those of Canadians, are at the morgue awaiting burial and one other known person is missing. There were many narrow escapes and heroic rescues by the firemen and police. The following are the victims:

JOHN SHAW, driver, 35 years, came from Canada some time ago.

JOHN BOWMAN, second cook, aged 20, formerly of Bay City.

THOMAS WEBB, painter, aged 55 years, came here from London, Ont., where he leaves a widow, besides a son in this city.

JAMES R. SHAW, harness maker, aged 27, has relatives at Caledonia, Ont.

CHARLES DAVIS, a hostler, is known to have been in the building when the fire started, and has not been since seen. His body is supposed to be in the ruins.

There were about 80 horses stabbed in the basement, all of which were gotten out with the exception of C. A. Greaves' Ethel G., valued at $1,000 and one of less value. Many vehicles of all descriptions together with harnesses and other livery appointments were destroyed.

James Cummings, aged 18, a stableman, reached a window on the top floor but was overcome by the smoke and flames and fell headlong through the window to the street. He was badly injured and may die.

The total loss will be $100,000, partially covered by insurance.

JUST LIKE HIM.

Mr. Gladstone Writes Another Thoroughly Characteristic Message.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 10.—The Westminster Gazette a few days ago asked Mr. Gladstone to write a message to the people, to be displayed upon magic lantern slides, together with cartoons and election news at the National Liberal club.

Mr. Gladstone complied with the request by sending the following:

HAWARDEN, July 5th, 1895.

Above all other present purposes vindicate the rights of the House of Commons as the organ of the nation, and establish the honor of England as well as consolidate the strength of the Empire by conceding the just and constitutional claims of Ireland.

Two Toronto Girls in Trouble.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., July 10.—Through the kindheartedness of Mrs. Harry S. Woodworth, a wealthy Rochester woman, two servant girls in her employ, who might have been sent to States prison, were today allowed their liberty upon promising to leave the country at once. The night before last Mrs. Woodworth's necklace and diamond rings, valued at $2,000 suddenly disappeared from the dining room of Mrs. Woodworth's cottage at Conesus lake. The woman was almost distracted at the loss of the jewels, which were heirlooms in the family, and her husband immediately drove to Rochester to enlist the services of the police. Chief of Detectives Hayden proceeded to the Woodworth cottage, and today he found the lost jewels and the thieves. Lizzie McQuillan and Mary Tunan, the cook and chambermaid, who lately came from Toronto to work for Mrs. Woodsworth, freely expressed their opinions to the chief that the jewels had been swept into the garbage barrel and given to the hogs. The chief thought this a ruse to cover their guilt, and later, when he found the jewels hidden in a coal bin, he accused them of the theft. They broke down and owned their guilt. The girls left for Toronto tonight.

Mr. Gladstone complied with the request by sending the following: "Hawarden, July 5th, 1895. THE DEAD NUMBER 14.

COUNTING THE DEAD AND INJURED IN THE G. T. R. ACCIDENT.

Who's to Blame For the Awful Fatality—Only Twenty Minutes Between the Time the First Train Left a Station and the Second Followed

Special to the Times.

SOUTH QUEBEC, Levis county, July 10.—The number of people killed in the awful rear end collision on the Grand Trunk Railway near Craig's Road at 3 o'clock yesterday morning fortunately does not reach 25 as was at first reported, but it is large enough to warrant the strictest investigation into the affair with a view of ascertaining just where the blame lies. Both the engineer, Hector McLeod, and the fireman, R. S. Perkins, of the engine that crashed into the first train are dead and so cannot give any explanation as to how the accident occurred, but every effort will be made to show whether the dead employes or the management of the Grand Trunk Railway are to blame for the fourteen lives that have thus far been sacrificed.

In many respects the accident was similar to that which occurred last February on the Grand Trunk Railway near Weston, Ont., by which two lives were lost. In that case one train was allowed to pass a station before the preceding train had reached the station ahead, and in this case only twenty minutes elapsed between the time the first train left the last station and the other one followed it.

It is worthy of note that the one great railway disaster during the World's Fair, that at Battle Creek, Mich., by which about thirty lives were lost, also occurred on the Grand Trunk.

Up to the present the death list is:—

LIST OF THE DEAD.

Charles Bedard, mail clerk, Richmond.
Miss Bedard, Richmond.
Hector McLeod, engineer, Richmond.
Rev. F. H. Dignan, Windsor Mills.
Mr. Cogan, Richmond.
Miss Valine, St. Joseph de Levis.
Miss Phaneuf, St. Joseph de Levis.
Mrs. J. B. Cayer, Danville.
Miss Delycourte, Shefford.
Aunt of Miss Varin, St. Joseph de Levis.
John O'Farrel, Capleton.
One young woman unidentified.

THE LIST OF WOUNDED.

The wounded are: Irene Daigneau, scalp wound, four fingers amputated, dying; Desare Godbout, Windsor Mills, leg broken and other injuries; Cleophas Charest, Coaticook, fingers cut off and other injuries; Pierre Allard, 79 years, from Richmond, bruised and cut about the head, broken ribs, dying; Patrick McHugh, Capelton, legs broken and internal injuries; Rev. Father Desrosiers, cure of St. Francois Xavier de Brompton, left leg broken; right arm broken, and internal injuries, will probably die; Basile Hamel, Danville, left foot broken; J. B. Coyer, Danville, wounded in the chest, and fracture of the skull; Porter Bennett, colored, Sherbrooke, scalp wounds, broken arms and ribs, Miss Godette, Arthabaska, broken leg, scalp wounds and internal injuries; Olivine Moran, St. George de Windsor, amount of injuries yet unknown, she is unconscious; Mdme. F. Cayer, wounded about the face and arms; James Cayer, her son, whole head scalped and cut about the face; Johnny Cayer, 8 years old, wounded on head, and dislocated foot; Mrs. Basile Hamel, Danville, cut about the legs; Mrs. Frank Cayer, scalp wounds, wounded about the legs and arms; Mrs. Louis Moran, St. George de Windsor, cut about the head and about the left side; Virginie Sylvester, St. Emelie de Harm, bruised about the body; an unknown woman underwent the amputation of the right leg; she is also badly cut up about the head; Mr. and Mrs. Hercule Descoteaux, Danville, the former with dislocated foot, and the latter with a wounded hand and wrist; their six months' old child has a dislocated leg; Miss Celina Cayer, scalp wounds and bruises.

BENNET BASSIER, OF TORONTO, MAY DIE.

Among the injured is Bennett Bassier, a Pullman car porter, resident of Toronto. Bennett is expected to die. His injuries are mostly in the chest and about the head. The right thigh is also fractured. Mr. Quinlan, the travelling passenger agent of the Grand Trunk, and who was reported dangerously injured, will recover.

WHAT AN OFFICIAL SAYS.

W. W. Wainwright; Assistant General Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway says: "There were two special trains, containing 534 pilgrims, bound for St. Anne de Beupre. One train left Sherbroke Monday evening at 9 30, and the other Norton Mills, near Island Pond, at 8.30 p.m., and the two proceeded towards Chaudiere. Yesterday morning at 3.15 at Crag's Road crossing 14 miles from Point Levis, the second train ran past the semaphore signal set at danger and telescoped the Pullman, which was on the rear of the first train. The driver and firemen of the hind train remained in their engine and died at their posts." Mr. Wainwright added that 20 minutes had elapsed from the time the first train left the last station, when the second train also proceeded on its way.

Chief Superintendent Stephenson took a special, and at once started out for the scene of the wreck, and wires that the semaphore was standing at danger, and was 16 telegraph posts in the rear of the first train, which likewise had three tail red signal lamps.

The driver in charge of the second train was H. McLeod, who had been in the service of the Grand Trunk since 1867, and an engine driver since 1871. The fireman, R. S. Perkins, entered the service of the Grand Trunk in 1884, and the assistant general manager cannot conceive how such experienced men could have run past a danger signal, the penalty for which is dismissal without even a hearing.

A Wisconsin Village in Flames.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 10.—The village of Wauwatosa, just west of this city, is burning. Fifteen dwellings and business places have been destroyed thus far, and the flames are still raging.

His Arm Torn off in Pieces.

OTTAWA, July 10.—A young man named Grosseau, in the employ of W. Edwards, was caught in the machinery of the saw mill and had his arm torn off in pieces and otherwise so mutilated that he cannot recover.

Fatally Injured at a Barn Raising.

GOLDSTONE, Ont., July 10.—At a barn raising on the farm of Mr. J. Longman, con. 8, Peel, Peter Fleming was thrown from the top of the building, alighting on his head on a piece of timber, causing such injury that he cannot live.

Nervous Diseases

Thousands of people suffer from a variety of Nervous Diseases, such as Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Lost Manhood, etc., that the old modes of treatment fail to cure. There is a loss of nerve force or power that cannot be restored by any medical treatment, and any doctor who would try to accomplish this by any kind of drugs is pursuing a dangerous practice. Properly treated, these diseases can be

Positively Cured

Electricity, as applied by the Owen Electric Belt and Suspensory, will most assuredly do so. It is the only known power that will supply what is lacking, namely nerve force or power, impart tone and vigor to the organs and arouse to healthy action the whole nervous system. It will most assuredly cure,

A movement is on foot to reorganize the American consular service, which is now under control of the State Department and forms part of the diplomatic service. It is proposed to make the consuls subordinates of the Treasury Department for the reason that they represent more the commercial than the diplomatic interests of the country.

The Spaniards in Cuba and the French in Madagascar have a worse foe to fight than either the Cubans or the Hovas. Already, in both islands, the number of soldiers who have died of fever has been ten times the number who have died of wounds received in battle. And the greater foe is not one who can be attacked with the latest quick-firing weapons.

Mr. Edward Blake has chosen the course most creditable to him in deciding to stick to the Irish party, face another election, and bend all his energies to help his colleagues. Mr. Blake has not been the success in Imperial politics which his Canadian admirers hoped. But there is still time and opportunity for him, and in Opposition he will be a far more potent element than he has been on the Government side for three years.

The Haldimand bye-election is still used in Quebec to show that the remedial order did not alienate from the government the Protestants of Ontario. Those who use that illustration do not know what went on in Haldimand during that election campaign. Sufficient proof of the fact that Haldimand did not approve of the coercion of Manitoba is found in the present attitude of the Hon. Dr. Montague, who represents Haldimand, and who is strongly opposed to interference with Manitoba. The Haldimand election is misunderstood in Quebec.

Since the United States prohibited assisted and pauper immigration, the South American republics have become the ground for the refuse of Europe. These countries, realizing the situation, are now following Uncle Sam's example, and are issuing decrees shutting out all who cannot show that they come of their own accord and without assistance of individuals or state. It is noticeable that since the strict enforcement of the law in the United States, a better class of immigrants have arrived, and nearly all of them are with sufficient means to purchase homes, which is the best class of settlers for any country.

STORIES OF MONTE CARLO.

Some of Them True, Many False, But All Highly Interesting.

But who should this be, sipping some iced vermouth at the marble table but an old friend whom I will call Mr. Spectator? He lives at Monte Carlo; he has passed a score of seasons here; he has plenty of money; he goes to the Casino every day and every evening, and he never pays a cent. It is his occupation in life to be an observer of things and to mark the ways of man and womankind. In the summer he will mark them at Aix-les-Bains, at Lausanne, or at Trouville. He knows everything about what is going on just now at "Monty;" what Russian princess pawned her diamonds last week, and what Cuban sugar planter did not die of apoplexy at the Hotel Carmbole but poisoned himself with prussic acid. "He was a fool, sir," quoth Mr. Spectator, "Why didn't he go to the Administration? Why didn't he make his declaration? They know well enough that he had lost 200,000 francs in the course of ten days. They would have paid his traveling and hotel expenses back to Paris, or back to Brazil for the matter of that. He was a fool, sir!"

Mr. Spectator went on to explain that when a cleaned-out player made a candid admission of his impecuniosity the administration gave him a sum of money sufficient to defray his journey by railway to the place whence he came and his incidental expenses en route. He mentioned one case in which a whole family of five persons were allowed fifteen louis apiece to take them from Monte Carlo to London, the sole condition attached to the largesse being that the recipient should not re-enter the Casino unless he or she recouped the Administration for their outlay. In the case which he cited, one of the party, a lady, who had not gone farther than Nice, received some weeks afterwards a handsome remittance from England. She went back blithely to "Monty," repaid the fifteen louis, re-entered the Casino, and backing the douze dernier, not forgetting zero, won £800. "You are not to believe," added Mr. Spectator, "a tithe of the sensational stories printed about ruined gamesters hanging themselves to trees in the gardens, or blowing out their brains in the reading-room." The majority of these canards are set on foot by obscure French newspapers which have not been subventioned or bribed by the Administration to puff Monte Carlo.

One of the pleasantest characteristics of my friend Mr. Spectator is that every time you meet him he has a fresh story to tell you about an infallible system for winning at roulette, and this time he regaled me with a succinct narrative of what I may call the "Wellington boot system." Capt. Backum had played for many years a large number of systems, and by the time he was five-and-forty had played away a handsome fortune. A happy thought occurred to him. He always wore Wellington boots. His capital was just five louis. This he changed into five-franc pieces, and he never staked more than one piece at a time, and if he won he withdrew his stakes after the third coup. His winnings he carefully placed in a side pocket, and whenever he had won four pieces he changed them into a louis and slipped the coin into one of his boots. He played for seven consecutive hours before his stock capital was exhausted. Then he returned to Nice, somewhat heavy of step, and, drawing off his boots, found that he had won a hundred louis. "This was two years ago," continued Mr. Spectator, "and only last week I found Backum at a third class hotel at Nice. He was in a dressing gown and slippers, and looking by no means cheerful. "How about the Wellington boot system?" I asked. "Utter collapse," he replied. "Confounded run of bad luck." "And the boots?" I went on. "The boots?" he replied. "I pawned them yesterday afternoon."

So this is "Monty" in full swing; "Monty," with its ups and downs, its ceaseless whirl of gayety and dissipation. There is no rest at Monte Carlo. When you are tired of play there are dramatic performances; there are concerts; there is a pigeon shooting; and in the spring and summer there is plenty of yachting. But all these are only side issues. The Grand Trunk line of Monte Carlo leads to the Temple of Mammon. It is crowded night and day by people lusting for money which they have not earned, and it is the Road to Ruin.

Bishop Taylor's Work in Africa.

In an interview with Bishop Taylor recently about his work in Africa he said that the results were fairly satisfactory. It is believed to be an absolute essential that the people accept the Christian religion.

"King Hedge's case is an example," said the Bishop. "He had been fairly well educated years ago; had lived among the whites on the west coast. He was, in a sense, civilized; but he was not a Christian. Well, he went back to his little tribe, threw away his clothes and wore the single garment of his tribe. He took seven wives, and in all ways became a savage.

"Recently he became converted, put away all his wives but one, dressed like a white man, and used all his influence to help the missionaries."

"Which wife did he keep, Bishop," I asked. "The first one, or the last one?"

"He kept the one that was—the one that was most—suitable. Each of them had her home, and was comfortably situated. Most of them had children. He selected the one that had no children, that seemed to care most for him, that was most attentive. He called all his people together and told them he had accepted Christ's laws. One of those laws was that a man could have but one wife. He said—'I have seven wives. Chief Do there has seven. We can have but one.'"

"And it is a country of unmeasured, perhaps immeasurable, wealth," said the Bishop. "The soil will produce marvellously. The temperature is from sixty to ninety degrees the year round. There is no winter. It is a land of iron. There is much coal."

But in all this his interest is only incidental. The man's heart and soul are in the missionary work, and his whole church watches and applauds him and reposes abundant faith in his wisdom.

No Doctors' Bills in Sweden.

Swedish doctors send no bills to their patients. What you shall pay your physician is left entirely to your own choice. The rich pay him liberally, whether they have need of his services or not, if he has been once retained by them. The poor pay him a small sum and the very poor pay him nothing. Yet he visits the poor as faithfully as the rich. On the last day of the year you put into an envelope addressed to your physician a sum of money you think not only sufficient to compensate him, but in accordance with your own position, and [illegible] your card with the money send the envelope by a servant to your doctor.

The Owen Electric Belt

Trade Mark—Dr. Owen

The only scientific and practical Electric Belt made for general use, having batteries that generate a strong current of Electricity that is under perfect control and can be applied to any part of the body, for the cure of

Nervous Diseases

Thousands of people suffer from a variety of Nervous Diseases, such as Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Lost Manhood, etc., that the old modes of treatment fail to cure. There is a loss of nerve force or power that cannot be restored by any medical treatment, and any doctor who would try to accomplish this by any kind of drugs is pursuing a dangerous practice. Properly treated, these diseases can be

Positively Cured

Electricity, as applied by the Owen Electric Belt and Suspensory, will most assuredly do so. It is the only known power that will supply what is lacking, namely nerve force or power, impart tone and vigor to the organs and arouse to healthy action the whole nervous system. It will most assuredly cure,

Without Medicine,

Varicocele, Nervous Prostration, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Kidney Disease, Lumbago, Lame Back and Dyspepsia.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 11 1895.

The discovery is reported of an extensive plot against the life of the Czar, and eight arrests for complicity in the conspiracy have been made.

Rawhide pinions are being placed in some of the electric cars at Kalamazoo. It will render them as near noiseless as it is possible to make them.

Fire has destroyed two hundred and thirty houses in the town of Sambrew, Poland. Two thousand persons are rendered homeless by the conflagration.

A four per cent. gold loan for $3,000,000 was recently offered by Chicago in London, and in a few hours was subscribed several times over. Chicago is evidently on good terms with the European money lenders.

An Anglo-American Company has been organized in Egypt to build an electric road from Cairo to the pyramids. The Egyptian capital is more prosperous now than at any time in her centuries of existence, and is growing as rapidly as any of the phenomenal cities of the New World.

A movement is on foot to reorganize the American consular service, which is now under control of the State Department and forms part of the diplomatic service. It is proposed to make the consuls subordinates of the Treasury Department for the reason that they represent more the commercial than the diplomatic interests of the country.

The Spaniards in Cuba and the French in Madagascar have a worse foe to fight than either the Cubans or the Hovas. Already, in both islands, the number of soldiers who have died of fever has been ten times the number who have died of wounds received in battle. And the greater foe is not one who can be attacked with the latest quick-firing weapons.

Mr. Edward Blake has chosen the course most creditable to him in deciding to stick to the Irish party, face another election, and bend all his energies to help his colleagues. Mr. Blake has not been the success in Imperial politics which his Canadian admirers hoped. But there is still time and opportunity for him, and in Opposition he will be a far more potent element than he has been on the Government side for three years.

The Haldimand bye-election is still used in Quebec to show that the remedial order did not alienate from the government the Protestants of Ontario. Those who use that illustration do not know what went on in Haldimand during that election campaign. Sufficient proof of the fact that Haldimand did not approve of the coercion of Manitoba is found in the present attitude of the Hon. Dr. Montague, who represents Haldimand, and who is strongly opposed to interference with Manitoba. The Haldimand election is misunderstood in Quebec.

Since the United States prohibited assisted and pauper immigration, the South American republics have become the ground for the refuse of Europe. These countries, realizing the situation, are now following Uncle Sam's example, and are issuing decrees shutting out all who cannot show that they come of their own accord and without assistance of individuals or state. It is noticeable that since the strict enforcement of the law in the United States, a better class of immigrants have arrived, and nearly all of them are with sufficient means to purchase houses, which is the best class of settlers for any country.

STORIES OF MONTE CARLO.

Some of Them True, Many False, But All Highly Interesting.

But who should this be, sipping some iced vermouth at the marble table but an old friend whom I will call Mr. Spectator? He lives at Monte Carlo; he has passed a score of seasons here; he has plenty of money; he goes to the Casino every day and every evening, and he never pays a cent. It is his occupation in life to be an observer of things and to mark the ways of man and womankind. In the summer he will mark them at Aix-les-Bains, at Lausanne, or at Trouville. He knows everything about what is going on just now at "Monty;" what Russian princess pawned her diamonds last week, and what Cuban sugar planter did not die of apoplexy at the Hotel Carmbole but poisoned himself with prussic acid. "He was a fool, sir," quoth Mr. Spectator, "Why didn't he go to the Administration? Why didn't he make his declaration? They knew well enough that he had lost 200,000 francs in the course of ten days. They would have paid his traveling and hotel expenses back to Paris, or back to Brazil for the matter of that. He was a fool, sir!"

Mr. Spectator went on to explain that when a cleaned-out player made a candid admission of his impecuniosity the administration gave him a sum of money sufficient to defray his journey by railway to the place whence he came and his incidental expenses en route. He mentioned one case in which a whole family of five persons were allowed fifteen louis apiece to take them from Monte Carlo to London, the sole condition attached to the largesse being that the recipient should not re-enter the Casino unless he or she recouped the Administration for their outlay. In the case which he cited, one of the party, a lady, who had not gone farther than Nice, received some weeks afterwards a handsome remittance from England. She went back blithely to "Monty," repaid the fifteen louis, re-entered the Casino, and backing the douze dernier, not forgetting zero, won £300. "You are not to believe," added Mr. Spectator, "a tithe of the sensational stories printed about ruined gamesters hanging themselves to trees in the gardens, or blowing out their brains in the reading-room." The majority of these canards are set on foot by obscure French newspapers which have not been subventioned or bribed by the Administration to puff Monte Carlo.

One of the pleasantest characteristics of my friend Mr. Spectator is that every time you meet him he has a fresh story to tell you about an infallible system for winning at roulette, and this time he regaled me with a succinct narrative of what I may call the "Wellington boot system." Capt. Backum had played for many years a large number of systems, and by the time he was five-and-forty had played away a handsome fortune. A happy thought occurred to him. He always wore Wellington boots. His capital was just five louis. This he changed into five-franc pieces, and he never staked more than one piece at a time, and if he won he withdrew his stakes after the third coup. His winnings he carefully placed in a side pocket, and whenever he had won four pieces he changed them into a louis and slipped the coin into one of his boots. He played for seven consecutive hours before his stock capital was exhausted. Then he returned to Nice, somewhat heavy of step, and, drawing off his boots, found that he had won a hundred louis. "This was two years ago," continued Mr. Spectator, "and only last week I found Backum at a third class hotel at Nice. He was in a dressing gown and slippers, and looking by no means cheerful. "How about the Wellington boot system?" I asked. "Utter collapse," he replied. "Confounded run of bad luck." "And the boots?" I went on. "The boots?" he replied. "I pawned them yesterday afternoon."

So this is "Monty" in full swing; "Monty," with its ups and downs, its ceaseless whirl of gayety and dissipation. There is no rest at Monte Carlo. When you are tired of play there are dramatic performances; there are concerts; there is a pigeon shooting; and in the spring and summer there is plenty of yachting. But all these are only side issues. The Grand Trunk line of Monte Carlo leads to the Temple of Mammon. It is crowded night and day by people lusting for money which they have not earned, and it is the Road to Ruin.

Bishop Taylor's Work in Africa.

In an interview with Bishop Taylor recently about his work in Africa he said that the results were fairly satisfactory. It is believed to be an absolute essential that the people accept the Christian religion.

"King Hedge's case is an example," said the Bishop. "He had been fairly well educated years ago; had lived among the whites on the west coast. He was, in a sense, civilized; but he was not a Christian. Well, he went back to his little tribe, threw away his clothes and wore the single garment of his tribe. He took seven wives, and in all ways became a savage.

"Recently he became converted, put away all his wives but one, dressed like a white man, and used all his influence to help the missionaries."

"Which wife did he keep, Bishop," I asked. "The first one, or the last one?"

"He kept the one that was—the one that was most—suitable. Each of them had her home, and was comfortably situated. Most of them had children. He selected the one that had no children, that seemed to care most for him, that was most attentive. He called all his people together and told them he had accepted Christ's laws. One of those laws was that a man could have but one wife. He said—'I have seven wives. Chief Do there has seven. We can have but one.'"

"And it is a country of unmeasured, perhaps immeasurable, wealth," said the Bishop. "The soil will produce marvellously. The temperature is from sixty to ninety degrees the year round. There is no winter. It is a land of iron. There is much coal."

But in all this his interest is only incidental. The man's heart and soul are in the missionary work, and his whole church watches and applauds him and reposes abundant faith in his wisdom.

No Doctors' Bills in Sweden.

Swedish doctors send no bills to their patients. What you shall pay your physician is left entirely to your own choice. The rich pay him liberally, whether they have need of his services or not, if he has been once retained by them. The poor pay him a small sum and the very poor pay him nothing. Yet he visits the poor as faithfully as the rich. On the last day of the year you put into an envelope addressed to your physician a sum of money you think not only sufficient to compensate him, but in accordance with your own position in life, and enclosing your card with the money send the envelope by a servant to your doctor.

DIAGNOSIS BY WIRE.

Unquestionable Advantage of Having a Telephone in Every Household.

The beneficent uses of the telephone are not as yet fully understood. The other night young Smythe awoke about 3 a.m. with an excruciating pain in his stomach. The more he squirmed the worse he grew. Finally the terrible thought flashed upon him that he had been poisoned. In a moment he dashed out of bed, downstairs to the telephone and demanded to be switched on to his physician's number without delay.

"For heaven's sake, doctor, come at once! I'm poisoned!"

The M.D., who had also crawled out of bed to answer the summons, growled back. "What makes you think so?"

"Frightful pain—awful cramps—insides on fire—hurry up, or I'm a dead man!"

"Humph; Does—er—does your stomach make any noise?"

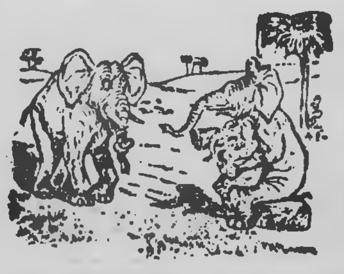
"Yes; kinder growls—must be arsenic, or something."

"Growls, eh? Just put the 'phone against the pit of your stomach. Ah! I thought so—you've been to the French Hospital fete this evening, haven't you?"

"Yes, sir."

"Exactly. You're suffering from a general fermentation of lemonade, crab salad, fruit cake, pickled oysters and Roman punch. You're all right. Just take a little peppermint and ginger, then go to bed and grin it through."—San Francisco Examiner.

Helps to Memory.



Mrs. Elephant (afterr tying knot in her spouse's trunk)—There, now! I guess you won't forget again to bring the baby home some of those cocoanuts when you go down to the jungle.

A Young Example.

"Jedediah," asked Mrs. Jiggs, "what do you think the baby has done?"

"I dunno," replied Mr. Jiggs. "Something smart, I'll bet you."

"No. It's dreadful. Do you remember the gold dollar you laid on the parlor table?"

"Yes."

"The baby swallowed it."

"You don't say so."

"And that isn't the worst. It found a silver three-cent piece in my work basket and swallowed that, too."

"Aha—didn't I tell you that it was something smart? That baby's got brains. Its heard me talking on the currency question, and he's a good bimetallist."

And Mr. Jiggs smiled as only a proud father can.—Washington Star.

A Slight Offense.

An English tourist arrived in an Irish town where a man was about to be hanged for shooting his landlord. Ignorant of the cause of the gathering, he questioned one of the peasants.

Englishman—What is going on to-day, my man?"

Peasant—They're going t' hang a man, sor.

Englishman—What is he to be hanged for?

Peasant—Just for a bit uv a joke, sor.

Englishman—Hang a man for a joke? Absurd! What did he do?

Peasant—He just made game of his landlord, sor.—Life.

Juvenile Theology.

A Washington woman is the happy mother of a bright boy, whose only failing is his boylike propensity to be mischievous. After doing some annoying thing yesterday, his mother called him to account and remonstrated with him for being naughty.

"Nobody saw me, mamma," said the young hopeful.

"Yes, my son," said the mother, "God saw you."

The little fellow looked up at her with a thoughtful expresson, and said:

"God won't tell."—Washington Post.

A Cunning Patient.

Muller meets his friend Nagel at the Turkish baths. Each is troubled with a gouty foot and has been ordered massage by his doctor. During the operation Muller cried lustily with pain, while Nagel maintained a stolid composure, greatly to Muller's astonishment, who afterward asked him:

"How could you stand the rubbing so quietly? Didn't it hurt you atrociously?"

"Nothing of the kind," smilingly replied Nagel. "I simply held out my healthy foot."—Lustige Blaetter.

Scared Them Off.

Friend—How is this? I thought you were to be called as a witness in that trial.

Sharp—I got out of it.

"Eh? Why, I heard that both sides were after you!"

"I scared them both off."

"Cracky! How?"

"Told 'em that if I was called I would tell the truth."—Puck.

A Fellow Feeling.

"How do you account for it?"

TWENTY-FIVE KILLED!

TERRIBLE RAILROAD DISASTER AT SOUTH QUEBEC YESTERDAY.

An Excursion Train Telescopes Another Train—Twenty-five Were Killed and Forty Injured—An Appalling Disaster in the Lower Provinces.

Special to The Times.

SOUTH QUEBEC, Levis Co., July 9.—A dreadful accident occurred at Craig's Road station at 3.45 a.m. A pilgrim excursion from Sherbrooke was being run in two sections. The first section stopped at Craig's Road to cross an up train, when the following section ran into the rear of it, the engine plowing through the Pullman and first class cars.

So far as can be ascertained there are 15 killed and 40 wounded. The driver, Peter McLeod, of Richmond, and the fireman, Dick Perkins, of the colliding train, were killed, and their bodies so far have not been found. Ten passenger cars and engine are wrecked. The track will be blocked for some time.

Later.—The death roll has now swelled to twenty five, while the number of injured has not been exaggerated in former reports. The wounded are scattered far and wide among the residents and it will be hard to arrive at any definite list for an hour or so yet.

The trains carrying the pilgrims were made up of residents from Sherbrooke, Magog, Windsor Mills and surrounding parishes. A special train from Levis with railway officials and wrecking crew and doctors arrived early this morning and have done great service in their respective spheres. A train was made up about 9 o'clock, and the most of the dead and wounded were conveyed in it to Levis.

SEVEN RICHMOND PEOPLE KILLED.

RICHMOND, Quebec, July 9.—The following residents of Richmond were killed in the railroad smash up at Craigs Road this morning: Charles Bedard, Miss Bedard, Hector McLeod, Richard Perkins, Rev. M. Mercer, Rev. M. Dignon, Mr. Cogan.

FORTY MEN KILLED.

ALEXANDRIA, July 9.—A caisson of the big bridge now building at Nage Hame, by a French firm, collapsed today and 40 workmen perished.

DIED IN A DENTIST'S CHAIR.

A Young Man Succumbs Under the Influence of Chloroform.

Special to the Times.

WOODSTOCK, July 9.—Wm. Barnes, a baker, employed by J. McCormick, confectioner, expired this afternoon in Dr. A. M. Clarke's dentist parlors while having some teeth extracted. He had for some time been troubled with face ache, and desired to have his teeth removed while under the influence of chloroform, so Dr. McLurg was called in to administer it. Four teeth had been successfully removed, and during the extraction of the fifth he suddenly gasped and is supposed to have almost immediately expired. Drs. Rich and Odlum were called to assist in reviving him, but after an hour and a half their efforts were unsuccessful, and they were forced to pronounce him dead. If is their opinion that death was caused by paralysis of the heart as a result of the action of the chloroform.

PARKHURST IN BROCKVILLE.

A Series of Accusations Preferred Against the Chief of Police.

Special to the Times.

BROCKVILLE, July 9.—The Police investigation opened this morning at 10.20 before his honor Judge McDonald. T N. Marshall appeared for the prosecution, E. J. Reynolds for the Town and J. A. Hutcheson for Chief Rose and the Police. The Judge read the motion of the town council appointing him to hold the investigation and in pursuance opened it. The following are the charges made made first. That Chas. Rose of the town of Brockville in the County of Leeds, being the Chief of Police of the said town did unlawfully ask, receive and take from one James Golden, of the township of Elizabeth, in the said County of Leeds, the sum of eleven dollars and fifty cents, claiming that the same was in settlement of a charge of larceny of a pair of boots made by a shoemaker of the city of Ogdenburg, in the state of New York, against a relative of the said James Golden; That the said Charles Rose, having arrested one Andrew Hunter, for the alleged commission of a felony, and being offered the sum of ten dollars to relieve the said Hunter, did take the ten dollars and did release the said Hunter from custody.

Then follows several charges of bribery.

The town of Laibach, in Carniola, which recently suffered severely from earthquake shocks, was visited by further severe shocks yesterday,

THE MODERN WOMAN.

Oh, she can write a poem,
  And she can make a stew,
Can play on the piano,
  And also bake and brew.

She reads a little Latin,
  And also studies Greek,
Can rock the baby's cradle,
  And nurse the sick and weak.

Can give her husband counsel,
  Put trimmings on a hat,
Deliver an oration,
  Or work a bordered mat.

She entertains right royally,
  Reads law a little, too—
Pshaw! Tell of something, can you,
  A woman cannot do?

AN APRIL FOOL.

"I feel like doing something outrageous, Jack."

"Worse than usual Jill?"

"Very far above and beyond anything I've ever done."

"May the saints preserve me!" and then silence fell between them.

Jill drew the vase of jonquils over to her side of the table, and began tearing the pretty yellow blossoms to pieces.

Jack caught the fair, destructive fingers in his own.

"You are bent on mischief, Jill; I fear we shall both come to grief, as did our namesakes before us, unless you leave off your bad habits"

"When we are sober, married people, Jack, living out at Elmwood, I shall be a model of sedate propriety, but now I'm hungering and thristing for fun."

"Then somebody will suffer. I fear me you are a bloodthirsty little vixen."

"I'm afraid so, Jack. Do you know what I am thinking of now?"

"No, Jill; they say there is honor among thieves. Perhaps if I join you in carrying out your deep and dark plans I may escape the misery that I fear you are hoping to bring upon me."

"And you'll really help me? Jack, you are the joy of my life!" Jill pushed the jonquils away, and turned a bright face up to her sweetheart's. "Uncle Bert is away now," she went on, "and it's the time for our fun. Only two days before April first! Come, Jack, we must settle on something."

It was nearly sundown when Jack went home. He met little Miss Basset on her way from a school. She was a dainty little body, well into the thirties, but fair and pretty still.

"I am so surprised," she said. "I've just had a note asking me to play the wedding march at your uncle's wedding!"

"Then it is true?"

"Why, yes. The note is signed, 'Commitee of arrangements.' That is queer, but then, your uncles queer."

"Very. You will play?"

"To be sure. There! The note is gone."

A whiff of wind snatched it from her hand, and away it went across streets and gardens, to flutter down at the door of the village gossip, and to help very materially in carrying out the plans of Jack and Jill.

Little Miss Basset trudged on. She lived with her sister in the country, and taught music at the academy in thevillage. She was smiling as she passed Elmwood. It's master was no longer a young man, and his aversion to marriage was well known.

"I would as soon have thought of being asked to play at the wedding of the man in the moon!" Miss Basset said aloud.

"Did you speak to me, ma'am?"

"Mr. Grimes! Why, sir, I thought you were in the city! Oh, I beg your pardon! Can you forgive that thoughtless remark?"

"I don't see how it concerns me, ma'am, if some man is fool enough to marry."

"But you are the man, sir!" honest little Miss Basset exclaimed.

"I?" Uncle Berts' face grew redder.

"Certainly, sir. Have I not just been askd to play the wedding march at your wedding?"

"And when, pray, am I to be married?"

"On Wednesday night, sir."

"I think you are a fool, ma'am."

"I am, indeed, else why do I stop here?" She lifted her little head and started on.

"Pray, don't take offense, where none is intended. Wait and tell me what you know about this matter."

Miss Basset turned back.

"Will you come in and help me to find out who has done this?"

Miss Basset went in. They talked until Mrs. Betsy, the very respectable housekeeper, came in to say that tea was ready. After some pressing Miss Basset went out to tea with them, and, upon its being explained to her that Mrs. Betsy had cut her finger while slicing the tongue, Miss Basset consented to pour out the tea.

Uncle Bert felt unusually happy. It had been long since any woman had taken part in his plans, and Miss Basset had been so interested in trying to help him. It was cosy and pleasant to have her sit there in Mrs. Betsy's place and chat and drink tea. He felt very lonely when she was gone. On the table he found a queer little object. It was made of morocco, and "musique" was stamped on it. He touched it with one finger; then he took it up. A faint, sweet odor arose from it and a cluster of withered violets fell out on the floor. Uncle Bert picked them all up, stooping stiffly, and then puffing like an engine when he straightened again.

It had been long since he had held a flower in his hand. The violets carried him back over a road that he was not used to traveling. He went back to his boyhood, and he thought of the mother who had died before he had learned to know her worth. He remembered that she held violets in her hand the last time he saw her.

Tears came to eyes that were strangers to them, and Uncle Bert put the flowers down to blow his nose. Mrs. Betsy heard the blast, and said to the stable boy that she believed "that pore lone man was settin' out for a right cole."

Uncle Bert had strange dreams that night; very strange dreams for an old man who had never loved a woman even in his youth, and who hated what he called the "whole capoodle" of them now; very strange dreams for a man who meant to die and leave his wealth and his home to his nephew and niece.

When he awoke the sun was shining in his face. After breakfast he saw a trim little figure coming up the walk, and his very strange old heart stirred about in a peculiar way.

"I left my music, or I lost it. Thank you; I'm so glad to get it."

Little Miss Basset almost hugged the roll in her joy.

"I'll find out all I can to-day, and tell you. I think some one has been planning a very big April fool for the whole town. Just think of the girls decorating the church, and the congregation and preacher waiting!" and, in spite of her duty to Uncle Bert, little Miss Basset's brown eyes twinkled, and her cheeks dimpled.

Uncle Bert cleared his throat. "It's a huge joke," he said.

"Yes, and a cruel one."

CRICKET WITH THE PHILLIES.

The Canadians on Their Second Innings—Four Wickets Down for 56 Runs.

Special to The Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. July 9.—The cricket match between the Ontario club of Toronto and all Philadelphia was resumed this morning. When play stopped last evening each team had completed its first innings, the Canadians scoring 164 runs and Philadelphia 127. The Canadians this morning went to bat for their second innings and at this writing have scored 56 runs with the loss of four wickets.

PHILADELPHIA, July 9.—When play was stopped for lunch at 1.30 o'clock the Canadians had scored 167 runs with the loss of 8 wickets.

TORONTO-NEW YORK.

Solid Train to be Run Via Hamilton Over the T. H. & B. Road.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, July 9.—A local paper has the following: The deal by which the Vanderbilt interests are to get control of the new Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo railroad has been put through. Representatives of the New York Central, Michigan Central, Canadian Pacific, and Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo met at the Grand Central station and signed the traffic arrangement contract. According to the provisions of the deal the C. P. R. will operate the line from Toronto to Buffalo as soon as it is completed. The rest of the T. H. & B. system, consisting of a line from Waterford to Welland, will be operated by the Vanderbilt interests. The C.P.R. will have the privilege of running direct to the Grand Central station over the New York Central tracts and will put on solid trains from Toronto to New York city via Hamilton.

Killed by His Son-in-Law.

MIDDLETOWN, July 9.—Joseph Townsend, a prominent resident of Livingston Manor, was shot and instantly killed there this morning by George Brethaner, his son-in law, as the result of a quarrel. Brethaner was arrested.

Betrayed Secrets.

BERLIN, July 9.—The High Court at Liepsic has sentenced a Metz coal pedler named Haune, and sergeant in the German army named Schrieber, respectfully to four years and eight years imprisonment for betraying military secrets to the French.

Tickets for the Corbett Fitzsimmons Fight.

DALLAS, Texas, July 9.—The sale of tickets for the Corbett Fitzsimmons fight will begin at 10 a.m. Wednesday. The prices of seats will be: box with five chairs $200, or $40 per chair; reserved seats $20; general admission $10.

A Venezuela Yarn.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Respecting the information brought to the United States by the Red Line steamer Venezuela, that a number of rifles and thousands of rounds of ammulition were shipped to Venezuela to be used in the outbreak under guidance of Dr. Rojas Paul on account of dissatisfaction regarding the bad financial condition of the country, Senor Jos. Andre, Venezuela minister to the United States, said tonight that her story was an old one and had been revived on several occasions. The latest advices he had received from his government gave no intimation of an uprising of any kind.

Run Down and Killed.

CHICAGO, July 9.—In western desperado style a man, supposed to be C. E. Cole, assaulted and attempted to rob P. G. McGloin in his saloon at 64 Adams street, in the heart of the business district, this evening. After seriously wounding McGloin the thief escaped, and made the most remarkable race for liberty ever seen in the streets of Chicago. After firing into the mob that pursued him, and seriously wounded three citizens, he was run down and killed by Officer Rosenthal, opposite the entrance of the Auditorium, on Congress street. The wounded are:—P. G. McGloin, saloonkeeper, three wounds in head, will recover; H. H. Sternberg, shot in abdomen, taken to hospital, will probably die; Samuel Stone, shot in right leg, will recover.

Near the Heslop homestead, Ancaster, Mrs. Tobias Prince was found fatally hurt, presumably from a runaway accident, but yet amid suspicious circumstances.

CUPID AND PSYCHE

"THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE IS HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE."

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

Cheap Butter.

The Rural New-Yorker has the following hint to butter-makers:

"I wish that you would send me some one to buy that butter," said a commission merchant pointing to about 50 tubs of all kinds and sizes piled up in a corner of his store. "First-class butter never stays in the store over night, but I don't know what to do with that stuff. The use of cottolene has almost destroyed the demand for the cheaper grades of butter. A dealer who buys a good deal of cheap butter was in here, and I offered him the whole lot for 14 cents a pound. He took a number of bills from his pocket, and showed me where he had purchased a number of different lots for 4½ cents per pound. He said that, while some of it was nothing but grease, some was fair butter. What we are to do with that stuff, I don't know; I wish that they wouldn't send it here. There is a lot in five-pound pails. The man who sent it, also sent some in tubs. The latter was good butter, and sold at once, but he had evidently packed the poor stuff in pails thinking that the packages would sell it. But there they are." Why will people make good milk into poor butter, and then expect people to buy the stuff at good butter prices?

Best Way to Sell Wool.

Another wool season is at hand, and one of the problems which no doubt confronts our readers who have wool is where and how to dispose of it to the best advantage possible. Like all farm produce it finds its way to the large markets for distribution, and the fewer hands it passes through before this distribution takes place the more money he realizes for his wool. Such being the case, it is certainly for the best interest of the wool-grower to ship his wool direct to the large markets or points of distribution in order that he may realise the most money possible for it. The necessity for doing this at present is much greater than if wool was bringing as good price, and when the profit to be gained by the grower of wool shipping direct to market is brought to his attention, as is intended by this article, we think he will take advantage of it. There can be but one possible obstacle, that is confidence in securing the right kind of a house to recive and sell his wool to the best advantage possible and one which will remit his money promptly. Confidence is the foundation of all business transactions.

POND'S EXTRACT

IMPRESSED ON THE MEMORY

That Pond's Extract is without equal for relieving pain, and that no remedy should be accepted as "just as good." And unscrupulous druggists will insist on trying to force upon purchasers weak imitations which are irritating, uncertain and even poisonous, very different from genuine Pond's Extract, which is universally known as a great healer, pacifier and comforter. Nature's own remedy for all pain is genuine Pond's Extract.

Avoid substitutes; accept genuine only, with buff wrapper and yellow label.

SCHOONER RUN DOWN.

The Crew and Part of the Cargo Saved by Another Vessel.

Special to the Times.

HALIFAX, N. S. July 10.—Captain Morris and crew of schooner Valorous, from Canso for Portland with 25,000 packages of lobsters, were landed here this morning by No. 2 pilot boat. The schooner was run down at ten o'clock yesterday morning south west of Beaver Island by the steamer Louisburg, of the Dominion Coal Company, from Sydney, also for Portland. The steamer struck the schooner a square blow forward of the main rigging on port side and opened an immense hole in the sailing vessel. The water poured in and the crew abandoned the vessel. The Louisburg took Captain Morris and men and transferred them to the pilot boat. When last seen Valorous was full of water on her broadside.

COMMENDABLE PROMPTITUDE.

A Resident of St. John, N. B., Makes a Successful trial of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

ST. JOHN, N. B. July 8.—Mr. Robert Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the Kidneys for over seven years, and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking three boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT.

A Boy Whirled Around a Mill Shaft and Badly Injured.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, July 10.—A shocking accident happened in Edward's sawmill in Rideau ward, yesterday morning, the victim being a boy named Brasseau, who lived with his parents on Church street. He started to work yesterday morning for Mr. Gronix, who has the contract of clearing the mill of blocks and slabs, and had just backed his cart into position to load it when he met with the accident. In some way he got caught in a pulley a few feet above the cart and was whirled around the shaft until his arm was finally wrenched from its socket at the elbow, letting him fall into the pit below, in an insensible condition. The flesh was torn away from the upper part of the limb, which presented a shocking sight to those who first went to his assistance. He was carried to the Water street hospital, where he received the attention of Dr. Valade, St. Jean and Chabot. His recovery is doubtful. The boy was one of the supports of the family.

FIVE WERE DROWNED.

A Man, His Wife and Three Children the Victims.

Special to the Times.

BATH, N. Y., July 10.—A drowning accident occurred just off Bluff Point, on Lake Keuka, at about 11 o'clock today by which five persons lost their lives. Terry Tuft, with his wife and three children left Gibson's Landing in a sail boat to cross the lake. A strong wind was blowing and when opposite Point the boat was capsized and the whole party were drowned. No one saw the accident and the boat was not discovered till three o'clock when the bodies were recovered in about ten feet of water. Tuft lived on a small vineyard near Gibson's, where he came last April.

DETROIT, July 10.—A special to the Tribune from [illegible] says: The city of North Muskegon and vicinity is in the throes of the [illegible] fire ever witnessed here [illegible] the danger becomes greater [illegible] along with astonishing rapidity.

An Exploring Party's Fate.

PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—The skeletons of eighteen men, apparently members of an ill-fated exploring party, were discovered in April last in a small cave in a wild and desolate part of the south west of Greenland by Captain Hans Anderson, of the barque Serene, which arrived here yesterday from Ivigtut.

Debs' Sentence Reduced.

CHICAGO, July 10.—Judge Woods has modified the sentences of Eugene V. Debs from one year in jail to six months and of the other directors of the A.R.U. from six months to three.

Italian Warships.

LONDON, July 10.—The Italian squadron, comprising nine warships, arrived at Spithead at 10.30 o'clock this morning. The Italian royal yacht Savoy, with the Admiral, the Duke of Genoa, commanding the squadron, on board, led the fleet and fired a salute, to which the garrison battery replied. The Italian ships then steamed around the English fleet, the crews of which manned the rigging and cheered as the visitors' vessels passed. The Italian bands played the English national anthem and the English musicians played Italian airs. The Italian ships anchored below the lines of the British fleet, and visits were exchanged by the English and Italian Admirals.

Convicts Resentenced.

COBOURG, July 10.—Convicts Henry Sharpe, Frank Evans, Thos. Wilson, R. Newton and W. Smith were removed from Cobourg jail to the Central prison Toronto, today. They are under sentence from three months to one year. Judge Benson added six months to the sentence of Sharpe and Evans for assisting Murdick Plampton to escape [illegible] month. They have bad records.

Coal Sales Agents Meet.

NEW YORK, July 10.—The anthracite coal sales agents met here today and adjourned until July [illegible]. The meeting was short and there was no change made in prices. The production arranged at the last meeting, 75 per cent. of the output of June, 1895, will stand.

BITS OF HUMOR.

Uncle Hiram—If yer wanter have good dogs yer must edjicate 'em to it. I took as much trouble to rear me dog thar es I did with me son Ike!

"But the dog is no good!"

Uncle Hiram—Neither is Ike.

An Irishman, in the midst of a tirade against landlords and capitalists, declared that "if these men were landed on an uninhabited island they wouldn't be there an hour before they would have their hands in the pockets of the naked savages."

A Boston gentleman tried to ingratiate himself with a lady by noticing the child she held in her arms. "Ah catsee catsee coo coo," he gurgled, chucking the little one under the chin. The child looked up inquiringly to its mother and said distinctly: "Mamma, is the gentleman affected with paresis?"

Mutual Friend—It really is shocking, dear, the way in which you and your husband quarrel and carry on. I wonder you don't separate from him.

Injured Wife—What! Go away and leave him alone to do just as he likes? Not I.

"How many feet are in one yard?"

Tommy—Well, about 1,000, if you count all the chicken tracks in the new flower beds in our yard.

Aunt Rose—Well, Juanito, what would you like to be when you are grown up?

Juanito (whose parents are very strict)—I'd like to be an orphan.

An Irishman's definition of wit—Wit is the lava which comes from the mouth of a lively crater.

The lady arrives a little late at the sewing circle.

Servant—Excuse me, madam, but I'd advise you to wait a few minutes. Just now they are talking about you!

GRAINS OF GOLD.

Peace is prayer—Fenelon.

Pain is the outcome of sin.—Buddha.

Philosophy is the art of living.—Plutarch.

Order means light and peace; order is power.—Amiel.

To climb steep hills requires slow pace at first.—Shakespeare.

Study nature as the countenance of God.—Charles Kingsley.

Negligence is the rust of the soul, that corrodes through all her best resolves.—Feltham.

We think very few people sensible except those who are of our opinion.—Rochefoucauld.

When I was happy I thought I knew men, but it was fated that I should know them only in misfortune.—Napoleon.

The passions are like fire—useful in a thousand ways, and dangerous only in one, through their excess.—Bovee.

The two powers which in my opinion constitute a wise man are those of bearing and forbearing.—Epictetus.

No joy in nature is so sublimely affecting as the joy of a mother at the good fortune of her child.—Richter.

Every man who observes vigilantly and resolves steadfastly, grows unconsciously into genius.—Bulwer.

Most people judge others by the company they keep, or by their fortunes.—Rochefoucauld.

Money is a hand maiden if thou knowest how to use it; a mistress if thou knowest not.—Horace.

The same refinement which brings us new pleasures, exposes us to new pains.—Bulwer.

ALL THE WORLD OVER.

The world's population increases at the rate of 1 per cent. per annum.

Half of the world's product of quinine is used in the United States.

The feeding expenses of the animals in the London Zoo are $500 weekly.

According to Marie Tempest, the finest opera house in the world is at Duluth.

Berlin ranks as the healthiest city in the world.

Three Canadians, of Fort Erie, Ont., are hard at work digging up the ruins of the fort, searching for the chest of gold said to have been buried by Major Buck during the war of 1812.

The ancient Egyptian cats were yellow with reddish stripes—such as are occasionally seen nowadays, and called by some Venetian cats. The cat was domesticated in Europe shortly after the Christian era, and the first specimens brought into England were very highly valued.

California is being literally squeezed for gold just now. Not only are the old diggings in Calaveras and a score of other counties worked for the precious dust, but the very shore along the ocean in sight off San Francisco is being searched for it.

GERMAN AFFAIRS.

The German Empire has 10,980,000 women over the age of 15.

The Emperor of Germany, it is said, has decided to honor Bismarck by having his head stamped on a future issue of German coins.

During the Franco-Prussian war the Germans fired 30,000,000 rifle cartridges and 363,000 charges of artillery, killing or mortally wounding 77,000 Frenchmen, showing that 400 shots are required to kill or mortally wound one man.

A new outer sole is being tried on the boots of the German soldiers by direct order of the emperor. It consists of a paste of linseed oil varnish and iron filings, which is said to render the sole flexible and make it more durable than the new aluminum boot nails.

The German emperor's imperial train cost $750,000, and took three years to construct. There are altogether twelve cars, including two nursery carriages. The reception saloon contains several pieces of statuary, and each of the sleeping cars is fitted with a bath.

ABOUT EATING.

In good eating there is happiness.—Apicius.

Thou shouldst eat to live, not live to eat.—Cicero.

A rich man may eat when he will, but a poor man when he can.—Diogenes.

Eating to repletion is bad; but what we eat should be good of its kind.—Dr. S. S. Fitch.

It is not the eating, but the inordinate desire thereof, that ought to be blamed.—St. Augustine.

In eating it is a great fault for a man to be ignorant of the measure of his own stomach.—Seneca.

Animals feed, man eats; tell me what you eat and how you eat, and I will tell you what you are; the man of intellect alone knows how to eat.—B. Savarin.

Eat not for the pleasure thou mayest find therein; eat to increase thy strength; eat to preserve the life which thou hast received from heaven.—Confucius.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Nervous Prostration

It is now a well established fact in medical science that nervousness is due to impure blood. Therefore the true way to cure nervousness is by purifying and enriching the blood. The great blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this letter:

"For the last two years I have been a great sufferer with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. I was weak in my limbs and had smothered sensations. At last my physician advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did, and I am happy to say that I am now strong and well. I am still using Hood's Sarsaparilla and would not be without it. I recommend it to all who are suffering with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart." MRS. DALTON, 56 Alice St., Toronto, Ontario. Get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla Is the Only True Blood Purifier

Prominently in the public eye today. It is not what we say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

The Weather.

PROBS.—Moderate variable winds; fine weather, with a little higher temperature.

Where is Baker?

Emanuel Baker, formerly of Stouffville, supposed to be living in Peterborough, is wanted at Stouffville where his father is dying.

Railway Notes.

The great event of the day at the G.T.R. employees' excursion to Orillia on the 20th inst., will be the cricket match for a silver cup valued at $100, presented by the Georgian Bay Lumber Co., between the Northern and Midland divisions.

Pointed a Pistol.

The tramp who chased Mr. Mulcahey's little girls in Otonabee on Monday night, and whom Mr. Mulcahey belabored with a hoe, pointed a pistol at Mr. Mulcahey yesterday and threatened to pull the trigger if he said a word. Mulcahey was mum, but he lost no time in having the tramp arrested. He is now in jail and his name is John Cooper.

Police Court Notes.

In the police court yesterday a case of nonpayment of wages came up before Magistrate Dumble. Aaron Rickner charged William Ford with not paying his son for work. The case was dismissed. Frank Myers was charged with being charged with Jersey lightning. The shock cost him $2. Wm. Long was up on a charge of assault the complainant being a son of Mr. H. Dundas. Of course there was a female in the case, in the person of a little Italian girl whom it seems young Dundas was calling names. Long tried to stop him, when Dundas threw a stone and then Long kicked him. The magistrate decided it was a draw and dismissed the case.

A Woodstock Lady's Death

Mrs. Pattullo, wife of Andrew Pattullo, proprietor of the Woodstock Sentinel-Review, died Tuesday in St. John's hospital, where on Dominion Day she underwent an operation. The deceased was the daughter of Robert Balmer, postmaster of Oakville, and had been married about six years. Mrs. Pattullo was a prominent member of the Presbyterian church, and her active benevolence endeared her to the poor of Woodstock. She was secretary-treasurer of the Ladies' Aid Society, which assisted in the completion of the Woodstock hospital, the opening of which took place on the day of her death. Her husband and family were with her during her last hours.

An Adjourned Inquest.

On Tuesday afternoon a jury was empanelled by Coroner Dr. Gray to enquire into the death of Mrs. Joseph Kennedy, who was found in a dying condition on the road between the first and second concessions of Cavan on the evening of July 2nd. She had been selling fruit at Millbrook and was returning home when it is thought the horse she was driving became frightened and running away pitched her onto a pile of rails on the roadside, causing her death. Her relatives desired the inquest, not that they have suspicions of foul play, but to endeavor to find if any negligence existed in the placing of the rails on the roadside. The body was exhumed at Bewdley on Tuesday and a post mortem was conducted by Dr. Greer, of Peterborough and Dr. A. H. Turner, of Millbrook. The inquest was adjourned until today, when the post mortem report will be made.

Weather and Crops.

From all parts of the province come reports of lack of rain and prospects of short crops. In the vicinity of Lindsay crops have suffered severely during the past month, more especially where the land is sandy soil. The hay crop is almost a failure. Roots will not be so good as expected, owing to the dry weather. Barley, oats, wheat and peas have suffered but it is thought most of the grain crops will recover if we have some more rain. The cool night have probably saved a good deal of grain from destruction. In the vicinity of Minden hay is practically a failure, not more than one third of an average crop, and the old meadows suffering most from the long extended drought. Grain promises fair. Root crops look well so far, except turnips, which in many localities have been covered by flies or failed to germinate. Potatoes in some places are suffering from blight. There is very little fruit.

Visitors Pouring Into the Great Christian Endeavor Convention in Boston.

Four thousand Christian Endeavorers registered for badges at the registration headquarters in Boston yesterday and received badges. This brought the number of those thus obtaining credentials up to nearly 10,000. During the day small delegations were arriving one after another but no particularly large party came, aside from the Maritime Provinces' Endeavorers. A circular was issued inviting all Christian Endeavorers to aid in raising a fund to be applied to the erection of a memorial or monument to Rev. S. F. Smith, D.W., author of "America." Today will be devoted mostly to the reception and disposition of arriving delegations and in the evening preliminary meetings will be held simultaneously in twenty churches. The convention proper will open this morning at 9.30.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

THEY SAW A SPOOK.

The Weird and Gruesome Tale of Two Otonabee Farmers.

Two well-known and respected residents of Otonabee, called at THE TIMES office last night and told of a weird and hair-raising experience they had had on two occasions. Both gentlemen are well-known in Peterborough and both are subscribers of THE TIMES. Both are strictly temperate men and could not be bribed or induced to take a drink of intoxicating liquors. This lends a degree of reliability to the strange story they told. Neither are willing at present that their names should be made known, although they are quite willing to take oath to their statements. They want THE TIMES to investigate the matter and if what they say is verified, they are quite willing that their names should appear. The substance of their story is that the spot on which the house of the Gray's stood is haunted, and that the ghostly spectre which they saw roaming on the place and in the vicinity, is the departed spirit of old David Scollie. The story is best given in their own words.

"On the night of Monday, July 1st," said No. 1, "I was returning home from the Sons of England demonstration. I had remained over to witness the display of fireworks and it was pretty late—about 11 o'clock—when I left Mr. Overend's hotel on Simcoe street, where I had put up for the day. If you remember, it was an intesely dark night, and after I left the glare of the electric lamps on Hunter street, I let the horse have the reins, believing that he could find the way better than I could.

"We went along at an easy pace, I holding the reins loosely in my hands, and my thoughts back at the driving park, with the torpedoes, sky rockets, and whirligigs, with no thought or consciousness of my present surroundings. In fact, I was taking it easy—so was old Billy—my horse, for I was in no hurry to get home. As we passed the spot where the house of the Gray's formerly stood, old Billy gave a sudden start, snorted and stood still. I immediately looked up and could see nothing, and urged the horse on. He started suddenly and rushed along at a tremendous speed for 200 yards, and then a sudden apparition, ghost, spook, spectre or whatever it was, seemed to rise up out of the road and seize the horse by the bridle. He came to a halt so suddenly that I was thrown over the seat into the wagon. I was paralyzed with fear, and could scarcely open my eyes. When I did summon enough courage to look out, I saw a sight that fairly froze my blood. There in the middle of the road stood something wrapped in a garment of phosphorescent flame. It was the stooped figure of an old man, and more horrible still, it had no head, that is on the neck. The head was there, held aloft in one long, bony hand, and out of the eyes streamed two shafts of light. The stump of the neck was revealed and it was covered with apparently fresh blood.

"I couldn't move. My hair rose straight on its ends and it seemed as if the marrow in my bones would freeze. I tried to shut my eyes, but couldn't, and my horse was trembling like an aspen leaf. Suddenly the apparition waved one hand aloft, and the head in the other hand seemed to emit more fire. Then the fleshless jaws moved and a voice that sounded like the dreary echo of 10,000 graveyards said: 'Inquest, Inquest, Inquest.' This one word was uttered about ten times, each word seeming farther and farther away. The last was like the dying wail of a soul writhing in the fathomless depths of perdition. Then the apparition disappeared, I know not where.

"The horse started on its own accord and tore along the road towards home. We went fully two miles before I could move. When I regained control of my limbs and senses I drove directly to the house of my friend here and woke him up.

"'John,' I said, the old Gray place is haunted.'"

"'Hellitis,' he exclaimed, (which is a choctaw word meaning, is it indeed.)

"I told him what I had seen, and although loth to believe me, he consented to go with me to the same place the next night and see for himself."

To make a long story short they went the next night, so they said, and every night that week, but did not see anything. Farmer No. 2 began to believe that his friend had been deceived, and refused to go again until last Monday night, when farmer No. 1 smarting under the ridicule which his friend was constantly heaping upon him for getting too much "demonstration" and seeing a ghost, persuaded him to go once more. They went about 10 o'clock and secreted themselves along the road, armed with revolvers, and waited.

Exactly at 11.30 the apparition again appeared. It seemly rose up out of the ground as on the first occasion. Both farmers describe it as even more hideous than they had expected to see it, and their guns were useless for they hadn't the strength to move a finger. The terrifying object approached so near to where they lay that they could feel the heat which appeared to burst from the terrible fiery eyeballs in the skull, which this time was held aloft in the left hand. Again the object waved its free hand aloft, and again it shrieked forth the words "inquest," "inquest," "inquest," and then suddenly disappeared.

The two farmers crept away weak and terrified. The horse they had brought with them and had tied to a near by tree, had broken from its fastenings in terror and fled. They found it on their return home panting with terror, and they could hardly approach it.

Both men are willing to take oath that they saw the apparition just as they described it, and they want to get up a party to go with them and wait for its' appearance next Monday night, for they think this is the only night in the week that it appears.

AILING JUST A LITTLE.

The Ladies Took no Further Interest in the Infant's Health.

She had a seat in a George street car, with a baby on her lap, all bundled up in an old shawl. A woman next to her with two small children seemed to have considerable curiosity about that baby, and after trying several times to get a sight of its face she said:

"Haven't you got your child bundled up a good deal for this weather?"

"But I have to keep him warm, ma'am,' was the reply.

"For what reason?"

"The doctor told me to."

"Then the poor little thing is ailing?"

"Just a little ailing ma'am—just a little. He's got the measles with the mumps atop of it, but the doctor says he's growing——"

No one heard the rest of her words. There were four or five mothers and six or seven children in the car and there was a stampede which took them all out and everybody else as well. When the car rolled on again the woman with the baby looked at the conductor inquiringly and asked:

"Has anything broke down or blown up or run off the track to scare 'em all out?"

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 161 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

Agents wanted in every town and county in the Dominion. $100 to $200 a month easily made For further particulars address

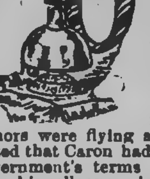
THE CRISIS AT OTTAWA.

ANGERS STILL OUT BUT CARON AND OUIMET RETURN.

Langevin May Supplant the Irreconcilable One—The Excitement Was Most Intense Yesterday—The Galleries Packed.

Special to the Times.



OTTAWA, July 11.—There was no falling off today in the excitement that began on Monday. On the contrary, the tension was greater at the capital this morning than at any time since the present crisis became acute.

During the forenoon all sorts of rumors were flying around. It was first stated that Caron had surrendered to the Government's terms and was likely to bring his colleagues into camp with him. Then it was reported that Angers was still irreconcilable and that he was the dominant element among the kickers. One who is close to Frechette, the French Conservative whip added to the latter statement that the clouds appeared to be darkening, while Tarte, on the other hand, declared that the kickers would go back on any terms they could get.

About noon Lord Aberdeen met his Ministers in Council and remained with them about half an hour. To some this looked like a settlement, and to others it indicated dissolution. As soon as the Council broke up the Ministers were promptly surrounded by questioners, but all the satisfaction that could be got was Caron's brief statement: "You will know all in two hours." And with this scanty piece of information the questioners were forced to be content.

IN THE HOUSE.

Long before three o'clock the galleries of the Commons were crowded with hundreds all anxious to hear the daily dialogue between Laurier and Foster, and hoping this time to hear something more exciting than the promise of "tomorrow," which had already been worn thread bare.

All sorts and conditions were represented the artizan and merchant sat side by side, and the black gowned priest and red hot Orangeman were not far apart.

KICKERS COME BACK.

The first noteworthy incident that occurred after the House met, and one, which seemed to confirm the rumors of the morning, was the arrival of Sir Adolphe Caron and Mr. Ouimet, who took their old places in the chamber.

Great cheers from a section of the Conservative benches greeted the arrival of the two kickers, but with these were mingled derisive yells from the Opposition of "Take it back!"

GIROUARD WANTS TO KNOW NOW.

Somewhat to the disappointment of the galleries the opposition leader did not open today's dialogue. It was Mr. Girouard, a conservative of Cabinet rank, who put the first question to the Ministry.

On the orders of the day being called the member for Jacques Cartier asked the Government if the negotiations with Manitoba would preclude or postpone remedial legislation.

"They will not," replied Mr. Foster, shortly.

Then the Finance Minister presented the House with a message from the Governor General transmitting Manitoba's memorial to Parliament.

FOSTER'S EXPLANATION.

Then the Government leader in the House proceeded to give an official version of the crisis. He said some difference had existed regarding remedial legislation. These differences arose in two lines. Some held that there should be no further negotiations. Others contended that remedial legislation should be introduced at once. The position of the Government was simply as shown in the House the other day. It was simply that Manitoba should have time in which to arrange for an amicable settlement.

ANGERS IS OUT OF IT.

Proceeding, Mr. Foster said he regretted that Mr. Angers had found it impossible to accede to the views of the Government.

The Minister still held that remedial legislation should be accepted at once. Consequently, Mr. Angers was no longer a member of the Government.

CARON AND OUIMET EAT THE LEEK.

The resignation of the Minister of Agriculture had, Mr. Foster continued, been pressed and accepted. After discussion with the other Minister, it was found it was simply, so far as they were concerned, a misunderstanding—a disagreement as to details. (Applause and cheers.)

"As to the principle of remedial legislation next session," the speaken went on, "there is no difference in principle. All are agreed, and Caron and Ouimet have wisely and patriotically come to the conclusion that in the statement on Monday last remedial legislation was actually promised and the Government are prepared to carry out the pledge then made."

"Messrs. Caron and Ouimet have," concluded Mr. Foster, "decided that they owe it to the party and to the country to stand with the Government." (Great cheers.)

SIR ADOLPHE EXPLAINS.

Then Sir Adolphe Caron took the floor. The returned kicker said that in view of the assurances just given by Mr. Foster his continued refusal to help the Government to carry out legislation would be sacrificing the interest of the minority and jeopardizing the question. He was satisfied with the pledge of the leader of the House.

OUIMET ALSO SATISFIED.

Mr. Ouiment followed in French. He said: "If I have taken my seat now, it is because I have been assured by assurances of my colleagues that the retarding of legislation will not embarrass the definite and satisfactory settlement of the question."

"Once upon a time the old cat came back," said Mr. Laurier. "Today you have a small family of kittens coming back. Three days ago these two ministers went on a holy war but now they have given it up. I want a game of bluff."

"We had supposed," continued the Opposition leader, "there was a great crisis. But there was nothing after all but a little matter which was not worth while resigning for."

WAS THERE A WRITTEN PLEDGE!

Laurier asked if the Government had given a written pledge for which Mr. Ouimet was said to be pressing. "Has Foster signed the pledge! he asked amid cheers. "If he has who knows but that at a future time he may have another moment of weakness."

Death of a Noted Singer.

A HERMIT

It Hyams, the Uncle of the Twins Charged Here With Murder—A Wealthy New Yorker Goes to Hot Springs.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The old-fashioned figure long familiar to the frequenters of the Gilsey House, and known to everybody in it by the nickname of "The Hermit," has vanished.

For nearly 18 years the squat, bowed, round-shouldered man, with the downcast eyes, hook nose and grizzled gray moustache, has been a notable presence in the hotel.

Few of the many thousand men and women who daily saw him there knew that his name was Solomon Yorley Hyams. Fewer still of those who interested themselves in the trial at Toronto of Henry and Dallas Hyams for the murder of Wells knew that Solomon Y. Hyams was an uncle of the accused.

It was this very circumstance which drove him from the hotel. It was through his efforts that his nephews escaped imprisonment on the charge of fraud preferred against them in this city some years ago, but from that time he had held no communication with them.

After the story of the murder was told and the fact of his relatives to the brothers leaked out, Mr. Hyaman kept to his room.

"Every time I see a man who knows me," he remarked, "I fear he will say something about the case, and that cuts me to the heart."

When the Toronto jury disagreed and the suspense was for the time over, Mr. Hyams sought out a refuge. The gout, from which he had suffered, crippled him. His physicians suggested Hot Springs, and thither he went on Friday last.

No one in the hotel believes that he will ever come back. Mr. Hyams has earned the pseudonym of "The Hermit" from the fact that except for a former visit to the Hot Springs, about ten years ago, he had never been known to go outside of the hotel. His brother, father of Henry and Dallas Hyams kept the St. Charles hotel in New Orleans.

Solomon Y. Hyams is about 55 years old and is very wealthy.

A PANIC IN A THEATRE.

COLLAPSE OF A FLOOR AND A TERRIBLE SCENE.

Women and Others Were Injured—Dr. Seaman on Trial—Strong Corroborative Evidence Proving his Guilt as a Malpractice Fiend—Rose Ryan's Story.

Special to the Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 11.—A frightful accident terminated the Elk festivities at the Inlet Casino tonight, in which a large number of persons sustained terrible injuries, from which some will die. It was 9.30 when the Grand Exalted Ruler of the Buffalo body, M. de Willer, of Harrisburg, had finished his address at the opening of the social session of Elks, and was about to introduce J. J. Armstrong, when a creaking sound was heard. A moment later the floor upon which were almost 1,000 people, slowly opened and the mass of humanity was precipitated to the first floor, a distance of 25 feet. Men, women and children were plunged into the hole and one upon another.

CRIES SHRIEKS AND GROANS

were deafening and the direst confusion reigned. An alarm was sent out and all the physicians in town responded. The work of extricating the injured proceeded rapidly and by twelve o'clock they had all been removed to the hospital or their hotels. When the first feeling of the panic had subsided the surviving Elks gallantly rushed to the rescue of their injured brothers and friends indifferent to the danger that confronted them as they did not know the instant the remainder of the pavilion might bury them in its ruins. While the work of rescue was going on the lights on the first floor became extinguished and plunged the place in darkness. Men ran to a nearby car barn and obtained a number of headlights from the cars and with these were able to proceed with the work of rescue. In the meantime those who were seated in the vicinity were in imminent danger of falling through the hole. M. A. Rogers ex-President of the Senate of New Jersey, was seated by the side of his wife in the section that fell. Mrs. Rogers was precipitated, but Senator Rogers had both hands caught between two beams and hung suspended until released. More than 50 persons from all parts of the country were injured.

THE HALL BETRAYAL CASE.

DETROIT, Mich., July 11.—After several days consideration Judge Chapin dicided this morning to admit any testimony that would tend to show that Dr. Seaman had made a practice of performing criminal operations. Consequently the prosecution first placed Rose Ryan on the witness stand. She testified that she came to Detroit June 22 last and went to Lane, lying in the hospital till January 23. Dr. Seaman, she swore, operated upon her on Wednesday following the day she went there. This first operation was unsuccessful and he operated upon her again on Friday. This time he was successful. The child was six months old. If the jury had any doubt as to the character of the place run by Mrs. Lane, with the assistance of Dr. Seaman it would have no difficulty in deciding if the testimony of Sadie Alton, which was of exactly the same nature as that of Rose Ryan, was believed. Under ordinary circumstances it would be impossible to get such testimony for the consideration of a jury. Only the strongest reasons would induce women to make such startling revelations in a court. These witnesses have been in the hands of the police for two months and the constant association with detectives, court officers and hearing the evidence in court has had the effect of making them talk. Sadie Alton said she had had occasion to call upon Dr. Seaman twice. Upon both occasions the doctor was guilty of malpractice. Dr. Duffield's testimony was stronger against the defendant than it was on the first trial. He testified that considering that Emily Hall had taken from Tuesday until Sunday he believed that she died of scepticaemia, and that her babe was six months.

Cut in Postage Rates.

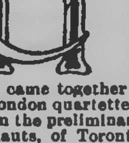
CITY OF MEXICO, July 11.—The Government has put into effect the recent decree reducing letter postage from ten cents to five cents. Other postal matter is correspondingly reduced.

LAST DAY AT HENLEY.

THE POOR SHOWING OF THE CORNELL CREW COMMENTED UPON.

London Wins the Fours—Final Heats in Other Events—The Races at Henley-on-Thames.

Special to The Times.



HENLEY-ON-THE-THAMES, July 11.—The final heats in big events of the Henley Royal regatta are being rowed today. In the final heat of the Stewards' Challenge Cup, the London and Thames crews came together for the first time. The London quartette were the victorious crew in the preliminary heat against the Argonauts, of Toronto, on Tuesday, defeating the Canucks by two feet in the last stroke, and today they defeated their opponents by one and a quarter lengths.

(By United Press)

HENLEY, July 11.—The Argonaut crew, of Toronto, were entertained at dinner last evening by the London Rowing Club.

Fennell, of the Cornell crew, who collapsed in the boat yesterday, is much better this morning, but he has not entirely recovered from his exhaustion.

Eton College won the final heat for the Ladies' Plate, beating the St. John's (Oxford) boat easily.

The final heat for the Stewards' Challenge Cup was won by the London Rowing Club, which beat the Thames Rowing Club's four.

The final heat of the race for the Grand Challenge Cup was contested by Trinity Hall and New College, and was won by the former.

London's time in the final heat for the Stewards' Cup was 7.45.

The seventh heat for the Thames Challenge Cup was won by the Nereus Boat Club, of the Amsterdam (Dutch) University beating St. John's College, Oxford.

TWO CREWS NEXT YEAR.

The Cornell men held a meeting last evening and resolved, subject to the approval of the University at Athaca, to send two crews to Henley in 1896. The necessary funds were arraigned for. A number of the trustees, professors and other supporters of the university were present and the utmost enthusiasm prevailed.

In the final heat for the Steward's Cup the Londons led a little to the island, when they went over to the Thames side of the river. They did not stay there long, however, but steered back to their own water just above the island. At the Rectory the Londoners' canvas showed a trifle ahead of the Thames boat. Both coxswains were steering badly, but despite this the London boat was drawing ahead. At the three quarters of a mile mark the Thames boat went over to the London's water, in the middle of the river, but the change did not do them any good. At the mile London was a clear length ahead and won easily. The Thames boat stopped at the press boat.

The sixth heat of the Thames Challenge Cup was won by the Molesey Rowing Club, which beat the Kingston Rowing Club.

A GRAND RACE.

In the final heat for the Grand Challenge Cup Trinity Hall had the Bucks side and the New College boat was against the Berks shore. Trinity struck out at a forty one stroke and New College at forty two. The latter drew away and got their canvass ahead of the Trinity boat at the foot of the island, but the quarter mile mark they had regained their advantage and maintained it past the Rectory to the half mile. At Fawley Court boat house, which they reached in three minutes and 41 seconds, the boats were almost exactly level. Trinity now began to draw away and at the three-quarters of a mile mark had a lead of a few feet, which she steadily increased. At Bushey Gate Trinity was a quarter length ahead, at the mile a little more than that and at the Isthmian Club house half a length. The New college men buckled down to their work and the finish was a terrible one, resulting in Trinity's winning by only a third of a length. Time 7.30. It was a grand race, the best of the regatta. The Trinity men showed perfection in condition and remarkable staying powers. Both boats pulled the same stroke and each crew contained three men who were in the varsity boats when Cambridge beat Oxford last spring.

In the final heat of the race for the Silver Goblets Guy and Vivian Nickalls, of the London Rowing Club, defeated W. Broughton and S. D. Muttlebury, the Thames Rowing Club's team.

The final heat of the Visitors Challenge Cup was won by Trinity College, (Oxford), beating Trinity Hall (Cambridge.)

A WOMAN'S CRIMES.

She Hangs Three of Her Children and Then Suicides.

Special to The Times.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 11.—A terrible tragedy occurred in Allegheny tonight, from which two persons are dead and a third may die. Mrs. Lena Roessner the wife of a tanner on Springhill, Allegheny had been in poor health for the past 10 years. Today while her husband was at work she hung her three year old daughter to the bed post. She then tied a cloth tight around the throat of her 7 months old babe, from the effects of which he will die. After committing these crimes she hung herself by placing a rope around the hinge of a cupboard and then around her neck and allowing herself to fall to the floor. Fortunately the other two children were away, or they might have suffered a similar fate. The cause is attributed to ill health.

Shot as a Traitor.

NEW YORK, July 11.—A despatch from Havana says:—It is said in insurgent circles that Sandoval, who commanded the Spanish troops that surprised and killed Jose Marti, late president of the Cuban rebels, was captured by a flying column of mounted guerrillas, commanded by Gen. Jose Maco. Col. Sandoval was accorded a court martial, speedily condemned of treason against the Cuban Republic, and of the murder of its chief, and sentenced to be shot. The sentence was carried out and the body buried. A mark was placed upon the grave.

The Coming Pugilistic Contests.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Manager Vendig, of the Florida Athletic Club, announced that no fight would take place in tourney before the Corbett-Fitzsimmons meeting. The Dixon-Plimmer fight will probably take place on the second day. It is probable that Steve O'Donnel will be matched to fight on the third day. All the fights will take place in the afternoon at two o'clock.

ETERBOROUGH, JULY 12 1895.

We want rain, but we don't want it if must come with cyclone accompaniments such as they are having out west.

It will be the duty of Ontario constituencies to assure their Conservative representatives in parliament that they have made no mistake in standing out against remedial legislation.

Mr. Laurier is engaged in digging a deep pitfall for the Dominion government. During the progress of this kind of work it sometimes happens that the walls cave in, with fatal results.

The boss barbers of St. Louis have decided to test the validity of the Sunday closing law. They find it is a great damage to their business, as well as a great inconvenience to the public. Their counsel are confident of winning their case.

The summit of Mount Baker, Washington, which is just becoming visible through the melting snows, is said to have changed its shape. A new peak, between the dome and the south peak, is said to be plainly visible from New Whatcom.

We hope the Council will not shelve the swimming bath project. It is an old saying that "cleanliness is next to Godliness," and as we believe our people are as good as the average, we hope they will also be as cleanly. Councillor Sproule, who is pushing the matter, deserves every support.

The Hamilton Spectator, one of the leading Conservative Journals of the Dominion says that if the government carries out its scheme of holding another session and introducing remedial legislation, it will be defeated as sure as eggs are eggs, and will be sent to the country saddled with a policy which would kill a party composed entirely of Sir John Macdonalds.

The Russo-French loan to China is an assured fact. It is secured by the customs revenue of the treaty ports of China and it is stipulated that, in the event of Chinese default, Russia will assume the responsibility of meeting the obligation. If this means that Russia may administer these ports, there will be trouble some day.

EFFECT OF LOCAL CAUSES.

Ontario must be strongly opposed to remedial legislation when Hon. John Haggart and Hon. W. H. Montague are fighting against federal interference. To say that both these men are politicians is not to belittle them. The man who wishes to climb high in the service of his country cannot afford to carry preferences or prejudices into public life. If the country will not bend to its will or be broken.

If Messrs. Haggart and Montague could believe that Ontario would tolerate federal interference, they would be willing enough to turn a sharp corner for the good of the party. Their hostility to remedial legislation has its origin in the country's strong antipathy to any attack upon Manitoba rights.

It is quite possible that the Orange order is quietly doing good service in this emergency. Hon. G. E. Foster would not be up in arms agains Sir Mackenzie Bowell's policy if he had not heard from his constituents. George Taylor, the chief Conservative whip, has his own political life to look after, and must, therefore, oppose a surrender to Quebec. All the Ontario Ministers have been hearing from home, and the news from the side lines of their own constituencies is putting the strength of a genuine regard for their own safety into their policy of opposition to remedial legislation.

FRUIT EXPERIMENTS IN ONTARIO.

Result of the First Year's Work in Testing Varieties.

Already the work of the experiment stations of Ontario is making itself known and appreciated. The first annual report, which has just been published by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, has sixty-four pages of valuable reading matter and numerous tables showing the result of the first year's work in testing varieties. As the secretary says in his letter of transmissal, it would be impossible to have results so extended ready for publication this first year were it not that practical fruit growers of long and careful experience in their various lines have been selected as the experimenters. These men are able to draw lessons from the knowledge gained from years of careful work with that variety of fruit which is the specialty of each. In this way the reports from these gentlemen become most valuable to the country.

Apples.—Mr. W. H. Dempsey, Superintendent of the Bay of Quinte station, speaks well of the Winter St. Lawrence, Pewaukee and Ontario apples.

He says the Pewaukee is a large apple and more productive than the King and as good in quality. Of the Ontario he says, "it is one of the most profitable apples we have. My own Ontario apples sold equal to Spys in Montreal." Of the Alexander he says, "This variety is coming more into favor every year as one of the best selling fall apples;" of the Red Astrachan, "It is not desirable to grow here." To the Ben Davis he gives twenty-three marks of value out of a possible forty, and adds that its chief value consists in its long keeping qualities.

Grapes.—Mr. M. Pettit, Superintendent of the Wentworth grape station, gives an interesting table showing the actual productiveness and the various prices per pound which he received for certain varieties in 1894. Thus the Agawam, which was harvested October 22nd, yielded 17½ lbs. of grapes to the vine, of which all but a half pound were first grade; the average selling price was three cents a pound, giving a total income of about fifty cents per vine. The Concord yielded nineteen lbs. per vine and so sold at two cents a pound, or about thirty-eight cents per vine. The Catawba yielded 16¾ lbs. and sold at five cents a pound, giving a total of about eighty cents per vine. About thirty varieties of grapes are fully described.

The secretary, in his notes on varieties, speaks favorably of the Victoria grape. He says, "The Victoria, one of the numerous seedlings raised by Mr. B. Minor, of Linden, N. Y., was this year a favorite white grape with me, and I am inclined to think that it will yet take a foremost place among white grapes. The bunches are well shaped; the skin has a fine waxen lustre and heavy bloom, and the berries are of good size and fair quality. The vine is very productive. By some this grape is called a white Concord."

Peaches.—In his notes on peaches, Mr. W. Hillborn, Superintendent of the South-Western Stations, says, "Alexander, Amsden's June and Early Canada are all practically identical. The four most profitable varieties to grow in this locality have been Alexander, Barnard's Early, Tyhurst Seedling and Hill's Chili. The two latter are perhaps the most hardy in fruit buds and give a good crop nearly every season. They are probably the best to plant in sections not well adapted to peach culture. Among new varieties the Fitzgerald is perhaps the most promising. It is of the Early Crawford type and apparently an improvement on that old favorite. The fruit buds are hardy and the young trees will begin bearing the second year after planting. The fruit is large; skin, bright yellow suffused with red; flesh, deep yellow, of best quality; stone, not as large as that of the Crawford. Its season of ripening is with or just after, the Early Crawford. Boyle's Early is another quite new sort in this locality that is very promising. It is the first yellow flesh peach to ripen with me."

Strawberries.—Mr. E. B. Stevenson, strawberry specialist, describes forty-two varieties, placing the Greenville at the head for productiveness and among the best for quality. It is a large crimson berry originating in Ohio. The Haverland he also ranks very high for productiveness. The Timbrell does not ripen evenly, and the Parker Earle rusts and cannot endure the drought. The Woolverton, he says, is well worth growing.

Gooseberries.—Mr. A. Morton, of Brampton, reports upon twenty-six varieties of gooseberries, mostly English.

Mr. S. Spillett, Superintendent of the Simcoe gooseberry station, reports upon ten varieties. He speaks highly of the Pearl. He says, "Take it all around as a medium sized berry, the pearl is hard to beat. More vigorous and with better foliage than the Dowhing, it is bound to be generally planted. It yielded this year five quarts to the bushel all around. The Champion, a peer to the Pearl in vigor and foliage, is ahead of it apparently in productiveness and size. The berry is a cross of Downing upon a wild Rocky Mountain gooseberry, so the originator informs me. It is certainly unlike any other gooseberry I have seen in habit of growth and appearance and shape of berry. In quality, I do not think the fruit equal to the Pearl. I may say that by spraying with liver of sulphur, most of the English varieties may be grown successfully, but, in my opinion, our future berry for general cultivation will be along the line of a cross between the so-called American varieties and the English."

Spraying for Fungi and Insects.

That paris green and kerosene emulsion still remain the leading insecticides and that bordeaux mixture is the best remedy for plant diseases, is the experience of the New York station at Geneva. The knapsack sprayer is generally useful, though extensive growers need a machine of greater capacity. The suction pump shoud always enter the tank at the top, and the pump should be made of brass or be brass lined. Hand pumps should allow the weight of the body to be used on the handle while at work. Vermorel nozzles give a better spray than the disk machines. For spraying potatoes and tomatoes a nozzle is needed which can be lowered between the rows, and directed so as to force the spray up through the vines. The agitator is needed to keep the poisons in solution. The best forms work up and down in an upward tank, like a dash in the old churn. Where the pump piston has a packing this should be often renewed. For killing cabbage worms and insects, no liquid has been found equal to dry paris green applied with a hand sifter. Powder guns are useful for applying dry powdered poisons, pyrethrum, tobacco dust and sulphur. Bamboo extensions should be used in spraying large trees.

We never would raise more heifer calves than we needed for our own herd. It will not pay.

Electrical Treatment

210 Cowan Ave., Toronto.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment. When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

NEW SUNSTROKE CURE.

FORMER METHODS DISCARDED FOR ICE WATER BATHS.

The Patient is Handled Swiftly by Novel Appliances and Submerged in Ice—This Reduces the Temperature of the Body and Saves His Life.

Richard Collins was the first patient to test the new sunstroke apparatus in the House of Relief in Hudson street, New York. It proved a complete success.

The apparatus, which was designed by Dr. Louis A. Stimson, the house surgeon, is operated by electricity. From the moment a patient arrives until he is on the high road to recovery, he is lifted and carried about and laid down by electric force. Not only is this more gentle for the patient, but it saves the strength of the employes, especially if the patient is a big man. The method of treating sunstroke has been completely changed of late. Formerly hot cloths and plasters were applied to the extremities to draw the blood from the head and so reduce the temperature. Ice water baths form the basis of the new cure.

Both the apparatus and the method of treatment can best be described by taking Collins' case. He is an Irishman, 24 years old. He was offered work by a contractor tearing down a building and accepted it, although he was not fit for such heavy labor, and in no condition to stand such heat as that which prevailed recently.

He suffered much that day, but kept at work. About two o'clock he began to stagger and suddenly fell unconscious. An ambulance was called, and the surgeon saw it was a case of sunstroke, so hurried his patient to the House of Relief.

By the time he reached the hospital his temperature had reached 109 degrees. He was carried to the operating room. Here he was carefully rolled into a hammock. This hammock is supported by two iron bars on the sides, as if the man were lifted in a blanket. The head is kept a little higher than the feet. The bars connect with an electric crane, which will carry 900 pounds, running on a track fastened to the roof. A switch in the wall, turned on the electric force, and the hammock, with Collins in it, was lifted from the floor. It was guided across the room and stopped over a tub filled with ice water, near which was another tub containing big chunks of ice.

The hammock was lowered, and Collins was soon immersed in the tub of ice water with the exception of his face. Pieces of ice were piled in and about his head, and the first stage of the treatment was begun. Collins was kept in the tub thirty-five minutes. The physician stood beside him carefully recording his temperature. The ice water treatment is quick and effective. Within a few minutes there was a change, and in a quarter of an hour the temperature of the body began to fall. In half an hour it had gone down several degrees, though still above normal, and five minutes later the signal was given, the electricity turned on and Collins lifted out of his icy bath.

This time the force was kept on, and the hammock was lifted to the roof. Here a peculiar tent has been erected. It is of iron, being, in fact, a wire tent surrounded with a strong iron fence and covered with an awning. The fence prevents any possibility of a delirious patient jumping off the roof.

Collins was rolled out of the hammock on to a cot. He was still unconscious, but the doctor said he would be all right, and, after fixing the awnings so as to afford necessary shelter left him in charge of nurse to "sleep it off" in the fresh air.

Four hours later Collins woke up. He felt very weak, but his temperature was normal and his mind clear. From that time his treatment was that of a convalescent.—Recorder.

The Earldom of Menteith.

As the pending claim of a gentleman resident in Toronto to the ancient honors of the Grahams of Menteith has appeared in the press, the following facts may be made known. The claimant, Mr. George Marshall Graham, is the son of the late Mr. James Graham, J.P., D.L., of Leitchtown, in the Stewartry of Menteith, Perthshire, by his second wife, Isabella Murdoch, only child of William Marshall, captain in H.E.I. Company's army. About forty years ago Mr. James Graham unfortunately found it neccessary to part with the family estates, for which purpose he got the entail broken, with the consent of his heir, the late Lieutenant J. E.N. Graham, R.N., afterwards of the U. S.N., and with the sanction of the Court of Session. Mr. Graham then retired to Canada, and died here in 1861. When he inherited the paternal lands of Leitchtown they were worth £2,500 a year, and [illegible] for [illegible] fortune [illegible] West India proprietor, and three generations of the family had been connected with the West Indies from the time the present representative's great-grandfather went west at the beginning of the century. The beautiful domain of Leitchtown, hard by the romantic Lake of Menteith, came into the family 250 years ago, and prior to this they had been at Grahamstown, in the Barony of Redhock, contiguous thereto. Grahamstown [illegible] part of the Leitchtown estate to this day, and what remains of the whole is now called Blairhoyle, an attractive and charming seat of, it is understood, about 1,[illegible] acres. The name is the modern [illegible] or Blairchoill, the ancient name of Leitchtown. Mr. George Graham's right to the dignities in question was [illegible] by his relative, Mr. Walter [illegible] Easton, younger, of [illegible], on the Water of Rye, Ayrshire. Mr. Easton takes a deep interest in all matters [illegible] to archaeology, and is a keen student in historical research. It may here be said the main feature of the new claim was the discovery of two [illegible] hitherto entirely overlooked by all genealogists who had enquired into the Menteith history. The effect of this is to change the Leitchtown descent from Walter Graham of Gartur and make it from Walter Graham of Lochtown, showing themselves to be descended from Walter, both the Leitchtown and Gartur families, after the loss of papers during the rebellion of 1715, [illegible] the [illegible]. All this will be demonstrated in the proper place; but instead of [illegible] Leitchtown had been the senior branch. They had a common ancestor in Walter of Lochtown. Since 1818 the Gartur family has been extinct. Mr. Easton will also demonstrate that the present [illegible] of the Menteith [illegible] is manifestly a false one; and their pretensions to the [illegible] claim.

Special to The Times.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—It is the belief among naval officers that Japan will use a large part of war indemnity which China is to pay her, for the purpose of materially increasing her navy. The financial resources of Japan will be very abundant during the coming year, as she will receive over $100,000,000 before next May and thereafter about $20,000,000 a year for five years. This will be drawn from China and will be in addition to Japan's usual receipts from customs.

CORNELL'S COLLAPSE.

The American College Crew Finished a Poor Race and Were Hissed.

Special to the Times.

HENLEY ON THAMES, July 10.—Trinity Hall and Cornell started on the fourth heat of the trials for the Grand Challenge Cup at 12.30. At the half mile Cornell was leading, but Trinity Hall run the race by eight lengths, the Cornell crew being utterly exhausted at the finish. As the Cornell boat crossed the finish line Fennell tumbled from his seat in a dead faint.

When the Cornell men reached the finish line they were greeted with groans and hisses. They made a miserable showing after the first half mile nearly every man in the boat dropping his oar at different times. They rowed like a lot of schoolboys and the spectators who lined the shore were delighted to see them in this dilemma after the manner in which they got the race from the Leanders yesterday. At the hotels the English oarsmen roundly damned the Americans and said they could expect nothing better from an American crew. Hall, the Canadian who sat in the Cornell boat, did the best work of the crew and he is deserving of all praise.

The concensus of opinion is that the Americans were hopelessly overtrained, but they admit that they are no match for the Englishmen.

In the fifth heat for the Grand Challenge Cup New College beat Eton.

In the second heat for the Steward's challenge cup the London Rowing Club won from New college, Oxford, but they had a much easier race than when they met the Argonauts, of Canada.

In the third heat for the Stewards Challenge Cup the Thames crew beat the Leanders.

Italian Warships.

LONDON, July 10.—The Italian squadron, comprising nine warships, arrived at Spithead at 10.30 o'clock this morning. The Italian royal yacht Savoy, with the Admiral, the Duke of Genoa, commanding the squadron, on board, led the fleet and fired a salute, to which the garrison battery replied. The Italian ships then steamed around the English fleet, the crews of which manned the rigging and cheered as the visitors' vessels passed. The Italian bands played the English national anthem and the English musicians played Italian airs. The Italian ships anchored below the lines of the British fleet, and visits were exchanged by the English and Italian Admirals.

AN APRIL FOOL.

"'Spose it wasn't a joke?" he said, nervously.

"But it is."

"It needn't be. I'd be ready enough to fall into their plans if you—could get some one else to play the march!"

"What for?" she asked, stupidly.

"I should want you to keep me in countenance. Let me tell you, Polly Basset, I'm in earnest. If you think you could be happy with a rough old fellow like me, let's turn the joke on 'em."

Miss Basset was a little late, and her lessons were all failures that day. She saw the young people working away in the church, and she noticed Jack and Jill among the others. Somehow they seemed to enjoy it more than the others. After school she met Jack.

"I find I cannot play at the wedding," she said, "but one of my pupils will do so."

Jack thanked her and went on.

"I'm afraid I shall die, Jack."

"Wait until it's all over, Jill. I want you to see them waiting, and then I want you to hear what Uncle Bert has to say when he comes home. We must sympathize with him of course. We must keep on the good side of Uncle Bert, you know."

Wednesday came, and the church was ready. At twilight the old sexton lighted the lamps, and the village began to cram itself within the festooned walls.

Jill came in leaning on Jack's arm. She was lovely in her light dress, and looked modest and demure as is becoming to the young wedding guest. Jack chewed his mustache, and refrained from looking at her. Curiosity was the prevailing sentiment.

"Who is the bride?" whispered one fat old lady to another.

"The land knows; I hain't heard."

"Is she coming from the city?" asked a third. No one knew. The whispers were all questions.

The tall, stately minister walked sedately up the aisle, and seated himself with slow dignity inside the altar railing.

He looked out over his assembled people with what he evidently hoped to be a joyous smile, well suited to the happy occasion. Over his head swung the enormous calla lily that was supposed to suggest the "marriage bell."

Jill covered her face with both hands. Jack coughed. Even the organist was waiting with her eyes on the church door.

The "relations" sat in a gloomy row, disapproval on every face.

And now the organist turned her eyes quickly from the door to her notes, and her fingers fell upon the keys with a nervous crash that brought Jack almost to his feet. Then he and Jill looked at each other. But the music struggled on, and a very fine ear and a very good memory might have recognised the great master's wedding march.

Uncle Bert was coming slowly, but surely, up the aisle, and little Miss Basst was beside him, her small, gloved hand on his arm, and the plumes of her pretty gray hat touching his shoulder! The minister met them, and the ceremony began. And Jack and Jill gazed with big, horror-stricken eyes.

Smiles grew on the faces of the people as they realized that little Miss Basset was the bride. But despair claimed Jack and Jill for its own. Neither spoke until they were safe in Jill's parlor.

"What have we done!" wailed poor Jill.

"We've got a tumble, Jill, just as I predicted."

"It's your fault, Jack. I do wish you had never thought of such a foolish thing. I dare say your clumsy bungling did it all. I never will trust you again as long as I live!"

"I'm awfully sorry, but don't you remember—"

"No, I don't remember a single thing. We've lost Elmwood, just by your folly."

"And have I lost you also, Jill?" very gravely.

Jill turned to him smiling through her tears. "No, Jack; 'Dame Jill had the job to plaster his knob.' I'll try to make up for it somehow. It was my fault, after all, and, Jack, it has cured me. I shall never get you into mischief again. But we won't let anybody know."—Mary Wilson, in Housekeeper.

Trying the New Horse.

When the new purchase—harnessed, we will assume, to a two seated wagon—is brought around for the first drive, he is received in gloomy silence, the young ladies being disgusted with his color. They expected a strawberry roan, or at least a rich bay, whereas he is of a shade which they stigmatize at once as "yellow ocher." The eldest son, who by continually frequenting the nearest livery stable has acquired some reputation in the family as a horseman, would be glad to suggest curb, or quarter crack, or weakness in the off knee, but being overawed by the superior authority of the vet he contents himself with a critical examination of the animal's eye, in which he professes to discover a spirit of devilish malignity that bodes ill for life and limb.

Cheered by this prophecy, the family take their seats, paterfamilias firmly grasping the reins and prepared for the worst. The first drive with a new horse is commonly one of silent and resolute anticipation. That the animal will behave well no one expects. The only doubt is as to whether he will stand still and kick, run away or suddenly develop some incurable disease, but as mile after mile is slowly but steadily reeled off without accident, the horse exhibiting no special depravity and no signs of lameness, the spirits of the paterfamilias rise. He touches the new steed with his whip, cuts out an express wagon in grand style and finally brings up with a flourish at the home curbstone.

Already the new horse has passed from the awful region of the mysterious to that of the homely and familiar, and now presents himself to the imagination of his owners not as an unknown brute, but as a faithful Dobbin, destined, let us hope, to a long and useful career.—Century.

Gave His Portrait.

The king of Belgium, when walking one day, called at a farmhouse and asked for a glass of milk. While he was drinking it, he heard the hostess say to her husband in Flemish: "I wonder what that long-nosed Englishman will give us for the milk?" Whereupon the king took out a five-franc piece, and handed it to the woman, saying in Flemish: "Allow me to offer you the portrait of the long-nosed Englishman."—Youth's Companion.

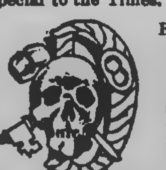
Often you have flowers with stems so short that there is not a dish in the house they will stay in. Then just try this scheme: Cut a piece of wide-meshed net just big enough to fit inside a jar or bowl. Fill it with water and stick the flowers in through the meshes.

FIVE WERE CREMATED.

EMPLOYEES OF A DETROIT LIVERY STABLE BURNED TO DEATH.

Three of Them Were Canadians—Cooped in a Death Trap in the Fourth Story of a Blazing Building.

Special to the Times.



DETROIT, July 10—In the livery stable of G. F. Case, No. 41 West Congress st., a brick four storey structure fire broke out at 2 o'clock this morning. All the employes were lodged and fed in the building. On the fourth floor were sleeping accommodations for 25 men. How many held bed last night is not definitely known but five horrible burned and charred bodies three of whom are those of Canadians, are at the morgue awaiting burial and one other known person is missing. There were many narrow escapes and heroic rescues by the firemen and police. The following are the victims:

JOHN SHAW, driver, 35 years, came from Canada some time ago.

JOHN BOWMAN, second cook, aged 20, formerly of Bay City.

THOMAS WEBB, painter, aged 55 years, came here from London, Ont., where he leaves a widow, besides a son in this city.

JAMES R. SHAW, harness maker, aged 27, has relatives at Caledonia, Ont.

CHARLES DAVIS, a hostler, is known to have been in the building when the fire started, and has not been since seen. His body is supposed to be in the ruins.

There were about 80 horses stabbed in the basement, all of which were gotten out with the exception of C. A. Greaves' Ethel G., valued at $1,000 and one of less value. Many vehicles of all descriptions together with harnesses and other livery appointments were destroyed.

James Cummings, aged 18, a stableman, reached a window on the top floor but was overcome by the smoke and flames and fell headlong through the window to the street. He was badly injured and may die.

The total loss will be $100,000, partially covered by insurance.

JUST LIKE HIM.

Mr. Gladstone Writes Another Thoroughly Characteristic Message.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 10.—The Westminster Gazette a few days ago asked Mr. Gladstone to write a message to the people, to be displayed upon magic lantern slides, together with cartoons and election news at the National Liberal club.

Mr. Gladstone complied with the request by sending the following:

HAWARDEN, July 5th, 1895.

Above all other present purposes vindicate the rights of the House of Commons as the organ of the nation, and establish the honor of England as well as consolidate the strength of the Empire by conceding the just and constitutional claims of Ireland.

HAD NO RAILWAY SHARES.

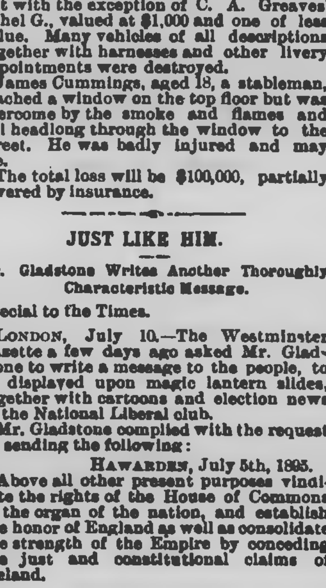
But had a Cinch on Mines Reached by a Bonused Railway.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 10.—The Hon. John Costigan admitted in the Public Accounts Committee this morning that he purchased Gypsum Mines reached by the Tobique Railway. The purchase was made on May 12th, 1890, and on May 13th a subsidy was brought down in Parliament. A few days ago, it will be remembered, the Minister indignantly denied that he had any shares in the Tobique Railway, but now it appears he was at least indirectly benefitted by the construction of the line which was so liberally aided by the Government.

Col. Vasailiadas and Col. Smolenz, Paris, will fight a duel on account of a dispute in the Chamber.

Peter Fleming was fatally injured at a barn raising in Peel county.



"THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE IS HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE."

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way."

And another thus:

"If you dumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

BROAD TIRE WAGONS.

There is No Reason Why they Should Not be Used Everywhere.

While the subject of good roads is being agitated in every part of the country those most interested in the subject are doing their best to make bad roads still worse by using narrow tires on their wagons. Heavy loads are drawn over our mud roads on these narrow-tired wagons and deep ruts cut into them, and in wet weather make them almost, and sometimes entirely, impassable. I have a sort of pity for a man who urges his team along a muddy road, all the time grumbling about the badness of it, when he might reduce the labor of his team from one-third to one-half by using wide tires at very little additional cost to himself and to the great saving of team and temper. It is to be hoped that the first legislation looking to the improvement of the roads of the country will be in the way of encouraging the use of wide tires, for one narrow-tired wagon will do more damage than a dozen with wide tires if the roads are at all soft. No one disputes the philosophy of wide tires, and no one seems to have any good reason to offer why they should not be used. Our farmers simply follow precedent and go on using narrow tires because their fathers did before them. Lumbermen and freighters use wide tires almost universally and save money by doing so, but it seems that farmers do not care to economize in this direction. The condition of our roads costs us more than any other single item of waste in this country, and the common use of wide tires would reduce this waste of energy to a large extent.—American Farmer and Farm News.

Potatoes Instead of Cedar.

The low prices of cedar paving timber and railway ties of late years, says the Manitoulin Guide, is leading some of our well-to-do farmers to considering the above subject with a considerable degree of earnestness, and already some of them are beginning to talk and figure on the probable profits on a ton, fifteen, or twenty acre field of potatoes and report says that one of our old timber buyers is talking up the practicability of making contracts for potatoes in large quantities to be delivered at good shipping places, for which at least twenty-five cents could be paid in cash. This is considered a fair price in the fall of the year in most places. The objection is often raised that a few hundred bushels would stock any market in the district, and so it possibly might, but it takes more than a few hundred bushels to stock Chicago or a dozen other large cities and they could be shipped to at a much lower rate of freight than they can from the east. The trouble is not that there are too many grown, but that there is not enough to pay a boat to call for them; all that is needed is the quantity and we would soon have buyers.

FOUR DROWNED IN NEW YORK.

Two Women and a Man Fell off a Wharf—A Would be Rescuer.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Two men and two women were drowned in the east river last night as a result of recklessness. Two of the women and one of the men were laughing, joking, and struggling on one of the piers. Suddenly, no one knows how it happened, they were precipitated into the river. Their names are unknown. The fourth person drowned was a young man heroically tried to rescue them. His name is given as Micheal O' Neil.

COMMENDABLE PROMPTITUDE.

A Resident of St. John, N. B., Makes a Successful trial of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

ST. JOHN, N. B. July 8.—Mr. Robert Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the Kidneys for over seven years, and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking thre boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health.

IS IT A MURDER?

Kent County Promises a Mystery for the Detectives to Unravel.

Special to the Times.

CHATHAM, July 11.—Dr. Oliver, of Merlin, came to this city yesterday and reported to Crown Attorney Douglas that there had been found in the woods not far from his village the remains of an adult human being, partially consumed by fire.

The circumstances are considered so suspicious that Dr. Bray was consulted by the Crown Attorney, and finally empowered to hold an inquest. Detective McRener leaves for the scene today, and Dr. Bray will go out on Saturday. It is the belief in the vicinty that a murder has been committed, and the prepetrator sought to cover up his crime by burning the body of his victim.

MRS. BARNUM MAY MARRY.

Rumor Mentions a Wealthy Englishman as the Suitor.

Special to the Times.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 11.—The rumor that Mrs. P. T. Barnum contemplates matrimony, although several times started and denied, has been put in active circulation again. Marina, Mrs. Barnum's handsome residence at this place, is to be sold. This is thought to give some color of truth to the report, as the alleged favored suitor is said to be a rich Englishman. Mrs. Barnum was in the south of Italy for nearly a year. She returned a few weeks ago and immediately began disposing of her household effects. Some of the more valuable were sent abroad. Mr. Prindle, her agent, secured for her temporary use a fine pair of horses and a coachman, as her stay is to be short. When Mrs. Barnum went abroad last she was in mourning. She came back with a wardrobe of exquisite French gowns, and is looking exceptionally well. It was said she wanted to sell Marina because the climate does not agree with her, and she enjoys better health at Southampton, at the home of her father, John Fish. Mrs. Barnum looks to be hardly thirty. Besides Marina, which cost $300,000, and an annuity of $40,000, she has $1,000,000.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

REPAIRING COUNTRY ROADS.

Under the Present System a Great Deal of Money is Wasted.

A correspondent of the Uxbridge Journal says that it has been noticed by all intelligent persons of late years that the present system of road repair is not a good one. A great deal of money is spent whilst but very poor returns are realized. Pathmasters are appointed from among the farmers, and in nine cases out of ten the man appointed knows little enough about the work which he is appointed to oversee, and in many cases he knows almost nothing at all about the matter. Let me cite an instance. Not very far from here a farmer was appointed as pathmaster for last year. He had work to the value of fully $50 to expend on his beat. It will be remembered that during last June a very heavy rain fell. It was during the intervals of this rain that the above pathmaster had his statute labor performed. The result may be easily imagined. The labor expended was totally lost, and the road was left in a worse condition than it was in the first place. Thus not only was the money lost, but additional money had to be taken from the municipal funds to render the road passable.

Another phase of the subject may be seen in the irregular manner in which the work is done. The pathmaster calls out his men and some of them come and some of them don't. Then the overseer has to be continually running after the delinquents, and there are cases where the road list has not been returned for three years. All the thanks that the pathmaster gets for doing his duty is the abuse of his neighbors, with whom it is to his interest to be on friendly terms.

Then did anybody ever watch the men "working for the Queen?" Perhaps if the muscular force used in keeping the tongue going was applied to the use of the shovel there might be better results. Of course this is not always the case. On some beats there are men who take a pride in keeping their section in good shape. But unfortunately these sections do not predominate. Nobody is particularly interested because nobody has any incentive to make a thorough job of the work in hand, and the man who gets the least for his work is the man who acts as overseer. I feel fully convinced that if the statute labor were abolished and a tax paid by the farmers, of even fifty cents per day for every day of statute labor to be done by him (the regular tax for unperformed statute labor being seventy-five cents), and the money applied under the guidance of skilled overseers, we should then have far superior roads than we have at present.

There may be some objections offered, but it seems to me that such objections may be easily overcome, and there are few farms that would not be benefited by the labor which is now put on the roads. Our farms, for the want of labor, are in a great many cases running down and becoming a burden to the man who owns them.

Death of Captain Bottum.

The death of Captain Bottum, ex-warden of Victoria county and for many years reeve of Bobcaygeon, occurred at Bobcaygeon yesterday afternoon after a lingering illness. Deceased is widely known in Peterborough where he has a host of friends. It is probable that a special boat will run to Bobcaygeon on Saturday, to enable those in Peterborough to attend the funeral who desire to do so.

His Departure Regretted.

Rev. Father Scanlan, who has been assisting Vicar Gen. Laurent as curate of this parish for the last couple of years, received notice this morning of his impending transfer to the Cathedral, Peterborough. Rev. Michael McGuire, of the Cathedral, will fill the vacancy. The news will be received with regret by the large congregation, who have learned fo appreciate Father Scanlan very highly.—Lindsay Post.

Cow on the Track.

This morning between 7 and 8 o'clock, says the Lindsay Post, a cow by some means reached the centre of the Grand Trunk iron bridge which crosses the river, and became fast, all four feet dropping between the ties. A couple of men noticed her and flagged the regular Port Hope freight, due here at 8 a.m. It was with some difficulty that the animal was lifted up; she then had to be thrown on her back and drawn to the end of the bridge.

A Pastor Complimented.

We took a drive out to Centreville on Sunday evening last and heard the Rev. Mr. MacWilliams of Peterborough, preach an anniversary sermon in the Presbyterian church. He gave a powerful sermon to a large audience. We must congratulate the Presbyterians upon their handsome and commodious place of worship, and their excellent choir, whose service of song added much to the spirit of the meeting. We were also struck with the preponderance of good looking ladies in the congregation.—Millbrook Reporter.

Look Out for Fakirs.

The sage of the Whitby Chronicle gives this little bit of advice, which is worth repeating, for there are some foolish ones even in Peterboroug; "Now, boys look here. Come let us reason together. These are nice evenings, and almost any night now you may look for a fakir to light his torch on the street corners. He will spend a long time fixing it, and you will almost fancy the thing is out of kilter and wont burn. But it will, nevertheless. He uses delay to advertise, and can make that torch burn whenever he is so inclined. When it does finally flicker brilliantly he will commence to talk glibly. He will have a remedy that will cure warts, yank teeth without pain or something else. And he will have jewellery, and a great scheme for the boys to make money and him to lose it. He will start with a simple device and a lot of talk, and he will get his schemes more complicated after a time until it will finally turn out that he has faked the boys out of a lot of money, and given them no value. He will then put out his light and those who have bitten his habits will see what fools they are and how clever the fakir is."

Hood's Makes Them Healthy.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has been used in our family for a long time. I regard it as the best family medicine. My children are using it every day and the effect has been to make them feel and look perfectly healthy." Albert Chamberlin, City Inspector, No. 333 Parliament street, Toronto, Canada.

Over 41,000 Societies With a Total Membership of 2,473,740.

The annual report of John Willis Baer was read at 11.30 yesterday morning before the Christian Endeavor convention in Boston. The report was simultaneously read by Secretary Caer in Mechanics building by Rev. John Barstow, Medford, Mass., in Tent Williston, and by Mr. J. E. Cheesman, Cleveland, Ohio, in Tent Endeavor. The report speaks of the societies as spokes in the Boston "hub." Last year our wheel was strengthened by 7,750 new societies, making in all 41,229. Of these 4,712 are from other lands.

"And now the 'spokes' from the Dominion of Canada come into view, Ontario, with her remarkable growth of last year, leads with 1,995; Nova Scotia, 388; Quebec, 264; New Brunswick, 152; Manitoba, 156; Prince Edward Island, 62; Assiniboia, 53; British Columbia, 40; Alberta, 15; Saskatchewan, 5. In all, counting 5 in Newfoundland, 3,105, an increase of 1,223 during the past year."

As to junior societies, there are 8,850 in the United States, 339 in Canada and 224 in other lands, making in all 9,122 junior societies, with a membership of 340,000. The total of 41,229 societies has an individual membership from every climate and every nation, with skins of varying color, of which 480 are red. 20,300 are yellow, 100,400 are black and 2,342,560 are white—in all a great interracial brotherhood of 2,473,740.

They Had Nerve.

The night clerk in a George street drug store was awakened about 5 o'clock the other morning by two prosperous looking strangers, who took seats in front of the soda fountain. The clerk sleepily advanced to take their orders, which, judging from appearances, should have been for something high priced.

"Can you lend us two glasses of water and a couple of spoons?" blandly asked one of the visitors.

The clerk's mind was not working very clearly, and he obeyed.

Then one of the strangers took from his pocket a box of lemonade capsules, which contain citric acid in a powdered form and one of which is supposed to hold the ingredients for one glass of lemonade. He gravely poured the contents of the two capsules into the glasses, they were stirred with the spoons and the contents slowly absorbed.

The clerk was wide awake by this time. "Won't you have some sugar to sweeten your lemonade with?" he asked, with an attempt at sarcasm.

"No, thank you," replied one of the pair. "We carry our own beverages with us mainly for the reason that drug store drinks are usually too sweet to be wholesome."

The strangers had got a block away from the store before the clerk was able to get his profanity-cells in working order.

Band Concert Last Night.

A large crowd attended the band concert in Inverlea Park last night. The band rendered the following program:

March—"The Empire State Express,"	W. H. Ayers
Lancers—"Universal"	T. H. Wright
Fantasia—"Ould Ireland"	Hare
Schottische—"Orange Blossoms"	Schroeder
Polka—"The Echoes of Mont Blanc"	J. Hartman
Valse—"Sospiri"	J. Ivanovici
March—"Maplewood"	Lewis
Galop—"Four-in-hand"	Ed. Beyer

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Items of Interest Intelligently Presented for Busy Readers.

The Glorious Twelfth.

Hay sold in Cobourg, last week, at $9 a ton.

Fishing in Rice Lake has not been good so far this summer.

The Orangemen will form in procession this morning and march to the train.

Five persons were fined at Lakefield, last week, for failing to provide tags for their dogs.

The Otonabee Canoe Club will hold an illuminated canoe parade on Thursday night next.

Little Veenie Ray was knocked down by a delivery wagon on Stewart street yesterday, and sustained a few cuts and scratches.

Commodore Calcutt's new pleasure steamer, the North Star, made a satisfactory trial trip around the Little Lake yesterday.

Swindlers continue their games apparently with the greatest ease. They must be strangers, however, local men being too well known and would not be trusted if they offered two dollars for one. The latest:—A fellow visited back of Toronto and induced a lot of farmers to furnish him with 12 cars of ties, posts, etc., which he shipped to the city. He is now under arrest.

The bills are being printed for the St. Thomas church and Presbyterian union Sunday schools excursion and picnic, of Millbrook on July 25, to Idyl Wild, via train to Peterborough and boat down the river and through Rice lake to the beautiful summer resort. Those who wish can stop at Jubilee. This will be a new trip and is certainly picturesque and the boat accommodation is first class.—Reporter.

A dangerous practice is that of smoking in bed. One night last week a gent in a hotel laid his cigar upon a cane seated chair and dropped off asleep. The cane caught fire and in due time a hole was burned large enough to allow a burning lamp to drop through. The oil added to the flame, and had not a guest in the next room discovered the accident at once the consequences might have been serious indeed.—Colborne Express.

THE BUSINESS WORLD.

Changes and Failures Throughout all Ontario.

S. Tapscott & Co., drugs, Brantford, have dissolved.

James Haybow, of Oxford East, has assigned to Sheriff Brady, of Woodstock

H. P. Abrams, hotelkeeper, Verona, has assigned to D. F. Armstrong.

H. Baker, hotel, Watford, has sold out.

John Jones, tailor, Kingston, is dead.

Fell Into a Cellar.

On Sunday afternoon, Mr. Robt. White, who resides on the English line in Seymour east, was the victim of a serious accident as he entered the residence of his son in law, Mr. T. J. Naylor. Just inside the door was a open trap door to the cellar which Mr. White did not notice and stepping into it he fell sideways, striking his head against the floor, and tumbled to the bottom of the steps in an unconscious state. When he was picked up immediately afterwards, it was found that he had received two cuts on the head. A phyician was called, and it was fully an hour before the injured man recovered his senses. No bones were broken.

No Traces of Poison.

An analysis has been completed by Prof. Ellis of the contents of the stomach of Mrs. Foote, whose death it was supposed had been caused by poison. Prof. Ellis was unable to find any trace of poison of any kind. The particulars of the case have already been given in the TIMES. It will be remembered that Mrs. Nelson lived with a man named Foote near Colborne, and her paramour took up with another woman. The two women lived in a shanty a couple of days, when Mrs. Nelson died, and it was suspected that sugar of lead had been given to her. Foote is still in jail charged with stealing a pair of boots.

His Pastorate Ended.

Rev. Father Connolly who was placed in charge of the Roman Catholic congregation in Campbellford, less than a year and a half ago, must bow in obedience to the Right Reverend Bishop O'Connor who has called him to Hastings. Father Connolly made the announcement in the church here on Sunday last, and spoke in the kindest terms of the people to whom he has ministered during his rather brief pastorate. He said he was not in a position to name his successor, but it would be made known next Sunday, when he would officiate for the time in Campbellford. We have been informed that Rev. Father McCluskey of Wooler, will succeed him. Father McCluskey held mass at the church at 7 o'clock on Monday morning.

A Midnight Alarm.

Just as the clock was striking the midnight hour last night, the strokes were quickened into an alarm of fire, and at the same time the hose wagon dashed to the corner of Stewart and Dalhousie streets where box 1 is located and from which box the alarm had been sent in. Upon arrival the firemen fonnd that the box had been broken in and the alarm had been pulled by some unknown person or persons for a joke. Natually the firemen who had been routed out from their beds, were very much incensed. The practice of sending in false alarms has been altogether too frequent of late, and if the parties who delight in calling out the fire brigade on false runs, are caught, they will have the hose turned on them in the shape of a substantial fine.

Teach the Children How to Swim.

Now that thousands of school children are free to seek recreation when and where they may, drowning accidents are being plentifully recorded in the daily papers. One reason for this is that the majority of the youth of Canada have not yet mastered the art of swimming. It is self-evident that a majority of the drowning accidents could be prevented if everybody venturing on the water in a boat, or in for a bathe, knew how to swim; and this is a state of things that should not be allowed to continue. The natural desire to "play in the water" during hot weather leads many boys to go off surreptitiously with companions to endeavor to learn the natatory knack. That they occasionally get drowned while in pursuit of it is not to be wondered at. Not only boys but girls should be taught to swim just as soon as they are old enough to kick. No exercise is so healthful, none so useful. If girls are ambitious to ride a bicycle, why not be equally zealous in acquiring the more advantageous are of learning how to swim? There are few really good lady swimmers. What is required is proper instructions for these young gaffirs until they are sufficiently versed in the art of swimming to strike out for themselves. In England most towns of the size of Peterborough have free swimming baths and capable instructors, and as a result most English boys are able to swim like ducks by the time they are twelve years of age. If Peterborough had well-conducted swimming baths it would be a boon to hundreds of youth of both sexes, and a great relief to anxious parents. Until something is done by way of teaching our crowds of youngsters to swim the melancholy list of drowning accidents will increase every year

WITH THE SPORTS.

The clothing clerks have issued a challenge to the grocery clerks to play a game of lacrosse for fun, money, or marbles, at any time within a week or so, as after that date they are contemplating a tour of the province.

Entries for the second ten mile handicap road race of the Toronto Bicycle Club, to be held on Saturday next at 4 o'clock, close at 8 p.m., on Friday. The race will be held over the Kingston Road course, from the five to the ten mile post and return.

Five hundred people saw the races of the Sarnia Bicycle Club at Bayview Park Wednesday evening. Vidal won the mile novice, Longheed the one third mile and mile open, and Sanberg, of Port Huron, the two mile handicap. Longheed cut down the track record from 2.10 to 2.06 3.5.

Each day adds some new virtues to the long list of those already credited to the pneumatic. The latter of these is that the wheels of a bicycle being encircled by a band of India rubber and dry air—which is a perfect insulator—the rider is completely insulated from the earth, and consequently is impervious to the attacks of the electric fluid. Thus day by day it becomes more and more a fact that life without a bicycle is neither safe nor worth having.

The Bargain has been Closed.

It is now definitely known that the Northumberland Paper Mills have been sold, negotiations for the same having been closed last week. Mr. Mulholland, of Toronto, is the purchaser, but whether he will conduct the business alone or form a company to operate it, remains to be learned. He and three other gentlemen were in Campbellford, on Saturday, on business in connection with the property, and a canvass of the country is to be made to see what quantity of straw can be secured. If a favorable report be received, operations may be resumed at no distant date. Some repairs are necessary about the premises which will require three or four weeks to complete. We understand that the price paid for the property is very much below the amount of the mortgage held against it.—Campbellford Herald.

A POINTER.

If you want the Best Bread at 12 cents a loaf, you can get it by having Bates' wagon call. It is a delicious treat after using the ordinary spongy, tart loaf. We deliver promptly and sell for cash same price as cheaper bread, or you can get it at any reliable grocers in town, or from G. Emmerson, Weir, or Doxee, Ashburnham. Every loaf bears our stamp; beware of imitations!

Twenty Thousand Roses.

There are nearly 20,000 rose trees in bloom now at Dunlop's conservatories Bloor-st. west, Toronto. Visitors are always well come. Mr. Dunlop is proud of his establishment and takes pleasure in speaking of his beauties. He ships them by mail and express to all parts of Canada, and as these orders are filled direct from the trees, he guarantees them to arrive in good condition. Tenders FOR Indian Timber Limits

SEALED TENDERS will be received by the undersigned up to noon of Friday, the 30th August, next for the green standing pine, spruce and tamarac timber over nine inches in diameter at the stump, and all dead and fallen timber, on the Temiscamingue Indian Reserve, which contains an area of 69 square miles and is situated at the head of Lake Temiscamingue, in the County of Pontiac, in the Province of Quebec.

And also sealed tenders for the green standing pine over nine inches in diameter at the stump, and all dead and fallen timber, on the Wahnapitae Indian Reserve situated on the north shore of Lake Wahnapitae, in the District of Nipissing, in the Province of Ontario, containing an area of four square miles.

Each tenderer shall state the sum he is willing to pay in cash as a bonus for each limit over and above the ordinary Crown dues chargeable under tariff of the Department, and there shall accompany each tender an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion in favour of the undersigned for TEN PER CENT. of the amount of the tender, which sum shall be forfeited in the case of the failure of the successful tenderer to complete purchase of limit as hereinafter specified; and in the case of unsuccessful tenderers the cheque will be returned.

The successful tenderer shall, within fifteen days from date of notice of acceptance, pay the balance of bonus, together with ground rent and license fee, and furnish satisfactory bonds by himself and two sureties for the proper carrying out of the terms of license.

The purchaser or purchasers will be allowed ten years for the removal of the timber specified in the license, the Department reserving the right to authorize the cutting and removal of timber of other descriptions by the Indians.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Further information as to the rate of dues, &c., can be had on application to the undersigned.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 131 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

WALLACE MAY RESIGN.

HIS SPEECH IS LOOKED UPON AS MERELY PRELIMINARY TO HIS RESIGNATION.

Will He Sacrifice Six Month's Salary or Principle—Maclean of East York Getting up a Bolt on His Own Account.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 12.—Mr. Maclean, of East York, is trying to engineer an Ontario Conservative bolt on Mr. Laurier's resolution, which resolution will declare that the policy of the Government is neither satisfactory nor reassuring. The prospects are that the motion will be overwhelmingly defeated. A Cabinet Minister said this morning it means simply that Laurier is a coward.

STRAIGHT FOR NATIONAL SCHOOLS.

I have it on the best possible authority that the Hon. N. C. Wallace is coming out flat for national schools at today's great Orange demonstration. This is probably only the first step towards his resignation of the Customs' controllership as it is hard to see how he could hold on to his office after making such a declaration.

THURSDAY IN THE HOUSE.

The first noteworthy incident that occurred after the House met, and one which seemed to confirm the rumors of yesterday morning, was the arrival of Sir Adolphe Caron and Mr. Ouimet, who took their old places in the chamber.

Great cheers from a section of the Conservative benches greeted the arrival of the two kickers, but with these were mingled derisive yells from the Opposition of "Take it back!"

GIRONARD WANTS TO KNOW NOW.

Somewhat to the disappointment of the galleries the Opposition leader did not open today's dialogue. It was Mr. Girouard, a Conservative of Cabinet rank, who put the first question to the Ministry.

On the orders of the day being called the member for Jacques Cartier asked the Government if the negotiations with Manitoba would preclude or postpone remedial legislation.

"They will not," replied Mr. Foster shortly.

Then the Finance Minister presented the House with a message from the Governor General to transmitting Manitoba's memorial to Parliament.

FOSTER'S EXPLANATION.

Next the Government leader in the House proceeded to give an official version of the crisis. He said some differences had existed regarding remedial legislation. These differences arose in two lines. Some held that there should be no further negotiations. Others contended that remedial legislation should be introduced at once. The position of the Government was simply as shown in the House the other day. It was simply that Manitoba should have time in which to arrange for an amicable settlement.

ANGERS IS OUT OF IT.

Proceeding, Mr. Foster said be regretted that Mr. Angers had found it impossible to accede to the views of the Government. That Minister still held that remedial legislation should be accepted at once. Consequently, Mr. Angers was no longer a member of the government.

CARON AND OUIMET EAT THE LEEK.

The resignation of the Minister of Agriculture had, Mr. Foster continued, been pressed and accepted. After discussion with the other Ministers, it was found it was simply, so far as they were concerned, a misunderstanding—a disagreement as to details. (Applause and cheers.)

"As to the principle of remedial legislation next session," the speaker went on, "there is no difference in principle. All are agreed, and Caron and Ouimet have wisely and patriotically come to the conclusion that in the statement on Monday last remedial legislation was actually promised and the Government are prepared to carry out the pledge then made."

"Messrs. Caron and Ouimet have," concluded Mr. Foster, "decided that they owe it to the party and to the country to stand with the Government." (Great cheers.)

SIR ADOLPHE EXPLAINS.

Then Sir Adolphe Caron took the floor. The returned kicker said that in view of the assurances just given by Mr. Foster his continued refusal to help the Government to carry out legislation would be sacrificing the interest of the minority and jeopardizing the question. He was satisfied with the pledge of the leader of the House.

OUIMET ALSO SATISFIED.

Mr. Ouimet followed in French. He said: "If I have taken my seat now, it is because I have been assured by assurances of my colleagues that the retarding of legislation will not embarrass the definite and satisfactory settlement of the question.".

LAURIER IS FACETIOUS.

"Once upon a time the old cat came back," said Mr. Laurier. "Today you have a small family of kittens coming back. Three days ago these two Ministers went on a holy war, but now they have given it up. It was a game of bluff."

"We had supposed," continued the Opposition leader, "there was a great crisis. But there was nothing after all but a little matter which was not worth while resigning for."

THERE WAS A WRITTEN PLEDGE!

Laurier asked if the Government had given the written pledge for which Mr. Ouimet was said to be pressing. "Has Foster signed the pledge?" he asked amid cheers. "If he has who knows but that at a future time he may have another moment of weakness."

A SHARP REPLY FROM MONTAGUE.

A further question as to whether Dr. Montague had taken the pledge provoked a sharp reply from the Secretary of State.

"I have," said the latter, "expressed my opinion in a hundred different speeches, but you have not."

But the Leader of the Left went on without heeding the interruption. "What about the Controller?" he asked, "Has he signed the pledge too?" (Cheers). The lesson in all this is that these statesmen have so little confidence in one another that unless they are booked in writing none will trust the other." In concluding Mr. Laurier again moved the adjournment of the House.

A MERE MISUNDERSTANDING.

"There has undoubtedly been a misunderstanding," said Sir Charles Tupper, "and we are generous enough to hope that it will give the Opposition some comfort and alleviate the sad disappointment it has experienced this session. The Liberals are equal to nothing but to conjure up a few jibers and jeers. Today its leader dare not say where he stands on the Manitoba question." (Cheers).

A MOTION OF WANT OF CONFIDENCE.

Mr. Girouard (Jacques Cartier) said the motion to adjourn was a motion of want of confidence. He made a special appeal to his friends from Quebec. If they wanted to prevent justice to Manitoba they would vote for the motion.

BY 116 TO 82 VOTES.

In the discussion that followed Dr. Weldon, Col. Denison and Mr. McNeill took occasion to inform the Government that they cannot vote for legislation intended to force Separate schools on Manitoba.

Finally Mr. Laurier's motion was defeated by 116 to 82, Messrs. Lepine, Jancas, Dugas, Turcotte, Jeannotte, Dupont, Belley, McCarthy and O'Brien voting with the Opposition.

ANGERS STATES HIS POSITION.

In the Senate Mr. Angers declared he had resigned because the Government would not bring down a bill this session. He believed it would have been possible to do so. It is proposed that the Government should enter into negotiations with Manitoba. The law requires that any communication upon the subject should be made to the Legislature. There might not be a session of the Legislature till July, so that it was impossible to consult it by January next.

A QUEBEC CABINET.

In replying to Senator Angers Sir Mackenzie Bowell let fall this important remark: "If my Upper Canadian colleagues think proper, through fear—of which I can safely say it is a quality they do not possess—to retire from the Government on account of the Manitoba school question, if my health remains as it is, I will try and fill the position with gentlemen who hold views on this and other important questions in accordance with my own." This looks as if the Premier is prepared, if necessary, to form a Cabinet composed wholly of Quebec members in order to force Separate schools on Manitoba.

AN ONTARIO BOLT NEXT.

The next bolt will be from among the English-speaking Conservatives. An Ontario Conservative just now said to your correspondent: "The stuation is ten times worse than it was before."

"THE NONPARIEL" A WRECK.

Jack Dempsey Looks as Though he Had But a Short time to Live.

Special to the Times.

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 12.—Jack Dempsey, the ex-champion middleweight pugilist, passed through the city today en route to Portland, Oregon, where he will reside in the future. Dempsey is a physical wreck and looks as though he had but a short time to live.

LAURIER WILL MOVE

A Resolution Directed at the Government—Langevin and at Cabinet.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 12.—In the House this afternoon, on motion to go into supply, Mr. Laurier will advance a resolution, declaring that the statement of the Government on the Manitoba question is neither satisfactory nor reassuring.

No Ministerial announcement has been made respecting the entrance of Sir Hector Langevin to the Cabinet. Haggart has developed strong opposition to the scheme, but other Ministers say he may be brought into line.

ADIEU TO HENLEY.

Argonauts' Leave the Pretty Thames' Side Village—Good Bye for the Canadians.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 12.—The thousands who witnessed the races of the Henley regatta are today discussing the merits of the letters issued by Cornell and Leander, and the consensus of opinion is that the Leanders' statement is the proper account of what occurred. The Cornells' letter is thought to partake somewhat of the character of special pleading. The Cornell men left Henley at three o'clock this afternoon. Their boats were loaded on four trucks attached to the train. The crew have not altered the arrangements to sail for home on July 27th. They will not do any rowing in the interim.

The Argonauts, of Toronto, left Henley this morning. They visited all of the rowing and sporting clubs at Henley last evening and received a great ovation. Later they were entertained at dinner by the Leanders. The Canadians were the most popular of all the visiting crews, though the Dutch crew, of the Nereus Rowing Club, of Amsterdam University, vied with them in popularity. The Dutchmen also left Henley this morning. They will spend a few days in London and then return to Amsterdam. They have announced their intention to come to Henley in 1896 to compete for the Grand Challenge Cup.

A GAME OF CARDS

In Which a Woman Was the Stake—Murdered by Her Husband.

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Having' won back his wife at a game of cards David Ackerman murdered her today. Ackerman and she lived in the hamlet of Mariantown, near Bloomingdale, Passaic County, N, J. He is 32 years old, she was 26 years. Six months ago Mrs. Ackerman ran away from Mariontown with James Utter. After a month the runaways bold returned to Ackerman's house. There was a bitter quarrel. Ackerman threatened to kill them both, but it finally ended in a game of cards for the woman and her husband won. Utter a few days ago resumed his attentions to Mrs. Ackerman. This caused the quarrel resulting in the murder.

High Binder War Again

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—It is feared another "high binder" war has broken out in Chinatown. One Chinaman was shot, and the Chinaman who did the shooting is under arrest, but his organization will have the satisfaction by killing members of the rival organization.

It May Be A Cattle Boat,

LEVIS, Que., July 12.—The captain of the steamship Parkmore reports that on the morning of the 9th, while about 15 miles off Belle Isle Island, he saw a large number of dead cattle and about fifty bales of hay with other wreckage floating. His impression is that if there is a wreck it must certainly be a cattle vessel from Quebec or Montreal.

Will Fight a Duel.

LONDON, July 12.—The Daily News will tomorrow publish a despatch from Paris saying that in consequence of high words exchanged in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon M. Arnaud Danoix, a Republican Deputy, challenged Seraule Richard, Socialist, to fight a duel. The challenge was accepted. The meeting is to take place on Friday.

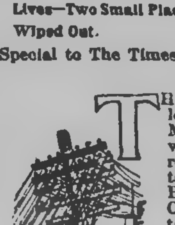
HEMMED IN BY FLAMES.

MICHIGAN LUMBER TOWNS SURROUNDED BY BURNING FOREST FIRES,

People Fighting For Their Property and Lives—Two Small Places Have Already Been Wiped Out.

Special to The Times.

DETROIT, July 12.



THE upper part of the lower peninsula of Michigan was dotted with forest fires. Already the lumber towns of Wallin, in Bensie County, and Cleary, another little town, have been leveled to the ground. Several people have been badly burned, and no one knows how far the damage has extended.

The "Thumb" has been invaded, and the town of Kindee is girded with fire and ashes.

Wallin, as far as can be learned, is actually destroyed. The Sullivan Lumber Company's Mills there and two million feet of lumber were burned, with thirty houses, that made up the little settlement. The people lost all they had.

TWENTY PERSONS INJURED.

Late despatches from Thompsonville show that about twenty persons have been taken there from Wallin, more or less injured. One child is missing from Wallin.

Cleary, a small lumber town, near Wallin has been burned. The fires which have been burning for several days suddenly grew worse yesterday and before the inhabitants were aware of it, they were nearly hemmed in. They made a rush from the burning town and as far as known left no one behind. Several people were badly burned.

A TOWN HEMMED IN.

From Kindee, in the "Thumb," where the great forest fires occurred a few years ago, comes the most alarming reports. Town is surrounded by flames that every moment are sweeping nearer the place. The news as sent from towns near by is that the people of Kindee are wetting the roofs of their houses and plastering the sides with wet blankets in the hope that they may save their property.

It is feared that the town will go, and messages urging the people to flee for their lives have been sent from several places.

DANGER INCREASING.

Reports from Traverse City, Petowskey, Charlevoix, and the other towns, are all of the same tenor—that the fires have been burning for two weeks, and that a sudden strong wind has fanned them into alarming activity.

Already a number of farm houses have been burned and the people are coming into town, telling that they have lost all they had on earth. Aged Father Smoke, one of the remnants of the Chippewa Indians, in the Petowskey region, lost his cabin yesterday.

Late reports from the extreme western end of the State are that there is a little improvement in the situation, but it is feared that the hot cinders have worked havoc among the famous orchards of that vicinity.

2,000 People Homeless,

BERLIN, July 12.—A disastrous conflagration occurred today at Brotterode, a village in Hesse Nassau. Three hundred and fifty houses were destroyed and ten of the villagers were killed while attempting to rescue their valuables. Two thousand people were killed.

Kolapore Cup.

BISLEY CAMP, July 12.—The contest for the Kolapore Cup commences tomorrow. The Canadian teams to shoot for the cup will probably be composed as follows: Lieut. Mitchell, 12th. Battalion; Pte. Rolston, 37th Batt.; Staff Sergt. Simpson, 12th Batt; Capt. Russell. 45th Batt.; Lt. Boville, 43rd Batt.; Pte. Hayhurst, 13th Batt.; Capt. Mercer, Queen's Own Rifles; Sergt.-Major Armstrong, 1st Brigade Field Artillery.

The Canadian team was photographed today.

The Kolapore team will not be named until 7.30 o'clock this evening. Lt. Brent will likely compete on the team instead of Skedden or Armstrong.

Lieut. Bent of the 93rd Battalion scored a possible in the Association cup series at the 600 yards range. Every shot of the seven landed on the bulls eye.

Probably Drowned.

GENEVA, July 12.—Grave apprehension as to the fate of Arthur Cleveland Coxe, of Western New York, and Henry May of Pittaford, junior students at Hobart, is felt here. They started off last Wednesday in a row boat for a leisurely tour on Seneca Lake intending to camp on shore whenever night overtook them. Friday following a capsized boat was found on the east shore near Dey's landing and in it a handkerchief inscribed with May's name.

Yellow Jack,

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The marine department is advised through the United States consul at Port Rico, that yellow fever is raging at that place.

Hayward Murder.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 12.—In the case of Harry Hayward the Supreme Court today filed an order granting a further stay of execution from July 21, pending a decision to be heard on the appeal to be heard at the October term.

The Fatal Level Crossing.

FOSTORIA, Ohio, July 12.—Nathan Goodrich, head clerk at the Toledo and Ohio Central Freight office, was out riding with his wife and son, when about a mile and a half south of this city the carriage was struck by an engine and they were thrown under the wheels. Mrs. Goodrich and the little boy were killed, both being horribly mangled. Mr. Goodrich was seriously hurt, and his recovery is doubtful.

The Cuban Revolt.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The marine hospital service this morning received a report from its representative in Cuba, Dr. Caminero, who has made an examination of all the leading ports in the province of Puerto Principe and Santiago de Cuba. In Puerto Principe, the capital of the first named province, there are about five deaths daily from yellow fever. The military hospitals are crowded with cases, the disease being prevalent in the most malignant form.

At Santiago de Cuba for the week ending June 20 the deaths number 23, but the number of cases are not reported. The death rate, however, has increased in an alarming manner. Two deaths as a result of the fever are reported from Gibara.

The latest:—A fellow visited back of Toronto and induced a lot of farmers to furnish him with 12 cars of ties, posts, etc., which he shipped to the city. He is now under arrest.

The bills are being printed for the St. Thomas church and Presbyterian union Sunday schools excursion and picnic, of Millbrook on July 25, to Idyl Wild, via train to Peterborough and boat down the river and through Rice lake to the beautiful summer resort. Those who wish can stop at Jubillee. This will be a new trip and is certainly picturesque and the boat accommodation is first class.—Reporter.

A dangerous practice is that of smoking in bed. One night last week a gent in a hotel laid his cigar upon a cane seated chair and dropped off asleep. The cane caught fire and in due time a hole was burned large enough to allow a burning lamp to drop through. The oil added to the flame, and had not a guest in the next room discovered the accident at once the consequences might have been serious indeed.—Colborne Express.

Just What's Needed

Exclaims thousands of people who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at this season of the year, and who have noted the success of the medicine in giving them relief from that tired feeling, waning appetite and state of extreme exhaustion after the close confinement of a long winter season, the busy time attendant upon a large and pressing business during the spring months and with vacation time yet some weeks distant. It is then that the building-up powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are fully appreciated. It seems perfectly adapted to overcome that prostration caused by change of season, climate or life, and while it tones and sustains the system, it purifies and vitalizes the blood.

Look Out for Fakirs.

The sage of the Whitby Chronicle gives this little bit of advice, which is worth repeating, for there are some foolish ones even in Peterboroug; "Now, boys look here. Come let us reason together. These are nice evenings, and almost any night now you may look for a fakir to light his torch on the street corners. He will spend a long time fixing it, and you will almost fancy the thing is out of kilter and wont burn. But it will, nevertheless. He uses delay to advertise, and can make that torch burn whenever he is so inclined. When it does finally flicker brilliantly he will commense to talk glibly. He will have a remedy that will cure warts, yank teeth without pain or something else. And he will have jewellery, and a great scheme for the boys to make money and him to lose it. He will start with a simple device and a lot of talk, and he will get his schemes more complicated after a time until it will finally turn out that he has faked the boys out of a lot of money, and given them no value. He will then put out his light and those who have bitten his habits will see what fools they are and how clever the fakir is."

They Had Nerve.

The night clerk in a George street drug store was awakened about 5 o'clock the other morning by two prosperous looking strangers, who took seats in front of the soda fountain. The clerk sleepily advanced to take their orders, which, judging from appearances, should have been for something high priced.

"Can you lend us two glasses of water and a couple of spoons?" blandly asked one of the visitors.

The clerk's mind was not working very clearly, and he obeyed.

Then one of the strangers took from his pocket a box of lemonade capsules, which contain citric acid in a powdered form and one of which is supposed to hold the ingredients for one glass of lemonade. He gravely poured the contents of the two capsules into the glasses, they were stirred with the spoons and the contents slowly absorbed.

The clerk was wide awake by this time. "Won't you have some sugar to sweeten your lemonade with?" he asked, with an attempt at sarcasm.

"No, thank you," replied one of the pair. "We carry our own beverages with us mainly for the reason that drug store drinks are usually too sweet to be wholesome."

The strangers had got a block away from the store before the clerk was able to get his profanity-cells in working order.

Teach the Children How to Swim.

Now that thousands of school children are free to seek recreation when and where they may, drowning accidents are being plentifully recorded in the daily papers. One reason for this is that the majority of the youth of Canada have not yet mastered the art of swimming. It is self-evident that a majority of the drowning accidents could be prevented if everybody venturing on the water in a boat, or in for a bathe, knew how to swim; and this is a state of things that should not be allowed to continue. The natural desire to "play in the water" during hot weather leads many boys to go off surreptitiously with companions to endeavor to learn the natatory knack. That they occasionally get drowned while in pursuit of it is not to be wondered at. Not only boys but girls should be taught to swim just as soon as they are old enough to kick. No exercise is so healthful, none so useful. If girls are ambitious to ride a bicycle, why not be equally anxious in acquiring the more advantageous art of learning how to swim? There are few really good lady swimmers. What is required is proper instructions for these young gaffers until they are sufficiently versed in the art of swimming to strike out for themselves. In England most towns of the size of Peterborough have free swimming baths and capable instructors, and as a result most English boys are able to swim like ducks by the time they are twelve years of age. If Peterborough had well-conducted swimming baths it would be a boon to hundreds of youth of both sexes, and a great relief to anxious parents. Until something is done by way of teaching our crowds of youngsters to swim the melancholy list of drowning accidents will increase every year

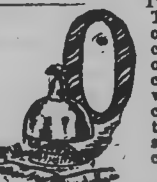
THE CRISIS AT OTTAWA.

ANGERS STILL OUT BUT CARON AND OUIMET RETURN.

Langevin May Supplant the Irreconcilable One—The Excitement Was Most Intense Yesterday—The Galleries Packed.

Special to the Times.



OTTAWA, July 11.—There was no falling off today in the excitement that began on Monday. On the contrary, the tension was greater at the capital this morning then at any time since the present crisis became acute. During the forenoon all sorts of rumors were flying around. It was first stated that Caron had surrendered to the Government's terms and was likely to bring his colleagues into camp with him. Then it was reported that Angers was still irreconcilable and that he was the dominant element among the kickers. One who is close to Frechette, the French Conservative whip added to the latter statement that the clouds appeared to be darkening, while Tarte, on the other hand, declared that the kickers would go back on any terms they could get.

About noon Lord Aberdeen met his Ministers in Council and remained with them about half an hour. To some this looked like a settlement, and to others it indicated dissolution. As soon as the Council broke up the Ministers were promptly surrounded by questioners, but all the satisfaction that could be got was Caron's brief statement: "You will know all in two hours." And with this scanty piece of information the questioners were forced to be content.

IN THE HOUSE.

Long before three o'clock the galleries of the Commons were crowded with hundreds all anxious to hear the daily dialogue between Laurier and Foster, and hoping this time to hear something more exciting than the promise of "tomorrow," which had already been worn thread bare.

All sorts and conditions were represented the artizan and merchant sat side by side, and the black gowned priest and red hot Orangeman were not far apart.

KICKERS COME BACK.

The first noteworthy incident that occurred after the House met, and one which seemed to confirm the rumors of the morning, was the arrival of Sir Adolphe Caron ond Mr. Ouimet, who took their old places in the chamber.

Great cheers from a section of the Conservative benches greeted the arrival of the two kickers, but with these were mingled derisive yells from the Opposition of "Take it back!"

SIR ADOLPHE EXPLAINS.

Then Sir Adolphe Caron took the floor. The returned kicker said that in view of the assurances just given by Mr. Foster his continued refusal to help the Government to carry out legislation would be sacrificing the interest of the minority and jeopardizing the question. He was satisfied with the pledge of the leader of the House.

OUIMET ALSO SATISFIED.

Mr. Ouiment followed in French. He said: "If I have taken my seat now, it is because I have been assured by assurances of my colleagues that the retarding of legislation will not embarrass the definite and satisfactory settlement of the question."

"Once upon a time the old cat came back," said Mr. Laurier. "Today you have a small family of kittens coming back. Three days ago these two ministers went on a holy war but now they have given it up. I want a game of bluff."

"We had supposed," continued the Opposition leader, "there was a great crisis. But there was nothing after all but a little matter which was not worth while resigning for."

WAS THERE A WRITTEN PLEDGE?

Laurier asked if the Government had given a written pledge for which Mr. Ouimet was said to be pressing. "Has Foster signed the pledge? he asked amid cheers. "If he has who knows but that at a future time he may have another moment of weakness."

FOUR DROWNED IN NEW YORK.

Two Women and a Man Fell off a Wharf—A Would be Rescuer.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Two men and two women were drowned in the east river last night as a result of recklessness. Two of the women and one of the men were laughing, joking, and struggling on one of the piers. Suddenly, no one knows how it happened, they were precipitated into the river. Their names are unknown. The fourth person drowned was a young man heroically tried to rescue them. His name is given as Micheal O' Neil.

MRS. BARNUM MAY MARRY.

Rumor Mentions a Wealthy Englishman as the Suitor.

Special to the Times.

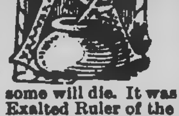
BRIDEPORT, Conn., July 11.—The rumor that Mrs. P. T. Barnum contemplates matrimony, although several times started and denied, has been put in active circulation again. Marina, Mrs. Barnum's handsome residence at this place, is to be sold. This is thought to give some color of truth to the report, as the alleged favored suitor is said to be a rich Englishman. Mrs. Barnum was in the south of Italy for nearly a year. She returned a few weeks ago and immediately began disposing of her household effects. Some of the more valuable were sent abroad. Mr. Prindle, her agent, secured for her temporary use a fine pair of horses and a coachman, as her stay is to be short. When Mrs. Barnum went abroad last she was in mourning. She came back with a wardrobe of exquisite French gowns, and is looking exceptionally well. It was said she wanted to sell Marina because the climate does not agree with her, and she enjoys better health at Southampton, at the home of her father, John Fish. Mrs. Barnum looks to be hardly thirty. Besides Marina, which cost $300,000, and an annuity of $40,000, she has $1,000,000.

A PANIC IN A THEATRE.

COLLAPSE OF A FLOOR AND A TERRIBLE SCENE.

Women and Others Were Injured—Dr. Seaman on Trial—Strong Corroborative Evidence Proving his Guilt as a Malpractice Fiend—Rose Ryan's Story.

Special to the Times.



ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 11. — A frightful accident terminated the Elk festivities at the Inlet Casino tonight, in which a large number of persons sustained terrible injuries, from which some will die. It was 9.30 when the Grand Exalted Ruler of the Buffalo body, M. de Wilier, of Harrisburg, had finished his address at the opening of the social session of Elks, and was about to introduce J. J. Armstrong, when a creaking sound was heard. A moment later the floor upon which were almost 1,000 people, slowly opened and the mass of humanity was precipitated to the first floor, a distance of 25 feet. Men, women and children were plunged into the hole and one upon another.

CRIES SHRIEKS AND GROANS

were deafening and the direst confusion reigned. An alarm was sent out and all the physicians in town responded. The work of extricating the injured proceeded rapidly and by twelve o'clock they had all been removed to the hospital or their hotels. When the first feeling of the panic had subsided the surviving Elks gallantly rushed to the rescue of their injured brothers and friends indifferent to the danger that confronted them, as they did not know the instant the remainder of the pavilion might bury them in its ruins. While the work of rescue was going on the lights on the first floor became extinguished and plunged the place in darkness. Men ran to a nearby car barn and obtained a number of headlights from the cars and with these were able to proceed with the work of rescue. In the meantime those who were seated in the vicinity were in imminent danger of falling through the hole. M. A. Rogers ex-President of the Senate of New Jersey, was seated by the side of his wife in the section that fell. Mrs. Rogers was precipitated, but Senator Rogers had both hands caught between two beams and hung suspended until released. More than 50 persons from all parts of the country were injured.

THE HALL BETRAYAL CASE.

DETROIT, Mich., July 11.—After several days consideration Judge Chapin dicided this morning to admit any testimony that would tend to show that Dr. Seaman had made a practice of performing criminal operations. Consequently the prosecution first placed Rose Ryan on the witness stand. She testified that she came to Detroit June 22 last and went to Lane, lying in the hospital till January 23. Dr. Seaman, she swore, operated upon her on Wednesday following the day she went there. This first operation was unsuccessful and he operated upon her again on Friday. This time he was successful. The child was six months old. If the jury had any doubt as to the character of the place run by Mrs. Lane, with the assistance of Dr. Seaman it would have no difficulty in deciding if the testimony of Sadie Alton, which was of exactly the same nature as that of Rose Ryan, was believed. Under ordinary circumstances it would be impossible to get such testimony for the consideration of a jury. Only the strongest reasons would induce women to make such startling revelations in a court. These witnesses have been in the hands of the police for two months and the constant association with detectives, court officers and hearing the evidence in court has had the effect of making them talk. Sadie Alton said she had had occasion to call upon Dr. Seaman twice. Upon both occasions the doctor was guilty of malpractices. Dr. Duffield's testimony was stronger against the defendant than it was on the first trial. He testified that considering that Emily Hall had taken from Tuesday until Sunday he believed that she died of scepticaemia, and that her babe was six months.

Six Robbers Executed.

NOGALES, Ariz., July 11,—A courier has arrived here from Oposura in the Montezuma district of Sonora with the information that on the fourth instant, near that place, six men were publicly executed by the Mexican authorities for complicity in a series of robberies which had been unearthed over there.

A Bather's Fate.

TORONTO, July 11.—James J. Hannie, 17, was drowned this evening in the Etobicoke river. He was bathing with some other boys belonging to a boys brigade camp at that point and was seized by cramps and went down before assistance could reach him.

Through England and Scotland.

LONDON, July 11.—G. P. Mills and T. A. Edge, on a tandem bicycle, arrived at John O'Groat's from Land's End at 10.46 o'clock today, having covered the distance in 3 days, 4 minutes and 46 seconds.

Toronto Thieves Salted.

BUFFALO, July 11.—George Humphrey and Herbert W. Farr, two bicycle thieves from Toronto, were given severe sentences in the Court of Sessions by Judge Seaver. Each was given two years and six months in the Erie county penitentiary.

Ex-I.O.F. Members Not Liable.

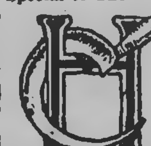
OTTAWA, July 11.—The Independent Order of Foresters' bill passed in committee this morning. A clause was added relieving members of liability to the order after their resignation or suspension.

LAST DAY AT HENLEY.

THE POOR SHOWING OF THE CORNELL CREW COMMENTED UPON.

London Wins the Fours — Final Heats in Other Events — The Races at Henley-on-Thames.

Special to The Times.



HENLEY-ON-THE-THAMES, July 11.—The final events of the Henley Royal regatta were being rowed today. In the final heat of the Stewards' Challenge Cup, the London and Thames crews came together for the first time. The London quartette were the victorious crew in the preliminary heat against the Argonauts, of Toronto, on Tuesday, defeating the Canucks by two feet in the last stroke, and today they defeated their opponents by one and a quarter lengths.

(By United Press)

HENLEY, July 11.—The Argonaut crew, of Toronto, were entertained at dinner last evening by the London Rowing Club.

Fennell, of the Cornell crew, who collapsed in the boat yesterday, is much better this morning, but he has not entirely recovered from his exhaustion.

Eton College won the final heat for the Ladies' Plate, beating the St. John's (Oxford) boat easily.

The final heat for the Stewards' Challenge Cup was won by the London Rowing Club, which beat the Thames Rowing Club's four.

The final heat of the race for the Grand Challenge Cup was contested by Trinity Hall and New College, and was won by the former.

London's time in the final heat for the Stewards' Cup was 7.45.

The seventh heat for the Thames Challenge Cup was won by the Nereus Boat Club, of the Amsterdam (Dutch) University beating St. John's College, Oxford.

TWO CREWS NEXT YEAR.

The Cornell men held a meeting last evening and resolved, subject to the approval of the University at Athaca, to send two crews to Henley in 1896. The necessary funds were arraigned for. A number of the trustees, professors and other supporters of the university were present and the utmost enthusiasm prevailed.

In the final heat for the Steward's Cup the Londons led a little to the island, when they went over to the Thames side of the river. They did not stay there long, however, but steered back to their own water just above the island. At the Rectory the Londoners' canvas showed a trifle ahead of the Thames boat. Both coxswains were steering badly, but despite this the London boat was drawing ahead. At the three quarters of a mile mark the Thames boat went over to the London's water, in the middle of the river, but the change did not do them any good. At the mile London was a clear length ahead and won easily. The Thames boat stopped at the press boat.

The sixth heat of the Thames Challenge Cup was won by the Molesey Rowing Club, which beat the Kingston Rowing Club.

A GRAND RACE.

In the final heat for the Grand Challenge Cup Trinity Hall had the Bucks side and the New College boat was against the Berks shore. Trinity struck out at a forty one stroke and New College at forty two. The latter drew away and got their canvass ahead of the Trinity boat at the foot of the island, but the quarter mile mark they had regained their advantage and maintained it past the Rectory to the half mile. At Fawley Court boat house, which they reached in three minutes and 41 seconds, the boats were almost exactly level. Trinity now began to draw away and at the three-quarters of a mile mark had a lead of a few feet, which she steadily increased. At Bushey Gate Trinity was a quarter length ahead, at the mile a little more than that and at the Isthmian Club house half a length. The New college men buckled down to their work and the finish was a terrible one, resulting in Trinity's winning by only a third of a length. Time 7.30. It was a grand race, the best of the regatta. The Trinity men showed perfection in condition and remarkable staying powers. Both boats pulled the same stroke and each crew contained three men who were in the varsity boats when Cambridge beat Oxford last spring.

In the final heat of the race for the Silver Goblets Guy and Vivian Nickalls, of the London Rowing Club, defeated W. Broughton and S. D. Muttlebury, the Thames Rowing Club's team.

The final heat of the Visitors Challenge Cup was won by Trinity College, (Oxford), beating Trinity Hall (Cambridge.)

TORONTO THIEVES IN BUFFALO.

George Humphrey and Herbert Farr Get Two Years and a Half Each.

Special to the Times.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 11.—George Humphrey and Herbert W. Farr, two fly Canadian youths who came to this city from Toronto, have been sentenced by Judge Seaver to two years and six months each in the Erie county penitentiary for stealing bicycles. Farr, while in Toronto, acted as a sort of runner for a pool room.

Death of Captain Bottum.

The death of Captain Bottum, ex-warden of Victoria county and for many years reeve of Bobcaygeon, occurred at Bobcaygeon Ehursday afternoon after a lingering illness. Deceased is widely known in Peterborough where he has a host of friends. It is probable that a special boat will run to Bobcaygeon on Saturday, to enable those in Peterborough to attend the funeral who desire to do so.

His Departure Regretted.

Rev. Father Scanlan, who has been assisting Vicar-Gen. Laurent as curate of this parish for the last couple of years, received notice Friday morning of his impending transfer to the Cathedral, Peterborough. Rev. Michael McGuire, of the Cathedral, will fill the vacancy. The news will be received with regret by the large congregation, who have learned to appreciate Father Scanlan very highly.—Lindsay Post.

Cow on the Track.

Friday morning between 7 and 8 o'clock, says the Lindsay Post, a cow by some means reached the centre of the Grand Trunk iron bridge which crosses the river, and became fast, all four feet dropping between the ties. A couple of men noticed her and flagged the regular Port Hope freight, due here at 8 a.m. It was with some difficulty that the animal was lifted up; she then had to be thrown on her back and drawn to the end of the bridge.

May Sue the Commandant.

A "despatch" written by Commandant Herbert Booth, of the Salvation Army, and sent to England, is likely to be the cause of another lively fight between the Commandant and Brigadier De Barrett, late of the Army. The despatch contains statements reflecting on the character of the Brigadier, which he considers damaging to his future prospects. He has placed the matter in the hands of his solicitor, and demands a full and complete retraction of the alleged libelous statements, failing which he will sue for damages.

A Troublesome Tramp.

An Otonabee farmer named Mulcahey, applied to Clerk Woods, of Ashburnham, Monday night, during the Council meeting, for a warrant for the arrest of a tramp. He did not know the man's name, and consequently did not get the warrant. Mulcahey said the tramp had chased his little girls in the morning, but he headed him off and went at him with a club. The tramp had hung around all day evidently waiting until darkness to get revenge, and he was afraid would do him some injury during the night.

Police Court Notes.

Thomas Reeves and his wife appeared before Magistrate Dumble on Saturday morning, charged with drunkeness. They promised to leave town if let go, and they were given the opportunity. Joseph Guerin was charged with trying to get liquor on Sunday, May 12th, at Alex. O'Brien's tavern, Hunter street. The case was dismissed after hearing the evidence. On a charge of disorderly conduct Joseph Murphy was fined $2 and costs. Richard Guiry, of Downeyville, was sent to jail for one month for indecent exposure of person.

A Quiet Wedding.

Miss Louise Brown, daughter of the late Charles Brown, was quietly married yesterday afternoon to Mr. Herbert Cox, at the family residence, 75 Isabella street. The wedding was postponed from last Wednesday on account of the sudden death of the bride's father. Dr. Potts and Dr. Johnston performed the ceremony, and only the relatives and close friends of the contracting parties were present.—Toronto Mail.

Fell Into a Cellar.

On Sunday afternoon, Mr. Robt. White, who resides on the English line in Seymour east, was the victim of a serious accident as he entered the residence of his son in law, Mr. T. J. Naylor. Just inside the door was a open trap door to the cellar which Mr. White did not notice and stepping into it he fell sideways, striking his head against the floor, and tumbled to the bottom of the steps in an unconscious state. When he was picked up immediately afterwards, it was found that he had received two cuts on the head. A phyician was called, and it was fully an hour before the injured man recovered his senses. No bones were broken.

KILLED WHILE HAYING

THE SHOCKING DEATH OF MR. JAMES DAVIDSON, OF NORTH MONOGHAN.

In an Effort to Save His Child, the Horses Attached to the Hay Wagon Which He Was Loading, Run Away and He Receives Fatal Injuries.

A most shocking accident and fatality occurred on the farm of Mr. James Davidson, Lot 6, Concession 13, boundary line, North Monaghan, on Saturday afternoon, which resulted in the death of Mr. Davidson.

Mr. Davidson and a farm hand were at work in a hay field taking in hay. Mr. Davidson was on top of the load and the farm hand was "pitching." One of Mr. Davidson's children was raking, driving a one-horse rake, when the animal became frightened and ran away.

Directing ehe farm hand to run and catch the runaway horse, Mr. Davidson remained on the load. The runaway horse circled around the field, and then headed for the gate. Fearing that the animal would escape this way, Mr. Davidson jumped from the top of the load to the whiffle-trees, and was about to step to the ground, when the horses attached to the hay wagon became frightened and made off at tremendous speed.

Just how it happened is not known. The farm hand had caught the runaway horse attached to the hay rake, and looking around saw the team struggling near the fence, while Mr. Davidson was lying near by, with blood oozing from a wound in the head. He was immediately carried to the house and a messenger was dispatched for Dr. Halliday, who upon making an examination found that the injured man was suffering from a severe scalp wound and four broken ribs, and every evidence of internal injuries were present.

It was feared from the outset that the internal injuries would result fatally and these fears were sadly realized when at the expiration of 4 hours from the time the accident took place, Mr. Davidson passed away surrounded by his sorrowing and grief stricken family.

Deceased was in his 59th year and leaves a family. He was a lifelong resident of North Monaghan, and has lived on the farm upon which he met such a shocking end, for many years. He is well and widely known in Peterborough and his many friends both in Peterborough and this county, will learn of his sad death, with deep regreet. The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the family residence, boundary line, North Monaghan, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

THE GRAY'S TRIAL.

Preliminary Hearing to Commence on the 16th of this Month.

The preliminary hearing of the charge of murder against the Grays will commence on Tuesday, July 16th. The Grays will be formally arraigned before that, but on that day the famous case will really open. An expert shorthand reporter has been engaged, and elaborate preparations are being made to push the preliminary examination through without any loss of time.

OSLER WILL PROSECUTE.

The Great Criminal Lawyer will Conduct the Gray Case.

B. B. Osler, Q.C., it is said, will prosecute the Grays at the Peterborough Assizes in September for the alleged murder of David Scollie. As in the Hendershott case, the Gray's evidence given at the inquest will not be admissable at their trial.

It was rumored that an important witness for the Crown had skipped out and would keep out of sight. The rumor could not be positively verified but there may be something in it.

The Grays will be brought before Magistrate Edmison on Friday morning, when they will be remanded until the following Tuesday, July 16.

REEGAN'S NARROW ESCAPE.

He Was Knocked Off Martin's Dam and Sank Twice.

Patrick Reegan, a river driver, had a narrow escape from death by drowning on Saturday afternoon.

Reegan and several companions were fishing from the Martin's dam, when a floating log struck Reegan and knocked him into the water. He was partly stunned by the blow and immediately sank. It was half a minute before he reappeared and almost immediately he went under for the second time.

A crowd soon gathered around and it was generally believed that Reegan would be drowned. He appeared, however, for the second time, and this time so near the dam that William Simpson, a friend of Reegan's and also a river driver, was enabled to catch hold of him.

Reegan was pulled out totally exhausted, and it was some time before he could stand up and walk around. He had a narrow escape.

A Serious Complication.

A married lady on Antrim street was taken violently ill yesterday, and it was reported that she had attempted suicide by taking a large dose of paris green. A doctor was summoned and soon brought relief. Last night a TIMES reporter interviewed the doctor in attendance and tried to verify the rumor. "I heard that the lady had taken paris green," said the doctor, "but found no evidences of it when I attended her. I do not thing it would be fair to say that she had attempted suicide." When asked the cause of her sickness the man of medicine replied: "Nervous prostration and family quarrels."

A Woodstock Lady's Death

Mrs. Pattullo, wife of Andrew Pattullo, proprietor of the Woodstock Sentinel-Review, died Tuesday in St. John's hospital, where on Dominion Day she underwent an operation. The deceased was the daughter of Robert Balmer, postmaster of Oakville, and had been married about six years. Mrs. Pattullo was a prominent member of the Presbyterian church, and her active benevolence endeared her to the poor of Woodstock. She was secretary-treasurer of the Ladies' Aid Society, which assisted in the completion of the Woodstock hospital, the opening of which took place on the day of her death. Her husband and family were with her during her last hours

Weather and Crops.

From all parts of the province come reports of lack of rain and prospects of short crops. In the vicinity of Lindsay crops have suffered severely during the past month, more especially where the land is sandy soil. The hay crop is almost a failure. Roots will not be so good as expected, owing to the dry weather. Barley, oats, wheat and peas have suffered but it is thought most of the grain crops will recover if we have some more rain. The cool night have probably saved a good deal of grain from destruction. In the vicinity of Minden hay is practically a failure, not more than one third of an average crop, and the old meadows suffering most from the long extended drought. Grain promises fair. Root crops look well so far, except turnips, which in many localities have been covered by flies or failed to germinate. Potatoes in some places are suffering from blight. There is very little fruit.

The Bargain has been Closed.

It is now definitely known that the Northumberland Paper Mills have been sold, negotiations for the same having been closed last week. Mr. Mulholland, of Toronto, is the purchaser, but whether he will conduct the business alone or form a company to operate it, remains to be learned. He and three other gentlemen were in Campbellford, on Saturday, on business in connection with the property, and a canvass of the country is to be made to see what quantity of straw can be secured. If a favorable report be received, operations may be resumed at no distant date. Some repairs are necessary about the premises which will require three or four weeks to complete. We understand that the price paid for the property is very much below the amount of the mortgage held against it.—Campbellford Herald.

STONY LAKE ITEMS.

From our own Correspondent.

One day last week Mr. John Kincaide, of Peterborough, a veteran capturer of the finny tribe, landed a 22 pound maskinonge opposite Salmon Island, while trolling. The fish was sent to Peterborough, and no doubt many of your readers have seen it.

Mr. John Craig, M.P.P. for Centre Wellington, has erected a handsome cottage on Salmon Island, and will occupy it with his family on or about the 14th of next month. The building is 18x24, and is a credit to the builder, Mr. John Alexander, of Peterborough.

Mr. Christopher Crowe, of Stony Lake, saw a year old deer in the lake last week. He overtook it, lifted it into a punt, tied it, and brought it home. Corn and other green stuff is devoured ravenously, and the little thing is beginning to look upon man as a friend and not an enemy.

Mr. Thos. Hull, of Stony Lake, runs a steam yacht night and morning, to the various camps, and supplies necessaries at a reasonable rate. The accommodation is appreciated by the campers as the articles furnished are as good as the market affords. Hull is a pusher, and his good wife seconds his efforts.

Campers are arriving daily, and few of the cottages are untenanted at the present writing. Fishing is good, and the sport appreciative.

A man from Norwood has a good supply store on the farm of Mr. Christopher Crowe. It will not be long until the campers at Stony Lake will have telephone communications with Lakefield and Peterborough. The boon is desirable and would be a paying speculation.

Save the Babies

Feed Them Properly and They Are Safe.

This is the fatal season for the babies. They die off in thousands from common summer complaints, brought on by poor and faulty dieting.

LACTATED FOOD for the baby during the hot, sultry weather, means health, strength, brightness and happiness. Thousands of happy mothers in Canada use Lactated Food, and strongly recommend it to others.

LACTATED FOOD "Saves babies' lives" when other foods are rejected and fail to do good. Try it mothers.

THE C. E. CONVENTION.

Over 41,000 Societies With a Total Membership of 2,473,740.

The annual report of John Willis Baer was read at 11.30 Thursday morning before the Christian Endeavor convention in Boston. The report was simultaneously read by SecretaryCaer in Mechanics building by Rev. John Barstow, Medford, Mass., in Tent Williston, and by Mr. J. E. Cheesman, Cleveland, Ohio, in Tent Endeavor. The report speaks of the societies as spokes in the Boston "hub." Last year our wheel was strengthened by 7,750 new societies, making in all 41,229. Of these 4,712 are from other lands.

"And now the 'spokes' from the Dominion of Canada come into view, Ontario, with her remarkable growth of last year, leads with 1,995; Nova Scotia, 388; Quebec, 264; New Brunswick, 152; Manitoba, 156; Prince Edward Island, 62; Assiniboia, 53; British Columbia, 40; Alberta, 15; Saskatchewan, 5. In all, counting 5 in Newfoundland, 3,105, an increase of 1,223 during the past year."

As to junior societies, there are 8,850 in the United States, 339 in Canada and 224 in other lands, making in all 9,122 junior societies, with a membership of 340,000. The total of 41,229 societies has an individual membership from every climate and every nation, with skins of varying color, of which 480 are red, 20,300 are yellow, 100,400 are black and 2,342,560 are white—in all a great interracial brotherhood of 2,473,740.

WITH THE SPORTS.

The clothing clerks have issued a challenge to the grocery clerks to play a game of lacrosse for fun, money, or marbles, at any time within a week or so, as after that date they are contemplating a tour of the province.

Entries for the second ten mile handicap road race of the Toronto Bicycle Club, to be held on Saturday next at 4 o'clock, close at 8 p.m., on Friday. The race will be held over the Kingston Road course, from the five to the ten mile post and return.

Five hundred people saw the races of the Sarnia Bicycle Club at Bayview Park Wednesday evening. Vidal won the mile novice, Longheed the one third mile and mile open, and Sanberg, of Port Huron, the two mile handicap. Longheed cut down the track record from 2.10 to 2.06 3 5.

Each day adds some new virtues to the long list of those already credited to the pneumatic. The latter of these is that the wheels of a bicycle being encircled by a band of India rubber and dry air—which is a perfect insulator—the rider is completely insulated from the earth, and consequently is impervious to the attacks of the electric fluid. Thus day by day it becomes more and more a fact that life without a bicycle is neither safe nor worth having.

No Traces of Poison.

An analysis has been completed by Prof. Ellis of the contents of the stomach of Mrs. Foote, whose death it was supposed had been caused by poison. Prof. Ellis was unable to find any trace of poison of any kind. The particulars of the case have already been given in the TIMES. It will be remembered that Mrs. Nelson lived with a man named Foote near Colborne, and her paramour took up with another woman. The two women lived in a shanty a couple of days, when Mrs. Nelson died, and it was suspected that sugar of lead had been given to her. Foote is still in jail charged with stealing a pair of boots.

His Pastorate Ended.

Rev. Father Connolly who was placed in charge of the Roman Catholic congregation in Campbellford, less than a year and a half ago, must bow in obedience to the Right Reverend Bishop O'Connor who has called him to Hastings. Father Connolly made the announcement in the church here on Sunday last, and spoke in the kindest terms of the people to whom he has ministered during his rather brief pastorate. He said he was not in a position to name his successor, but it would be made known next Sunday, when he would officiate for the time in Campbellford. We have been informed that Rev. Father McCluskey of Wooler, will succeed him. Father McCloskey held mass at the church at 7 o'clock on Monday morning.

A Midnight Alarm.

Just as the clock was striking the midnight hour last night, the strokes were quickened into an alarm of fire, and at the same time the hose wagon dashed to the corner of Stewart and Dalhousie streets where box 1 is located and from which box the alarm had been sent in. Upon arrival the firemen found that the box had been broken in and the alarm had been pulled by some unknown person or persons for a joke. Natually the firemen who had been routed out from their beds, were very much incensed. The practise of sending in false alarms has been altogether too frequent of late, and if the parties who delight in calling out the fire brigade on false runs, are caught, they will have the hose turned on them in the shape of a substantial fine.

A Pastor Complimented.

We took a drive out to Centreville on Sunday evening last and heard the Rev. Mr. MacWilliams of Peterborough, preach an anniversary sermon in the Presbyterian church. He gave a powerful sermon to a large audience. We must congratulate the Presbyterians upon their handsome and commodious place of worship, and their excellent choir, whose service of song added much to the spirit of the meeting. We were also struck with the preponderance of good looking ladies in the congregation.—Millbrook Reporter.

Had an Undress Parade.

Two Peterborough young men while fishing down the river conceived the idea of taking a bath. They deposited their clothing, effects and tackle in their canoe and drew it, as they supposed, a sufficient distance up on the bank to insure its safety. In some way the boat floated off, was carried unperceived down stream and canoe and contents were hopelessly lost. The young men were, of course, totally nude. They were a great distance from an habitation, in a wilderness of the limits of which they were in ignorance. They were without food with the exception of a few wild berries, and, moreover, the black flies, which were uncommonly numerous, took advantage of their condition to make their situation most deplorable. All day the young men wandered aimlessly in every direction, when by chance they encountered a party of anglers who gave them assistance.

Police Court Notes.

In the police court Wednesday a case of nonpayment of wages came up before Magistrate Dumble. Aaron Rickner charged William Ford with not paying his son for work. The case was dismissed. Frank Myers was charged with being charged with Jersey lightning. The shock cost him $3. Wm. Long was up on a charge of assault the complainant being a son of Mr. H. Dundas. Of course there was a female in the case, in the person of a little Italian girl whom it seems young Dundas was calling names. Long tried to stop him, when Dundas threw a stone and then Long kicked him. The magistrate decided it was a draw and dismissed the case.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 13 1895.

The discovery is reported of an extensive plot against the life of the Czar, and eight arrests for complicity in the conspiracy have been made.

Rawhide pinions are being placed in some of the electric cars at Kalamazoo. It will render them as near noiseless as it is possible to make them.

Fire has destroyed two hundred and thirty houses in the town of Sambrew, Poland. Two thousand persons are rendered homeless by the conflagration.

A four per cent. gold loan for $3,000,000 was recently offered by Chicago in London, and in a few hours was subscribed several times over. Chicago is evidently on good terms with the European money lenders.

A raft containing over seven million feet of lumber, mostly white pine, is on its way down the Mississippi to St. Louis. It is believe to be the biggest raft ever floated down the river. Carried by rail the lumber would make four and a half miles of car loads.

Hugh Ryan on Tuesday refused to inform the public Accounts Committee at Ottawa whether or not he had ever contributed to party campaign funds. Mr. Ryan should be compelled to answer. His firm secured the contract for building the lock at the Sault a figure above what was asked by other tenderers, and they obtained contracts for a lot of extras afterwards without being forced to compete for them. The country is entitled to know if any of the profit on these peculiar transactions was applied to fund intended to corrupt the electorate.

In Manitoba, when the census of 1890 was taken, there were but 20,000 Catholics as against 30,000 Anglicans. Both these bodies demand separate schools for their children. But only that of the former is listened to. Why? If the claim of 20,000 Catholics is just, that of 30,000 Anglicans is still more so. Why, then, we ask again, should a privilege be accorded to a small body which is denied a larger one? This is a phase of the question to which those who talk about the "injustice" done the Manitoba minority by the legislation of 1890 is respectfully directed.

Poets have sung the praises of that heroic youth who, to win the king's daughter, dove into the maelstrom and brought back the golden cup which the king had flung into the whirling waters; and of De Lorme, who leaped into the lion's pit to recover the glove which his lady had tossed there in order to prove the quality of his love. But these feats daring for the sake of imperious beauties pale before the act of the young Texan farmer who, to prove his love for his best girl and his confidence in her, allowed her to hang him. The girl, who is now under arrest on a charge of murder, no doubt realises by this time that hanging a lover up is a poor use to put him to. She might better have turned him down.

The Haldimand bye-election is still used in Quebec to show that the remedial order did not alienate from the government the Protestants of Ontario. Those who use that illustration do not know what went on in Haldimand during that election campaign. Sufficient proof of the fact that Haldimand did not approve of the coercion of Manitoba is found in the present attitude of the Hon. Dr. Montague, who represents Haldimand, and who is strongly opposed to interference with Manitoba. The Haldimand election is misunderstood in Quebec.

Since the United States prohibited assisted and pauper immigration, the South American republics have become the ground for the refuse of Europe. These countries, realising the situation, are now following Uncle Sam's example, and are issuing decrees shutting out all who cannot show that they come of their own accord and without assistance of individuals or state. It is noticeable that since the strict enforcement of the law in the United States, a better class of immigrants have arrived, and nearly all of them are with sufficient means to purchase houses, which is the best class of settlers for any country.

THE LIME JUICE CLUB.

REGULAR WEEKLY MEETING OF THIS CHASTE SOCIETY.

The Curler's Concert—Sign—The President's Advice to a Young Man Contemplating Marriage—More Honors for Sir Richard—Other Important Business.

When President McBride called the meeting to order at the Hall of Wisdom last night, every seat was occupied, and many members were compelled to stand or lean against the wall for support.

The President stated that no meeting of the Club took place last week on account of the "Curler's Smoking Concert," which came off on Friday evening. He was determined to work in harmony with the Curling Club, come what may, as many members of the Club were enthuseastic curlers. [Wild cheers by mistake from Skip McNeil who was promptly fined $400 and costs.]

SIGNS.

The Committee on Atmospheric Influences announced that they were ready with a report and leave being granted, the chairman, Bro. Tom Forty, submitted a well-constructed report regarding the coming winter. The committee had been guided entirely by signs, and their reasons for predicting a hard winter were:

1. Thickness of the corn husks.
2. The unusual number of overcoats in pawn.
3. The anxiety of women to get summer bonnets.
4. The way frogs have taken to deep water.
5. The hesitancy with which young men climb out of bed in the morning.
6. The unusual number of dog fights to be observed by the man who keeps his eyes open.

The report was received and fyled, and the chairman sat down with a sigh of relief.

MATRIMONIAL.

"Will my friend Julius Henry Bates please step this way?" blandy inquired the President as he arose and looked around the Hall.

Julius Henry advanced. He is a young man of 23, distinguished for the noble manner in which he wears his very wide collars, and his good taste in selecting pale blue neckties. He has been a very quiet member of the Club for some months past, keeping his theories in the back ground and his feet well advanced. In a kind, fatherly way the President continued:

"Julius Henry, it is freely reported through the Club that you are about to take a wife. Don't turn red in the face, my friend, for the information gives me pleasure, and every member will be ready to wish you all the happiness a man can take. We are your best friends here, and therefore, I take this occasion to say a few remarks bearing down on the occasion: No doubt you love the fair girl. That's correct. True love excuses a big mouth and a bad breath. True love and steady ways will make plenty of cake and pie where before there was nothing but cold potatoes. Take a wife with the expectation that you can and will support her. Figure on leaving off rough ways and rough talk. Don't expect that the Gods above are going to buy your wood and flour and meat. Don't expect that your life will be all sunshine. Don't figures that you won't have disputes and words between you. Lord love you, boy! my old woman and me calls names and pulls hair every now and then, and we make up in an hour and forget all about it. Be a good and a true husband. Keep off the corners and away from saloons. Make up your mind that you have got the very best woman in this world, and that you can't never do too much for her. That's all, boy, and this Club will only be too glad to be on hand when the occasion comes off."

MORE HONORS FOR THE PRESIDENT.

The Secretary read the following from Bro. Holmes, of Burlegh Falls, which speaks for itself:

DEAR PRESIDENT.—I take the liberty to enclose to you a copy of the constitution of the first lodge in modern times of the Independent Order of the Improved Jaw Bone. I have the honor to inform you that you were enthusiastically and unanimously elected the first honorary member of our order. If you will give it a place in the Hall of Wisdom, we will send you the skull and crossbones of a boston music teacher, who was spending his summer at Stoney Lake, and who was sung to death by our long range Sampson last week. With distinguished repect, subscrbe myself,

JOHN HOLMES.

Founder of the order, and at present most High Old Sampson.

P. S.—I send this letter with my esteemed friend and colleague, Bro. McFarlane, President of Young's Point Liver Complaint Society, which has, I learn, lately been absorbed by the Lime Juice Club. J. H.

In further explanation the writer sent a printed slip saying.

"We the undersigned, for the purpose of more effectually troubling each other, and making life intolerable to our neighbors, do hereby orgnize ourselves into a league, both offensive and defensive, and under the extremest of penalities, subjecting ourselves to the rules and regulations of the following.

CONSTITUTION.

1. This league shall be known as the I. O. I. J. B.
2. The regular meetings shall be known as "Massacres," and all irregular meetings as "Disturbances."
3. The motto shall be "No peace for the wicked."
4. The officers shall be elected at each meeting, and serve for one week."

AN APPEAL.

The Committee on Hills and Harbours was called upon for a report, and the chairman advanced and verbally reported The committee had been instructed to bring in a list of forts, cities and streets named after members of the Club. The committee had spent three months in research and had not been able to find a single instance when anything bigger than a dug-out had been named in honor of any important member of the Lime Juice Club. The committee recommended that the Club appeal to the government to do justice in the matter, and a lively discussion followed.

General Metherall thought the government should name at least three forts after prominent members of this Club. If the government refused to do so, he would withdraw from the 57th Battalion.

Sergeant Hillier arose with his mouth full of dry crackers, and said the—yum—day was not far—yum—distant when the name of the city of Ottawa would be changed to McBtideville, and don't you forget it!

Bombshell McNaughton moved that Brother Hillier be fined $1200 for using unparlimentary language.

Bro. Wm Snowdon arose to a question of persoual privilege, when Bro. C. LeBrun hit him with a potato.

Bro. Croft awoke and cried for 'order!' and Bro. T. Rutherford took advantage of the confusion to tear down the stovepipe.

Anvil Davis was about to call corners. Hon. Tiedup Garley fell over a bench with a terrible crash, and the water pail was knocked out of shape as it fell off the shelf. The meeting went to pieces in a minute, but when terror reigned Supreme, one blast from Sir Richard's horn, restored order and quietness. He stood up, surveyed the ruins, and quietly said:

"The chair has no words of consolation or of reproach. Human nature is more streaked than a citron, and will have its own way. The treasurer will now pass around the hat."

The collection amounted to over fifteen dollars, and sorrow and remorse could be read in every countenance. When the cash had been counted Gingerale Kennaley offered a resolution appealing to the government to recognize the prominent members of this Club in the future by naming public finger-posts, light-houses, capes, bays, &c., after them, and the same was adopted.

THE UNCERTAINTY OF LIFE.

"Gentlemen," remarked the President as he straghtened a cramp out of his left leg, "look around this hall and tell me if you observe the well-known figure of Hon. Mackerel Johnson. He was present at the last meeting and spit all over the stove, but where is he now? Over there is the sky-blue bench on which he sits and watches the adventures of the meeting; but he aint there now."

A hush fell upon the members. The previous excitment had been so great that they did not notice the absence of brother.

"Gentlemen, it is my painful duty to annuouce the fact that the Hon. Mackerel is now lying on the bed of pain and sorrow," continued the President. "A day or two ago, while engaged to putting on three different kinds of frescoeing with his white-wash brush, he fell from the scaffold and laid there behind the kitchen stove like one struck dead. No bones were broken, however, but two surgeons rubbed him up and smoothed him down, and stuck plasters on him, and said it would be weeks before his system would rally from the shock. I was up there and washed his feet and fed him gruel with a spoon. He was very low, but he knew me and winked his his left eye.

"I call this case a warning that in the midst of getting rich and living on the top shelf we are liable to be pulled up by the roots or cut down from the top. Even if we have pumpkin pie, fried eggs, bacon and potatoes on the table all at once, we must be prepared to leave this world on two minutes notice. I see you all before me in bounding health and frisky spirits, but on your way home you may be shot by a city father, arrested by a policeman, fall into the outfall sewer, or pass a house where the young ladies are indulging in archery. This world is full of trap-holes, mad dogs and butcher-carts, and the wise man will work for cash down and be ready for the crash when it comes.

"I will say in conclusion, that in pacing off our various ways to our various homes, let us remember that that the biggest windmill don't pump the most water. The man who walks right along, taking in the mud with the good road, accepting the weather as it comes, and thankfully chewing away on the husks when he can't get corn, will get there just as soon as anybody, and feel just as much at home when the horn blows."

Market Reports.

PETERBOROUGH

The market has been quiet this week, except in hay, oats and potatoes, all of which are in good demand at the following prices:—Old hay, $15 to $16 per ton; new hay, $10 to $12 per ton; oats, 36c to 38c per bushel; potatoes, 75c to $1.00 per bag; new potatoes 40c to 50c per peck. Green vegetables and small fruit are much sought after at good prices.

Live stock day next Tuesday, when a large number of hogs are expected. Prices are firmer.

FARMERS' MARKET.

July 12.—The receipts of grain on the street market here today were small; oats were steady; wheat easier.

Wheat—Easier; one load of poor white sold at 80c and the prices quoted for good red and white range from 80c to 83c.

Oats—Steady, 200 bushels selling at 38c to 39c.

Hay and Straw — The receipts were small, there was a good demand and the market was firm, 15 loads of hay selling at $17 50 for old, and 14 loads of new at $11 to $14. One load of straw was offered and it sold at $8 50.

Dressed Hogs—The receipts were small, there was a good demand and the market was firm at $5 75 to $6.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

July 12.—The disappointing features of the situation are still prominent. Cables have not improved one iota and shippers continue to lose money. Cattle on the Glasgow market are said to be losing at least £2 a head, while the losses in London and Liverpool have ranged from £1 to £2. Freights remain steady and unchanged. At the Point St. Charles market this morning not a great deal of business was done in cattle and sheep, and prices keep at about last week's range. There were about 500 head of butcher's cattle, 550 calves and 1,000 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir today, a good many of the cattle having been held over from Monday's market. The butchers were out in large numbers, and, with an improved demand for the better kinds of cattle, prices of them were a shade higher than on Monday, but the half fatted and lean stock, which form the larger portion of the offerings, continue to decline in value; in some cases lean old cows and hard looking bulls were sold at less than 2c per lb. The best butchers' cattle sold at from 4c to 4½c per lb, and really prime animals would bring a little more. Pretty good stock sold at from 3½c to 3¾c, and common dry cows from 2½c to 3c per lb. The calf trade has been rather overdone this season, there being nearly double the usual number of calves brought on this market than was the case in former years at this season. There is a fair demand for good calves which sell at from $5 to $10 each; common calves sell at from $2 to $4 each and the culls at from $1 25 to $1 75 each. Mutton critters are very plentiful and prices are lower all round; sheep sell at from 2½c to 3½c per lb, and lambs at from $1 75 to $3 25 each. Fat hogs are more plentiful and lower in price, or from 4⅜c to 4½c per lb for fed hogs.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S DONKEY.

How She Bought the Animal at a Great Bargain From a Peasant.

During Queen Victoria's recent sojourn at Cimiez she was accustomed, every afternoon, to ride about the environs of Nice in a little carriage drawn by a sober-looking donkey named Jocko. The history of this reliable and highly prized animal is interesting.

The Queen was at Acquisgrana two or three years ago, and one morning was passing along the border of the lake when a peasant went by leading at the end of a rope a well built donkey, which would have been handsome had it not been so thin as to excite a suspicion that its last meal had been scanty and many days before. The Queen addressed the peasant, and asked him if the beast was for sale.

"That depends upon the conditions, signorina," the man replied, "for if I sell him, how will I be able to gain my living?"

"How much did you pay for him?"

"A hundred francs."

"I will give you two hundred, and you can then buy another."

It was thus that Jocko passed from the peasant's possession into royal hands, and for the first time in his life had enough to eat.

The story of the adventure spread far and wide, and whenever the Queen went out thereafter she was sure to encounter at least a dozen emaciated and badly curried donkeys which she was importuned to buy. Naturally these attempts were unsuccessful, but the owners lost nothing except their time, which is the least valuable of commodities in that easy going land.

The next year, when Her Majesty returned to Acquisgrana, the master of Jocko chanced to see his old donkey again. When he viewed his fat body and tightly stretched, shining skin, covered with a gold mounted harness, he exclaimed.

"I regret bitterly that I did not sell myself with my donkey."

Mortgages in the United States.

There are 12,690,152 families living in the United States, of which 4,767,179 occupy farms and 7,922,973 occupy homes in town. Of the total, 47.8 per cent. own their farms and homes and 52.2 per cent. are entirely free from incumbrance and only 27.97 per cent. are mortgaged at all. And the mortgages represent but 37.5 per cent. of the value of the property, the average value of the incumbered farms or homes being $3,328 and the average amount of the mortgage $1,237. Mortgages are generally looked upon as evidence of failing fortunes. On the contrary, it is estimated by some they represent enterprise and development. Farms generally are mortgaged for the implements that work them.—Evening Lamp.

Letters and Language.

Nothing better illustrates the ratio in which the different letters are used in our language than a set of figures on the proportionate number of types that are found in the printer's case, which are usually as follows: z 2, j 5, q 6, k 8, v 15, b and g 20, p 24, w and y 23, m and f 30, c 40, u 45, d and l 150, h 60, r 70, n, o and s 80, a 85, i 90, t 100 and e 160.

THE T. EATON CO. LIMITED

190 Yonge St. Canada's Greatest Store Toronto

190 YONGE STREET, July 12, 1895.

$2,000 an Hour Saturday!

The store will close at one o'clock to-morrow and every Saturday during July anp August. That leaves only five hours for business, and we want to take in $10,000 before the doors are closed. There's a way to do it, sure as daylight. By crowding prices down on things you're sure to need, we can encourage early shopping and maks a new record for brisk sales. Here are the facts. These goods go on sale at 8 o'clock Saturday morning:—

10,000 pounds Black Indian and Ceylon Tea, regular 35c quality, on sale Saturday morning .18

5,000 pounds good Rio Coffee, fine flavor, regular 35c. quality, on sale Saturday morning, at .20

2,000 Tins Canned Tomatoes, Corn and Peas, usually sold at 8c and 10c, on sale Saturday morning at .5

20,000 AT 5c EACH, SUMMER READING.

On Saturday morning we will place on our counters 20,000 paper covered books, a publisher's stock. These books are usually sold at 25c to 50c. We have only to mention a few of the authors to ensure a rapid sale:—Benson, Norris, Cobb, Fenn, Burnett, Tolstoi, Mrs. Croker, Haggard and Max O'Rell. Saturday morning at the book counter 5c. each.

BARGAINS IN SHOE DEPARTMENT.

The men must not be overlooked, and on Saturday morning we shall give them a special bargain of their own in the matter of:—

249 pairs of Men's Russian Calf Tan Laced Boots, sewed soles, cool comfortable and durable, sizes 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10. These shoes are good value at $1.50; on Saturday morning we will sell them at $1.00 a pair.

275 pairs of Fine Canadian Buff Leather Oxford Shoes, sewed soles, latest style, solid leather, sizes 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10, regular price $1.25, oh Saturday morning at .75 a pair.

With other goods in proportion. Very special values in men's and boys' clothing, outing goods and vacation needs. But we don't want to get too much of a crowd. The items advertised will help to fill the store between 8 and 9 o'clock instead of throwing the burden of the trade on to the noon hour. The main thing is to SHOP EARLY and keep you eyes open. Lots of things to-day will be at less than regular rates.

The Grey Nuns' Growth.

The community formed in Ottawa fifty years ago by four sisters from the Mother House in Montreal has so increased that the number of sisters in the order has now reached 474. Of this number 112 have passed to their reward and 362 are still devoting their energies to the care of the orphan, the sick, the helpless, old and abandoned, and the education of the children of the rich and poor. Three days after the arrival of the pioneer sisters, in 1845, as many as 150 children were received in the little mission school and there given their first lessons in reading and spelling. The school was then quite a boon for Bytown. To-day the number of children receiving education in the different communities that branched out from the Ottawa community, in the United States and Canada is upwards of 9,500 a year.

Impressionism.

Impressionism has been a return to nature, a movement which has allowed to each artist the complete development of his temperament and of his individuality. And in our essentially individualistic epoch, individuality is a dominating force in art. Impressionism is, if one may say so, a school open to all, which every one can enter without the least lowering of his flag. It is a school where each is his own master. Impressionism represents the complete development of each artistic temperament, the study of all the aspects of nature, and an absolute liberty in the choice of the means of expression, which are for us simply means for saying what we have to say, and never an end in themselves.

Strange, But True.

This is a very peculiar world. One is struggling for justice and another is fleeing from it. One is trying to build a house and another is trying to sell his for less than it cost to get rid of it. One man is spending all he can make in taking a girl to the theatres, sending her flowers, with the hope of making her his wife, while his neighbor is spending what gold he has in getting a divorce. One man escapes all diseases that flesh is heir to and gets killed on the railroad. Another escapes without a scratch and dies with the whooping cough. One man stands off all his creditors and goes traveling, while another pays his debts and stays at home.—Orangeville Sun.

Making Roads.

The best time for road work is after the spring work has been completed, because the ground is then neither too wet nor too dry, and when dry weather sets in there is no use trying to work roads. Road work in the fall is just as impracticable, because the track will be muddy until the freeze-up occurs and the following spring will be full of mud holes. For this reason divide townships into road districts so that the main portion of the labor can be done after the crops are in. Every crew of men preparing roads must have an overseer with them all the time. He must understand his business, and one superintendent cannot properly oversee more than one crew of men.

Information Wanted.

POND'S EXTRACT

IMPRESSED ON THE MEMORY

That Pond's Extract is without equal for relieving pain, and that no remedy should be accepted as "just as good." And unscrupulous druggists will insist on trying to force upon purchasers weak imitations which are irritating, uncertain and even poisonous, very different from genuine Pond's Extract, which is universally known as a great healer, pacifier and comforter. Nature's own remedy for all pain is genuine Pond's Extract.

Avoid substitutes; accept genuine only, with buff-wrapper and yellow label.

A PIN CAUSED DEATH.

How a Clergyman Died as a Result of a Lady's Little Joke.

Special to the Times.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., July 12.—Rev. S. H. Phillips, of Durham, died from blood-poisoning in St. Luke's Hospital. He was 31 years old. While visiting a neighbor's house six weeks ago he remained for dinner. He was seated on the porch chatting with several young ladies when the call for dinner came. He was slow in responding, and a Miss Cope took a stick-pin from her dress and pricked him in the leg. The pin went through the flesh to the bone. On July 6 he had to have his leg amputated with the hope of saving his life.

COMMENDABLE PROMPTITUDE.

A Resident of St. John, N. B., Makes a Successful trial of Dodd's Kikney Pills.

Special to the Times.

ST. JOHN, N. B. July 8.—Mr. Robert Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the Kidneys for over seven years, and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking thre boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health.

QUEBEC, July 12.—The wounded victims of the Craig's Road catastrophe lying at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Levis, are in a fair way to recovery. Two amputations will be necessary. All the others will be able to reach their homes within a month. Several convalescents have already left for their respective homes.

Strike of Gotham Tailors.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The Brotherhood of Tailors, which sent a new agreement for signature to the contractors some weeks ago, have concluded that the contractors will resist the demands in the new agreement, and held a mass meeting last night to prepare for a general strike. This strike will bring out at least 9,000 people, and possibly more.

WANTS THE EARTH.

Or That Part of it Upon Which London the Less is Built.

Special to The Times.

ALTON, Ill., July 12.—Captain W. P. Lamothe has commenced proceedings to recover 6,600 acres of land in Canada which it is claimed will revert to him in 1897. The land is in the Prince of Ontario and the City of London is located thereon. In 1798, it is claimed by Lamothe, the land was leased by his grandfather for 99 years. When this lease expires the heirs will claim the land.

CLOSE IN NIPISSING.

A Keen Contest and the Result is in Doubt.

Special to the Times.

NORTH BAY, July 12.—The returns of the election for district town for Nipissing so far as received give North Bay 58 majority.

There are four polls to hear from, which will go mostly in favor of Mattawa.

Mattawa is counting upon having about eight of a majority when all returns are in, but North Bay's chances of victory are regarded as good.

The returns up to date give Mattawa 1,252, North Bay 1,310 votes.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

Fatal Accident Near Tottenham.

TOTTENHAM, July 12.—At a barn raising last evening on the farm of Mr. James Watson, in Adjala township, about seven miles from here, a sad accident took place. The first bent had been raised, and not being securely stayed fell when an attempt was made to put up the second. Mr. James Innis was caught between the falling timber and had his head crushed, causing almost instant death. The injured are Chas. Baxter, leg badly fractured and crushed; Neil Drummond, left hip dislocated and other injuries, and James Stone, ribs fractured.

Just What's Needed

Exclaims thousands of people who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at this season of the year, and who have noted the success of the medicine in giving them relief from that tired feeling, waning appetite and state of extreme exhaustion after the close confinement of a long winter season, the busy time attendant upon a large and pressing business during the spring months and with vacation time yet some weeks distant. It is then that the building-up powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are fully appreciated. It seems perfectly adapted to overcome that prostration caused by change of season, climate or life, and while it tones and sustains the system, it purifies and vitalizes the blood.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realized more benefit from these medicines then from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." MRS. C. CROMPTON, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

REDUCTION in PRICES.

As we have no agents in Peterborough for our Large Portraits, we will offer them to cash customers, less agent's Commission. These Portraits will be our very best work and a guarantee attached to each.

An immense variety of frames to choose from.

PLEASE ACCEPT

This public acknowledgment to save time. It is only natural that you should feel proud and gratified with the effect of using this remarkable article—it eclipses everything. But we really deserve no credit for giving the samples, less than actual cost (we don't believe in free samples) or for making them doubly valuable by putting them in seasonable Glass Gem Jars.

THANKS
Very Much.

The new "Eclipse" Baking Powder is so splendid and so cheap, (but don't put it on the same level as ordinary powders at similar prices), the result must be such an enormous demand that only a slight increased price will be needed to pay the required moderate interest on our heavy outlay.

All wide awake grocers will supply you—it won't pay you to deal with any others. A list of "Wide Awakes" later.

AT EVENING TIME.

At evening time let there be light;
Life's little day draws near its close;
Around me fall the shades of night,
The night of death, the grave's repose.
To crown my joys, to end my woes;
At evening time let there be light.

At evening time let there be light;
Stormy and dark has been my day,
Yet rose the morn divinely bright;
Dews, birds and blossoms cheered the way.
Oh, for one sweet, one parting ray!
At evening time let there be light.

At evening time there shall be light!
For God hath spoken, it must be;
Fear, doubt and anguish take their flight,
His glory now is risen on me;
Mine eyes shall His salvation see.
'Tis evening time, and there is light!

A GIRL REPORTER.

I am a lady journalist, and engaged on the staff of the Weekly Ray.

I never was a pudding-and-pie sort of girl; annd I think when I started going to town, and left the household duties to my sister, my people actually felt a sense of relief.

For some time I wrote at random, sending in contributions to all sorts of papers, some of which reached their mark. The majority, however, like carrier pigeons or the Australian boomerang, faithfully returned to me.

At last I attracted the attention of the editor of the Weekly Ray, or at least my work did; and after a few more successes he offered me a post on his paper.

"A lady interviewer, you know, Miss Neville," said he to me, "can frequently attain her object where a man would fail, and I shall be glad to see what success you may have at the business."

Time went on, and I had "fixed" hundreds of notables, when one day, entering the editor's room to submit some copy to him, I perceived by the way he greeted me that he had some special commission in store.

"Good morning, Miss Neville. The very person I wanted to see. Take a seat."

I sat down, while the editor pushed his papers aside, laid down his glasses and commenced.

"You have no doubt heard that the famous Frenchman, M. Jean Coussot, has arrived in London for a stay of a few days, and has taken up his quarters at the Hotel Bristol?"

"What, the 'unapproachable' in London!" said I. "No, I am ashamed to say that I had not heard of it."

"Well, it is nevertheless a fact," continued my chief, adding with a smile: "And very aptly you have christened him, for not only has he never been interviewed, but has declared his decision that he never will be. Now, although Coussot has never done anything so very remarkable, beyond writing some epigrammatic plays and jingling verses, and posing with great success as an art critic, a wit, cynic, and leader of fashion, yet he has 'a vogue,' and whatever opinions and impressions fall from his lips people will greedily devour."

"Therefore," said I, anticipating his coming remark, "what you suggest is that I should endeavor to obtain the same?"

"That's it," said the editor. "Thereby, if you succeed, rendering your paper a great service and covering yourself with glory."

Next morning—I had spent all the previous day and night thinking about my task—I presented myself at the Hotel Bristol.

"Is M. Jean Coussot within?"

"Yes, miss," said the hall porter, much to my delight. "What name?"

I handed him one of my cards, which he in turn passed to a boy in buttons, who disappeared upstairs with it.

A minute later he returned. "Kindly step this way, miss!" Was the great man really going to see me? It would be something even to receive a refusal direct from his own lips.

Up and up we went, till, on the third or fourth landing, a man servant, holding my card in his fingers, confronted me.

"Monsieur has so many callers," he explained, with a bow, eying me curiously all the time. "What might be madame's business?"

Perfectly well aware that I might as well beat a retreat at once as hope for success if I answered his question, "My business is with monsieur," I said calmly. "Kindly hand him my card, and he will see me."

Still hesitating, but evidently impressed by the assurance with which I spoke the man turned and tapped at an adjacent door.

"Enter!" responded a voice from within. The man left the door ajar behind him. Silently I stepped up to it and peeped through the crack, being rewarded for my temerity by the sight of a rather stout figure of medium height, clad in a long frock coat, with a bullet-shaped head, hair cropped tight, a well-formed nose, and a straight mustache of enormous proportions.

"Mees Margareet Neveel!" I heard him say. "No! I do not think I know the lady." Then he added, turning to the servant: "Is mademoiselle young or old?"

"Young, sir," said the man; and in my anxiety I had almost called through the opening of the door "and pretty."

"Did you ask her beezneez?"

"Yessir. She said it was direct with you."

"Vell, I vill see her in one moment," came the welcome words; but, as I stepped back from the door, they were followed by: "But shust make sure her beezneez has nosing to do with ze noospapers."

A groan almost escaped me. It was no use prevaricating when, in a moment's time, I should be in the great man's presence. I told the servant candidly that I did indeed come from the editor of the Weekly Ray, a paper that had always expressed its greatest admiration of M. Coussot and all his works, to bid him welcome to our shores.

The man's face relaxed as I said this. He returned to the room, and a second after I heard M. Coussot's voice from within:

"Ha! ha! Ha! ha! Ver' goot! ver goot indeed! Tell Mees Neveel I feel se honor greatly, but"—and he he raised his tones—"M. Coussot is nevair interviewed."

"So much for the glory I was to be covered with," said I, as, hurrying from the scene of my defeat, I turned into Regent street.

Next morning, still feeling a bit ashamed of myself, I went into the city to keep an appointment that the editor had made for me.

That over, I was coming down Threadneedle street, intending to walk back to the office, when, passing the entrance to the Bank of England, I saw a sight that made my heart go thump!

Three genial-looking gentlemen, locked arm in arm, were emerging from

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way"

And another thus:

"If you jumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

The Worst of It.

Sympathizing Friend—Oh, dear; this is dreadful! Even if it has been shown to be a horrible mistake, yet, to think of you being arrested on suspicion of being a shoplifter!

Mrs. Sayles (bitterly) Yes; (boo, hoo)! One of the papers said I was evidently over thirty, too!—Puck.

Memory and Observation.

Little Brother—You mustn't give the dog so much meat. It will make him vicious.

Little Sister—How do you know?

Little Brother—I've heard so; and, besides, I've noticed that the teacher always brings meat for her lunch.—Good News.

Perfectly Simple.

Patron—This vest is too tight around the waist.

Tailor—That's because you throw your shoulders back too much.

And the coat fits too tight around the shoulders.

Tailor—Oh! well, you shouldn't stoop over so.—Chicago Record.

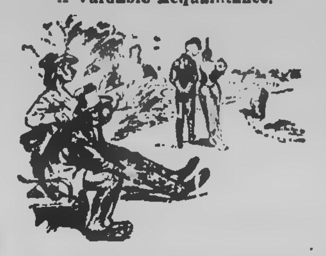
Very Plausible.

Magistrate (severely)—You are charged with kissing this young lady against her will, and on the public highway.

Prisoner—She was in a bicycle costume, and I mistook her for my long lost brother.

Magistrate (briskly)—Discharged! Call th' next case.—N.Y. Weekly.

A Valuable Acquaintance.



Brite Daze—Dere goes a gal dat we orter git acquinatet wid.

Sloppy Wedder—Why?

Brite Daze—I jest heard dat dude say dat she intoxicates 'im ev'y time he's wid 'er.

A Charge to Keep.

Mrs. Poorman—It has been a hard winter, ma'am. My three grown girls have been very little help to me. The poor things are not strong enough to do washing, and they haven't clothes good enough to apply for any other work.

District Visitor—But you say they have rich relatives; don't they look after them?

Mrs. Poorman (sadly)—Only their morals, ma'am: only their morals.

A GIRL REPORTER.

under the famous portals, and in the central figure I recognized M. Jean Coussot himself.

Falling back a pace, I "shadowed" them. They got to the corner and stopped at the edge of the pavement, talking, laughing, gesticulating wildly.

Suddenly they shook hands violently, and, with much raising of hats and vociferous interchange of good wishes, left him. He crossed over to the Mansion house. I followed. Why I did so, I can hardly say, except that I still felt a lingering hope that fate would yet befriend me.

Arrived on the opposite pavement, M. Coussot stopped and took up his station on the curb, critically eyeing the various road cars and omnibuses as they came up.

A Hammersmith car drew up, and, with unsuspected agility, he jumped on to the steps and nimbly climbed upstairs

I followed, and took a seat behind him.

As we neared the top of Cheapside, I thought it time to commence operations.

"Excuse me," said I, in my softest possible tones, "I am not sure if I am on the right car. Does this one go to Hyde Park corner, can you tell me?"

As he heard my voice M. Coussot jerked round on his seat, and, as he looked at me, politely raised his hat.

"Ah, mees! I am a strangair in London," he said. "I vill inquire of the drivair."

And bending over the rail, "Do you pass se Hyde Park cornair?" he asked; and then turned to me again with: "Yes, zis car pass ze cornair."

"Thank you, so much," said I, sweetly, trembling inwardly lest this should prove to be the conclusion of our conversation.

But the gallant Frenchman showed no intention of turning his back towards me. On the contrary, he wheeled still further round, and, keeping his eyes fixed upon my face, said:

"Zere are so many 'buses and things in your London that it ese ver' con—conplexing, confusing."

"Very confusing," I agreed. "Have you never been in London before?"

"Ne-vair," said he. "I vant mouch to come, but somehow never do till this."

"And are you disappointed or pleased with London now you have seen it?" I ventured, feeling that this question marked an epoch in my life.

"Vell," said he slowly, and I hung on his very words, "I am both disappiont and pleased. It is a grand city, but it makes one's head ache, there is so much beesneez. (How I remembered that word!) And I do not find it pretty. It is mouch dull, too gray, too 'neutral tint,' as you say."

He seemed to enjoy chatting like this, and, just as the shops and sideturnings flitted by us, so we went lightly from one subject to the other, until I knew the cause was won, and that, if I could only remember all he had said, I had enough material to fill a whole page of the Ray.

At Hyde Park corner I prepared to alight, having, just in order to prevent wounding his feelings, assured him that I believed Apsley house, which had attracted his attention, to be the habitation of the Guard's club.

"Ah! You get down here! I regret it! Will mademoiselle exchange cards in memory of our deelightful conversationg?"

"Oh! Pray excuse me!" said I. "I have been too indiscreet already."

"No! No!" he protested. "I have enjoy ver' mouch. But mademoiselle may have curiosity as to who she has been talking." And then in much the same tones as the intelligence might be announced, "I am the German emperor!" the versatile Gaul, again raising his hat, said: "I am Jean Coussot!"

"Really!" I gasped, in affected surprise, and without another word descended the steps.

A second after I jumped on to another 'bus, which soon landed me at Piccadilly circus.

Into an aerated bread shop I rushed, pulled out my note book, and began to scribble for dear life.

"What can I get you?" murmured an attendant.

"Coffee," said I laconically.

"Anything to eat?"

"Yes please," I answered, writing on, oblivious of the girl's proximity.

"What?" she persisted. "What what?" said I, looking up angry at the continued interruption. When I had jotted down all that I could remember I took a hansom to the offices of the Ray shut myself up in an empty room and never stopped till my interview was written revised and reread. "Knock out those two columns of Parliamentary Gossip" directed my editor when he had cast an eye over my copy, "and the contents bill must be altered to 'Jean Coussot's Views of London.' Well done, Miss Neville! I'll have a chat with you later."

As may be remembered, the publication of that interview caused a great sensation in the journalistic world.

But the most pleasing memento of this little episode that I possess is an exquisitely fashioned small gold brooch, embellished with the letters "M. N." in diamonds, that M. Coussot himself sent to the Ray offices for me, bearing on the back the words in English: "To the Victor from the Vanquished."—Pall Mall Budget.

New Treatment for Insanity.

A physician, in treating an insane patient, found it advisable to make use of subcutaneous injections of salt. The patient had obstinately refused all nourishment, and the salt was given as an experiment in nutrition, this treatment having been made use of some time previously. To the doctor's surprise some of the worst symptoms of insanity disappeared. Further trials convinced the faculty of the value of this discovery and, according to all indications, there is in this course the germ of a discovery that will entirely revolutionise the treatment of the insane. We are told that the human body consist of about a dozen elements. When these are present in too great quantity or are lacking, we are ill. The great art is to decide just what element needs regulating; when this is done, we are restored to health.

Letters and Language.

Nothing better illustrates the ratio in which the different letters are used in our language than a set of figures on the proportionate number of types that are found in the printer's case, which are usually as follows: z 2, j 5, q 6, k 8, v 15, b and g 30, p 24, w and y 23, m and f 30, c 40, u 45, d and l 120, h 60, r 70, n, o and s 80, a and i 90, t 100 and e 140.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

A WOMAN'S CRIMES.

She Hangs Three of Her Children and Then Suicides.

Special to The Times.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 11.—A terrible tragedy occurred in Allegheny tonight, from which two persons are dead and a third may die. Mrs. Lena Roesener the wife of a tanner on Springhill, Allegheny had been in poor health for the past 10 years. Today while her husband was at work she hung her three year old daughter to the bed post. She then tied a cloth tight around the throat of her 7 months old babe, from the effects of which he will die. After committing these crimes she hung herself by placing a rope around the hinge of a cupboard and then around her neck and allowing herself to fall to the floor. Fortunately the other two children were away, or they might have suffered a similar fate. The cause is attributed to ill health.

A HERMIT

Is Hyams, the Uncle of the Twins Charged Here With Murder—A Wealthy New Yorker Goes to Hot Springs.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The old-fashioned figure long familiar to the frequenters of the Gilsey House, and known to everybody in it by the nickname of "The Hermit," has vanished.

For nearly 18 years the squat, bowed, round-shouldered man, with the downcast eyes, hook nose and grizzled gray moustache, has been a notable presence in the hotel.

Few of the many thousand men and women who daily saw him there knew that his name was Solomon Yorley Hyams. Fewer still of those who interested themselves in the trial at Toronto of Henry and Dallas Hyams for the murder of Wells knew that Solomon Y. Hyams was an uncle of the accused.

It was this very circumstance which drove him from the hotel. It was through his efforts that his nephews escaped imprisonment on the charge of fraud preferred against them in this city some years ago, but from that time he had held no communication with them.

After the story of the murder was told and the fact of his relatives to the brothers leaked out, Mr. Hyaman kept to his room.

"Every time I see a man who knows me," he remarked, "I fear he will say something about the case, and that cuts me to the heart."

When the Toronto jury disagreed and the suspense was for the time over, Mr. Hyams sought out a refuge. The gout, from which he had suffered, crippled him. His physicians suggested Hot Springs, and thither he went on Friday last.

No one in the hotel believes that he will ever come back. Mr. Hyams has earned the pseudonym of "The Hermit" from the fact that except for a former visit to the Hot Springs, about ten years ago, he had never been known to go outside of the hotel. His brother, father of Henry and Dallas Hyams kept the St. Charles hotel in New Orleans.

Solomon Y. Hyams is about 55 years old and is very wealthy.

Cut in Postage Rates.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 11.—The Government has put into effect the recent decree reducing letter postage from ten cents to five cents. Other postal matter is correspondingly reduced.

The Coming Pugilistic Contests.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Manager Vendig, of the Florida Athletic Club, announced that no fight would take place in tourney before the Corbett-Fitzsimmons meeting. The Dixon-Plimmer fight will probably take place on the second day. It is probable that Steve O'Donnel will be matched to fight on the third day. All the fights will take place in the afternoon at two o'clock.

Shot as a Traitor.

NEW YORK, July 11.—A despatch from Havana says:—It is said in insurgent circles that Sandoval, who commanded the Spanish troops that surprised and killed Jose Marti, late president of the Cuban rebels, was captured by a flying column of mounted guerrillas, commanded by Gen. Jose Maco. Col. Sandoval was accorded a court martial, speedily condemned of treason against the Cuban Republic, and of the murder of its chief, and sentenced to be shot. The sentence was carried out and the body buried. A mark was placed upon the grave.

A good appetite and refreshing sleep are essential to health of mind and body, and these are given by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The Lord Mayor of London will soon banquet Daly's company and Mr. and Mrs. Bayard.

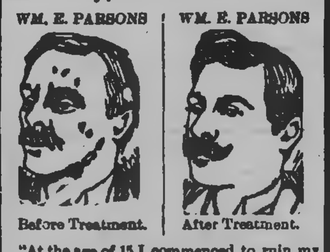
Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT WILL CURE YOU AFTER ALL ELSE FAILS.

Emissions, Varicocele and Syphilis Cured.



Before Treatment. After Treatment.

"At the age of 15 I commenced to ruin my health. Later on as "ONE OF THE BOYS," I contracted a serious blood disease—SYPHILIS. I was weak and nervous, despondent, pimples, sunken eyes, bone pains, ulcers, hair loose, sore tongue and mouth, drains in urine, varicocele!—I was a wreck. I was in the last stages when a friend recommended Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. A dozen other doctors had failed in curing me. Drs. K. & K. cured me in a few weeks by the New Method Treatment. I would warn similar diseased men to beware of Medical Frauds. Drs. K. & K. are reliable, honest and skilful physicians.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

An Excursion under the auspices of the Young Woman's Christian Association, Tuesday 16th inst., to Sturgeon Point, via Chemong. Adults 75c, Children 50c.

The Weather.

Probs.—Moderate to fresh southwesterly to northwesterly winds; fine, warm weather.

The Grays Remanded.

The Grays were remanded until Tuesday yesterday. They were not brought to County Magistrate Edmison's office, but the necessary papers were handed to the gaoler. A large crowd who had assembled to see them was very much disappointed.

Forest Fires.

Forest fires are raging in the vicinity of Young's Point and Burleigh Falls, which will do serious damage unless rain comes soon to check the progress of the flames. Campers and others cannot be too careful leaving fires this dry season a spark falling into the dry grass and being fanned by the wind into a flame might cause untold loss.

Furniture.

A large line of bedroom furniture at all prices at A. Cleggs'. Some new designs in centre tables in choice woods, finely finished. Oak, Walnut, Mahogany and Curley Birch, dining room and parlor furniture a full line. Fancy odd chairs and tables. Pictures, easels, cornice poles, window shades, etc. A. Cleggs', 427 George street.

Hypnotic Baseball.

Prof. Lee, the hypnotist appeared before the largest audience of the week last night and gave a wonderful and laughable demonstration of his power over those who allowed themselves to be hypnotised. The feature of the evening was a baseball game, nine well known young men constituting the team while under the hypnotic influence. The earnestness displayed by the players and their ludicrous actions and sayings, fairly convulsed the audience.

Sudden Death.

On Monday last, Mrs. Outwater, a widowed lady, over 80 years of age, residing with her son, Andrew, in the 9th Con. of Rawdon, went out to the barn, and stepping on a loose board, fell down into the cellar, a distance of about eight feet. She was apparently not much injured, but the shock was too much for her, and she died about three hours afterwards. The funeral took place on Wednesday, and was largely attended, her remains being brought to Stirling cemetry for interment.

Accidental Death.

The jury which was empanelled to inquire into the death of Mrs. Joseph Kennedy, who was killed on Tuesday, July 2, by being thrown from her buggy, continued in its duties on Thursday, and after hearing the report of Drs. Greer and Turner, who conducted the post mortem, brought in a verdict of accidental death caused by being thrown from a buggy. The finding of the jury also censured the parties for leaving the rails in the ditch, and recommended that the road obstruction law be more strictly enforced hereafter.

Pan-American Notes.

Right Rev. Henry Benjamin Whipple, D.D., Episcopal Bishop of St. Paul, Minn., has informed Secretary Sherin that he will be present at the congress. Bishop Whipple is the veteran bishop of the Episcopal church in the U. S. Northwest and has been prominently connected with the Government in the administration of its Indian policy for many years.

Rev. C. M. Thompson, D.D., member of the Detroit Methodist Conference, and Hon. D. A. Ansell, Consul General of Mexico, Montreal will be present. United States Consul Thomas O'Hara, of San Juan del Norte, Nicaragua, writes that he expects that country to be represented.

Wallbrook and Simons.

Citizens who have been entertained by these two well known comedians will be delighted to learn that they have engaged the opera house for next Thursday night, when they will give a first class performance, assisted by amateur talent from Peterborough and Toronto. Mr. Wallbrook, or "Jimmie" as he is best known, has just returned from a long circuit of engagements on the other side, and is a whole show in himself. Undoubtedly the performance will be one of the best given in Peterborough for some time. Dan Simons will again introduce his huge success the little giraffe "Ginger." Large posters announcing the event and enumerating some of the specialties have just been issued from THE TIMES office.

An Unpleasant Experience.

On Sunday last two young ladies, one from Port Hope and the other from Lakefield, who were camped at Stony Lake in the vicinity of Boschink, had an unpleasant experience. They had to go for water, and taking a boat which had not been in the water since last summer, they started out to the spring. They had not proceeded far before the boat commenced to leak badly, and they were compelled to turn back, but before they reached the landing, the boat was nearly half full of water, and they got to land just in the nick of time, with their clothes thoroughly soaked. Meanwhile company had arrived at the island, and the young ladies were in great straights to procure suitables to curl their hair with, to make themselves presentable to the young gentlemen, and a hunt was made over the island for some nails with which to do it. They were found and the young ladies were made accordingly happy in spite of their wet apparel. Next time they will not take a leaky boat.

ORANGEMEN ON PARADE.

The Rain Put an End to Outdoor Festivities Yesterday.

The long looked for rain came yesterday and while it brought joy to the farmer and prosperity to the growing crops, it was an effectual damper to the 12th of July demonstration, and spoiled the celebration in Millbrook, where it fell in copious drops from long before the noon hour until night. However, it failed to quench the ardor of the Orangemen and True Blues if it did wet their regalia, and few there are but will say the Glorious Twelfth was a day and an occasion that will linger in their memories and warm their hearts until the next anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne rolls around.

Bright and early the members of the order were astir in Peterborough yesterday morning, and by eight o'clock the sidewalk at the corner of George and Simcoe streets in the front of the Orange lodge rooms was crowded with loyal Orangemen bedecked with the regalia and insignia of the order and carrying with dignity on their heads the dignified and shining beaver, which in many cases, had been brought out and tenderly dusted on many preceeding occasions of the anniversary of that famous and historic battle.

Mingling with the Orangemen were the members of the two lodges of Loyal True Blues, also wearing the regalia of their order. Shortly before 9 o'clock the Fire Brigade Band stationed itself at the corner and rendered several selections. Then the order "fall in" was given by Grand Marshall Bro. George Hall, and the procession started in the following order:

Peterborough Band.

After marching through the principal streets the procession finally brought up at the station and embarked for Millbrook with their wives and friends. The coaches provided would hardly accommodate the large crowd.

Millbrook was reached shortly after 11 o'clock, and crowds of people received the visitors at the station. A procession was formed after disembarkation and to the lively tunes of several bands the march began.

Rain, however, began to pour down about noon and put an end to further out door demonstration. In consequence the hotels and the lodge rooms of the order at Millbrook were crowded.

The Peterborough contingent returned on the 5.12, a few remaining over until the later trains.

The joint installation of Mt. Hebron and Hiawatha encampments has been postponed.

Indications point to the illuminated canoe parade next Thursday night as being a large and splendid one.

The jury sittings of the Peterborough Fall Assizes, at which the Grays, if committed at the preliminary hearing, will be tried, will begin on Tuesday, Sept. 24th, Chancellor Boyd presiding. The nonjury sittings will be held on Oct. 22nd, Mr. Justice McMahon presiding.

The return lacrosse match—Port Hope vs. Cobourg—was played there on Thursday afternoon in the Athletic grounds, before a very slim attendance of spectators. The visitors were strengthened somewhat since the last meeting of these two teams, while the Ontarios had one of the weakest teams to represent the club. The Port Hopes won by 3 goals to 1.

The material which the Young's Point Punt Club has placed on the shore of Crab Lake, Township of Burleigh, for the erection of a lodge, was destroyed by fire between Friday night and Sunday morning. As the grass and trees in the immediate vicinity were unharmed, the deed is doubtless the work of an incendiary, who if caught will be prosecuted to the utmost limit of the law, as a reward of $50 will be offered for information which will lead to the conviction of the fire-bug.

STREET SERVICES.

Christian Endeavorers at Boston Make an Innovation.

The third day of the 14th International Christian Endeavor Convention opened yesterday morning with ideal weather in Boston. Despite the immense amount of energy expended by the delegates at the great meetings of Thursday morning and afternoon and the greater meetings of the evening, thousands of them were up with the sun yesterday morning, making their way to thirty churches in the city and vicinity to attend the early prayer meetings that began at 6.30 and lasted 45 minutes. All the churches were crowded at the early meetings. After the church meetings rallies and song services were held in the streets in many parts of the city and hundreds on their way to work stopped to participate in them.

A BOLD ROBBERY.

A Stranger Steals a Watch From a Bed Room.

One of the coolest and boldest daylight robberies was committed at Lipsett's hotel, Ashburnham yesterday.

Mr. George Lipsett, the well-known proprietor of the hotel, has been laid up for some time with an affliction of the eyes and the last few days has kept to his bed chamber. His numerous friends have made a practice of calling on him during his sickness, so yesterday when a well-dressed man entered the hotel and asked Mr. Lipsett's son how his father was, at the same time claiming to be an old friend, Mr. Lipsett, Jr., had no hesitancy or misgiving in allowing the man to go to his father's room.

So the stranger went into Mr. Lipsett's room and professed the greatest concern for the sufferer's health. On account of the darkened room, and the affliction to his eyes, Mr. Lipsett could not see the man very distinctly, but accepted his proffered regrets for his affliction in good part. They conversed for sometime, and then the stranger left.

Shortly afterwards Mr. Lipsett missed a valuable watch which was in the pocket of his vest, which was hanging on the bed post above his head. This the stranger had managed to abstract, no doubt, when rising to go.

In an inside pocket of the vest was Mr. Lipsett's pocket book, containing a considerable amount of money. Fortunately the wily thief did not feel this, or it would have assuredly gone the same way.

It was a bold and daring piece of work. As Mr. Lipsett has the description of the stranger, his detention and arrest will be easier, than if he was unknown.

SWIMMING BATHS.

Regarding the sum of $200 which Councillor Sproule moved in Council should be appropriated for the erection of bath houses, the objection has been raised that this sum is totally inadequate to erect suitable places. Councillor Sproule informs us that he is well aware that $200 would not allow of very large or very elaborate bath houses, but $200 would be a start in the direction of public bath houses for Peterborough, and to make this start is what Councillor Sproule is working.

The summer is half gone and the question of public bath houses, mooted each succeeding summer, has amounted to nothing material yet. In the meantime the small boy and big boy and all who care to bathe, are driven by the municipality from those places where bathing is safe, to places where it is exceedingly dangerous to venture into the water, and the harvest of deaths by drowning grows on apace. It is not to be wondered at that each summer one or more sad drowning accidents occur, and it is not going too far to assert that some of these might have been averted had suitable bath houses been provided.

The biblical injunction, "cleanliness is next to godliness," means very little to the average small boy, who goes in swimming for the pleasure of swimming and who frequently pulls on his clothes much dirtier than when he entered the water. When the water becomes too cold for bathing he will play marbles on the dusty roads, and his mother will fairly have to yank him to the brink of the washtub. But during the summer months he is bound to bathe and swim and cut his feet on snags and shells, and if the police deter him from displaying his scrawniness in safe bathing localities he is not in the least weakened in his determination to swim, and so he goes further away, perchance where the current is stronger and the dangerous holes more numerous, and if he gets beyond his depth and is taken out with life extinct, his death is attributed to cramps when the municipality is mortally responsible for it.

Councillor Sproule is right. It is high time A START was made towards the erection of bath houses. The sum of $200 will go a long ways towards THE START. It will cover the cost of the erection of small bath houses that will answer for present necessities, and these can be built on to and enlarged from year to year until Peterborough can boast of good bath houses.

It does seem passing strange that the splendid bathing facilities afforded by the Little Lake and river, have never been of enough value in the eyes of the municipality to warrant the expenditure of a few hundred dollars for bath houses.

DR. SPEARS AND THE SCHOOL ACT.

Editor Morning Times.

DEAR SIR,—My name appeared in your issue, 9th inst., concerning a supposed violation of the Separate School Act, Sec. 42. Having by means of a written request obtained a certified copy of the statement read by the Reeve of the council board. I desire the public to be correctly informed. In compliance with the public school monthly report on the 4th of January, I wished to consult the principal and received the following written replies: "The questions in physiology have been mislaid, hence I cannot mark the answers. However it makes no material difference." January 11th: "Miss Burt has just shown me your note about detaining Connie at home until I comply with some demand of yours—what you now expect me to do is more than I can understand, but perhaps you can explain it to me if you see fit—M. W. Matchett." Endeavoring to do so I communicated with the chairman of the Board but received no reply and wrote the Public school Inspector with the same result. On 13th of June I appealed to test my financial and religious status, thus, all of which is respectfully submitted for the decision of His Honor, the County Judge. By inserting the above once in your daily and weekly papers you will oblige,

Yours sincerely,
HUGH SPEARS.

A Fly in the Beer.

If a fly drops in a beer glass, one who has made a study of national characteristics can easily tell the drinker's nationality by his action.

A Spaniard pays for the beer, leaves it on the table, and goes away, without saying a word.

A Frenchman will do the same, except that he swears while he goes.

An Englishman spills the beer, and orders another glass.

A German carefully fishes out the fly and finishes drinking his beer, as if nothing had happened.

A Russian drinks the beer with the fly.

A Chinaman fishes out the fly, swallows it, and then throws away the beer.

TONS FELL ON HIM.

John Hoban Injured by a Heavy Falling Stone.

About ten o'clock yesterday morning, John Hoban, a teamster, had his right leg badly fractured by a large stone falling off a wagon and against him. Hoban was engaged drawing the large stone for the bridge at Rosa's from the cars at the G. T.R. station. Two large stones had been loaded upon Hoban's waggon and he had just left the car and was going over the crossing at King street, when the larger of the two stones began to slip from the waggon. Hoban was standing on the stone and went with it. The man alighted on the inside of the wheel and the stone falling on its end turned over against him. The man fell and it was seen he was badly injured. Drs. Greer and Pigeon were called and it was found that beside bruises the right leg was badly fractured above the knee.

The stone weighed between two and three tons and would have killed Hoban had it fallen upon him. He was sent to the St. Joseph's Hospital and the injuries attended to.

Tenders FOR Indian Timber Limits

SEALED TENDERS will be received by the undersigned up to noon of Friday, the 30th August, next, for the green standing pine, spruce and tamarac timber over nine inches in diameter at the stump, and all dead and fallen timber, on the Temiscamingue Indian Reserve, which contains an area of 60 square miles and is situated at the head of Lake Temiscamingue, in the County of Pontiac, in the Province of Quebec.

And also sealed tenders for the green standing pine over nine inches in diameter at the stump, and all dead and fallen timber, on the Wahnapitae Indian Reserve situated on the north shore of Lake Wahnapitae, in the District of Nipissing, in the Province of Ontario, containing an area of four square miles.

Each tenderer shall state the sum he is willing to pay in cash as a bonus for each limit over and above the ordinary Crown dues chargeable under tariff of the Department, and there shall accompany each tender an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion in favour of the undersigned for TEN PER CENT. of the amount of the tender, which sum shall be forfeited in the case of the failure of the successful tenderer to complete purchase of limit as hereinafter specified; and in the case of unsuccessful tenderers the cheque will be returned.

The successful tenderer shall, within fifteen days from date of notice of acceptance, pay the balance of bonus, together with ground rent and license fee, and furnish satisfactory bonds by himself and two sureties for the proper carrying out of the terms of license.

The purchaser or purchasers will be allowed ten year for the removal of the timber specified in the licenses, the Department reserving the right to authorize the cutting and removal of timber of other descriptions by the Indians.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Further information as to the rate of dues, &c., can be had on application to the undersigned.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

GOING ROUND A CURVE.

A MOTOR CAR ON THE SCARBORO LINE COLLIDES WITH A CAR OF THE TORONTO STREET RAILWAY.

PRIVATE EXCURSION CAR.

One Boy Killed and Two Other Passengers So Seriously Injured That Their Death is Expected—Several Other Passengers More or Less Hurt—The Motorman's Story.

(Special From Toronto.)

Dead.

JAMES STEWART, aged 11 years, residence 135 Sumach street.

Injured.

CONDUCTOR W. B. NORTHAM, of Lalla Rookh, right side of face cut.

MOTORMAN W. J. GRAHAM of car 444, residence 239 Logan avenue, both legs broken beneath the knees; also ankle of the right leg.

FRANK TOWNSEND, aged 13, 185 Eastern avenue, left leg crushed, right leg cut.

R. H. DUNN, accountant in Toronto Type Foundry, head cut and badly shaken.

MISS LETTY LAMB, aged 17, 375 Parliament street, side bruised.

Saturday afternoon at 2.47, car No. 441 and a trailer full of the pupils and teachers of Sackville street Mission Hall collided with car No. 8 of the Scarboro line, better known as the "Lalla Rookh." The spot of the collision was just opposite the Cobley cottage, about 100 yards west of where the line turns down to Victoria Park.

The Lalla Rookh left Victoria Park a minute or two after 2.40 and was on her way westward at a rate of 10 miles an hour, with A. Baker as motorman, but carrying no passengers; while the city car, with her full freightage, was going at about the same speed towards Victoria Park.

THE CAUSE OF THE ACCIDENT.

In front of the Cobley residence there is a curve in the track amounting to some 12 feet from the straight line and at its western end thick cedar trees shut off all view of the line for a longer distance than 30 yards.

The motormen of both cars say they didn't see each other until within 25 yards apart, when the Scarboro car, which is furnished with double brakes, was immediately reversed, but too late to stop. Car No. 444, despite the efforts of Motorman Graham to prevent it, could not be stopped in time to avert the collision.

The two cars came together with a fearful crash. Two boys named Stewart and Townsend, were riding in the vestibule with the motorman, Graham, and the three were buried in the debris. The cries of the terror-stricken children were appalling, and it was some minutes before any one on board became sufficiently cool to attend the three unfortunates. The platform of the city car was completely wrecked. The mass of broken iron and broken glass, together with the twisted fenders and guards, covered Steward and Townsend, but they were quickly pulled out.

Mr. Dunn, who was a passenger in the trailer, lay unconscious on the road, but was soon revived. Motorman Graham was carried into the Cobley Cottage, and carefully laid on a bed in the parlor, while the two boys were placed, one on a seat of a wrecked car, and the other on cushions by the roadside.

A crowd had now gathered, made up of local residents, the bicyclists who were having a road race, and a large number of lookers on in buggies and on foot, and a buggy was at once enlisted and despatched for doctors. Dr. Walters of Toronto was the earliest to arrive and made a thorough examination of the two boys first. It didn't take long to decide that both the legs of each were broken and that their immediate removal to the General Hospital was the best thing to be done for them, so placing each on a removed cushion seat, laid across the tops of the seats of the trailer, the car started for the city. Dr. Barnhardt of East Toronto and Dr. J. V. Brown, 186 King street west, were on the spot and aided in looking after Mortorman Graham and Conductor Northam of the Scarboro car. The later had a cut on the right cheek, but the pulled up trousers of the former revealed both legs broken below the knee, the right ankle broken and blood pouring out of a gash on the right leg by the cupful. The continued efforts of the medical men finally prevailed, however, and he, too, joined the boys in the hospital.

CONDUCTOR GRAHAM'S STORY.

Conductor Graham, who is an old hand in the service, asked to give his version of the catastrophe. Said that his car, which was a special one, had received no orders about meeting other cars along the line, and he had put on the brake as soon as he saw the approaching "Lalla Rookh;" also that he had "to brake" both cars his efforts were unavailing at so short a distance. Motorman Baker of the Scarboro car reversed his motor and was running backward when the shock came. With the exception of some of its windows and the headlight being broken, and the trolley pole bent, his car sustained but little injury.

INTENSE EXCITEMENT IN THE CITY.

The police ambulance was summoned and first removed the boys Stewart and Townsend to the General Hospital. On the arrival of the ambulance there the news of the accident spread like wild fire through the homes of those who were with the excursion. Reports went out that several had been killed outright, and it was found necessary to station a guard of police at the hospital gates to hold back the excited throng that clamored for news of their friends.

Stewart had bled freely from the lungs while en route to the hospital, and was in a dying condition when taken in. Both legs were broken below the knees, and he was injured internally. It was seen that his injuries were fatal, and he died at 5.30.

His companion was more fortunate. Townsend's right leg was torn and lacerated from the knee to the ankle, but no bones were broken. His left leg was also slightly cut. The injuries are painful, but in no way dangerous.

The ambulance returned for Motorman Graham. It was found that both his legs had sustained compound fractures below the knees. He is injured internally, but to what extent the medical men could not ascertain. His condition is serious.

THE ANXIETY RELIEVED.

It was some hours before the anxious relatives of the picnickers were fully aware of the exact number of killed and wounded and continued to surge around the Hospital gates until satisfied that their friends were not among the unfortunates.

UTTERANCES OF ORANGEMEN ON THE 12TH OF JULY.

London's Ex-Mayor Refers to Sir John Carling as Judas—Dr. Wilde on Separate Schools—Angry Winnipegers.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Ont., July 13.—The speeches at the Orange gathering here yesterday were of a very sensational character. That of ex-Mayor E. T. Essery was the most stirring. "I am a Conservative," said Mr. Essery, "but I want the Conservative Government to understand I am a Conservative freeman, and not a Conservative dog. They have no business to pass remedial legislation until they go to the country on that question. I was a candidate in the Provincial election in November last, and we are said to have been beaten by 800 majority. Judas Iscariot betrayed our Saviour, and Sir John Carling betrayed me.

CALLED HIM JUDAS II.

"And the reason that Judas II. is not a candidate today for the Commons is because he thought he had fixed it with the Catholic priests. (Hear, hear.) I took him literally by the neck at a public meeting and told him to step down and out, and that is the reason why Major Beattie is the Conservative candidate instead of Sir John Carling, the traitor, today—(hear, hear)—and just that dose that Sir John got so will our Government get if they dare to force upon Manitoba the remedial legislation that the priests and bishops of the Roman Catholic Church are asking for." (Cheers.)

The speaker said that Laurier was too big a coward to express his views. There was nothing to gain by looking to men like him. If they would pledge their candidates to stand or fall by voting against such legislation, they would knock the tar out of any Government that tried to do it.

GO BACK ON THE PARTY.

Wm. Fitzgerald, of Toronto, Grand Master of the True Blues, was well received. He said he was glad to see that for once Ontario's papers were equal to the occasion and were shouting "Hands off Manitoba." (Cheers.) If they dared allow Sir Mackenzie Bowell and others who were false to their trust—(cheers)—to thwart Manitoba in its efforts, the Catholics would soon attack other Provinces. If the old Conservatives blindly follow their leaders in the present attitude on the school question, they are unworthy of the name of Orangemen. Concluding, he said: "Let us beware of these truckling politicians and of any subterfug they may try to spring on us on the eve of an election. They have brought out the old flag on two or three occasions, but it should never be used for a dishonorable purpose, and if they seek to make it a cover for remedial legislation put them where they can never come back. (Cheers). Will you do it?" (Cries of "Yes.")

CREDIT TO THE ORANGEMAN.

Rev. Dr. Wilde held that no Separate school should be established west of Ontario. The hierarchy was the greatest enemy Ontario had. Referring to the Orange order he said the Government at Ottawa would have done ten times worse but for the restraining influences of that body.

A resolution was carried pledging the Orange order to oppose all who supported remedial legislation.

WINNIPEGERS ANGRY.

WINNIPEG, July 13.—Orangemen gathered here from all the surrounding places yesterday and after the usual parade assembled at Fort Garry Park. Rev. W. G. Anderson, the chief speaker strongly denounced the Dominion Government for its school policy. A resolution was then moved by Rev. Mr. Henderson and seconded by J. K. McInnes, of Regina, charging ex Grand Master Bowell and his followers in the Cabinet with bartering away the rights of Manitoba at the dictation of the hierarchy and declaring that a tyrannical attempt was being made to violate the principles of Confederation. The resolution thanked the Manitoba Government for its firmness and ended thus: "We hereby pledge ourselves in the presence of this vast assemblage, that we will, even to the sacrifice of our lives, defend our schools and the liberties of our children in this grand heritage which God has given us." This carried amid cheers.

Then a resolution was passed setting forth that the Dominion Government having pledged itself to Separate schools Hon. T. M. Daly be called upon to resign from the Cabinet, while A. W. Ross, M.P., for Lisgar and M. Boyd, M.P. for Marquette, be requested to explain their conduct in supporting a Government which threatens Manitoba with such an infliction. This resolution was moved by the Rev. Mr. Finn. About 12,000 people were present.

AN AYLMER FIRE.

It Destroys 11 Buildings and Causes $11,000 Damage.

Special to the Times.

AYLMER, July 13.—One of the largest fires that has taken place in Aylmer occurred yesterday, when eleven buildings were destroyed. The following are the losses: Dwelling of H. H. McDiarmid and his barn, insured for $700, loss $260; dwelling owned by A. J. Parker, insured for $700, loss $1000; A. J. McKenzie lost a quantity of lumber and two frame buildings, loss $4000, no insurance; residence of J. L. Lambert and barn, insured for $700, loss $1800; Mr. McMath, dwelling insured for $200, loss $500; Richard Snook's dwelling, insured for $400, loss $700. The dwellings of Wm. Warnock, H. Martin and the English church were slightly damaged. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a spark from McDiarmid's mill.

WITH NO OPPOSITION.

HOUSE OF COMMONS RETURNED BY ACCLAMATION.

Thirty-Four New Members—Incidents of the First Day of the British Elections—Not Comforting for the Liberals.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 13.

THE Liberals were unprepared with candidates in numerous cases yesterday, and the Conservatives have scored heavily on the acclamations. No fewer than 34 members of the new House of Commons were returned unopposed, and of this large number the Liberals secure but three, two in England and one in Scotland. The straight Conservatives take 24, and their allies, the Liberal-Unionists, four, while the remaining three go to the Parnellites, who, while not allies of the Liberals, may safely be classed as against the Salisbury Government. The balance of parties, remains, of course, unchanged, except in the case of South-west Manchester, where there is some doubt as to the views of Mr. Parkes, who succeeds Jacob Bright, the Liberal. If he proves to be a Unionist the Liberals lose one on the acclamations of yesterday. The moral effect, however, of the abnormally numerous unopposed elections of Unionists will be very disheartening in the ranks of the Liberal party generally. In at least a third of the seats that went by default yesterday the Liberals had but there was no candidate. On the other hand the Unionists are running candidates against the Liberals wherever there is a shadow of a chance. In Sheffield alone, in England, two Liberals were returned unopposed, and this only by virtue of a deal between the party managers whereby three Unionists in the same city were also unopposed. Two divisions of Birmingham returned Unionists unopposed, and several metropolitan constituencies do the same. The rest of the Unionists are returned mainly by small boroughs where aristocratic and landowning influence is paramount but in which, nevertheless, the Liberal party in the past has generally given a good account of itself. The Conservative party managers are naturally jubiliant at the result of

A GOOD FIGHTING CHANCE

THE FIRST TRIAL OF STRENGTH

The list of members who have been elected includes several notable figures, most notable of all, perhaps, being that of the venerable Charles Villers, now in his 93rd year and easily father of the House of Commons. Mr. Villiers has been in Parliament since 1835, when he went into the House as a member for Woolverhampton, of which city he has ever since been one of the representatives, having now for several elections been returned unopposed.

Mr. Goschen, the new First Lord of the Admiralty, has for the second time found himself unopposed for the ultra-fashionable constituency of St. George's, Hanover square.

Mr. J. Henniker Heaton, of universal penny-postage fame, has been returned for Canterbury. He had similar good fortune in 1892.

The town of Sheffield, with over 50,000 voters, has returned all its five members unopposed. The political complexion remains as before, three Conservatives and two Liberals. This is an unprecedented series of acclamations from a great city.

Sir William Harcourt and wife, while returning from a political meeting in a carriage yesterday, were vigorously pelted with cabbage stalks and rubbish while passing through a rough suberb of Derby. The two were hit, but were not injured. Lady Harcourt was literally covered with dirt and filth, which besmirched her garments and went down her neck.

The Earl of Hopetoun has been appointed Paymaster-General: Lord Belper, Captain of the Gentlemen at-arms; the Earl of Limerick, Captain of the Yeomen of the Guard; the Earl of Coventry, Master of the Buckhounds; and the Duchess of Buccleuch, Mistress of the Robes.

United Press Special Cable Letter.

LONDON, July 13.—The remainder of the constituences in which there are no opposing candidates now show only 15 where there is no Unionist standing against 115 where there is no candidate representing the Liberal party. This state of things is very reasonably regarded as the result of conviction on the part of the Liberals that the contest is hopeless in these particular divisions or districts. Hitherto the Liberals have contested these seats with the notion that there was a remote chance of bagging one here and there; but on this occasion they seem to have concluded that it would be a waste of time and energy to make the attempt. Consequently they have abandoned the campaign in these districts, and the Liberal Executive Committee have decided to concentrate their efforts in contesting for the doubtful seats, in the conciousness that they will have enough to do to capture the share which the last general election allotted to them. If they do this they will be extremely lucky, and indeed, nobody thinks that they expect it.

THE WORST OF ALL

the misfortunes that have overtaken the Liberals and Home rulers in this campaign or, in fact, since the retirement of Mr. Gladstone, has been the disclosures made by Timothy M. Healy concerning the relation of the Liberal whips with the Anti Parnellite leaders. Every Liberal and every McCarthyite deplores these revelations, and the feeling is wide spread that all of the power which the priesthood usually exert over the Irish elections, or all of the power which they are capable of exerting, will fall very far short of counteracting the baneful influence of Mr. Healy's disclosures.

An Unsolved Mystery.

TORONTO, July 13.—A coroner's warrant has been issued to enquire into the deaths of two infants, four months old, who were taken ill a few days ago at 248 Chestnut street, where they were kept. They were taken to a dispensary for treatment, but died in a day or two, and their bodies are so much emaciated that an investigation will be made into the circumstances surrounding their death. The parents of the children are not known.

A Mad Cow's Antics.

TORONTO, July 13.—While being driven along Front street east, near Berkeley st., on Friday evening a cow suddenly went mad and made things lively for about half an hour. The frenzied animal got up to Queen street, knocked a woman down, tore back to the Esplanade again, tossed a man in the air and then proceeded to gore him to death. The man got over a fence, however, and saved his life. The cow was finally shot.

PETERBOROUGH. JULY 15 1895.

HON. CLARKE WALLACE.

There are two courses open to Hon. Clarke Wallace. He may resign now or he may stay in office until the introduction of the remedial bill next session and then retire from his Government position.

If he chooses the latter course a candid public will say the sweets of office for six months have greater influence with him than principle.

Self respect and regard for his own declaration of his principles demands that he retire at once from a Government which has repeated and emphasized its solemn promise to grant legislation directly opposed to his views of what is just and right and best for Canada.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell's reply to Senator Angers indicates that the Premier is, if necessary, prepared to form a Cabinet composed wholly of Quebec members in order to force Separate schools on Manitoba. What does Ontario say to this?

THE SITUATION.

The crisis at Ottawa is over for the time being, and the government, in its patched up condition, will probably pull through the session. Angers is still out, while Caron and Ouimet have returned to their salaries. We agree with that excellent conservative paper, the Hamilton Spectator, that if Greenway does not stultify himself, and if the programme made by the government be carried out, the crisis will take the field next January much strengthened by a six months' rest. The public has been made aware of nothing new in the situation. The government stands pledged to introduce remedial legislation at a session to be held not later than January; but whether Messrs. Caron and Ouimet have been able to force the members of the cabinet to sign a written compact, pledging themselves that the remedial legislation to be introduced shall be in the nature of the complete restoration of separate schools in Manitoba, remains to be discovered. It is to be hoped that the British members of the cabinet have been spared that degradation.

The situation now is this: The government is bound, hand and foot, to take Manitoba by the throat—the contingency of Greenway taking back water is too remote to be considered—while the Grit party stands unpledged and free to do what it pleases. Were the general elections to take place to-morrow every English-speaking Conservative who stood by the government would be snowed under, and the French leader of the Grits would be able to outbid Sir Mackenzie Bowell in Quebec, as was done in Vercheres. To go to the country on the promise of remedial legislation would be sure defeat for the Conservative party; to go to the country after having taken Manitoba by the throat—if it were possible to secure enough votes in the house to do it—would be to secure the annihilation of the Conservative party.

What is to be done? Is the party to be wrecked and the National Policy destroyed because of the blundering of the government? Will the country consent to the ruin of Canadian industry because Quebec has been able to force spineless ministers to their knees? We think not. Ontario will not stand idly by and see the government's ruinous programme carried out. Ministers may be coerced; but there are some provinces that cannot be coerced by Quebec, and Ontario and Manitoba are two of them.

STRAWBERRIES ON THE TABLE.

Attractive Ways of Serving This Delicious Fruit.

The strawberry season is hailed with delight by every good housewife—not so much, perhaps, because of the edible properties of the luscious berries themselves as for the artistic results that may be produced in beautifying a table with them, and thus gratifying the sense of sight as well as of appetite.

A cluster of ripe, red strawberries and their leaves, tied together with a tiny bow of green or scarlet ribbon, is an offering that will appeal to the esthetic sense. When served in this way they should be presented to each person on a glass plate or wooden tray, accompanied by a tiny bowl of pulverized sugar.

Another attractive way of serving them is in small bowls of cracked ice, from which they may be taken by the stems and eaten with powdered sugar.

Equally pleasing are they when strung upon straws—the old-time method of offering them for sale, and from which have originated their name, "strawberries."

When served with cream they should be capped and picked over very carefully, then set on ice for at least an hour before serving. Do not sweeten them until after they are sent to the table, as the sugar "cooks" the berries, besides impairing their flavor if allowed to stand on the fruit for any length of time. To be particularly delicious the cream should be thoroughly chilled and whipped until light and frothy.

Red strawberries heaped upon grape leaves laid on white china plates make a very effective color harmony, as do also raspberries when served in the same manner.

A pretty dish of cracked ice filled with luscious crimson strawberries makes a lovely ornament for the table, and also renders the berries deliciously cold and refreshing.

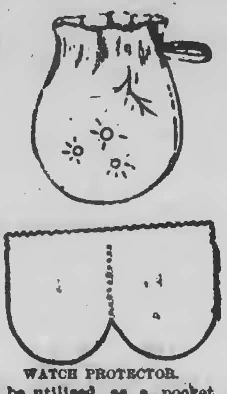
If especially large and fine, the strawberries are often left uncapped and served simply in small glass dishes, one for each guest. Each dish is placed on a table together with two tiny bowls containing sugar and cream and then into the sugar before being eaten.

A low white basket filled with a tempting display of leaves and clusters of ripe red strawberries makes a charming ornament for the centre of a table—one, too, that can be very quickly arranged.

A more elaborate centrepiece for a dinner or luncheon may be made by bordering a table mirror with a conventional band of berries and leaves; the leaves and fruit dooping gracefully over the edges and being reflected in the mirror's surface.

Watch Protector.

Here we have a skooth of a chamois watch protector with a diagram of the pattern by which it is shaped. It is used to protect a patch from scratches and dust when it is not worn, but, if for a woman, it might be utilized as a pocket inside the dress waist, the loop—slipped over a button—holding it in place. It should be just large enough to fit the watch and be gathered up at the top like a bag.



WATCH PROTECTOR.

The chamois is folded at the dotted line, and the curved edges are overhanded together with silk; then the bag is turned. A little loop of silk ribbon elastic is sewed over the edge of the seam, close to the notched opening; it is designed to slip over the gathered up mouth of the bag when the watch is in the pocket.

The decorative design, just a few lines suggestive of daisies with long stems, is in liquid gold applied with a fine-pointed brush, but it might be sketched with pen and ink or with water colors, or the word "Watch" or a name or initials, might be marked upon it.

Thought for the Little Ones.

Tiny toddling children, who need continual care, should have chairs and hassocks provided for them low enough for their feet to rest on the ground while sitting. It is injurious to their health, and very uncomfortable, for children to sit with dangling feet on high school benches. There should also be a low table provided for the little ones on which they can rest their playthings and picture books when they are old enough to take an interest in such matters. Neither a high table or floor is a suitable place for such things. A table, the legs of which may be folded up when not in use, may be purchased as low as $1. In case it should be too high for small children any carpenter of ordinary skill can shorten the legs to the proper height.

Tomato Fritters.

The ripe tomatoes are too expensive for most housekeepers in June, but the canned tomatoes will answer as well for these fritters, which are delicious. Cook together half a can of tomatoes, half a teaspoonful of salt, a pinch of pepper and half a teaspoonful of sugar. After cooking ten minutes, stir into it a tablespoonful of flour and one of butter that have been previously blended. Cook three minutes longer and rub through a strainer. Spread on a platter four slices of stale bread, and pour the strained tomato over them. Let this stand for half an hour, then turn the slices. Beat one egg, and dip the toast first in the egg then in bread crumbs. After that put them into the frying-basket and cook in boiling fat two minutes. Drain well and serve hot.

Corn Remedies.

Most soft corns have in the middle a core which resembles a stiff, coarse hair. Soak the foot half an hour in water as hot as you can bear it, adding hot water from time to time as it cools. Then with a penknife having a long slim point, but not too sharp, work around that centre, hair-like core, loosening it down as deep as you can, after which, with a pair of fine tweezers, pull the hair out. Do not cut the corn off, but apply some soft ointment or salve, such as simple cerate, vaseline or mutton tallow, renewing the same every day for four or five days, being careful to relieve all pressure from the corn.

Electrical Treatment

210 Cowan Ave., Toronto.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. - Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

BICYCLE LEGGINGS.

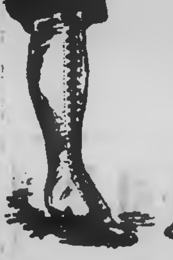
A NECESSARY PART OF EVERY FAIR WHEELWOMAN'S COSTUME.

Designers Racking Their Brains for New Ideas—The Very Swell Thing is a Laced Affair That is Made to Fit Like a Glove.

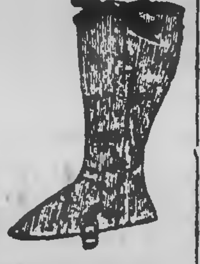
Bicycle leggings, gaiters, boots and shoes of special design are shown in the shoe stores and department stores in great variety. The fashionable makers of custom shoes find an incidental boom in their business directly connected with the bicycle craze, and some of their finest and costliest work is in the line of laced or buttoned leggings and boots of extra length in the legs.

Designers in shoe factories are racking their brains for new ideas in leggings and boots. The latter come in all shades of russet and tan. They are made with an extra long top, reaching to the center of the calf. They come in laces, and differ only from the ladies' hunting boot, or boot for mountain wear, in that for bicycle use the sole must be single, thin and flexible.

Comfortable as such a boot is, it is in no such favor among the fair cyclers as leggings worn with approved bicycle shoes. The latter come in two styles, Oxford ties and plain front lace reaching just above the ankle. The soles are thin and the heel is low and flat. The Oxford ties are made up in dongola, patent leather, tans, russet calf and canvas. The regulation bicycle shoe, laced to support the ankle, is made in dongola calf and canvas. Rubber or leather soles are optional, but rubber is no longer considered the proper thing. The rat-trap pedals make the rubber soles unnecessary. The legging is a necessity with either style of these shoes, and it is in their construction that the designers of footwear have given to the trade their best efforts.



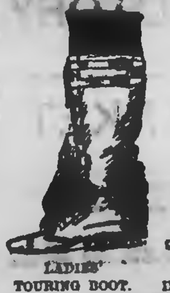
MADE TO ORDER.



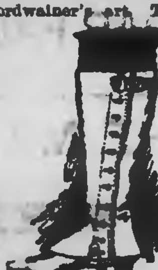
LADIES' CORDUROY.

One window shows over sixty styles of leggings. They are made up to button and to lace and to lace with button effect, and comprise ooze calf in the undressed or suede stlye and in all the rich tan tints; russet, white, red and brown Russian calf; enamelled calf in black, red and russet; dongola kid, kangaroo kid, corduroy in gray, black, blue and purple; canvas in a variety of shades and heavy cloth especially woven for this purpose in every color likely to be worn in the construction of bicycling costumes. Blues and grays predominate, and it is possible to match any of the prevailing shades of outing cloth in any of the big retail stores.

The leggings are, however, supposed to go well with any costume. The laced pattern worn by the ladies of the Lyceum company during the long run of "The Amazons" is much affected. They are made of either ooze calf or russet leather, of russet color, velvety and rich in appearance, and must fit like a glove from ankle to knee. To do this and not interfere with the free motion of the limb is a triumph of the cordwainer's art. The greatest care must be taken in the cutting out of leggings of this class. A slight mistake in measurement or cutting will ruin them in the eyes of the fastidious costumer.



LADIES' TOURING BOOT.



LEGGING IN LEATHER OR CLOTH.

Men are not overgiven to wearing leggings as part of a bicycle costume, preferring to show their manly limbs through the medium of plaid golf stockings. The bicycle legging for men is a simple affair, closely resembling the riding legging in appearance. The bicycle legging, however, is not held to the limb by a strap under the foot, but rests lightly on the top of the foot. They are really intended as a protection in long journeys, and in the stores are shown only in corduroy, canvas and leather. The low quarter dongola kid or canvas shoe of Oxford tie pattern, with an especially stout flat heel, and with a leather sole, is the correct thing in men's bicycle shoes.

CYCLE CLOTHES.

Designers Are Busy Keeping Pace With the Demand for Them.

The bicycle [illegible] continues to spread. Old men and [illegible], rich and poor alike, are learning to wheel. Since manufacturers have reduced the prices, and have begun to sell machines on the instalment plan, [illegible] can afford a wheel, and the clerk and shopgirl ease their consciences by reflecting that the saving in car fare will pay for the bicycle.

Though a very necessary costume, a bicycle suit is not a very serious matter so far as quantity of material is concerned. For riding purposes the less material the better, and expediency is fast getting the best of modesty in deciding upon the number of yards.

The days of the skirt are numbered, and it grows shorter in length and scantier in girth each season. There are sure to be some bloomers somewhere about a bicycle rider, and they are not always concealed. A great many women wear the sweater which men find so useful. These looked very odd at first, when they were made with close fitting sleeves. But now there is a sweater in the market made with sleeves puffed to the elbow. This is much prettier and will be found very useful by feminine athletes.

Old tennis balls that can no longer be used for the game can be made to do good service for the children's outdoor sports. Sew the covering together where it has been ripped, with stout linen thread and crochet a cover over it of a soft material. They will last a long time.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

HEMMED IN BY FLAMES.

MICHIGAN LUMBER TOWNS SURROUNDED BY BURNING FOREST FIRES,

People Fighting For Their Property and Lives—Two Small Places Have Already Been Wiped Out.

Special to The Times.

DETROIT, July 12.

THE upper part of the lower peninsula of Michigan was dotted with forest fires. Already the lumber towns of Wallin, in Bensie County, and Cleary, another little town, have been leveled to the ground. Several people have been badly burned, and no one knows how far the damage has extended.

The "Thumb" has been invaded, and the town of Kindee is girded with fire and ashes.

Wallin, as far as can be learned, is actually destroyed. The Sullivan Lumber Company's Mills there and two million feet of lumber were burned, with thirty houses, that made up the little settlement. The people lost all they had.

TWENTY PERSONS INJURED.

Late despatches from Thompsonville show that about twenty persons have been taken there from Wallin, more or less injured. One child is missing from Wallin.

Cleary, a small lumber town, near Wallin has been burned. The fires which have been burning for several days suddenly grew worse yesterday and before the inhabitants were aware of it, they were nearly hemmed in. They made a rush from the burning town and as far as known left no one behind. Several people were badly burned.

A TOWN HEMMED IN.

From Kindee, in the "Thumb," where the great forest fires occurred a few years ago, comes the most alarming reports. Town is surrounded by flames that every moment are sweeping nearer the place. The news as sent from towns near by is that the people of Kindee are wetting the roofs of their houses and plastering the sides with wet blankets in the hope that they may save their property.

It is feared that the town will go, and messages urging the people to flee for their lives have been sent from several places.

DANGER INCREASING.

Reports from Traverse City, Petowskey, Charlevoix, and the other towns, are all of the same tenor—that the fires have been burning for two weeks, and that a sudden strong wind has fanned them into alarming activity.

Already a number of farm houses have been burned and the people are coming into town, telling that they have lost all they had on earth. Aged Father Smoke, one of the remnants of the Chippewa Indians, in the Petowskey region, lost his cabin yesterday.

Late reports from the extreme western end of the State are that there is a little improvement in the situation, but it is feared that the hot cinders have worked havoc among the famous orchards of that vicinity.

Hayward Murder.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 12.—In the case of Harry Hayward the Supreme Court today filed an order granting a further stay of execution from July 21, pending a decision to be heard on the appeal to be heard at the October term.

The Fatal Level Crossing.

FOSTORIA, Ohio, July 12.—Nathan Goodrich, head clerk at the Toledo and Ohio Central Freight office, was out riding with his wife and son, when about a mile and a half south of this city the carriage was struck by an engine and they were thrown under the wheels. Mrs. Goodrich and the little boy were killed, both being horribly mangled. Mr. Goodrich was seriously hurt, and his recovery is doubtful.

Probably Drowned.

GENEVA, July 12.—Grave apprehension as to the fate of Arthur Cleveland Coxe, of Western New York, and Henry May, of Pittsford, junior students at Hobart, is felt here. They started off last Wednesday in a row boat for a leisurely tour on Seneca Lake intending to camp on shore whenever night overtook them. Friday following a capsized boat was found on the east shore near Dey's landing and in it a handkerchief inscribed with May's name,

The Cuban Revolt.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The marine hospital service this morning received a report from its representative in Cuba. Dr. [illegible], who has made an examination of all the leading ports in the province of Puerto Principe and Santiago de Cuba. In Puerto Principe, the capital of the first named province, there are about five deaths daily from yellow fever. The military hospitals are crowded with cases, the disease being prevalent in the most malignant form. At Santiago de Cuba for the week ending June [illegible] the [illegible] number [illegible], but that number of these are not reported. The death rate, however, has increased in an alarming manner. Two deaths as a result of the fever are reported from Gibara.

H. C. ROGERS, Postmaster

ALPHAEUS CRABBE, ESQ.

By Francis Howard Williams.

Author of "Atman, or the Documents in a Strange Case."

(Copyright 1895.)

He was rather tall and rather angular. One might speak of him as well-dressed, though his anatomy was not of that compact construction which insures a neat appearance. He entered the restaurant as I was in the act of sipping some of Boldt's best Sauterne, and his manner was so out of the ordinary that I paused with uplifted wine-glass to look at him.

Apparently something in the street attracted his attention, for his face was turned in that direction and he was walking slowly backward into the room.

The waiter gave him a table close to my own. He scanned the bill-of-fare mechanically.

"A demi-tasse and a couple of cigarettes, please, you may bring me."

The waiter seemed surprised at the meagreness of this repast, but understood his business and with a silent bow went to fill the order.

I do not know what peculiarity in the stranger attracted me, but I strangely was aware that he did attract me. He seemed to belong to another era; his movement and manner were different from—rather opposed to—those of to-day. I should have said he was a specimen of the nearly extinct class of "gentleman of the old school," had it not been for the fact that, even while I was speculating about the matter, he arose, turned his chair around and deliberately seated himself with the back between his legs, after the manner of bumpkins in a country bar-room. Such an attitude, even in a men's cafe, was quite incompatible with the "old school" theory, so I modified my conclusions, though my interest remained unabated.

As the silent waiter returned with the cigarettes and coffee, the stranger looked up from the bill-of-fare, and, with the air of one who at last has succeeded in solving a vexatious problem, said:

"Fromage de Brie, lettuce mayonnaise."

The attendant looked puzzled, but with perhaps a growing consciousness of the possibility of a fee, bowed urbanely and went off again.

I now noticed that the stranger's necktie—a plain black one—had slipped around so that the bow was at the back of his neck. I felt that it would be a friendly act to tell him of this very inelegant disarrangement of dress, but somehow I hesitated. He was so interesting a study that I feared to break the spell by any closer acquaintance. Besides, if once I opened the door to conversation, he might turn out to be a bore and I dread a bore more than a toothache. Therefore I devoted myself to my steak and Sauterne and awaited developments complacently.

The entrance of the waiter with the salad and cheese was the signal for further happenings which entertained me delightfully.

"And now," remarked the stranger, "you may get a chop English, chips Saratoga, peas green. A bottle pint Chandon et Moet."

The waiter whose official training was barely sufficient to conceal his surprise at the position of the gentleman's chair, recovered himself with evident effort, and delivered his silent bow under the most unfavorable conditions.

As to myself, my astonishment was divided between the peculiarities of the stranger's syntax and the unusual order in which he chose to partake of his viands. That he should put his adjectives after his nouns might be the result of long study of the classic tongues, but that a man should eat a chop after his lettuce appeared to me subversive of recognized gastronomic tradition. Why, he was exactly reversing the order of things. What sort of digestion must the creature have?

I, who am compelled to be somewhat careful in this matter, felt a sense of personal affront in the vagaries of a fellow-being whose individuality soared above the sacred rights of precedent.

I had finished my luncheon but was dawdling a little over my coffee in order to see the denouement. I could not conjecture what odd incident might occur, and I am much too fond of the unusual to miss any available chances in that direction.

The stranger by this time was discussing his chop with apparent satisfaction. He was evidently a good liver; he took the bouquet of his champagne with the gusto of a connoisseur, and touched his peas with the end of his fork with that peculiar delicacy which pertains to disciples of Brillat-Savarin.

I managed to put in the time comfortably and was enabled to remain at my table without attracting attention. I was determined to see the meal finished and when at length the waiter returned for further instructions, I was not at all surprised at the nature of the stranger's command:

"Consomme, and after, little neck clams. And you will bring the yesterday afternoon's paper."

Yes, not only did this erratic individual begin with coffee and end with clams, but he chose to read newspapers a day old in order to be consistent in his reversals! I was now thoroughly convinced that so unusual a person must be interesting, and as the displaced neck-tie had been a a source of annoyance to me ever since I had observed it, I decided that this was the opportunity to break the ice and make his acquaintance. I waited only until he was peppering the little necks, and then stepped over to his table.

"Pardon me, sir," I said. "Your necktie has slipped around with the bow at the back."

"Ah, yes. Of your courtesy, sir, mindful I am. But it is intentional quite. I it so wear always."

"Oh, excuse me," I stammered, feeling as much like a fool as possible.

"Pray mention it not, my dear sir. I wonder not at all at your mistake. Natural it was, very. I thank you."

His voice was round and full. His sentences would have had a peculiar old English flavor, a certain Jonsonese quality, had it not been for his abominable inversions.

As I turned to go, he raised his finger detainingly.

"Perhaps, sir," he said, "I may not be seemed impertinent if I in brief my methods unusual explain?"

This, of course, was precisely what I desired, so I bowed.

"May you I not beg to be seated, sir?" He motioned with grace towards a chair.

You will pardon my posture," he remarked, touching the back of his own chair. The world to-day deems it inelegant, but it is of my theory a part. Is it not better consistent to be than to be merely elegant?"

"Clearly so," I assented. "All theory must be demonstrated if it effectual is to

"THE NONPARIEL" A WRECK.

Jack Dempsey Looks as Though he Had But a Short time to Live.

Special to the Times.

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 12.—Jack Dempsey, the ex-champion middleweight pugilist, passed through the city today en route to Portland, Oregon, where he will reside in the future. Dempsey is a physical wreck and looks as though he had but a short time to live.

LAURIER WILL MOVE

A Resolution Directed at the Government—Langevin and at Cabinet.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 12.—In the House this afternoon, on motion to go into supply, Mr. Laurier will advance a resolution, declaring that the statement of the Government on the Manitoba question is neither satisfactory nor reassuring.

No Ministerial annoucement has been made respecting the entrance of Sir Hector Langevin to the Cabinet. Haggart has developed strong opposition to the scheme, but other Ministers say he may be brought into line.

A GAME OF CARDS

In Which a Woman Was the Stake—Murdered by Her Husband.

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Having won back his wife at a game of cards David Ackerman murdered her today. Ackerman and she lived in the hamlet of Mariantown, near Bloomingdale, Passaic County, N. J. He is 32 years old, she was 26 years. Six months ago Mrs. Ackerman ran away from Mariontown with James Utter. After a month the runaways bold returned to Ackerman's house. There was a bitter quarrel. Ackerman threatened to kill them both, but it finally ended in a game of cards for the woman and her husband won. Utter a few days ago resumed his attentions to Mrs. Ackerman. This caused the quarrel resulting in the murder.

ADIEU TO HENLEY.

Argonauts Leave the Pretty Thames' Side Village—Good Bye for the Canadians.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 12.—The thousands who witnessed the races of the Henley regatta are today discussing the merits of the letters issued by Cornell and Leander, and the consensus of opinion is that the Leanders' statement is the proper account of what occurred. The Cornells' letter is thought to partake somewhat of the character of special pleading. The Cornell men left Henley at three o'clock this afternoon. Their boats were loaded on four trucks attached to the train. The crew have not altered the arrangements to sail for home on July 27th. They will not do any rowing in the interim.

The Argonauts, of Toronto, left Henley this morning. They visited all of the rowing and sporting clubs at Henley last evening and received a great ovation. Later they were entertained at dinner by the Leanders. The Canadians were the most popular of all the visiting crews, though the Dutch crew, of the Nereus Rowing Club, of, Amsterdam University, vied with them in popularity. The Dutchmen also left Henley this morning. They will spend a few days in London and then return to Amsterdam. They have announced their intention to come to Henley in 1896 to compete for the Grand Challenge Cup.

Fatal Accident Near Tottenham.

TOTTENHAM, July 12.—At a barn raising last evening on the farm of Mr. James Watson, in Adjala township, about seven miles from here, a sad accident took place. The first bent had been raised, and not being securely stayed fell when an attempt was made to put up the second. Mr. James Innis was caught between the falling timber and had his head crushed, causing almost instant death. The injured are Chas. Baxter, leg badly fractured and crushed; Neil Drummond, left hip dislocated and other injuries, and James Stone, ribs fractured.

CUPID and PSYCHE

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way"

And another thus:

"If you Jumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

BIGGEST DERRICK IN THE WORLD.

Has a Mast 99 Feet High and Has Lifted a Single Stone Weighing 57 Tons.

A piece of mechanism like which there is none other in the world, is the gigantic steel derrick at the C. E. Tayntor granite quarry, at Barre, Vt. The mast, which is ninety-nine feet high, stands higher than any similar one yet erected. Both the mast and the boom are built of heavy steel plates riveted together with hundreds of large bolts and stiffened with a number of trusses. The mast is sustained by guys running from the top to points averaging about two hundred feet distant and anchored to trees or great rings set into the granite ledge. The wire rope in the guys and other rigging would make a continuous line almost a mile in length, and the weight of the derrick, exclusive of rope, is about fifty thousand pounds.

The boom is seventy feet long and commands a large amount of working surface. None of the Barre granite quarries is deep; the tendency has always been to extend operations laterally instead of going down into the earth, so that the advantavge derived from the great length of boom is apparent.

The machine is operated by means of a powerful hoisting engine and all the workings are controlled by a single engineer. There are steam derricks at all the large quarries and granite manufacturing plants in Barre, bnt the power applies only to the lifting; the booms with their loads of stone, in every instance, are swung around by hand power.

At the foot of the Tayntor derrick, heavily planked over to protect it from flying stone when blasting out refuse granite, is the turning geer connected by a wire rope with the engine-house, where by means of a lever similar in its workings to the reversing lever on a locomotive, the engineer alone is able to lift from the bottom of the quarry, swing around to the side track and place upon a flat-car a block of granite weighing forty tons. The largest single piece of stone ever lifted from a quarry in America by means of a derrick was taken from this quarry and weighed fifty-seven and one-half tons.

The derrick has always been found equal to any strain put upon it, and has several times broken chain links nearly two inches in diameter. The company has an order for a granite shaft fifty-five feet in length which, in the rough, will weigh nearly one hundred tons. It is already partly quarried.

FOUR WERE INJURED.

TWO KEGS OF POWDER EXPLODE IN A STONE QUARRY,

A Workingman Crushed to Death—Mark Twain Penniless—Her Majesty Disapproves of Bloomers—The Newly Wedded Pair.

Special to The Times.

BALTIMORE, July 13,—Two kegs of powder exploded in the Leonard stone quarry near Calverton this afternoon, seriously injuring four persons. Stephen Flipp was horribly burned about the abdomen and is not likely to recover. John Morris, Robert Reynolds and Fred. R. Banks were also burned and injured by flying debris.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

SOUTHAMPTON, July 13.—The body of a workingman who had been crushed to death was removed tonight from under the Yamba. This was the only fatality attending the accident.

MARK TWAIN PENNILESS.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Samuel L. Clemens was a witness in supplementary proceedings yesterday at the office of his attorneys Stern & Rushmore, in the suit of Thomas Russell & Son, printers, against the publishing firm of Charles L. Webster & Co. Mr. Clemens, otherwise "Mark Twain" was a member of the latter firm, which failed a year ago, and he was called on to explain the accounts of the establishment. The examination was not public, but Mr. Rushmore said that Mr. Clemen's testimony showed that he is now practically penniless. The humourist has been very sick lately, and he was accompanied by a nurse yesterday.

THE NEWLY WEDDED COUPLE.

ROME, July 13.—The Duke of Aosta and his bride, Princess Helene, of Orleans, left this city today for Turin. They were accompanied to the railway station by King Humbert, Queen Margherita, the ministers of state and the municipal authorities. The Duke of Aosta thanked the Syndic of Rome for the cordiality of welcome that had been extended to himself and bride. An immense lot of people witnessed the departure of the royal couple who were given an ovation.

NOT IN ROYAL FAVOR.

LONDON, July 13.—The Queen is taking a keen interest in the elections and will be supplied with all the results over a special wire running to Windsor Castle from London. According to Vanity Fair Her Majesty has expressed a strong opinion regarding the so-called "New Woman" especially as to the style of her dress. The Queen, it is added, is also strongly opposed to the advanced novel and remarked recently to one of her entourage that it was a great pity the public was in a mood to buy such books, and that if there were no purchasing public the pens would cease to write such matter.

WORKED THE INJURED HUSBAND RACKET,

ROCHESTER, July 13,—A man and woman giving the names of Frank Landon and Emma Landon, and claiming to be man and wife, are under arrest here charged with blackmail. Their scheme, which is an old one, consists in the woman luring a man into her apartments, when Landon would appear on the scene and after slang-whanging the two threatened a shooting or an arrest if a liberal sum of money was not put up. They are said to have worked the scheme successfully in Toronto and London.

COMMENDABLE PROMPTITUDE.

A Resident of St. John, N. B., Makes a Successful trial of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Special to the Times.

ST. JOHN, N. B. July 8.—Mr. Robert Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the Kidneys for over seven years, and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking thre boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

AILSA AND BRITANNIA.

The Crack British Yachts Race in Scottish Waters.

Special to The Times.

HUNTER'S QUAY, July 13.—Ailsa and Britannia started this morning in a race over a 50 mile course from Wemyss Bay, under the auspices of the Royal Western Yacht Club of Scotland. A moderate south west breeze was blowing and Ailsa soon had a good lead on her opponent.

Just What's Needed

Exclaims thousands of people who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at this season of the year, and who have noted the success of the medicine in giving them relief from that tired feeling, wasting appetite and state of extreme exhaustion after the close confinement of a long winter season, the busy time attendant upon a large and pressing business during the spring months and with vacation time yet some weeks distant. It is then that the building-up powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are fully appreciated. It seems perfectly adapted to overcome that prostration caused by change of season, climate or life, and while it tones and sustains the system, it purifies and vitalizes the blood.

Twenty Thousand Roses.

There are nearly 20,000 rose trees in bloom now at Dunlop's conservatories, Bloor-st. west, Toronto. Visitors are always welcome. Mr. Dunlop is proud of his establishment and takes pleasure in speaking of his beauties. He ships them by mail and express to all parts of Canada, and as these orders are filled direct from the trees, he guarantees them to arrive in good condition. Sale room, 45 Yonge-st., and 45 King street west.

A BUFFALO PLUMBER.

Being Harassed by the Officious De Barry for Employing Canadian Laborer.

Special to the Times.

BUFFALO, N.Y., July 13.—Immigration Inspector John R. De Barry is after Plumber W. H. Logan, of this city. Complaint was made to the inspector a few days ago that Plumber Logan had brought three Canadian workmen here to take places made vacant by striking plumbers. Wm. Burgess and Wm. McWhorter, Canadian plumbers, told De Barry that they had been sent here from Toronto by a man giving the name of Joseph Gibson to work for Mr. Logan. They said he represented himself as being a representative of Plumber Logan, and his mission was to hire plumbers to fill the places of strikers in this city. The men say they were promised $3 a day for nine hours' work. The penalty for such an offence as is charged against Plumber Logan is a fine of $1,000 in each case. It is a violation of the alien contract labor law.

SIMPLY DISGRACEFUL.

Sir William and Lady Harcourt Pelted With Mud by a Mob.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 13.—Sir William and Lady Harcourt while returning from a political meeting in a carriage yesterday, were vigorously pelted with cabbage stalks and rubbish while passing through a rough suburb of Derby. The two were hit, but were not injured. Lady Harcourt was literally covered with dirt and filth, which besmirched her garments and went down her neck.

SEALED TENDERS will be received by the undersigned up to noon of Friday, the 30th August, next, for the green standing pine, spruce and tamarac timber over nine inches in diameter at the stump, and all dead and fallen timber, on the Temiscamingue Indian Reserve, which contains an area of 60 square miles and is situated at the head of Lake Temiscamingue, in the County of Pontiac, in the Province of Quebec.

And also sealed tenders for the green standing pine over nine inches in diameter at the stump, and all dead and fallen timber, on the Wahnapitae Indian Reserve, situated on the north shore of Lake Wahnapitae, in the District of Nipissing, in the Province of Ontario, containing an area of four square miles.

Each tenderer shall state the sum he is willing to pay in cash as a bonus for each limit over and above the ordinary Crown dues chargeable under tariff of the Department, and there shall accompany each tender an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion in favour of the undersigned for TEN PER CENT. of the amount of the tender, which sum shall be forfeited in the case of the failure of the successful tenderer to complete purchase of limit as hereinafter specified; and in the case of unsuccessful tenderers the cheque will be returned.

The successful tenderer shall, within fifteen days from date of notice of acceptance, pay the balance of bonus, together with ground rent and license fee, and furnish satisfactory bonds by himself and two sureties for the proper carrying out of the terms of license.

The purchaser or purchasers will be allowed ten years for the removal of the timber specified in the licenses, the Department reserving the right to authorize the cutting and removal of timber of other descriptions by the Indians.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Further information as to the rate of dues, &c., can be had on application to the undersigned.

Tired but Sleepless

Is a condition which gradually wears away the strength. Let the blood be purified and enriched by Hood's Sarsaparilla and this condition will cease.

"For two or three years I was subject to poor spells. I always felt tired, could not sleep at night and the little I could eat did not do me any good. I read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before I had finished two bottles I began to feel better and in a short time I felt all right and had gained 21 pounds in weight. I am stronger and healthier than I have ever been in my life." JOHN W. COUGHLIN, Wallaceburg, Ontario.

A Port Hope Woman's Sudden Death.

A despatch from Port Hope says; A neighbor's wife was taken ill about 11 o'clock Thursday night, and the husband went over to get Mrs. James Miller to wait on the sick woman. She told him not to wait for her, that she would be along shortly. He returned to his home and waited an hour and a half and then went to see the cause of the delay, and when within a hundred yards from her residence he found Mrs. Miller lying by the side of the walk dead.

Fire at Bobcaygeon.

The house of Mr. William Bick, which was saved only a few days ago, when the stables were burnt, was destroyed on Tuesday night. At about three o'clock in the morning, Mr. A. E. Bottum, who was sitting up with his father, noticed the blaze, and rode over on his wheel. He found the house vacant, the occupant having moved out since the last fire. It was past saving, and as no other buildings were endangered, Petries Mill being nearest, he concluded, on returning, that it would be useless to sound the alarm. As far as can be ascertained there was no insurance on the building, and it is supposed to have caught in some way from the smouldering embers of the recent fire.—Independent.

A School of Herrings.

Mr. E. Henderson, fishery inspector, while angling for minnows at Sturgeon Point Saturday, observed a school of fairly large fish approaching, and by good luck managed to hook one of them. It proved to be a large sized fresh water herring, weighing better than half a pound. The herring run is an anxiously looked for event at Bobcaygeon every fall, when large quantities are netted and sell for 10 cts. a dozen. Owing to there being no fish slide connecting Sturgeon and Pigeon lakes these dainty little fish have heretofore been unable to reach the upper waters, and Mr. Henderson is somewhat puzzled to account for the presence of the large shoal seen Saturday, but thinks they must have crowded into the dock while a boat was passing through.

Police Court Notes.

Philander G. McCargar and Robt. W. Dixon, who recently were in partnership as millers, were charged before Police Magistrate Dumble Saturday with "intent to defraud their creditors, the Sadler, Dundas & Flavelle Milling Co., limited; caused to be made a sale of their property, to wit, a carload of number one hard wheat to one J. F. McLaughlin." It is said these gentlemen purchased the wheat from the Lindsay firm and sold it afterwards to Mr. McLaughlin, and after a short time they assigned and this charge resulted. Evidence was heard and the men were committed for trial at the sitting of the next court for competent jurisdiction. The prisoners were removed to the county goal this afternoon. Bail was fixed at $1,000, in two sureties of $500 each. John Cooper was arraigned Saturday morning on the charge of vagrancy and pleaded not guilty. Cooper is the man about whom Mr. P. Mulcahey, of Otonabee, made the complaints. Evidence was taken, and Cooper was found guilty, and sent up to the Central Prison for six months.

Simply apply "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT." No internal medicine required. Cures tetter, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose &c., leaving the skin clear, white and healthy. Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Ask your druggist for SWAYNE'S OINTMENT. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, wholesale agents.

STOLE A HORSE.

Also the Buggy from A. E. Mosley's Livery—The Thief a Stranger.

Mr. A. E. Mosley is of the opinion that he is the loser of a valuable horse, and an almost new buggy which was stolen from him on Saturday morning—at least he hired the horse and rig to a stranger for an hour, and neither have turned up yet.

Early on Saturday morning a young man, apparently 24 years of age, called at at Mr. Mosley's livery and said he wanted to hire a horse and buggy for an hour. The turn out was got ready for him and he drove off saying that he would return soon.

About an hour afterwards one of Mr. Mosley's rigs returned and the driver said he had seen the stranger with the other rig driving furiously along the Port Hope gravel road.

The stranger never returned with the horse, and Mr. Mosley does not doubt for a moment but that the stranger hired it with the intention of stealing it. It is thought he drove to Jubilee and then drove either east or west from there. All nearby villiges were telephoned to, but without finding any trace of the thief.

The stranger's name is not known, but the following description is given: About 24 years of age; height about 5 feet, 10 inches; dark brown hair; wore a light suit of cheap gray material; dark gray, cheap wove shirt, laced in front with red lace; dark felt fedora hat.

The horse was a light gray, about fifteen hands high and the end of its tail is pure white.

The police have been notified and have sent out notices.

SERMON FOR YOUNG WOMEN.

Rev. J. C. Davidson Preaches to the Young Womens' Association.

Last night at St. John's church quite a large congregation was in attendance, when the Rev. J. C. Davidson preached for the benefit of the Young Women's Association. The text was the words: "Seeist thou this woman" and he feelingly urged toleration in all things pointing out the apparently sad, but really blessed condition of Mary offering her box of ointment to the Lord as the free gift of a contrite and loving heart. Today women are gradually taking the place in every useful path, once occupied by the other sex, and chiefly in walks of Christian charity.

They should be encouraged in every way, especially in their efforts to be a help to one another in a loving spirit—such love like Mary's being priceless. Describing the efforts of the Association for the public good here and elsewhere he eloquently appealed for the financial assistance so worthy a society deserving and in fact needy. Last year contributions in Peterborough were, in money, only $445, supplemented by several gifts of clothing.

A boarding house for young girls was most desirable, such as exists in Toronto, where at small expense the comforts of a true home can be obtained—and there is little doubt but that some effort will specially be made in this direction. The Association desires a helping hand and will no doubt get it. The church was pretty well crowded and Mr. Davidson's words were listened to with appreciation and rapt attention.

THE C.E. MEET.

Saturday was known as Good Citizenship day of the Christian Endeavor convention. All meetings, reports, addresses and songs of the forenoon were upon this subject. In both tents under the title "Voice from North America" six minute reports on civic improvement were made by delegates, representing all parts of the country. "A Voice from Canada" was uttered by T. Tower Ferguson, who spoke as follows:

"The Christian Endeavor Society is certainly doing good in the way of fitting its members for citizenship. It schools them in Bible study, so giving them knowledge to some degree at least of the truth; it cultures them by contact with each other; it binds them together in good fellowship, and it qualifies them very considerably to be not merely church members, but members of intelligence, and members ready for work. Towards this accomplishment the junior societies are doing admirable service, laying a foundation that is not only timely and important, but indeed invaluable.

"The Christian Endeavor enterprise, moreover, is unquestionably leavening, assimilating, and, I believe, knitting together for God's work the young people of our churches. This makes them, just so far as the influence of the society moulds them, patriots of the best kind—Christian patriots. On this account I am sorry that so many who ally themselves with us have deemed it necessary to break off into denominal camps, under the designation of leagues, unions, etc. We had hoped (at least I had hoped) that the honored Bible name, 'Christian Endeavor,' would have proved acceptable and sufficient to all.

"Further, the Christian Endeavor movement is fashioning and solidifying men and women into philanthropists, Christian philanthropists—the finest types, not only of citizenship, but of humanity.

"How can we Canadians come over here and bask in your United States humiliation and in the refulgence of your charming countenances without being made braver and better; on the other hand how can you, ardent, honest luminous United States members of the Y.P.S.C.E. come in contact with us more cautious, cool, deliberately acting Christians, from the clime of the interesting, scintillating aurora borealis without being solaced and edified."

"The outcome you perceive is reciprocal, giving and taking, direct advantage and reflex. How can any of us take part in such a magnificent convention as this without being stirred, assimilated, unified. The Christian Endeavor Society in fact is carrying out energetically what we prayed for long ago. Then let us pray that some it may, as come it will for a that."

In Tent Endeavor, the Canadian report, made by Rev. A. M. Phillipps, of Montreal, especially held the attention of the audience.

GRAYS UP TOMORROW.

Preliminary Investigation Will Commence Before Magistrate Edmison.

It is expected that the preliminary examination of Thomas and Hessie Gray will be opened tomorrow before Magistrate Edmison. While scarcely the same interest will attach to the investigation as to the trial, yet it is probable the Crown will show its hand pretty fully and most of the evidence in its possession will come out.

Detective John Murray will come up from Toronto and be present at the investigation.

THE TIMES will contain a full account of the hearing and of all the evidence taken.

BROKE THE TENT.

The Malicious Act of Several Smart Young Men.

The large tent occupied by the Bethany Mission during the summer months, which this year is pitched on the Central Park grounds, was almost ruined by several young men, who should be severely punished.

After the service they climbed up on the tent and crawled to the center pole where they jumped up and down until the canvas was literally torn and ripped from its fastenings, leaving large rents through which the rain would have no difficulty entering.

The perpetrators of this malicious deed were seen by two residents who did not know their names but they will be spotted and made to pay for their doubtful lark.

The tent was repaired by Mr. Alf. Kingscote.

ADAM WATSON'S EXCURSION.

Hardwoodites Invade Peterborough on Saturday Afternoon.

One of the events of the summer months with the good people of Harwood and near by villages is the excursion run every year by Mr. Adam Watson, of Harwood. So famous have these outings become that the event is known far and near as "Adam Watson's excursion," and the mention of it is synonymous with fun and enjoyment and a general gala day.

On Saturday the excursion took place. The steamer Daisy left Curtis' Landing early in the morning and called at Harwood and Gore's Landing and then steamed for Peterborough with 250 merry souls on board. The trip up the river was a delightful one, and the excursionists were in a merry mood when the boat reached Peterborough. Arrived here everybody disembarked and several hours were spent in taking in the sights of the Plate Glass City.

TWO DEATHS.

Mr. Charles Brealey and Mrs. Edward Allan Pass Away.

The death of Mr. Charles Brealey, aged 72 years, of Otonabee, occurred Friday afternoon. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of his son, Mr. William Brealey, to the Little Lake Cemetery. Mr. Brealey was for many years a prominent resident of North Monaghan. He retired from farming a number of years ago and resided in Ashburnham until the death of Mrs. Brealey, when he moved to Otonabee and resided with his son. On the death of Mr. Wm. Brownscombe he was appointed lock master, which position he held until a few weeks since, when Mr. Wm. Collins was appointed to succeed him.

DEATH OF MRS. ALLAN.

Shortly after 11 o'clock Saturday morning Mrs. Edward Allan passed away rather unexpectedly, having been confined to her room three days. The deceased's maiden name was Delilah Uin and she was married over twenty years ago to Mr. Edward Allan, who died several years ago. The deceased was a much respected woman, and had kept a boarding house on Water street for many years. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. J. Downer, of Toronto, and Miss Jennie Allan, to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate mother. The funeral will take place from the late residence, 330 Water street, this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

LATEST FROM LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

L. O. L.

A special train took the local Orangemen away yesterday (Friday) morning to assist in the celebration of the 12th at Millbrook. Their numbers were increased by a contingent of True Blues from Young's Point brought down by the Golden City. The Dummer lodge went to Fenelon Falls to join the brethren who assembled there.

THE LAKES AND RIVER.

The pressure on the steamboats has not been very great as yet, and a large number of the lake cottages are still untenanted.

Macdonald's and the Dickson Co.'s drives are reported between here and Young's Point. The water is very low for the time of year and the foremen will have hard work getting their logs to Peterborough.

THE CANAL.

Rumor has been busy again this week with the canal. It is once more reported that the contract has been signed and that by a change of partnership in the Toronto firm Contractor Onderdonk is to handle this section as well as the Balsam Lake contract.

Sad Case of Insanity

The fruit man got religion and on buying bonds and stocks
And saving filthy lucre no longer he was bent;
He placed the largest strawberries in the bottom of the box
And to an insane asylum by his friends at once was sent.

Here is a fish story which takes the bun from the best yarns of Larry Degan. Last summer a gentleman was fishing in the St. Lawrence, not very far from Cornwall, when he had the misfortune to lose his watch over the side of the boat from which he was fishing. The other day, while fishing near the same spot, he caught a 3 lb. bass. His astonishment can be imagined when he found his watch lodged in the throat of the beauty. The watch was running and the time correct. It being a "stem winder," the supposition is that in masticating its food the fish wound up the watch daily.

Weak and Nervous

Describes the condition of thousands of people at this season. They have no appetite, cannot sleep, and complain of the prostrating effect of warmer weather. This condition may be remedied by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which creates an appetite and tones up all the organs. It gives good health by making the blood pure.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, cure headache.

TECUMSEHS 4, ATHLETICS 2.

The match between the Tecumsehs of Toronto and the Athletics of St. Catharines at Hanlan's Point on Saturday resulted in a victory for the local team by 4 to 2. The Tecumsehs won the first game. The Athletics followed this by a victory, the third game resulted in a second victory for the Toronto team, one of the St. Catharines' players being ruled off for fouling an opponent, and then victory for the Tecumsehs followed with a game for the Athletic sandwiched between. The playing throughout was excellent.

MARKHAM DOWNS STOUFFVILLE.

MARKHAM, July 13.—The C.L.A. game today between Stouffville and Markham was won by the home team by a score of 4 to 1; actual playing time being 44 minutes.

Menary of Orangeville was laid off by McConaghy, the referee, for ringing. His case will be taken up by the C.L.A. The games were scored in 2, ¼, 4, 10¾ and 26½ minutes respectively.

Markham won games 1, 3, 4, 5, and Stouffville the second. The attendance was large.

118 RUNS FOR 3 WICKETS.

The Parkdale Cricket Club defeated Toronto Junction Saturday afternoon. The Toronto Junction in their innings ran up 117, of which d'Eye made 36. The Parkdales made the necessary 118 runs in three wickets. Arthur Chambers scored 62 and W. E. Dean 46, not out.

To get benefit from the exercise of cycling the wheelman should undoubtedly sit erect, so as to give his lungs as well as his legs a chance. There is danger in "wobbling," in going fast on a crowded street, in riding close behind a street car or carriage, in turning out suddenly to get ahead of vehicles, in taking off one's hat to a friend, in looking back, in watching one's front wheel, in taking the middle of the road, in suddenly changing one's course when there are other cyclists coming on behind, in carrying a baby in front in a riding basket, in pulling too hard up a hill or against the wind, in going without a wrap to wear while cooling off. In crowded city streets the safest riders are on low saddles, some of them are low enough so their toes can touch the pavement, and they can stop without dismounting. They do not ride with the backs forming a semi circle, and a few of them actually have brakes. They do not use the brakes once a month, perhaps, but sometimes the brakes just prevent an accident, for no rider can reverse his wheels and stop quickly any more than a locomotive can be stopped by merely reversing the lever.

The Parkdale cricket club will play here on July 30th and a return match will be played in Parkdale on September 2nd.

BIG PROFITS ON SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

Agents wanted in every town and county in the Dominion, $100 to $200 a month easily made For further particulars address MASON & CO., Canadian Agents 101 Bay Street, Toronto

MURDERED!

Mystery Surrounding The Pietzel Children Is Cleared.

BODIES FOUND IN TORONTO

Buried In the Back Yard of a House On Saint Vincent Street.

A CHAPTER OF CRIMES.

THE CHILDREN WERE BROUGHT TO TORONTO BY HERMANN MUDGETT, ALIAS H. H. HOLMES FOR A FOUL PURPOSE—HE SUCCEEDED.

Detective Geyer Traces Holmes' Steps With the Children to Cincinnati, Chicago, Detroit and Finally to Toronto Where They Were Foully Murdered—Another Insurance Fraud—Holmes is Now in a Philadelphia Prison.

Special from Toronto, July .

Where are the missing Pietzel children? is a question that has been agitating the police and the general public since the announcement was made that H. H. Holmes had brought the children to Toronto and had got rid of them here by murdering them, and then disposing of their bodies.

This question was answered today and the answer disclosed a horrible tragedy.

The bodies were found by Detective Cuddy buried in the back yard of a St. Vincent street house. An inquest has been ordered.

The number of the house was 16.

Detective Geyer, of Philadelphia has been working on the case for a month or more. The Pietzel children, Hermann, Alice and Nellie, were separated from their mother and brought to Toronto by H. H. Holmes and it was believed they were murdered. There is no doubt now that they were.

Hermann Mudgett, alias H. H. Holmes, who is said to have murdered the children, is now in prison in Philadelphia awaiting sentence on the charge of conspiracy.

Detective Geyer has traced Holmes and the children all over the west, and found clues in Chicago, Cincinnati and Detroit. He finally collected enough information to make him reasonably sure that Holmes brought the children to Toronto and murmurdered them in this city. He communicated with the detective department here and today Detective Cuddy discovered the bodies.

A CHAIN OF CRIMES.

A MURDEROUS PLOT TO WIPE OUT THE ENTIRE PIETZEL FAMILY WHICH WAS PARTLY CARRIED OUT.

A curiously complicated story of crime is that which Detective Frank P. Geyer of Philadelphia is engaged in unravelling; he has already travelled far and wide in order to ascertain the whereabouts of Alice and Nellie Pietzel, two little girls aged 14 and 12 respectively, and he registered at the Rossin House, spent his days in a diligent canvass of the real estate agents of the city to see if he could get any trace of the missing children. A double murder has been revealed and is the concluding act of a series of strange and terrible crimes.

For many years two men, known as H. H. Holmes and Benjamin F. Pietzel, were partners in numerous transactions, of a more or less doubtful character, and the former, who is a gentlemen rejoicing in a checkered career and many aliases, and who is now in prison in Philadelphia, awaiting sentence for conspiracy to defraud an insurance company, states that they in 1894 entered into a conspiracy to defraud insurance companies by insuring Pietzel for $10,000, and then making out that he was dead, and exhibiting a body as his to the insurance agents. Pietzel apparently carried his part of the enterprise to a too faithful termination, for a body was found which was stated to be, and which apparently was, his. It was then given out that he had died by accident, and Holmes has since stated that he committed suicide. The Philadelphia detective department, however, cherish suspicions that Holmes was his murderer. This happened early in September last, and in November Holmes was arrested, an accomplice having informed the authorities of the conspiracy. Mrs. Pietzel, who was aware of the conspiracy, was living with two of her children then in Burlington, Vermont, and she was also arrested, but the other three Pietzel children—Howard, Alice and Nellie—had disappeared. Detective Geyer has been tracing them, and has found that they travelled from place to place with Holmes, who was constantly registering under different names. At Detroit, however, all trace of the boy vanished, and at that city Holmes rented a house for a month, bought a large stove, retained the house for a few days and then abrubtly left it. It is Detective Geyer's theory, which is apparently based altogether on these facts, that the boy was murdered and his body cremated.

Step by step the remaining two children have been traced to Toronto, where for some time during October they stayed at the Albion Hotel; but on October 25 he took them from the hotel, and from that point all trace of them is lost. Holmes' statement was that he sent them on to Suspension Bridge, where they were met by a friend of his and taken to London, England. But this is contradicted by the fact that on that day the Grand Trunk sold but one ticket, an adult's, to that point. What Detective Geyer wanted to find was evidence that Holmes rented for a short period a house some where in the suburbs and kept it for a few days and then left it suddenly, as he did in Detroit and several other places. According to this theory the entire Pietzel family was to be wiped out to avoid exposure by Mrs. Pietzel, who for a long time believed her husband to be living, and in confirmation of the theory Detective Geyer points to the fact that a can of nitro-glycerine was found under the staircase of the Pietzel's house in Burlington, which Holmes admits having placed there, though, as he says, with a different purpose from that of blowing up his friends.

Friday and Saturday was spent by Mr. Geyer in an exhaustive search of Toronto Junction, Parkdale; and Mimico, accompanied by much visiting of real estate agents, but he so far secured no trace of that for which he was searching.

Today the search was continued. It was found that Holmes had rented No. 16 Saint Vincent street, and Detective Cuddy immediately secured a spade and after digging in several places found the bodies of the two little girls.

Pending the result of Geyer's visit here sentence was deferred upon Holmes. Mrs. Holmes, No. 3, alias Mrs. Howell, who was with Holmes while he was here in October last, maintains that she never saw the Pietzel children and was completely ignorant of her husband's trips from city to city. She is now at her home in Franklin, Pa., where she went after Holmes was convicted in Philadelphia.

ASHORE IN THE STRAITS.

THE STEAMER MEXICO BEFOGGED AND WRECKED.

The Crew Safely Landed—Capt. Daly Refuses to Abandon his Vessel—How he Accounts for his Misfortune.

Special to the Times.

QUEBEC, July, 15.

THE S. S. "Assaye," from London, Capt. Carruthers, arrived here at ten o'clock tonight and was interviewed by the United Press correspondent. He reports having sighted the Elder-Dempster companys' steamship "Mexico," ashore on the northwest side of Belle Isle and two and a half miles from the lighthouse. Capt. C. V. Daly of the "Mexico" signalled to Assaye from the northeast side of the island on Thursday at 8.30 p. m. and Captain Carruthers hove his steamer to and waited till daylight, when a part of the crew were shipped on board. Capt. Daly remained on board his wrecked vessel with the Chief Mate T. Lander, J. Logie, second mate and A. Cook, third mate, also W. Simpson, chief engineer; T. Richardson, second engineer, Hampton and Dyer, these being firemen and stokers. The following members of the Mexico's crew were landed here tonight: C. Miller, A. Robberts, H. Vilbrand, J. Trotter, O. Sharp, W. Watkins, G. Parsons, F. Ford, P. Hussrie, J. F. Sherwood, D. Queen, S. Dubbs, H. Hewitt, R. Jewell-Furness, T. Hilbirn, O'Brien, J. Park, Jas. Bairnes, W. Farmer and W. Sprinker. Capt. Daly reports that the wreck of the Mexico was due to continuous fog and heavy weather and he complains of the absence of a fog horn. The signal gun which fires every twenty minutes is, as he says, not satisfactory. The Mexico is her water tight compartments being full everywhere. She has a heavy list to starboard. The stern is submerged. The Mexico was laden with a general cargo from Montreal to Avonmouth. Her cargo consisted of cattle, cheese, butter, ham, grain, etc., etc. The Mexico went ashore on Sunday July 7th, and Capt. Daly blames the current and fog for his misfortune. The vessel and cargo are valued at one hundred thousand pounds, partially insured. Help will be sent down to the Mexico immediately, and whatever can be secured from the wreck will be brought to Quebec.

A TOTAL WRECK

ABLAZE IN MID-OCEAN.

NEW YORK, July 15,—The French liner, La Normandie, which arrived from Havre had a decidedly eventful passage. Just after her departure for Havre Fireman Francois Leftem was instructed to open one of the bunkers. He did so, using a naked light. As soon as the hatch was opened there was a rush of gas, which instantly ignited at the lamp flame, and exploded with tremendous force, instantly killing Leftem and doing more or less damage to the bunker fittings. Leftem was a native of Brittany. He was buried at sea. On July 9 just after the passengers had seated themselves at dinner fire was discovered in the forehold and a fire alarm was instantly sounded. The crew ran to the fire stations and lines of hose were stretched along the decks. The passengers were quiet and orderly under the circumstances and there was no panic. The officers and crew worked systematically all night long and toward morning had the fire well under control. At 9 o'clock on the morning of the 10th the fire was entirely out. The passengers headed by Bishop O'Connell drew up a set of resolutions thanking Capt. Deloncle, his officers and crew for their bravery and energy. La Normandie made port without further incident, except a birth in the steerage.

CIBOLA LOST.

The Beautiful Steamer Destroyed By Fire.

AT THE LEWISTON DOCK.

A Magnificent Sight as Down the River She Floated a Mass of Flames.

A LOSS OF $100,000.

THE CHICORA'S AND CHIPPEWA'S SISTER SHIP A DISMANTLED HULL—THE AMERICAN HOTEL AND OTHER BUILDINGS GONE.

LEWISTON, N. Y., July 15.—Shortly after one o'clock this morning a fire started in the steamer Cibola, of the Niagara Navigation Company, which was moored at the wharf. The crew were all asleep with the exception of the watchman, and steam was down. In a very few minutes the crew turned out, and every effort was made to stop the further progress of the flames. The timbers of the cabins burned rapidly, and the heat was so intense that the men were driven ashore.

ADRIFT AND AFIRE.

Owing to the lack of steam pressure the pumps could not be properly handled. It was then seen that there was no hope of saving the steamer, and her moorings were cut and she was allowed to drift down the river. The spectacle was magnificent, were it not marred with the thought that so much valuable property was being destroyed. The flames rose high in the air, licking up the masts and rigging, and making a roar like the great cataract. The ship will be a total loss. She is now slowly drifting down with the current, burning close to the water's edge.

THE AMERICAN HOTEL GONE.

Before the lines were cut the heat of the flames and the sparks set fire to the wharf and freight sheds on the river level. The blaze soon extended to the American hotel above the landing stage, and the houses adjacent. The fire appliances were totally inadequate to cope with the devouring element, which soon spread to the railway station. The buildings were mostly of wood, and burned fiercely. Some houses were pulled down, and after almost superhuman efforts the firemen, aided by the willing hands of the crowd, succeeded in saving the town. At one time it was thought that the whole place would be destroyed.

The loss is pretty heavy, the principal item being the steamer Cibola. The total loss will be more than one hundred thousand dollars.

TWAS A WEIRD SIGHT.

QUEENSTON, Ont., July 15.—This morning between one and two o'clock the Cibola, the second largest boat of the Niagara Navigation Co., took fire while lying at her wharf at Lewiston. The fire is supposed to have started in the lower part of the boat. The men worked faithfully until the boat was past saving, when the ropes catching fire, the boat drifted down the current. All the men escaped, the last one on board jumped into the rider and swimming ashore. The boat presented a weird sight as it moved down the river, and this was made more frightful by the fire spreading to the Lewiston wharf, and from there winding up the enclosed stairway to the customs house and Cornell's hotel, both of which were destroyed. The Ongiara, belonging to the same company, and used between here and Lewiston, having time to steam up, escaped the danger. The fire raged for over three hours.

THE THIRD ENGINEER IS DEAD.

QUEENSTOWN, Ont., July 15.—The body of a man, supposed to be that of the third engineer of the Cibola, was found this morning with the head and legs gone. The hull is drifted ashore on a sand bar about three or four miles down. The Ongiara, with John Foy, manager of the Niagara Navigation Co, and others has gone down to inspect the hull.

The third engineer was named Hammond and he was heard calling for help, with his head sticking out of a port hole, but it was impossible to reach him. Second Engineer Woodworth was badly burned about the face and hands; he jumped into the water and swam ashore.

STARTED IN THE ENGINE ROOM.

LEWISTON, N. Y., July 15.—It is supposed that the flames originated in the engine room of the steamer. When discovered they had obtained such a grip that the villagers were powerless to extinguish them. When the fire threatened the destruction of the town the Cibola was cut loose and allowed to drift down the river, affording a beautiful sight until she had burned to the water's edge. The dock and the American hotel and barns, all owned by H. Cornell, were utterly destroyed. The flames badly damaged the Anglers' Retreat and a portion of the plant of the new Gorge Electric railway. The total loss outside of the steamer is probably not more than $20,000.

LEWISTON AFTER THE FIRE.

LEWISTON, July 15.—Charred and smoking ruins are all that now remains of the railway station, hotels, outbuildings and wharf of this village. Shortly after one o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the lower part of the Niagara Navigation Company's steamer Cibola, which was moored to the Lewiston wharf. After much difficulty the employees were awoken

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 16 1895,

Many things may happen between now and January 4.

Sir Bowell proposes; but the people who mark the ballots do the disposing.

Which newspaper gives the latest and most complete local and telegraphic news? Why the MORNING TIMES o couise. The TIMES is always ahead.

London and Dublin are now connected by telephone as London and Paris have been for some time. It begins to look as if the electric talking machine may supplant the telegraph after all.

Of the 34 candidates returned unopposed for the Imperial Parliament only three are Liberals. It is no. defeat but overwhelming disaster that apparently awaits the party led by Lord Rosebery.

Thousands of orange badges worn on the 12th of July, bore the inscription "Hands off Manitoba." This is indicative of the feeling which prevades the country.

The character of the Orange demonstratious in Manitoba justifies the statements of those who say that no Government could live a day in that Province which proposed to surrender control over its school system at the dictation of Quebec.

Sir Mack is determined upon remedial legislation. But admits that if remedial legislation be passed it will cost the Ontario ministers their seats. This exhibition of self-sacrifice is almost as touching as that of Artemus Ward, who was willing to sacrifice his wife's relations for the good of his country.

Mr. Weldon, who had the manliness to stand up in his place amongest the Conservative benches in Parliament, and tell the government to its face what he thinks of their policy on the Manitoba school question, deserves to be called the good and faithful servant of his country. It would have been well for local members if they had done likewise.

Charles Villiers, who has just been returned unopposed to the Imperial Parliament, is in his 93rd year, and has represented the same constituency ever since 1835. This is a wonderful record and it is made more wonderful still by the fact that the venerable gentleman's change from the position of a Liberal to a Liberal Unionist had no adverse effect on his political fortunes.

Speaking at the Tammany Society's Fourth of July celebration in New York ex-Governor Campbell, of Ohio, said that England seemed to be endeavouring to force the United States to aggressively reaffirm the Monroe doctrine or to abandon it, and ex-Governor Walker, of Connecticut, said that the man ought to be shot on the spot with bullets or ballots who faild to raise the United States flag where it ought to be flying

United States papers are deploring the fact that there is not a dry dock in their country large enough to take in one of their battleships, and that it is necessary to use the one at Halifax to make needed repairs to them. To be forced to ask Great Britain for this privilege is especially humiliating to that class which feeds on hatred of England, and a demand is to be made upon Congress for the immediate construction of docks, which will prevent a recurrence of obligations of this nature to the hated Saxon.

BORROWED SEX.

WOMEN WHO HAVE MADE THEMSELVES FAMOUS AS MEN.

Queen Christina of Sweden Exhibited Many of the Masculine Vices as Well as Virtues—"Sir James" Barry of the British Navy Was a Woman.

Instances of girls receiving the training and education of boys and of women disguising themselves as men are not as rare as may be supposed. Strong-willed women with features masculine have found it easy to deceive their own as well as the other sex. In some cases the assumed character became a second nature and assumed the common characteristics of the stronger sex.

Perhaps the most noted woman brought up as a boy was the famous queen, Christina, of Sweden, the daughter of Gustavus Adolphus. The king's disappointment at the birth of a daughter instead of a son was so great that the little girl was dressed as a boy and had tutors and valets instead of maids and governesses. She also received a boy's education, being well grounded in the sciences, the ancient and modern languages and in statecraft. She proved her knowledge of this last by bringing to a conclusion the disastrous Thirty Years' War in 1648, contrary to the device of her ministers, the treaty of peace being in every way a most advantageous one for Sweden. She encouraged the development of the arts in her kingdom and did her best "to rule and be respectable," as is publicly put by one high authority. Declaring her determination not to marry, in 1650 she "solemnly took to herself the title of king."

Her education having been opposed to the development of the feminine instincts, naturally Christina exhibited many of the masculine vices as well as virtues; she lavished wealth and dignities on worthless favorites, and finally resigned the crown in 1654, at the age of 28, to travel over Europe in masculine garb, creating a sensation wherever she appeared.

Her entrance into Paris was made on horseback, with an escort of a thousand men. She rode astride, had a cane in her hand and pistols in her holsters. During a visit to the theatre she swore, sprawled on her chair, throwing her legs over the arms, and assumed positions never seen except in a man. After making herself a nine days' wonder, Christina outraged all Europe by having her favorite, Monaldeschi, put to death—it is said by some in her very presence. Cardinal Mazarin having notified her of the king's displeasure, she replied in a haughty letter that "Christina was a queen wherever she might chance to reside." and advising "Jules" to so conduct himself as to meet her favor. She died at Rome in 1689, aged 63.

"That impudent woman, the Countess of Shrewsbury,"—as Evelyn calls her, the "wanton Shrewsbury" of Pope—made herself the talk of all England in the reign of Charles II. by disguising herself as a page to follow the Duke of Buckingham. She was said to have held the duke's horse thus attired while he fought with and killed her husband, the Earl of Shrewsbury, in a duel.

Those who doubt the possibility of a woman being able to keep a secret should read the story of "Sir James" Barry, who died July 25, 1865, on the retired list of the British navy as senior inspector general of the medical department. This person, at the age of eighteen, became a hospital assistant in 1813. and two years later was made assistant surgeon. After serving with skill in different successive grades she was made inspector general in 1858 and retired on half pay in 1859. On her death in 1865 word was at once dispatched to the department that the late inspector general was a woman. The landlady in whose lodgings she had lived for years and her black servants were equally ignorant of the fact. Lord Albemarle, who met death in 1819 at Capetown, at the house of the governor, Lord Charles Somerset, described her as "the most skillful of physicians and the most wayward of men." She had the appearance then of a beardless lad of the Scotch type with reddish hair and high cheek bones; her style of conversation was decidedly superior. She actually fought a duel with an officer who called her effeminate and expressed his belief that she ought to wear skirts.

Who she was still remains a mystery to the general public; she was said by some to have been the granddaughter of a Scotch earl, and to have chosen the medical profession in consequence of her love for an army surgeon, but the truth of this is not known.

Instances of borrowed sex have been numerous in every war. Two sisters, Felicite and Theophile Ferney, the younger only thirteen, lived in the village of Montange during the French revolution. Finding that their soldiers were insufficient in number to repel the attacks of the enemy, one night they slipped on the clothing of a brother and charged in the front rank of the national guards. Their intrepid behavior brought them to the notice of Gen. Dumouriez, he discovered their sex, and attached them, with their father and brother, to his staff. They were in every action that followed, and always in the front rank in a charge. Theophile killed a general officer in an engagement near Brussels, while at the battle of Jemappes she disarmed and captured a gigantic Hungarian, carrying him prisoner to the general. The two sisters aided the general in his escape after capture, and they retired, resuming their feminine garb. The younger married a Belgian general, but Felicite died single.

Some years ago a gentleman who was investigating revolutionary records in Richmond came across the names of two persons by the name of Lane, who had received pensions for services during the revolution. One of these names being that of a woman, he was curious enough to inquire about her until he found a descendant. The two proved to have been man and wife. Lane had enlisted in the beginning of the war in Manchester, across the river from Richmond, and having been sent north to Washington's army, was wounded severely and faithfully nursed by a soldier belonging to the same company. Having recovered, naturally the two became devoted friends and the term of their enlistment having expired, they re-enlisted together, and were sent to Gen. Lincoln's army in Georgia. In the siege of Charleston the woman was wounded; not until then did Lane discover the sex of his devoted comrade. He, in turn, became nurse, and she recovered and married him. She had been in love with Lane before his enlistment, but made no impression upon him. When he entered the army she ran off from home and became "a soldier laddie" that she might be near him.

TANSY PILLS!

ALPHAEUS CRABBE, ESQ.

By Francis Howard Williams.

Author of "Atman, or the Documents in a Strange Case."

be," resumed the stranger. "I think it is Emerson who has said: 'The man may teach by doing, and not otherwise. If he can communicate himself, he can teach, but not by words.' That great wisdom is."

"Yes," I said, "Emerson's wisdom, more than that of any modern writer, deserves to be called great."

I hoped by this encouragement to wider conversation to draw out the stranger, and I was partially successful.

"You have of course observed," he went on, "how the theory of evolution is being applied to that domain which we the spiritual have called. We are coming to realize that all things a growth are—a development—a passing—one form flowing by gradations unperceptible another into. Most men are seeing this. But there is a concurrent fact which is attention escaping in a degree great. While development is the law, there are always forces counteracting the law, tending its operation to delay. This gives us arrested development. Now, my dear sir," and here the stranger raised his finger to insure my especial attention to his words, "the fact of arrested development is the great truth upon which I the theory of my life have based."

I was debating in my own mind whether my companion was a lunatic or a philosopher, when the waiter brought a finger-bowl.

"Take that away," said the stranger imperiously. "It was neglectful of you not to bring it before the coffee." And as the rebuked attendant retired, the stranger remarked to me: "If the civilisation of to-day insists upon bringing the toilet to the table, it should at least bring it before the meal that one with clean hands may eat."

"Perhaps you are right." I said, "but you were speaking of the theory of your life. You say it is based upon the truth of arrested development?"

"Yes. It is now long years since I the study of development took up. A great while before Darwin the world startled with his arrangement systematic of the facts of evolution, as applied to the descent of man, I had reached conclusions most important in regard to these facts as they bore upon Time and Space. I saw that all things exist in Space and Time. I assumed Space to be a Negation, while Time was a direct progression—a development—in Space. You catch me?"

I was not sure that I did, but I thought it not improbable that I might be compelled to before long, so I kept a fork handy, and bowed interestedly.

"Very well. Now then, just as we the measurement of Time undertake—just as we check off its passage in minutes and seconds on a material dial—so the real passage of Time, the actual progression of the Entity Time in the negation called Space, is made of events, incidents, happenings. You know that there is no transmission of light could be except the medium of a luminiferous ether through. So there could be no progress of Time except through the medium of events, incidents, happenings. You follow me, I hope?"

"Somebody ought to, so long as you are at large," I thought; but I merely said:

"Entirely so."

The stranger continued with increasing animation.

"I am glad, sir; glad. Now you will have no difficulty in perceiving that as these events, incidents, are necessary to the progression of Time—that indeed they constitute time—one has only to retard them in order the passage of time to retard. When this enormous truth broke upon my mind I for a long while completely stunned was. Life was made of events, happenings, and those made up Time. I could regulate the progress or passage of Time at will. I had merely to regulate the manner of my living. I need not grow old. I need not arrest temporal development—a matter my will clearly within. You, sir, who evidently so thoughtful a man are, must recognize the impregnable nature of my logic."

He bowed quite in the manner of the old school, and I could not but notice the rotund and somewhat stilted character of his sentence.

"And you are endeavoring to put these axioms into practice?" I asked.

"More than that, my dear sir, much more than that. When I had reached the truth that man may retard Time, it was but a step to the further and more tremendous truth that man may reverse Time! Think of it, my dear sir. Ponder it in all its dazzling bearings! I was lying upon my bed, in thought buried, when upon my soul this fresh idea itself hurled. My life was made of events, incidents—the very warp and woof of Time. I lived events, incidents, actions, words—the thousand happenings, movements, little and big, which make up existence. I would reverse them all. I would compel Time to move in an opposite direction. I would grow young—I would be careful to live backward. I put my discovery immediately into execution. I placed my feet upon the pillow, with my head against the footboard, and into a profound sleep forthwith sank. When awoke I, it with a fixed purpose was. I careful to reverse all things as far as practicable am. Hence my chair as you it see; hence my necktie (which has me the happiness procured of this conversation); hence the reversed service of my luncheon; hence any little peculiarities which you in my language may have noticed."

I was deeply impressed with the earnestness of the speaker, and the thorough consistency with which he followed out the system of life which he had adopted appeared to me extraordinary. The crucial question remained to be asked and I forthwith asked it.

"Have you found that your theory is actually a true one? Does it work in practice?" The stranger drew down the corners of his mouth, a muscular contortion which I at once recognized as a reversed smile.

"My dear sir, facts shall your answer be. How old should you take me to be?"

This seemed to be an abrupt query, but I took it for granted that, in the singular series of my companion's inversions, it would turn out to have some bearing upon the matter in hand. So I said:

"Really, I am a wretched judge of age, but I imagine you must be about forty."

"I am exactly one hundred and four."

"What!" I exclaimed getting hold of the fork.

"I was born on the 12th day of August—old style—1792. You can make your own calculation. According to the accepted measurement of time I am a hun-

THEY HAVE THE WATER TAP LEFT.

Even the Festive Ginger Beer Cannot be Procured in Gotham on the Sabbath.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Another complication has been added to the Sunday closing law by a decision handed down by Judge McAdam, in the Supreme Court, holding that no soft drinks can be sold on Sunday. Not only does Judge McAdam decide that soft drinks cannot be sold in saloons, but he holds that "soft drinks" such as soda water, mineral water, ginger ale, pop and kindred drinks, can not be sold in drug stores or at corner stands or anywhere else on Sunday.

GEYER GOES EAST.

The Philadelphia Detective is Still Searching for Information.

Special to The Times.

PHILADEDPHIA, Pa., July 13.—Some sensational developments are expected soon in the Pietzel case, and it may be that Hermann Mudgett, alias H. H. Holmes, who is now in prison here awaiting sentence on the charge of conspiracy, will have to answer to the charge of murder. A month ago Detective Geyer was sent in search of the three missing Pietzel children. They are supposed to have been murdered, although Holmes declares they are alive and that they will tell the whole story at the proper time. Detective Geyer has been all over the west, spending most of his time in Chicago, Cincinnati and Detroit. He is now in Toronto, and the news comes from him that there is some evidence that Hermann Pietzel, aged 9, was murdered. He also sends word that the other two children, Alice and Nellie, were separated from their mother and it is possible they too may have been killed.

Geyer's search has been unsuccessful in Toronto, so he has gone east in hope of clearing up the mystery.

BEFORE THE BEAK.

John Fobb Given Time to Pay up—A Charge of Burglary.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, July 13.—On March 1 John Fobb assaulted Robert McLellan and tore his clothing. He pleaded guilty before Magistrate Dennison and was ordered to pay $12. He failed to do this and was brought up before Magistrate Kingsford this morning when he stated that he had had hard luck his children having been laid up with diphtheria. "Give me time," he said, "and I'll pay it all. I'll give him a mortgage on my house if he wants it." His Worship thought the offer good enough and gave the required extension.

William John O'Hara was accused of having burglarized the Natural History Museum in search for the skeleton of an icthyosaurus or some other antediluvan specimen. Another charge against him was that he committed an aggravated assault upon John Lightfoot. William John said that he did not know whether he was guilty or not. His guilt or innocence in both cases will be decided on Monday.

Detective Burrows has run to earth Geo. Holland, a man for whom he has been looking since December. It is charged that he took $8 from John Jordan during that month, and since then he has managed to evade the officers until yesterday, when Detective Burrows arrested him. He was remanded.

AN AYLMER FIRE.

It Destroys 11 Buildings and Causes $11,000 Damage.

Special to the Times.

AYLMER, July 13.—One of the largest fires that has taken place in Aylmer occurred yesterday, when eleven buildings were destroyed. The following are the losses: Dwelling of H. H. McDiarmid and his barn, insured for $700, loss $280; dwelling owned by A. J. Parker, insured for $700, loss $1000; A. J. McKenzie lost a quantity of lumber and two frame buildings, loss $4000, no insurance; residence of J. L. Lambert and barn, insured for $700, loss $1800; Mr. McMath, dwelling insured for $200, loss $500; Richard Snook's dwelling, insured for $400, loss $700. The dwellings of Wm. Warnock, H. Martin and the English church were slightly damaged. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a spark from McDiarmid's mill.

Wreckage beyond Belle Isle leads to the supposition that a cattle boat has been wrecked.

CUPID AND PSYCHE

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way."

And another thus:

"If you jumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

THE TRILBY BUGABOO.

O Trilby! Trilby! Trilby!
  Pray grant us now a rest,
For with this Trilby-phobia
  Our souls are much distressed.
With Trilby teas and Trilby-sprees,
  And Trilby dinner-dances,
The famous Trilby feet have made
  Too many rude advances.

We meet "Svengalis" on the street
  On hypnotism bent,
And "Little Billies" everywhere,
  Lorn-eyed and innocent.
"The altogether" is the thing
  In real life as in fiction,
Till now it promises to be
  A positive infliction.

We've Trilby-servants, pro and con,
  And now a Trilby play;
The Trilby comic opera then
  Will follow by the way.
The Trilby foot chiropodists
  Are using as an ad.;
And as for swell society,
  It's gone quite Trilby mad.

So, Trilby! Trilby! Trilby!
  A little rest, we pray;
We'd like to keep it up for years,
  But we aren't built that way,
We've thought we "had 'em" oft' before
  With every fad and fake;
But Trilby was a fee-ure—gad!
  You surely take the cake.

The Stenographer Girl Had Sense.

When the head of the concern arrived at his office on the very cold morning his room was cold.

"Is the steam on?" he asked. The stenographer girl said it was.

"Ah! I see," he remarked. "The pipes are filled with cold air," and with that he unscrewed a small plug from one end of the radiator.

The cold air came whistling out and after came a trace of steam. "I'll wait till it heats up," he said.

The steam began to blow through the hole, so he started to screw the plug in again.

"Ouch! Gee! Thunderation!" he screamed as he danced around on one foot. The steam had scalded two of his fingers.

The radiator began "blowing off" like a locomotive, and spurting water across the carpet.

"Run for the janitor!" he yelled. "Somebody get that plug and put it in! Go tell the engineer!"

The room was clouding with vapor as he pawed around on the floor for the plug that had dropped while he burned his fingers.

"I can't find it," he gasped, as he jumped up again. "This is terrible. What can we do?"

The stenographer looked at him and calmly said: "Why not turn off the steam?"

SUMMER DRAPERIES.

DAINTY AND ARTISTIC MATERIALS FOR WINDOW CURTAINS.

Cheesecloth in Its Finer Qualities Makes a Beautiful Summer Drapery—Madagascar Grasscloth Is Very Suitable for Outside.

Dotted Swiss never loses its popularity for window draperies, and there is nothing in the whole range of curtain materials which one can so safely select if in doubt, being suited alike to the cottage and the more pretentious dwelling, and if neatly made and properly hung, is always dainty and artistic. The valance is a form of window drapery especially suited to such soft material, and many handsome houses have all the sash curtains made in this way. Its depth depends upon the height of the window, certain proportions needing to be observed in order to get a good effect.

A new method of draping white curtains is odd and well suited to the windows of a summer parlor, as, being well apart, they admit plenty of light and air. Each curtain is hung so that it covers fully two-thirds of the window—that is, the two cross each other at the top instead of meeting in the centre after the customary fashion. They are then drawn back at the very top of the upper sash, and are secured with bands and bows of satin ribbon or with ruffled bands of the goods as preferred. From the point of draping they hang perfectly straight, and for this reason would look well in a high, double window.

Cheesecloth in its finer qualities is a thoroughly artistic material for summer draperies, especially if edged with ruffles of the same, and these are greatly improved in appearance by being twisted in the hands before being sewed on, to give a soft effect. A pair in pale yellow may be hung in the following novel way: The top of each curtain is turned over to a depth of one yard, and the valance thus formed is gathered up in folds at the outside corner to give a pointed effect. Both the valance and the curtains edge with three inch ruffles of the same material. By inserting a strip of pink or yellow or green cambric between the hems of white cheesecloth curtains a very pleasing effect may be secured. The color is very much toned down, of course, and it should correspond in every case with the other furnishings of the room.

Years ago, when curtain materials were not so beautiful and inexpensive as now, a friend of the writer wished to get something in blue and white for a blue room, and not succeeding, she bought some ordinary white cheesecloth, marked it at wide intervals with a pattern of circles, and worked these with pale blue crewel, using a simple darning stitch which went very rapidly. A deep valance had a border of double circles done in the same way, and the curtains, when hung, were the feature of the room. They bore several washings and are still in existence as sash curtains in an upper bedroom.

The windows of a blue and white room may be charmingly draped with the Japanese crepe known as Chijimi cloth. It is very desirable for the purpose as it launders well and will bear considerable sun without fading appreciably. A simple hem or white ball-and-tassel fringe may trim these at the edges.

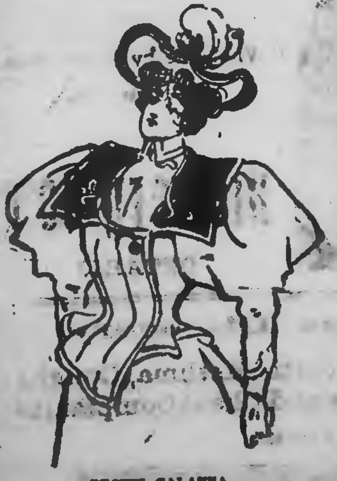
Madagascar grasscloth is a very suitable material for outside window draperies or summer portieres as the dust does not cling to it, and it is also much used for sofa-pillows and chair cushions, imparting a sense of coolness which is most agreeable in summer. Indeed, wherever it is possible, the heavy rugs and draperies in use in winter should be replaced by stuffs and furnishings as distinctively summer-like as possible, not only comfort but health itself being often dependent upon such a radical change.

OUTDOOR MATERIALS.

Duck, Linen and Grasscloth the Favorites for Warm Days.

Outdoor gowns are the most important garments in a woman's wardrobe at this season of the year. These are being made up and sold in great numbers at the large stores, to women whose figures are sufficiently near the standard to wear a ready-made dress.

These dresses are of duck, cotton bedford and grasscloth, besides numerous Galateas, linens and percales. The ducks and cotton bedfords are the most common. These are made as they were last year with jackets and skirts and a front of some other material. Less severity is shown in the style than prevailed last season. The white ducks have fronts of some soft material, such as dotted net over a dainty shade of silk, and many of them have embroidery revers, or insertions of embroidery on each side of the jacket down the edge.



BROWN GALATEA.

Colored ducks are more numerous than ever, and will be the boon of those who want to dress cool this summer.

Grasscloth is a very fashionable material, but it is also very expensive. I pointed to an innocent-looking, linen-coloured gown exhibited at a large store the other day, and asked the price. It was $26.50, and the material was grasscloth.

The gown shown here is in two shades of Galatea, the darker forming the panel on the skirt and the facing on the collar and the large bretelle-like revers on the waist. The revers and skirt are trimmed with white braid set on in "frog" patterns. The jacket fastens with one large button.

One of the best things Frances Willard ever said was: "If I were asked the mission of the ideal woman I would reply, it is to make the whole world homelike."

Before Treatment. After Treatment.

"At the age of 15 I commenced to ruin my health. Later on as "ONE OF THE BOYS," I contracted a serious blood disease—SYPHILIS. I was weak and nervous, despondent, pimples, sunken eyes, bone pains, ulcers, hair loose, sore tongue and mouth, drains in urine, varicocele—I was a wreck. I was in the last stages when a friend recommended Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. A dozen other doctors had failed in curing me. Drs. K. & K. cured me in a few weeks by the New Method Treatment. I would warn similar diseased men to beware of Medical Frauds. Drs. K. & K. are reliable, honest and skilful physicians.

POND'S EXTRACT

IMPRESSED ON THE MEMORY

That Pond's Extract is without equal for relieving pain, and that no remedy should be accepted as "just as good." And unscrupulous druggists will insist on trying to force upon purchasers weak imitations which are irritating, uncertain and even poisonous, very different from genuine Pond's Extract, which is universally known as a great healer, pacifier and comforter. Nature's own remedy for all pain is genuine Pond's Extract.

Avoid substitutes; accept genuine only, with buff wrapper and yellow label.

The Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 16 1895.

CIBOLA LOST.

and all but one, an engineer, succeeded in reaching the wharf. The vessel was cut adrift and floated down the river about three miles and a half, where it rested on a sand bar and burned to the water's edge.

It didn't take long for the flames to get to the American hotel, which burned rapidly, and very soon nothing was left but a huge heap of smouldering ruins. The driving sheds and outhouses, beside the United States Customs Office and wharf, were also reduced to ashes, The little station of the New York Central railway withstood the shower of sparks and burning brands for some time, but it was at last ignited and went up in smoke.

Just south of the American hotel was a huge pile of ties and logs, to be used in the construction of the new American Observation railway. These caught on fire and burned rapidly.

The river from here to the month is perfectly black with ashes and charred timbers. The appearance of Lewiston from the Queenston Heights is weird and strange. Upon the elevation at Lewiston the residences appear the same as hitherto but those near the stain upon the crest of the hill have a smoked appearance, while the various lawns are strewn with ashes and fire brands.

About 80 feet from the top of the hill the last traces of the fire are noticeable, and from there to the very edge of the river not a single building remains.

THE HULL AT NIAGARA.

NIAGARA, Ont., July 15.—The Cibola is now at Youngstown, but will be brought here and put in the slip. There is nothing left except the iron hull. One smoke stack is standing and one paddle box. The fire is still smouldering. The third engineer was burned in his bunk and the second engineer badly burned. The crew escaped in their night clothes and lost everything.

REBELS CUT COMMUNICATION.

They Destroy a Portion of a Railroad in Cuba.

Special to the Times.

MADRID, July 15.—Dispatches received here from the Island of Cuba announce that the railroad between Nuevitas, the port of the city of Puerto Principe, and Puerto Principe, capital of the province of that name, has been cut by the insurgents who have destroyed a railroad station, three bridges and interrupted telegraphic communication between the two cities.

A BUFFALO MURDER.

A Canal Street Woman Expires from the Effects of a Blow,

Special to the Times.

BUFFALO, N.N., July 15.—Eliza Kelly, a Canal street courtesan, was killed by a blow from the fist of a man supposed to be John La Rusch last night. Her skull was fractured. La Rusch made his escape.

Marquis of Exeter Dead.

LONDON, July 15.—William Alleyne Cecil, third Marquis of Exeter, is dead.

OVERWHELMED BY CYCLONE.

Twenty-Five Families Rendered Homeless in New Jersey.

Special to the Times.

CHERRY HILL, N. J., July 15.—A tornado swept over this place yesterday afternoon and besides rendering 25 families homeless, killed three persons outright, namely, Conrad Freidman, proprietor of the Cherry Hill hotel; a Hungarian named Anton, and the eight months' old son of William Anton, Edgar Cinnock while attempting to release horses from the barn was caught in the ruins and had his head badly crushed. The following are in the Hackensack hospital: Charles Cole, of Paterson, broken leg; Mrs. Wm. Ahrons, one ear torn off; Willie Freidman, scalp wound; Andrew Suttel and Anton Huffman, the former having an arm and leg broken, the latter several ribs.

The houses of John Demarest, John Jones, Peter Fishbaugh, Harry Randall, Geo. Mildner, August Mind, John Fabriskie, William Boemer, Joe. Creigher, J. H. Vanderbek, N. C. Zebriskie, John Jenkins Mrs. Lozier and others were completely destroyed. The depot of the New Jersey and New York R.R. was picked up and carried up the track nearly 200 feet and then fell on the opposite side of the track. A large beam went sliding through the air and shot through the side of the reformed church, which edifice was knocked two feet off its foundations.

All the injured may recover; though Cinnock's condition is critical. Hailstones fell at Hackensack, a mile south of here, but the windstorm was not felt.

FALL OF THE BASTILE.

An Uneventful Commemoration in the French Capital.

Special to the Times.

PARIS, July 15.—Yesterday was the 106th anniversary of the fall of the Bastile, and falling on Sunday the holiday was more generally observed than usual. All public buildings and many private residences were decorated and the day was celebrated in a most fervid manner. Many Parisians went to Long Champs in the afternoon to witness a review of troops. In the evening the city was illuminated most brilliantly.

A BICYCLE FOR $30.

A Buffalo Firm It Is Said Will Retail Them at That.

Special to The Times.

BUFFALO, July 15.—The statement that a hardware syndicate has been formed to manufacture 400,000 bicycles to retail at $30 apiece receives confirmation from the Buffalo Cycle Company, who have a contract to build 5,000 of the wheels. The company's plant was burned recently, but a planing mill property has been bought and will be transformed into a cycle factory immediately. It is understood that the contract price with the syndicate is $16,50 per wheel.

AFTER THE BLACK FLAGS.

Seven Thousand Japanese Troops With Their War Paint On.

Special to The Times.

HONG KONG, July 15.—A force of 7,000 Japanese troops has left Tuatutia in order to attack the black flags at Tai-Wan-Fu, Island of Formosa. A battle between the opposing troops is expected to take place on Saturday next, July 20. A strong naval force will co-operate with the land force of the Japanese. Reports received here from the south part of the Island of Formosa show that all is quiet there.

ELEVATED BICYCLE ROAD,

Chicago and Milwaukee to be Connected by a Wooden Track 16 Feet Wide.

Special to The Times.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 15.—Chicago and Milwaukee are to be united by an elevated bicycle road. Work will begin as soon as the right of way into the two cities have been obtained.

The plan is to construct a wooden elevated road, 16 feet wide. It is proposed to make the through toll only 10 cents. Its projectors predict that it will be patronized by 20,000 passengers per week.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

GORED BY A BULL.

The Awful Death of a Child Near Essex, Ontario.

Special to the Times.

ESSEX, July 15.—A seven year old son of John Farrough, of Maidstone, was fatally gored by a bull on Friday evening. A wound six inches in length was made in the abdomen. The child died Saturday morning.

Harcourt to Retire.

LONDON, July 15.—Sir William Vernon Harcourt, ex-chancellor of the exchequer, who was defeated in the election at Derby had many engagements to speak at political meeting in the Midland counties this week. He has cancelled all of them and this afternoon returned to London. It is said he will temporarily retire from politics.

Archbishop Walsh's Warning.

DUBLIN, July 15.—The Most Rev. W. J. Walsh, Archbishop of Dublin, has sent a circular letter to the clergy of his diocese protesting against the feuds and dissensions between public men in Ireland and reminding the clery that it is improper for them to deal with politics in the church.

Twenty Thousand Roses.

There are nearly 20,000 rose trees in bloom now at Dunlop's conservatories Bloor-st. west, Toronto. Visitors are always well come. Mr. Dunlop is proud of his establishment and takes pleasure in speaking of his beauties. He ships them by ma and express to all parts of Canada, and as these orders are filled direct from the trees, he guarantees them to arrive in good condition. Sale room, 45 Yonge-st., and 45 King street west

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Dr Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Hot weather proves depressing to those whose blood is poor. Such people should enrich their blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 15—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference, and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

An Election View.

LONDON, July 15.—The Daily News, the Liberal organ, will in its issue tomorrow ascribe the Liberal defeats in Manchester and vicinity to the electors selfish view of the Indian cotton duties. The paper admits the defeat of Sir William Vernon Harcourt, is a great disaster and ascribes it to the prominence he gave to the Local Veto Bill.

Cable Briefs.

LONDON, July 15.—A marriage has been arranged between Prince MaxMillan, of Baden, heir to the Grand Duke of Baden and Princess Victoria of Schlesurg-Holstein, daughter of Prince Christian. The pair met at Windsor recently and the Queen gave her assent to the betrothal.

Defender Sails Alone,

NEWPORT, R. I., July 15.—The Defender went out this afternoon alone for a short spin. She will sail for Bristol this afternoon.

Tenders FOR Indian Timber Limits

SEALED TENDERS will be received by the undersigned up to noon of Friday, the [illegible] th August, next, for the green standing pine, spruce and tamarac timber over nine inches in diameter at the stump, and all dead and fallen timber, on the Temiscamingue Indian Reserve, which contains an area of 60 square miles and is situated at the head of Lake Temiscamingue, in the County of Pontiac, in the Province of Quebec.

And also sealed tenders for the green standing pine over inches in diameter at the stump, and all dead and fallen timber, on the Wahnapitae Indian Reserve situated on the north shore of Lake Wahnapitae, in the District of Nipissing, in the Province of Ontario, containing an area of four square miles.

Each tenderer shall state the sum he is willing to pay in cash as a bonus for each limit over and above the ordinary Crown dues chargeable under tariff of the Department, and there shall accompany each tender an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion in favour of the undersigned for TEN PER CENT. of the amount of the tender, which sum shall be forfeited in the case of the failure of the successful tenderer to complete purchase of limit as hereinafter specified; and in the case of unsuccessful tenderers the cheque will be returned.

The successful tenderer shall, within fifteen days from date of notice of acceptance, pay the balance of bonus, together with ground rent and license fee, and furnish satisfactory bonds by himself and two sureties for the proper carrying out of the terms of license.

The purchaser or purchasers will be allowed ten years for the removal of the timber specified in the licenses, the Department reserving the right to authorize the cutting and removal of timber of other descriptions by the Indians.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Further information as to the rate of dues, &c., can be had on application to the undersigned.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease because it is liable to result in loss of hearing or smell, or develop into consumption. Read the following:

"My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years and the disease had gone so far that her eyesight was affected so that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered severe pains in the head and at times was almost distracted. About Christmas, she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it." W. H. REDUCTION in PRICES.

As we have no agents in Peterborough for our Large Portraits, we will offer them to cash customers, less agent's Commission. These Portraits will be our very best work and a guarantee attached to each.

An immense variety of frames to choose from.

GEO. B. SPROULE.

PLEASE ACCEPT

This public acknowledgment to save time. It is only natural that you should feel proud and gratified with the effect of using this remarkable article—it eclipses everything. But we really diserve no credit for giving the samples, less than actual cost (we don't believe in free samples) or for making them doubly valuable by putting them in seasonable Glass Gem Jars.

THANKS
Very Much.

The new "Eclipse" Baking Powder is so splendid and so cheap, (but don't put it on the same level as ordinary powders at similar prices), the result must be such an enormous demand that only a slight increase price will be needed to pay the required moderate interest on our heavy outlay.

All wide awake grocers will supply you—it won't pay you to deal with any others. A list of "Wide Awakes" later.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

The Weather.

PROBS.—Fresh southerly, shifting to westerly winds; warm; local showers or thunder showers.

Otonabee Canoe Club.

The members of the Otonabee Canoe Club are requested to meet at Mr. P. Connal's tonight for the purpose of completing arrangements for the illuminated canoe parade on Thursday night.

Young Womens' Association.

An excursion will be run to Sturgeon Point today via Chemong under the auspices of the Young Womens' Christian Association. It is expected that a large number will attend as the trip is a most delightful one.

Wallbrook and Simons.

These clever comedians have arranged a splendid program for their show on Thursday night and no doubt the opera house will be crowded. They will be assisted by splendid amateur talent from Toronto and Peterborough. It promises to be one of the best performances of the season.

Three Horses Killed

Three valuable horses belonging to Mr. John Glover, Port Granby, got out of the pasture on to the railway track at Port Hope. Two of them were killed during the night, and one by the express going west at 5 o'clock Saturday morning. The Company have sent their valuator to assess the damage.

Death of Mrs. Jas. F. Kerr.

The death of Mrs. James F. Kerr (nee Miss Gertie Uin), second daughter of Mrs. Hamilton Uin, occurred at West New Brighton, Staten Island, New York, last week, and the news was received by her relatives here on Saturday night. Deceased was well known in Peterborough and has many friends here who will greatly regret her sad death.

Is Still at Large.

The stranger who stole the horse and buggy from Mr. A. E. Mosley on Saturday is still at large and no trace of him had been found last night. Notices have been sent out to the chief constables of the provinces and the man's arrest is only a matter of a few days. Yesterday the police tried to find out something of the man's movements to his hiring the rig, but were unsuccessful.

New Books.

The following new books have been received at the Mechanics' Institute: Great Controversy between Christ and Satan, White; Century Cyclopedia of Names, Smith; The Fire of the Forge, Ebero; Zeit-Geist, Dougal; Man of Mark, Hope; Two Strangers, Mrs. Oliphant; A Farm House Cobwed, Haynes; Ballad's and Songs, Davidson; Only Ten Cents, Pansy; Berrie, McQuoid; For the Sake of the family, Cromelin.

Giving Early Promise.

When the crowd was filing out from the opera house last night young Mr. Dude stepped on the pretty girl's dress.

"Oh, shoo!" the pretty girl exclaimed, as she was thus suddenly hove to.

Young Mr. Dude saw his opportunity.

"Don't shoo me," he smartly said. "I'm no cow."

"No," the pretty girl made answer, as she swept demurely past, "but you will be when you grow up."

And it was seven or eight minutes before young Mr. Dude could light his cigarette.

Wanted a N. Y. Girl.

Orrin Holt, a robust Canadian farmer, called at the mayor's office yesterday, and saying he wished to get married, was directed to the marriage bureau, where he repeated his desire to Mr. Van Pelt.

"Bring in the lady," said Mr. Van Pelt.

"I thought you had them here," said Mr. Holt in surprise.

Mr. Holt then explained that he had read about the Mayor's performance of marriage ceremonies.

"I thought," said he, "that you had girls who wanted to get married waiting here. I want a good looking, healthy, nice tempered New York girl, and I can support her in good shape."—Port Hope Guide.

Prof. Lee, the Hypnotist.

The audiences that are nightly entertained by Prof. Lee, the hypnotist, seem to increase in size. Last night the opera House was comfortably packed, and it is safe to say that an audience was never better entertained, nor had so many hearty laughs. One man was told that he was a blacksmith and another a mule, and the former was instructed to put a shoe on his supposed long-eared customer. He proceeded to do so with all the seriousness possible, while another hypnotic subject held the mule, who kicked vigorously. During the operation Prof. Lee awakened the man who thought he was a mule, and the latter opened his eyes to find his leg firmly held by the supposed blacksmith, who still under the influence of hypnotism, refused to let go until he had finished his job. The affair brought down the house. The toboggan slide scene was also laughable in the extreme. Prof. Lee gives a first class and very humorous entertainment. He is a very affable gentleman and has become very popular during his short stay in Peterborough, and his entertainments are patronized by the best people of the town.

GOOD SWEET BREAD

is most important when health is concerned. Why is Bates; bread the best? Because it is made from home brewed yeast, and No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat. It will keep moist and sweet longer than any other bread. Walter Bates, manufacturer and proprietor, 554 Stewart street.

GRAY IS SICK.

He is Suffering from a Touch of Southern Malaria.

Thomas Gray, who with his wife Hessie will be put on trial for a preliminary hearing before County Magistrate Edmison at 1 o'clock this afternoon, has been indisposed the last few days, and it is said he is suffering from a touch of Southern malaria fever, occasioned by biliousness. Big doses of quinine (without the whisky) is about the only cure for this kind of illness, and no doubt Gray will be all right in a few days.

Detective John Murray arrived from Toronto last night and registered at the Oriental.

THE TIMES will contain a full account of the hearing this afternoon into tomorrow's issue.

MASONS MEETING.

Preliminaries of the Grand Lodge Began Yesterday.

The Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada will meet at the Massey Hall, Toronto, at 11 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

Already delegates are arriving on every train, and it is expected that fully seven hundred will be present before the convention opens.

The committee on general reports was in session yesterday and read over and discussed the reports from the 18 districts that comprise the Grand Lodge.

On Wednesday morning, Mr. E. T. Malone will deliver the speech of welcome from the Toronto members, and Mr. W. R. White, Grand Master of the Lodge, will reply. In the evening a concert will be held in Massey Hall.

On Thursday the time will be taken up in the election of officers and general discussions of the alterations of by-laws and from then until Friday night matters of interest to the Masonic Order will be dealt with at length.

It is four years since the Grand Lodge met in Toronto, Mr. John Ross Robertson then being Grand Master.

SAT UP FOR THE GHOST.

But They Only Saw a Cow and Got Drenched as Well.

A crowd of young men, well-known about town, assembled last night and walked out into the wilds of Otonabee to set up for the mysterious ghost which was seen just a week ago last night by the two Otonabee farmers. According to the belief of the latter the ghost only appears on Monday nights. This is why last night was set upon by the curious young men, who armed to the teeth vowed in one breath that they were not afraid of 40,000 spooks, and they all wanted a chance at this one.

Exactly at 12 o'clock they had assembled near the spot where his spookship was last seen, and here they secreted themselves, and waited with bated breath.

At 12.15 a rustling was heard some yards away and 50 hearts began to beat with tremulous rapidity. The object came nearer and 50 hearts became paralysed with fear, and 50 heads of hair began to rise. Nearer and nearer came the object and three of the brave watchers jumbed up and bolted down the road so fast that a cup of coffee could have safely ridden on their coat tails.

The mysterious object opened its mouth, and let forth a sound that caused a thrill of terror to run through 47 prostrate forms. But only for a moment. They recognized almost instantly the barritone bellow of a cow in that sound, and then all laughed.

The cow was driven off and then all went back and waited again. Shortly before two o'clock it poured down rain and the crowd got a good drenching and walked home.

It was a wet night and no respectable ghost will run chances of catching its death of cold by coming out in the rain,

LACK OF MONEY

Narrows the Children's Aid Society in its Its Functions.

The Children's Aid Society is in receipt of the following letter telling of a sad case which it cannot take action in on account of lack of funds. Thirty five dollars is the sum necessary, and it is to be hoped that amount will be contributed:

DEAR SIR,—I have a warrant against—— and when I went to find him I found five children and their mother in a very filthy condition with not enough clothing to cover them and utterly ignorant of anything but roughness, fighting and swearing and general lawlessness. The neighbors have notified—— and myself to try if the children could be looked after and rescued from such a life as their present circumstances give promise of. These are the same people who were brought before Mr. Edmison about a year ago on a charge of abusing a girl but the order has been disregarded and the general opinion is that some of them will be murdered. Mr.——, J. P., and Mr. ———, J. P., requested me this morning to notify you of their condition at once and they would like to have the affair investigated on Monday or Tuesday, as delay we all think may be dangerous at present. The father of the children says he cannot take them from their grandfather. * * * I have not been able to find——yet; he has the house locked and the mother and children are living in a little structure not fit for a dog. We will be greatly obliged if you will answer this and come at once as we think the case urgent. Hoping you will interest yourself in behalf of the children. etc.

WITH THE SPORTS.

The Junior Peterboroughs will go to Millbrook tomorrow and play a match with the stick handlers of that village. The players will be:—

Goal, Craig; Brown, point; Lynch, cover; Mein, 1st defence; Green, 2nd defence; Glover, 3rd defence; Crossley, centre; Dobbin, 3rd home; King, 2nd home; Galley, 1st home; Egrland, outside home; Thompson, inside home. The bus will leave the corner of George and Hunter streets at 12 o'clock sharp.

The Tornto Eastern League team played two games in Rochester Sunday before an audience of over 3,000 people. The home nine played very poor ball throughout, and the Canadians won both games, the first by a score of 15 to 1, and the second by 11 to 7.

The principal event at Ashbury Park on Saturday afternoon was the race between Louis and John Benner, aged 4 and 6 years, and "Happy Days" Pitman, the oldest racing man in America. Pitman rode a high wheel, and little Louis won easily in 1.08. C. L. Leatherbury, of Baltimore, won the final heat in the mile open, Class A, and J. M. Baldwin, of Paterson, won the final in the half mile Class A handicap. E. C. Bald, of Buffalo, won the final heat in the quarter-mile National championship, and Mumford, of Chester, won the two-mile professional handicap.

That Tired Feeling

Is a common complaint and it is a dangerous symptom. It means that the system is debilitated because of impure blood, and in this condition it is especially liable to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy for this condition, and also for that weakness which prevails at the change of season, climate or life.

CONVENTION CLOSED.

Impressive Were the Concluding Exercises of the Endeavorers.

Last night the fourteenth international convention of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, one of the most successful meetings in the history of the society, closed. The services yesterday seemed to have a deeper religious significance than any that have been held since the first day of the convention, probably due to the subsiding of the excitement of the opening days and the impressive character of the exercises. "Consecration" was the central thought in all the score or more of prayer meetings that began at 6.30 this morning, and was in fact the principal subject of the day. The attendance at all the morning meeting was as large as on any day last week. At the larger meetings the addresses of President George A. Gates, D.D., of Iowa College, and President Ethelbert D. Warfield, L.L.D., of Easton, Pa., in Tent Williston were the features of the morning. The former spoke on the "Consecration of an Educated Life," and he was followed by his great audience with close attention. Great interest was also manifested in President Warfield's address on "The Attractions of the Ministry to Educated Men."

A VETERAN AT 30 YEARS.

At Tent Endeavor an address by Robert E. Speer, of New York, on the missionary service, proved a great drawing card. Mr. Speer's great work in missionary field has made him famous among Christian Endeavorers and thousands were surpised this morning at the youth of this leader. He is not yet 30 years old, but a veteran in his chosen work. The morning meetings in both tents were conducted under the general title, "The scholarship of the world for Christ."

At Williston and Mechanics' hall encouraging reports concerning the religious life in the colleges were made. These exercises were accompanied by suitable addresses. The praise and song services at the big meetings were as they have been since the opening of the convention—full of snap, energy and earnestness. The aggregate attendance was about 23,000. The regular noon evangelistic services attracted crowds of workers. The largest of the rallies was held at Faneuil hall, where Rev. Francis E. Smiley, of Denver, Col., led the services, and in Bromfield street church under the leadership of C. N. Hunt, of Minneapolis. The other gatherings were at stores, wharves and street corners.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

BROKE HIS ARM.

While two little boys of Mrs. Maurice O'Connor were driving some horses to water on Sunday, one of them, aged 10 years, accidentally fell and broke his wrist by striking it on a stone. Dr. Caldwell set the limb and the little fellow is progressing favorably.

While a little girl of Dennis Sullivan's was picking cherries on Saturday the fence on which she was standing on gave way causing her to fall to the ground. A doctor was called and found after examination that her collar bone had been broken in the fall. She is doing as well as can be expected.

Forest fires are doing much damage in this section and unless rain soon comes many farm buildings are in danger.

Railway Notes.

A car load of gunpowder went north to Kirkfield the other day for Contractor Onderdonk. It will be used in blasting operations on the canal.

The different agents in the Midland districts are requested to enquire if there are any employees in their sections who have cricket abilities, with a view to having them placed on the team which will meet that of the Northern district at the annual picnic to be held in Orillia on the 20th of July.

Mr. H. G. McCaffray, of Oswego, N. Y., has given a handsome silver cup to be played for in Orillia next Saturday between the employees of the Midland and Northern districts of the G. T. R. at baseball. The winning club will hold the cup for one year, when another game will be played.

Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, the new president of the Grand Trunk Railway, will sail for Canada on Aug. 7 to make a thorough examination of the system. He will be followed on Aug. 17 by Vice-president Price and the two, perhaps accompanied by another director, will stay in Canada about six weeks.

WHERE NELSON FELL.

Italian and British Admirals Shake Hands Over the Spot.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, July 15.—There was quite a dramatic scene on board the Victory when the Duke of Genoa, the Italian Admiral, was shown the brass plate marking the spot where Nelson fell at the battle of Trafalgar. The Duke of Genoa gazed at it for a moment and then stretched out his hand, and the two admirals, Admiral Salmon and the Duke of Genoa, shook hands across the plate without speaking, and surrounded by the officers of both fleets.

STILL ANOTHER.

A Third Want of Confidence Motion in the Government.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 15.—Mr. Dupont, French Conservative, has a notice on the order paper of the House, to the effect that he will move a want of confidence motion on account of the Government's school policy. Mr. Laurier and Mr. McCarthy have similar notices, but while all three are too much the same effect they are all offered from widely divergent motives.

Gave Birth to Four Children.

PITTSBURG, July 15.—Mrs. Elizabeth Rankin, wife of Hugh Rankin, gave birth to four children, three male and one female Saturday evening. One of the male children died 14 hours after birth. The other three are doing well. The aggregate weight of the four was 20 pounds.

Stabbed a Chinatown Guide.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Clarence Bar, the Chinatown guide who was stabbed by C. B. Henderson, a travelling salesman of Rochester, N.Y., during the course of a row over the payment for drinks in the bar room of the Baldwin House early Saturday morning, died this morning. Henderson has been charged with murder.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

WITNESSES SWEAR AGAINST THE GRAYS

Preliminary Hearing of Thomas And Hessie Gray Charged With The Awful Crime of Murder.

Sister Against Sister—Mrs. McGregor Takes the Stand and Tells of Mrs. Gray's Repeated Threats to Murder Scollie—McGregor Swears that Thomas Gray Made Damaging Statements and that Mrs. Gray Said She Didn't Want Scollie Saved from the Flames—Gray and McGregor Had a Fight Before the Grays Went South—Old Davie's Strange Dream—Full Report of Yesterday's Proceedings.

The preliminary investigation into the several charges of murder and arson against Thomas and Hessie Gray, opened yesterday. All the Crown witnesses were examined in chief, and the investigation will probably close this morning with the cross-examination of Mrs. McGregor.

At 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the preliminary investigation into the charges of murder and arson against Thomas and Hessie Gray, was opened before County Magistrate Edmison in the Court House. County Crown Attorney Wood appeared for the Crown and Mr. W. A. Stratton for the prisoners. Mr. Butcher, Court stenographer, took the desk adjoining the witness stand, and Detective Murray sat near the prosecuting attorney. The press table was well represented by the local and Toronto dailies. Long before 1 o'clock the court room was comfortably packed with spectators and among this number fully one fourth were ladies. During the progress of the examination the Magistrate found it necessary to admonish the spectators for frequent outbursts when points were scored by either side. The warning that the Court room would be cleared put an effectual stop to further demonstrations.

The Grays were ushered to seats in front of the prisoner's dock by Constable Archie Moore, and so quietly did they come in that very few of those around the table knew that they had made their appearance. They were almost totally screened from the eyes of the audience, but a few saw them and came forward and shook hands with them. Mrs. Gray carried her baby at her breast, and the sight moved many hearts to pity. Both looked totally unconcerned. In fact, Gray himself had a half sneering leer on his face while his wife frequently smiled and exchanged glances with acquaintances. Indeed, the prisoners did not appear to realize that they were charged with the awful crime of murder, and their actions were certainly not in their favor.

By consent the evidence taken was allowed to bear on either of the three charges. The Grays are charged: Thomas, with murder und inciting to arson; Hessie, murder and arson.

THE FIRST WITNESS.

UNDERTAKER D. BELLEGHEM DESCRIBES THE BODY AS HE SAW IT ON TWO OCCASIONS.

Mr. Daniel Belleghem was the first witness called. He said he was an undertaker doing business in Peterborough and he remembered being called to bury David Scollie in February, 1894. He was called by William McGregor. He found part of the remains of Scollie laid out in the barn. He didn't remember all who were there, but remembered Wm. McGregor. He was called out at 10.30 in the morning. He examined the remains. The head was missing, also part of the feet and part of the shoulder. The stump of the neck came to a point about six inches from the shoulder. The breast was alright. Scollie had on an undershirt, and this the witness said, he did not think was burned any. There was drawers on the legs, but nothing on the feet, and they were charred. The chest was covered with a heavy growth of hair, apparently not singed. The hands were in a kind of rigor mortis state. After viewing the remains he returned to his shop, and got a casket in which he put the remains and brought it back to his store. After keeping it there a short time he buried it.

He had made a search for the head, poking with a stick in the ashes, because he did not think the fire was hot enough to burn it entirely up. He was unsuccessful in his search. He could not remember who pointed out the spot where the body had lain. It was covered with blankets and the latter were partly burned.

On the first day of June he had exhumed the body in the presence of Detective Murray, the county magistrate and several others. It was the same casket, and the body was covered with the same clothing. The stump was the same except more decomposed.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Cross-examined by Mr. Stratton witness said body had lain in barn probably four hours. The entrance of shed was open to everybody. There was nothing that he could see around the neck that would lead him to believe that the head had been severed. From what he saw he came to the conclusion that the head had been burned off. Stump had the appearance of a sharpened lead pencil; larger part being charred to the point. He could feel the bone. He had examined the clothing pretty carefully, not too closely. He was not in a suspicious frame of mind when he examined the body at first. Before he put the body in casket he became suspicious. He examined the garments closely but found no traces of blood on any parts of them. He would say on his oath that no part of the hair on the breast was singed. The two shoulders were apparently all right—he did not examine back of them. The arms were not folded. Appeared in same position as taken from the fire. The left leg was drawn up, and both feet were missing—at least one was totally gone and the other almost totally. The feet and head had received the beat of the fire worst. The fact that he found no traces of the head in the ashes confirmed the suspicions he had had. The spot pointed out to him as the place where Scollie had lain, was open and easy of access to anybody.

In his warehouse the body was not seen by any but the relatives of the deceased. It was in the warehouse about 24 hours and the coffin lid was screwed down. In answer to a question witness said the abdomen had not burst. He had seen Scollie in life and judging from the body he was a strong, powerful man. Mr. Gray paid a portion of the burial expenses, and Scollie's sister the balance.

RE-EXAMINED.

To Crown Attorney Wood—Gray paid $35 of the expenses. He thought the charred part of the stump was a quarter of an inch deep. There was about 6 inches of the bone protruding—part bone and part flesh. He lifted the body by the bone, assisting with one hand under the shoulders. The bone did not give way nor come off.

Both feet were burned—one more than the other but he didn't know which. The toes and instep were gone.

JOHN GRAHAM WEIR.

HE HELPED TO RAISE DAVID SCOLLIE'S REMAINS FROM THE DEBRIS IN THE CELLAR.

Mr. John Graham Weir was the next witness put on the stand. He was once the employer of old David Scollie, the supposed murdered man. He said he lived in Otonabee about one mile and a half from Gray's house in a southerly direction. He described the roads leading from the Gray's place. Gray's house was set in from the west corner of the lot about 100 yards and about 40 feet from the road. He first heard of the fire about 7 o'clock on the morning of the fire. He drove over and found Mr. Burnham, Mr. Bowie, Mr. Gervin, and David Lawrence surrounding the ruins. He couldn't positively fix the date of this occasion. He saw the body in the fire and he at once asked Burnham if they couldn't get Scollie out. Burnham said there was no use trying until the fire burned out. They threw water on the burning coals, and witness got a spade and started to dig the debris away. While he was thus engaged a man named John Hunter came along and by this time he had exposed the mattrass upon which the body lay. They lifted this up and carried it out. There was nothing between the mattrass and the floor. The mattrass lay about a foot and half below the foundation wall. Nothing about the body was disturbed in taking it out. Outside the body was viewed by those present. Witness and those present removed part of the blankets, socks, etc.

Witness said the body was lying on its back. The hands were folded across the body over the blankets below the stomach. The blanket was tucked in close around the shoulders and body on both sides all the way down. They searched for the head. Then he examined the neck and he at once formed the opinion that the head had been cut off. The stump was a little longer behind than in front. The blankets were folded close around the stump and were not burned. He looked at the feet and a portion of one foot was burned. He stayed near the body until it was carried to the barn. It was lying on a straw mattrass about the size of the body. He corroborated the former witness' testimony regarding the hair on the chest. He did not know what portion of the house Scollie slept in. Mr. Wood asked witness if it was possible for a body to fall from the upper story and be in the position that he found Scollie when he dug the debris away. Mr. Stratton objected, but it was overruled.

Witness replied that he didn't think it possible.

CROSS EXAMINED.

Cross examined by Mr. Stratton, witness said he did not see the body after it was taken to the barn. He didn't recollect saying to Mr. LaBelle on the occasion of a farmers' picnic that he (the witness) believed Scollie would come to such an end. He did not go to the fire with a preconceived idea that murder had been committed. He came to the conclusion that murder had been done, when he placed the body on the bank and saw the nice position it had been resting in. As soon as he saw the neck he thought that the head was cut off. He was not surprised that the head could not be found. In fact, he never thought much about the head. Judging from the position of the body he would naturally suppose that the head would not be entirely consumed. When he saw the body it was entirely covered over with burning boards, sticks, coals and ashes. Up to the neck, over the shoulders there were a blanket and two quilts piled up. Under these there were two shirts. Then came the body, the straw ticks and then the boards.

He was not any more firmly convinced now than then that murder had been committed. He was firmly convinced then.

The ashes and coals around the stump gave it the appearance of being charred. He was not sure that it was in reality charred very much. He could not say whether or not there was any flesh on the neck bone. He did not examine the neck very thoroughly.

It appeared to him that the ceiling had fallen on the body before the fire reached it. The body was partly covered with plaster. He could not say whether or not one foot was missing in its entirety.

Witness said he believed that his evidence at the inquest was true. He couldn't exactly fix the time when he reached the Gray's that morning, but he thought it was between 7 and 8 a.m. He had never been in Gray's house and did not know the location of the room in which Scollie was supposed to sleep that night. He was positive in his own mind that it could not have fallen nine feet without being displaced from the mattress.

Witness was rigidly cross examined, but the balance of his evidence was not shaken.

RE EXAMINED.

To Mr. Wood he said the body was two or three feet from the wall. There was more fire near the middle of the body than at the extremities. The body was laying in the end of the house near the woodshed. The fire at the eastern part of the building was the hottest, the wind blowing it from the body.

ZACHIAS BURNHAM.

McGREGOR AWOKE HIM ON THAT FATAL MORNING AND TOLD HIM THAT SCOLLIE WAS BURNED TO DEATH.

Zachias Burnham was the third witness examined. He deposed that he lived in Otonabee, his house being situated about 130 yards from the Grays. The house of McGregor's was 140 rods from Grays. Stewarts house was nearer to the Gray's than McGregor's. About 3 o'clock on the morning of the fire he was told that Gray's house was burning down. He went over and found the house pretty well on fire; the west end was just catching. He did not know what portion of the house Scollie was sleeping in. When he reached the fire he found McGregor and his (the witness') son there. He did nothing at all, but stood around to see if the wind would blow the flames on the barn.

He saw something like a body in the flames and he went over to Burnham's. When he came back in the morning. Mr. LaBelle was there and they all threw water on the remains. He was there when the body was taken out. It was closely wrapped in blankets with the arms and hands sticking out. He didn't examine the body very particularly. There was a shirt and a pair of drawers on the body. He did not see the head—it was gone entirely. He had not examined the neck.

Beside the clothing the body was covered with plaster. Where the head should be there was no more debris than around other parts of the body. The intensity of the fire around the body seemed equal. He thought there was only one chance in 1,000 for a man falling from the upper story to retain the position on the mattrass the body was in. The fire seemed to be most strong in the northwest portion.

He thought it would not take more than 2 or 3 minutes for a person to go from Gray's to his house.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Cross-examined the witness said he had stepped off the distance between Gray's and his place. Mr. McGregor called him that morning about 20 minutes to three o'clock. He didn't hurry over for Mr. McGregor said to him "Gray's house is burned down and David Scollie is burned to death." He didn't see Mr. McGregor so he couldn't say whether he was excited or not. Mr. McGregor shouted the alarm to him. When he reached Gray's the east end of the roof had fallen in and the inside of the walls were a mass of flames. He was told that Scollie was sleeping in the south western room up-stairs. When he got there the flames were climbing around the windows of the room. At this time he did not know whether the floor of this room had fallen. The body was not found in the room below the room in which deceased was sleeping, but in the partially dug out cellar in the north west side of the room. He didn't know who told him the room Scollie was sleeping in. He could see the interior of the house when he got there. It was a common strip house—a house that would burn easily. It was a very cold and stormy night. He didn't see anything of Mrs. Gray or the children.

RE EXAMINED.

To Mr. Wood witness said the body was found under the portion of the house burned last, and the wind was blowing the flames away from it.

HENRY GIRVIN.

HE ALSO ASSISTED IN RESCUING THE BODY AND GIVES IMPORTANT CORROBORATIVE EVIDENCE.

Henry Girvin was the next witness. He happened along the morning of the Scollie fire about 8 or 9 o'clock. Messrs. Weir, Hunter and others were there. Mr. Weir was busy getting the body out. He helped. The body was pulled up, laid on the bank, and somebody removed the clothing from the breast. He described the clothes the same as other witnesses. The hair on the breast was uninjured. There was no head on the body and he did not examine the stump.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Cross-examined he said he didn't notice if the feet were missing.

DAVID LAWRENCE.

ANOTHER WITNESS WHO HELPED IN REMOVING THE REMAINS—THE BLACKENED STUMP.

The next witness was David Lawrence who worked for Mr. Burnham in 1894. He went to the fire about 8 o'clock and set to work throwing water on the coals. After wetting the vicinity where the body lay, it was taken out. The body was lying just as if Scollie had gone to sleep wrapped in a blanket. He corroborated former witness as to the position of the limbs. Under the body was part of a straw mattrass. He didn't know what was under the mattrass. The cloth was burned but the straw was left. After the body was taken out he noticed the head was gone, the wrist burned and one foot gone. The socks were on the feet. He didn't pay any particular attention to the body. The stump of the neck was blackened. Apart from the clothing on the body there was the ashes, plaster and debris. It all seemed to be just as it had fallen. The fire was about equal all round the body, if anything a little deeper where the head ought to have been. The head was toward the stone wall; the feet toward the center of the building.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Cross-examined the witness said he paid very little attention to the stump. He couldn't describe the bone, beyond that it had a charred appearance. There was nothing that lead him to believe that the head was cut off. There was a foot of plaster, perhaps more, in depth, around the neck. The hole of debris he was dug out of was probably two feet deep. There was fire and coals where the head should have been. He didn't hunt for the head. He had seen Weir and the others shovel the debris from the body. The only part visible was right about the stomach where the bed clothes showed. The body was not on a level with the foundation wall. It was between two and three feet lower. He couldn't say whether ground was more depressed at the head than in other parts.

ROBERT MITCHELL.

ONE OF THE MEMBERS OF THE CORONER'S JURY AT THE SCOLLIE INQUEST GIVES EVIDENCE.

Robert Mitchell who lives in Otonabee, was one of the Coroner's Jury which inquired into the death of Scollie, and he was next placed in the witness box and described the clothing on the body and the general appearance as he saw it. The neck looked like a slope to him he said. The hind part seemed longer while the surface had a roasted appearance. The hair on the breast was quite natural with the exception of three or four inches. He was not cross-examined.

EDWARD McDONALD,

VISITED THE GRAY'S BARN AND FOUND BLOOD SPOTS ON THE PARTITION AND A PITCH FORK.

Edward McDonald said he lived in Ashburnham, half a mile from Gray's. He went to the Gray's the Saturday evening following the fire, accompanied by some boys. He saw finger marks in blood on the partition in the barn, and blood on the handle of a pitchfork in a barrel. The blood marks were dark red. He couldn't tell from the appearance of the blood how long it had been there. He said nothing about these marks at the time, but afterwards told Detective Murray about it.

CROSS EXAMINED.

Cross-examined witness said he didn't ask if the Gray's had been killing pigs a few weeks before. He learned that they bad later on. He didn't tell "Detective" Weir about the blood marks.

WILLIAM McGREGOR.

GRAY'S BROTHER IN-LAW ON THE STAND—HE UNDERGOES A RIGID AND TEDIOUS CROSS EXAMINATION.

A hush spread over the court room when the name of William McGregor was called. His evidence was listened to with breathless attention. He told the following story.

On the morning of Friday, February 22, 1894, about 2.45, I heard some children shaking my windows, and my wife let them in. They said the whole part of Gray's house was in flames. I looked over and could see the windows of Gray's and saw no fire. I went down and met Mrs. Gray carrying a bundle. She said Scollie was in the house. When I got there I kicked in the front door. The kitchen part of the house was all on fire. The north end was not burning. I saw Mrs. Gray and told her I was going over to Burnham's. She told me not to go over there. But I went over and told the Burnhams that Gray's house was on fire and Scollie was burning to death.

Then I ran back to the burning house and heard Mrs. Gray yelling "Save Scollie, save Scollie." I asked her how Scollie could be saved now. She didn't answer. When I first left my house I shouted fire all the way down the road. I yelled loud enough for Scollie to hear me, as I stood as near as 100 yards to the house and yelled repeatedly.

The bundle Mrs. Gray carried was 3 or 4 feet long.

In answer to questions Mr. McGregor said Scollie must have weighed about 140 or 145 lbs in good health. He enjoyed the latter up to Christmas when he began to fail a little. Mr. McGregor saw him the night before the fire. He appeared in his usual health. Scollie slept in the end of the house which burned last; he didn't see the body when it was found.

He saw into both rooms. He could see the bedstead in one room, and said to Burnham that there was Scollie's bed. It proved not to be, however, as Scollie occupied the other room. He saw the body in the barn, but made no examination.

He did not know what kind of a dress Mrs. Gray had on when he met her that night. Mrs. Gray wanted him to go down to Gray's brother's at Ivanhoe. She offered him $1.75, but he refused to take it. He telegraphed for Gray. On Sunday morning he and Gray and some others drove to the house, and witness went to dig in the debris. Gray hollered out: "Hurry up, let the old head go to hell—my horses are freezing. Some time after the fire he was in Peterborough with Gray. They often talked of the fire. The first conservation they had Gray wanted witness to clean out the cellar and build up the floor again. Witness said he had wood to cut, but if Gray would help him cut wood, he would help clean out the cellar. Gray said: "oh, never mind, I'm only working on it to keep down suspicion.

Witness had more suspicions when the day after the inquest he saw Mrs. Gray wearing a dress which was supposed to have been burned.

One day Gray said to him: "I have the smartest little woman in the world; she knew how to get rid of the d——d old brute (meaning Scollie) and it wouldn't do for me to be around.

Witness had heard Mrs. Gray call Scollie a d——d old brute on several occasions, and swear she would poison him.

Gray went out to work at the lumber camp. After the fire Gray said in speaking of Scollie, "Oh, well, I never expected to see him alive when I left for the shanties the last time."

Gray had also said the matter would have been all right if the head hadn't been missing. He didn't intimate to witness what was going to happen to the old man.

Witness knew the terms upon which Scollie went to live with the Gray's. He went to Gray's one forenoon and Scollie and the Gray's were quarrelling. Scollie was on the floor with a slate and pencil in his hand. Gray told him they were going to separate. He was going to offer Scollie $400 to leave, or he would sell out for $1200 to Scollie. They afterwards went up to Mr. Stratton's office and the agreement was read. There was no separation.

After the fire the Grays went to a house of Mr. Girvin's. Witness said the property was sold on 9th March and next day Gray went away.

In witness' house the Grays had some things. He saw Mrs. Gray's dress and two shawls, and a pair of shoes belonging to Gray. He did not see these shawls on Mrs. Gray the night of the fire. She said the boots were in the barn.

Witness said Mrs. Gray broke the window of the house with an axe, put the children out and told them to go to an outhouse and dress. The children slept in the end of the house which burned last. She said fire prevented her getting out by the door.

Witness said if Mrs. Gray had gone to Burnham's place instead of sending the children to his place any person at Burnham's could easily have saved Scollie. She lost half an hour by not going to Burnham's. When he examined the windows in Gray's house he found them apparently smashed open.

SEVERE CROSS QUESTIONING.

Cross-examined, witness said the night before the fire he was at the opera house. He returned home, undressed and went to bed at 12 o'clock. He couldn't remember which one of the children awoke him that morning. He let the five of them in for it was bitterly cold. The children all had plenty of clothing. He met Mrs. Gray half way to the house. She said nothing to him about getting Scollie out of the house. He didn't anticipate that the house was to burn that night. Mrs. Gray told him that Scollie was in the burning building but she did not tell him in what portion of it. Witness denied that the Grays had accused him over and over again of being the cause of Scollie's death, by neglecting to rescue him. He burst open the door but done nothing more. Later on his wife came up and urged him to save old Scollie but there was no possible way of getting to him. He did all he could. There was a ladder near the barn, but it was only four feet long. Witness said his wife was screaming to save Scollie, while Mrs. Gray was smiling and happy—"much happier than she is now"—the witness added.

The roof of the kitchen fell first and the

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 17 1895.

It must astonish Martyr Angers the e days to see this country worrying along just the same as if he had never quit.

There were over a score of flying machines invented in the United States last year. The only trouble with them was that they wouldn't fly.

Bismarck planned the Kiel canal, but at the opening he was an unknow quantity. Others besides Republics can be accused of ingratitude.

It is noticeable across the line that there are now occasional strikes for higher wages. For the last two years, the strikes have all been against a reduction of wages.

The interchange of courtesies between the British and Italian fleets at Portsmouth will tend to cement the informal union which, so long as it lasts, assures to Britain and Italy the control of the Mediterranean.

Mrs. Maybrick's friends are again endeavoring to secure her release. Mrs. Maybrick is the lady who poisoned her husband in England, and got life imprisonment for the crime. From all accounts husbands are not plentiful enough to warrant her being given another chance.

The Duchess of York has been knitting socks for the London poor, and if the London poor has as much sense as it has poverty and misery, it will start off by the first boat for America with the footgear and with Yankee prices for these royal woolen souvenirs, will be able to live like fighting cocks for the balance of life.

The Dominion Goverment has plainly informed Manitoba that, if Separate schools are re-established by Provincial legislation, an attempt will be made to re-create them by Federal enactment. What matters it, so far as the reponsibility of the Ottawa Parliament is concerned, whether the obnoxious system is restored by Provincial authority, under threat of compulsion, or by direct interference on the part of the Dominion? The point is that an effort is to be made to force the Western Province to do something it does not want to do, and those who disapprove of the oppression, no matter what form that oppression may take, ought to say so by their votes.

FRANK LESLIE'S MIDSUMMER POPULAR MONTHLY

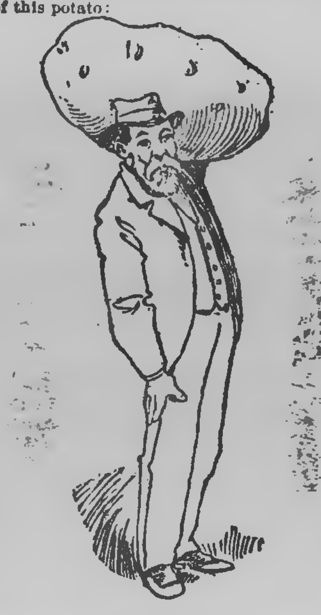
The August (Midsummer) number of FRANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY easily takes the lead of the seasonable illustrated magazines. It appears in a handsome new cover, of appropriate artistic design, which will be permanently retained. This new cover is embellished with a portrait of the late Frank Leslie, founder of the magazine, and the father of illustrated periodical literature in America. An editorial articleson "The Traditions and Progress of Illustrative Art" says: "Not only does the portrait of Frank Leslie adorn our cover and page, but his enterprising artistic impulse, exemplified in the motto, Progress and the Spirit of the Age, has animated the making of this, as it will of every future number of this justly acclaimed 'Monarch of the Magazines.'" This promise is splendidly fulfilled in the current Midsummer number, which presents a really unprecedented display of over a hundred charming pictures, including a full-page plate in colors, with wood-engravings, pen-drawings and half-tones by the best artists of this country and Europe. These pictures illustrate more than a score of articles, stories and poems, all of a timely and seasonable nature, contributed by some of the favorite writers of the day.

Early in the Fall a new juvenile magazine, of a bright, wholesome character, fully illustrated, will be made of FRANK LESLIE'S PLEASANT HOURS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS, at 10 cents a copy and $1.00 per annum.

A PRIZE POTATO.

It Was Raised in Colorado by J. B. Swan and Weighs 86 Pounds 10 Ounces.

Mr. E. William Randall, of North Easton, Mass., has received a photograph of his brother-in-law, Mr. Howard Talbot, with a mammoth potato said to weigh eighty-six pounds on his shoulders. Mr. Talbot was a former resident of North Easton, and is known as a man of veracity. The Loveland (Col.) Reporter says of this potato:



A LOAD FOR ANY MAN.

"At last J. B. Swan has succeeded in having his immense potato of the Maggie Murphy variety photographed. This mammoth potato was twenty-eight inches in length, not circumference, and fourteen inches across it, and is claimed to weigh eighty-six pounds and ten ounces. Mr. Swan is a grower of great repute, but this last production beats anything of the kind we have yet seen."

Galloway Robes.

Just having killed an immense bull buffalo and sent the meat to market makes me think more forcibly than ever that the Galloway is to take the place of the extinct buffalo. Having in the ten years between 1873 and 1883 tanned nearly 200,000 buffalo hides into buffalo robes, or more than any other man, living or dead, I think I know whereof I speak when I say the Galloways and their grades furnish robes that are equal to the famous robes of years ago.

Any one can tan them equal to the best Indian tanning. The squaws did that work entirely. On the plains wherever the hunt was going on the squaw at once stretched out the robe on four poles quite tight, and in freezing weather they were allowed to freeze over night. Then in the morning early the squaws would stand on the hide with their clipping tool, and with a quick sharp stroke made the chips fly like a carpenter with his plane. In about one hour the hide was ready for the grease. They smeared on any kind on the flesh side. Then they moistened over with water and rolled it up for an hour or two. Then they would fasten a green hide rope on a stout stake driven in the ground, or a tree, about four feet from the ground, and fasten it again at the bottom, making the rope tight. Then grasp the hide with both hands and saw back and forth for a few moments; then at the rope again, and so on until perfectly dry, soft and white.

The Galloways, like the buffalo, are prime for robes only in winter months, being best in November, December and January, or up to the time the hair begins to loosen in spring. The better care and richer feed the better the robe. That Galloway cattlemen can grow and make their own robes I know, and at no greater cost than a few hours' work which can be done in winter. One can easily make one robe in a day. I can make from five to ten in a day with one boy's help. The full blood steers, 3 years old, killed in season, ought to make robes worth $25, and the grades according to fineness and amount of pure blood they carry, say $10 average. That they can add that much to the profits of the farm and occupy leisure hours there is no doubt.—F. B. Clark, in Breeder's Gazette.

Feeding Dairy Cows.

A series of observations of the winter feeding practices of Connecticut dairymen has led the Storrs station to the conclusion that in general there was the largest yield of milk and the largest butter production with narrow rations rich in protein. Wide rations low in protein did not favor large milk or butter production. In the three tests when it was possible to study the financial side of the feeding narrow rations rich in protein were decidedly the more economical. Bearing in mind that there is no such thing as a "best ration," and that all attempts to express in terms of protein and energy the needs of a dairy cow are only approximations, the following ration is tentatively suggested as a basis for feeding dairy cows:

Organic matter, 26 pounds; digestible protein, 2.5 pounds and enough digestible fat and a carbohydrates to bring the fuel value up to about 31,000 calories.

The subject of cattle feeding and handling is a large one, and only general principles can be laid down. No hard and fast rules for feeding are now known, and doubtless none ever will be known. It is nevertheless true that the man who exercises the largest amount of good judgment, based upon all that the most advanced science can bring him, and who tries to put into practice the knowledge thus acquired, will be much surer of success than one who works blindly. There may be no "best" breed, no "best" ration, and no "best" way of handling dairy stock, but there are poor cows, uneconomical rations and bad ways of handling, and the man who learns to avoid the bad and choose the better is well on the road towards the best.

Hogs Cleaned the Meadow.

Last year an Indiana farmer had a meadow so badly infested with asters as to render it worthless for hay, so he concluded to make a hog pasture of one portion and cut the remainder for home use. The hogs were turned on when the grass and weeds were six to eight inches high. The animals took to the weeds, leaving the grass. Being without rings they took to rooting and in three weeks the weeds were destroyed. The hogs were then turned off and at harvest time the field yielded over two tons per acre of pure timothy. The unpastured portion was almost worthless. This spring the pastured land promises a good yield of hay free from weeds.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

Author of "Atman, or the Documents in a Strange Case."

dered and four. As a matter of fact I am youthing at the rate of exactly ten years per decade. I was very grey five years ago, but my hair is getting its normal color, and I have an interesting calculation just completed, that in 1911 I shall be twenty-one. I am going a freedom party to give in celebration of my legal majority the attainment of. May I the great pleasure have your presence of expecting?"

"You are very good," I murmured, "it is a long way ahead, but if I am alive I shall be there."

I spoke urbanely and meant what I said. The extraordinary statements which the stranger had made had set me thinking and I resolved to give the matter further reflection. Meanwhile continued conversation under circumstances so unusual was becoming embarrassing, so I arose to depart.

"I am much indebted to you, sir," I said, "for the interesting information which you have imparted. I can only hope that I have not been impertinent in thrusting my acquaintance upon you in such unconventional fashion."

"Sir; you have me the greatest favor done. A good listener is on earth the rarest thing."

"Good morning." I said, offering him my hand, "I trust we shall soon meet again Mr——. I have not your name, I believe, sir."

"Ah, no; pardon me."

He quickly took a black card from his pocket and with a white pencil, held in his left hand, wrote his name and address and handed it to me.

The inscription upon the card was in backhand, and was as follows:

Crabbe, Alphaeus, Mr., street, Spruce, 192.

We bowed to each other ceremoniously, and I passed out to the street.

DIDN'T KNOW HER OWN HOME.

They Had Just Moved In and All the Houses in the Row were Alike.

"Oh, dear, oh, dear!" groaned young Mrs. Lambkin, as she returned from her first outing after they had moved. "Why do they make all the houses in a row exactly alike? Algy is so afraid that I will blunder into somebody else's house by mistake. Of course when we lived in a flat it was a different matter—you had only to climb the stairs until they stopped and there you were. Let me see now, did Algy say it was the third from the one with the lilac bush in the front yard or the fourth? My goodness, there are three houses with lilac bushes in the front yard! What shall I do?"

She glanced cautiously about her to see if anyone was aware of her dilemma, but no one was in sight.

"Why didn't I remember to look at the number before I started? And, oh, if I had only staid at home to-day and put up my parlor curtans I'd have had a landmark to guide me! To think that I don't know which house I live in! What will Algy say to me!"

Trying to look unconscious she walked to the other end of the block and back again, seeking for some sign of personal belongings, but in vain.

"Whatever shall I do?" she groaned. "Oh, my goodness, there's somebody peeping from behind that curtain!" and she nervously walked on. "I can't very well ring the bells at all of the houses in the row and ask if I live there. No; I'll walk back and take another look. I told Algy I didn't like to live in a house just like everybody else, but he said nobody with any sense could possibly make a mistake and go into the wrong one. There comes a policeman. I'll ask him. I won't ask for our own house, of course. He would think me crazy if I did; but Algy said that a Mr. Johnson lived two doors away; I can tell by that. "Officer can you tell me which house Mr. Johnson lives in?"

"Two Mr. Johnsons live in this yere block; which wan d'ye want?"

"I—I don't know."

"Well, wan of 'em lives at 90 and wan at 108," and he passed on.

"Oh, dear, I'm as badly off as ever," she groaned, "I shall never hear the last of this from Algy. Why didn't I ask the policeman where the Lambkins live? I forgot that he wouldn't know I am Mrs. Lambkin."

Several window curtains were fluttering by this time as she again walked to the end of the block, and she was aware that each one partially concealed a new neighbor. As she turned to go back, she caught sight of her husband running up the steps of one of the houses; she ran frantically toward him, calling loudly, but in vain, for he disappeared without hearing her.

"Which one did he go into?" she moaned; "was it the one in the middle or the one next to it? If I go into the wrong one now, he'll be sure to see me, and I shall never hear the last of it. Well, there's no help for it; I can't stay out here all night, so I'll try this one."

As she ascended the front steps she was met by her husband coming down with a very red face.

"Why, Algy," she cried "I'm glad you are at home, but are you going out again at once?"

"No, I'm not," growled Algy, "I'm going in next door; these confounded houses are so much alike that you can't tell tother from which."

"Well, Algernon Lambkin," serenely replied his wife' "I did think you had sense enough to know your own house when you come to it."

And both of them looked carefully at the number over their door as they went through it.

Together With Some Advice.

"Mister," began the melancholy tramp, "I don't suppose you ever went cold and hungry, sleeping in coal sheds and getting kicked along from door to door"—

"Yes, I did," interrupted Fellaire (formerly Rusty Rufus), scrutinizing him with some displeasure, handing him a small coin and passing on, "but I had the decency to wash myself once or twice a year, by George! You make me kind of sick!"—Chicago Tribune.

So Unlucky.

Mrs. Vera Short—Everything goes against us, it seems.

Visitor—What's the matter, dear?

Mrs. Vera Short—John's so unlucky! Salary reduced and nothing goes right. Would you believe, dear, John's been carrying a five-thousand accident policy for three years and hasn't realized one cent? (Sighs.) And the trolleys running too!—Puck.

"LET 'EM GET OUT."

Tarte Says the Government is in a Hole and the Liberals Won't Help Them.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 15.—When asked by an interviewer what the Liberals would do with the school question were they in power, J. Israel Tarte replied: "Well, as the Conservatives have got themselves into the hole, we are not going to be such fools as to show them how to get out; but when I say that we are placed in power we would grapple with the difficulty immediately and settle it in a manner satisfactory to all, I mean that we have positively prepared ourselves for such a contingency, and should we be placed in power I am sure that our arrangements would succeed. I say this realizing what am talking about, and knowing full well all about the plans of what I speak.

Fasted Sixty-eight Days and Died.

TOPEKA, Kas., July 15.—A. M. Kennedy, 71 years old, died Saturday after a 68 days fast. He had paralysis, and was visited by physicians far and near, who could not account for his prolonged life.

A. E Sanderson Wanted in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, July 15.—Albert E. Sanderson, now an exile in Canada, is badly wanted by the police to answer to the double charge of grand larceny and perjury. He is now supposed to be either at Niagara Falls or Hill's Corners, Ont., where he has friends. His father is a Grand Trunk bridge inspector at Hamilton, Ont.

A Parachutist's Fall.

LONDON, July 15.—An Australian parachutist named Campbell, in Sussex Saturday, was ascending in his balloon and had arisen to the height of 70 feet, when the car attached to the balloon struck a chimney. Campbell was thrown out and fell to the ground, receiving injuries from which he is dying.

Run Over by Four Trains.

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., July 15.—A young man named Wesley Griffin, residing near Brockville, was run over and killed on the railway track near here Friday night. His remains were found scattered along the track and must have been tossed back and forth by four trains.

The Queen Paid His Racing Debts.

LONDON, Juls 15.—Prince Francis of Teck, a brother in-law of the Prince of Wales, lost £10,000 on the Curragh races. Lord Ardilaun offered to pay his debts. Prince Francis being well nigh a pauper, but the Queen interposed and paid them. Prince Francis has been ordered to go to India.

They Climbed Without a Guide.

LONDON, July 15.—A party of five Englishmen, while trying to ascend, without a guide, Mt. Ortler, the loftiest mountain of the Tyrol and of the Austrian empire, situated in the Rhaetian Alps, fell over a precipice and were seriously injured. One of the party is dying.

Britannia has a Walk Over.

LARGS, Scotland, July 15.—Ailsa did not start in the regatta of the Royal Largs Yacht Club today. She was towed to Gourock, where it is reported she will be laid up. Britannia sailed over the course alone. In the race for 20 raters, Niagara beat Eiclar's and Dakotah.

Harcourt to Retire.

LONDON, July 15.—Sir William Vernon Harcourt, ex chancellor of the exchequer, who was defeated in the election at Derby had many engagements to speak at political meeting in the Midland counties this week. He has cancelled all of them and this afternoon returned to London. It is said he will temporarily retire from politics.

Archbishop Walsh's Warning.

DUBLIN, July 15.—The Most Rev. W. J. Walsh, Archbishop of Dublin, has sent a circular letter to the clergy of his diocese protesting against the feuds and dissensions between public men in Ireland and reminding the clery that it is improper for them to deal with politics in the church.

Defender Sails Alone.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 15.—The Defender went out this afternoon alone for a short spin. She will sail for Bristol this afternoon.

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way."

And another thus:

"If you dumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

"Milk" for the Chickens.

The efforts of a certain literary man to turn himself into a successful "hen farmer," on an estate of two acres, afford his agricultural neighbors some excitement, and no end of amusement. It is credibly related that during the first year of his pooultering the amateur farmer discovered that all his little chickens, which were confined in coops, were languihsing and dying. He went over all his books to see if he could find what ailed them, but in vain.

At last he called in one of his neighbors, and showing him the thin and weak surviving chicks, asked—

"What do you suppose is the matter with those chickens?"

"Well, I dunno," said the farmer; "what do you feed 'em on?"

"Feed them? Why, I don't feed them anything!"

"Then how did you expect they were goin' to live?"

"Why, I supposed the old hens had milk enough for them now!"—Youth's Companion.

The Spell Broken.

"Now, look here," said the Old Moonshiner to the Suspicious Character, "you've been a-loafin' round here for six days, an' I want to know yer business."

"Well," said the Suspicious Character, "I love your daughter, and I—I believe she loves me, and I—I would marry her!"

"The geewhilikins! Is that all?"

"All?"

"An' you've got a license?"

"Yes, in my pocket!"

"Walk right in an' take her! It's a great load off my mind. Hanged if I didn't think you wuz one o' them revenue detectives!"—Atlanta Constitution.

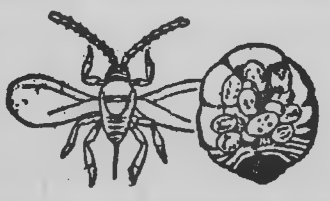
GREAT SAVING BY PURCHASING THE LARGER SIZES

THE SAN JOSE SCALE.

Description of This Pernicious Pest and How to Exterminate it.

Where the San Jose scale has found lodgment its extermination should be immediate. This pernicious scale is injurious to a great variety of deciduous trees, and besides causing the death of the trees, has great power of production. Common in California, it now infests Washington, Oregon, New Mexico and the western country. Among the localities of the Atlantic seaboard known to be infested are limited sections in Florida, Georgia, Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York. Specimens have also been observed in one or more towns in Ohio and Indiana, the scale probably having been shipped in on nursery stock, or brought on California fruit. The young or newly hatched are almost microscopic creatures of a white or pale yellow color, body of ovoid form, flattened, with six legs and two short feelers. They are active for a brief period only, sometimes but a few hours or even minutes, rarely more than a day or two, and settle upon the bark near where they are born, unless it is already too thickly covered with the parent scales. A long threadlike proboscis is gradually thrust under the skin of the leaf or bark when the insect becomes fixed and a waxy secretion exudes and covers the scale. This increases until the larva underneath molts. The first larval skin becomes part of the secretion or shield, and is known as the larval scale, and the insect under it after this first molt, leaves its legs and feelers. The covering still further increases and a second molt takes place, and a covering known as the medial scale either surrounds or extends from one end of the larval scale, according to the species. The sexes are readily distinguishable by their scales or shields. The male undergoes a third molt, from which results a delicate two-winged fly. The San Jose scale is quite circular in form, very flat and pressed close to the bark. It grows from one-sixteenth to one-eighth inch in diameter in the female and about half this size in the male. It has the general color of the bark, and the larval scale in the centre is a slightly raised point, varying from yellowish to nearly black in color. In the latitude of Washington, D.C., there may be five annual generations, each occupying on an average forty days. Multiplication continues from the beginning of June until late in autumn, or until winter weather fairly sets in.

For the extermination of the San Jose scale, a number of parasites have been found quite effective. But where trees are found to be badly infested, the safest and most economical course is to cut and burn trunk and branch. Where the infection is less marked, insecticide washes and sprays may be used. Before young lice have begun to secrete scales they may be destroyed by spraying with kerosene emulsion. For the older scales the washes may be divided into those which can be used in summer without damage to the trees, and those so strong they can only be applied while the tree is dormant during winter. Among the insecticides that have been proven more or less successful are formulas of whale oil soap, the resin wash, kerosene emulsion, hard laundry soap, concentrated potash lye, fish oil soap, and California lime-sulphur-and-salt wash. The most effective insecticide for the San Jose scale is to dissolve two pounds of whale oil soap in one gallon of water, and make a thorough spraying.



SAN JOSE OR PERNICIOUS SCALE, MALE AND FEMALE, CONTAINING YOUNG, GREATLY ENLARGED.

Getting Best Results in the Fruit Garden.

Whoever has picked the most luscious wild raspberries and blackberries and has noted the conditions under which they grew, has seen that a loose soil and abundant moisture are prime essentials to perfection in these berries. It has been found by experience that the greatest aid the gardener has in securing a light, loose and moist soil, even in the heat of summer, is a heavy coating of the ground with mulch. Applied to the soil, not in a thin coat that soon disappears, but in a very thick one, it keeps down seeds, smothering that most troublesome of pests, witch grass, and creates beneath it a surprising condition of the soil. If one will take the trouble to draw aside a thick coat of mulch, he will be surprised to find beneath it as light as though the harrow had just passed through it while even in time of drought the soil will be well filled with moisture, drawn up from the regions below. In using mulch care should be taken to avoid that having weed seed, unless the plot of land is to be kept permanently mulched. Rather than go without such a covering in the raspberry rows, if straw or hay were not at hand, have evergreen brush cut in the woods and pastures and with this mulch the land; but straw or hay is better, for it decays and forms a vegetable humus in the soil.

The Lack of Lime in Grain.

While corn is a food that has its mission in winter, it will do more harm than good when continued steadily on into spring. Wheat may be classed with corn. These grains are good because they are concentrated, and enable the hens to eat enough from which to derive their warmth, but though they contain a proportion of nitrogen they are very deficient in the mineral elements. There is less than a pound of lime in one thousand pounds of wheat, and if a hen is compelled to subsist on grain entirely, how is it possible for her to furnish eggs, which are not only covered with a shell of lime, but also contain within themselves the substances that are changed into bone, blood, flesh and fat.—Farm and Fireside.

Strawberries for Home Use.

No matter how far from market a farmer may be, he can grow a patch of strawberries and be sure of a market at home. It is astonishing how much fruit of all kinds can be eaten by a small family when the supply is unstinted. There are few neighbors where those who begin by growing a supply of strawberries for home use will not find a market springing up around them for neighbors who keep on in the old ruts because they think they haven't time to attend to such small affairs as the culture of berries. they are small in size, but more bushels of strawberries can be grown per acre than of any kind of grain, and the fruit may be sold cheap and yet bring more than grain profits.

POND'S EXTRACT

IMPRESSED ON THE MEMORY

That Pond's Extract is without equal for relieving pain, and that no remedy should be accepted as "just as good." And unscrupulous druggists will insist on trying to force upon purchasers weak imitations which are irritating, uncertain and even poisonous, very different from genuine Pond's Extract, which is universally known as a great healer, pacifier and comforter. Nature's own remedy for all pain is genuine Pond's Extract.

Avoid substitutes; accept genuine only, with buff-wrapper and yellow label.

THE PEITZEL MURDER.

HOW THE BODIES WERE DISCOVERED IN THE CELLAR.

A Horrible Stench that Annoyed the Occupants of No. 16 St. Vincent Street—Holmes Will be Arrested for Triple Murder—Inquest and Post-Mortem.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, July 16.—The unearthing of the bodies of the two murdered children, Etta Alice and Nellie Pietzel, in the cellar of Mrs. Frank Nudel's house at 16 Vincent street yesterday bids fair to become the turning point in the career of one of the most remarkable and cold blooded criminals which this or any other age has produced, and it is at the same time an admirable proof of the saying that murder will out. It dispels the mystery which surrounded the disappearance of the unfortunate children, and from what is already known goes far towards the fastening the crime of foullest murder on the man who posed as their friend and guardian, but who in reality regarded them as a danger to his own safety, and for that reason, and without the slightest compunction, planned and ingeniously executed their deaths.

FINDING THE BODIES.

The clue which led to the discovery of the bodies came from Thomas W. Ryves, an elderly man who lives at No. 18 St. Vincent street, next door to the scene of the tragedy.

Last October Mrs. Nudel's house was empty, and she advertised for a tenant. One Saturday afternoon a quiet stranger called and arranged to take the premises at a monthly rental of $10. He said that a widowed sister, then living in Hamilton, was coming down, and that she intended keeping boarders. He obtained the key and left. The house was afterwards occupied by new tenants.

FOUND THE BODIES.

The first intimation of the true state of affairs was when Detectives Geyer and Cuddy paid them a visit yesterday. The smell was very noticeable, and Cuddy, securing a shovel, began to dig at a spot where it was evident the soil had been already disturbed at no distant period. As each shovelful of earth was removed the odor increased in strength until the entire house was reeking. The occupants, amazed beyond all power of expression, were driven out to the verandah. It required very little digging to bring up a portion of the upper body, which proved later on to be that of the elder girl.

When it was quite clear that there could be no mistake a message was sent to Inspector Stark and he issued instructions to have an undertaker secured and the bodies carefully exhumed.

Undertaker Benjamin Humphrey sent a man up and the work was resumed. The job was one which no one with a weak stomach could dare to attempt. The odor was simply indescribable, and the detectives were obliged to steadily smoke away at cigars while the operation was going on. At 5 o'clock the bodies were both in their caskets and removed to the undertaker's.

POST MORTEM COMMENCED.

At three o'clock this afternoon at the Morgue, Frederick and Esplanade streets, Dr. A. J. Harrington, 908 Bateurst street and Dr. A. B. Orr, Cowan avenue, commenced a post mortem examination of the bodies of the children to determine, if possible, the cause of death. The awful state of the bodies made the operation a sickening one, the stench being almost unbearable.

WILL ISSUE A WARRANT.

Canada has too frequently in the last few years been chosen as a field for murder, but to the credit of the authorities the offenders have been apprehended, convicted and hanged. The most famous case of this character was that of Birchall, who decoyed Benwell to the Woodstock swamp and there murdered him. Another case was that of Day, who brought his wife to Canada at Niagara and there shoved her over the cliffs not far below Clifton. He was hanged at Welland. But crafty and cruel as these men undoubtedly were, in comparison with Holmes they appear humane.

WILL PROBABLY ISSUE A WARRANT.

In reply to a question as to what course would be adopted in reference to Holmes, Inspector Stark said that so far he had made no definite arrangements and had not yet consulted the Crown-Attorney. He believed, however, that the inquest would be over soon and in the event of a verdict of murder a warrant would be issued for Holmes' arrest and steps would be taken to secure his extradition just as if no charge overhung him in the States.

THE INQUEST TONIGHT.

The warrant for the inquest was issued by Coroner R. B. Orr, but he has turned over the investigation to Coroner A. J. Johnson, who was out of town but who hurried home on receiving his instructions by telegraph. The bodies were removed to the morgue today and the post mortem performed by Drs. John Caven, Orr and John Ferguson. It is not deemed probable that much evidence will be taken tonight. The jury will be called, the remains viewed and after a little of the evidence has been heard an adjournment for a few days will be made.

BANK HAS SUSPENDED.

BANQUE DU PEUPLES CANNOT MEET PAYMENTS.

It was Shaky and Depositors Have Been Afraid of it For Some Time—It Will Effect Slightly Some Banks in Toronto.

Special to The Times.

MONTREAL, July 16.

A Bank du Peuple, the leading French Canadian bank in Canada, has suspended payment. It was rumored to be in a very shaky condition for some time past. Last week it was reported on the streets that the bank owed the clearing house $100,000. The rumor was true, but the other banks came into line and saved the moribund institution for the time being. A few weeks ago the stock of the bank was worth 150. Trouble arose between the manager and directors, which precipitated a run. The other chartered banks rallied to the aid of the Peuple's and produced $1,000,000 to help it through. This stopped the run temporarily, but the credit of the institution has steadily declined until the the climax came today.

BANQUE DU PEUPLE NOTES.

TORONTO, July 16.—"No," said Cashier D. R. Wilkie, of the Imperial Bank, "the suspension of the Banque du Peuple cannot affect us up here in the least."

"What about those who hold notes of that bank?"

"Those notes ought at once to go to a premium. From the time the bank suspends they bear interest. If you have any bring them down and I'll give you par for them."

The notes of the bank are secured by a Government deposit, and are a first lien on the assets. The failure has not affected other bank stocks materially.

TALK OF LYNCHING.

TWO MEN DANGEROUSLY ASSAULT A LITTLE GIRL IN HULL.

It Was a Most Dastardly Crime—Policemen are Searching for the Girls' Assailants—May be Lynched if Caught.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, July 16.—There is great excitement in Hull over a most atrocious crime that has been reported to the police. Yesterday a 16 year old girl from the vicinity of Venosta, accompanied by her father, came into Hull and related the circumstances of a most vicious indecent assault upon her. She said at a late hour at night two men from that district broke into the house, and going directly to her room, assaulted her. One of them held his hands over her mouth to prevent her from shouting. They left her in an almost unconscious condition. Only her father was in the house at the time. Two policemen left Hull today for the purpose of arresting the men. There are threats of lynching if they are caught.

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 15—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference, and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

Tenders FOR Indian Timber Limits

SEALED TENDERS will be received by the undersigned up to noon of Friday, the 30th August, next, for the green standing pine, spruce and tamarac timber over nine inches in diameter at the stump, and all dead and fallen timber, on the Temiscamingue Indian Reserve, which contains an area of 60 square miles and is situated at the head of Lake Temiscamingue, in the County of Pontiac, in the Province of Quebec.

And also sealed tenders for the green standing pine over inches in diameter at the stump, and all dead and fallen timber, on the Wahnapitae Indian Reserve, situated on the north shore of Lake Wahnapitae, in the District of Nipissing, in the Province of Ontario, containing an area of four square miles.

Each tenderer shall state the sum he is willing to pay in cash as a bonus for each limit over and above the ordinary Crown dues chargeable under tariff of the Department, and there shall accompany each tender an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion in favour of the undersigned for TEN PER CENT. of the amount of the tender, which sum shall be forfeited in the case of the failure of the successful tenderer to complete purchase of limit as hereinafter specified; and in the case of unsuccessful tenderers the cheque will be returned.

The successful tenderer shall, within fifteen days from date of notice of acceptance, pay the balance of bonus, together with ground rent and license fee, and furnish satisfactory bonds by himself and two sureties for the proper carrying out of the terms of license.

The purchaser or purchasers will be allowed ten years for the removal of the timber specified in the licenses, the Department reserving the right to authorize the cutting and removal of timber of other descriptions by the Indians.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Further information as to the rate of dues, &c., can be had on application to the undesigned.

Purified Blood

Saved an operation in the following case. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. It makes pure blood.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. Adjutant T. L. Magee, who is traveling through the eastern Ontario province, will visit Peterborough Wednesday and Thursday, July 17 and 18. Will conduct open air on Wednesday evening on the corner of George and Hunter streets. Thursday he will conduct a special soul saving meeting in the barracks, commencing at 8 p.m. Special time is expected. Don't fail to attend.

Troubled Merchants.

G. & J. Hughers, proprietors of a saw and shingle mill at Kilworthy, have assigned.

W. A. Currie, painter, Ottawa, has assigned to W. A. Cole.

R. Powell, grocer, Spadina avenue, Toronto, has called a meeting of his creditors.

Elizabeth J. Murphy, of Oxford township, has placed her estate in the hands of Mr. B. M. Jones.

Fun in the Opera House.

Another large audience greeted Prof. Lee, the hypnotist, in the opera house last night and enjoyed many hearty laughs. The features of the evening were the comical base ball match and a curling match which provoked no end of laughter. One of the subjects was made to believe that he was no less distinguished than Sir Richard McBride, president of the Lime Juice Club, and while laboring under this hallucination he delivered a stirring speech which fairly brought down the house, taking for his subject, "Shall Whiskey be Taxed?"

Burnt by Electricity.

Mr. Bert Giroux, of the Bell Telephone Co. staff, narrowly escaped serious injury early yesterday afternoon, in fact, his escape is miraculous. He was working on a telephone pole at the corner of Charlotte and George streets next to Carton's grocery store, and was placing a wire in position when it is thought it came into contact with the "live" trolley wire of the electric street railway, and Mr. Giroux received a heavy shock, and fell to the ground, a distance of nearly 20 feet. He picked himself up, escaping without any bruises, having fallen in a safe place and in a safe position. His hands were burned by the wire and he was not at work yesterday afternoon.

Athletics to Play Port Hope.

The Guide says:—"After a considerable amount of corresponding, the Ontario's secretary has arranged a match with Peterborough's crack team, the Athletics, to be played here on Wednesday, July 24. This team is composed of the best men picked from the Peterboroughs and Shamrocks of 1894, and is claimed, by the Peterborough lacrosse enthusiasts, to be the swiftest team ever placed on the field by that town. The strength of the Ontarios this year is thought not to be equal to '94, but after this game it will be clearly known. The Port Hope people will look forward to this match as the event of the season. From this out the Ontarios will have to knuckle down to hard practice if they wish to be able to make any sort of a showing against teams superior to those they have been playing this season."

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

Twenty Thousand Roses.

There are nearly 20,000 rose trees in bloom now at Dunlop's conservatories Bloor-st. west, Toronto. Visitors are always well come. Mr. Dunlop is proud of his establishment and takes pleasure in speaking co his beauties. He ships them by ma and express to all parts of Canada, and as these orders are filled direct from the trees, he guarantees them to arrive in good condition. WITNESSES SWEAR AGAINST THE GRAYS room in which Scollie slept was the last to collapse.

He had heard Gray say that he (witness) stood by and saw Scollie die. That is why he put the letter in the paper. He believed while Gray was staying at his house that Mrs. Gray killed Scollie, and that Gray was an accessory.

There was a note in the bank when the Grays left. It was for his (the witness') accommodation. In the meantime they had quarrelled. Gray and witness had fought with their fists and witness beat Gray. There was ill-feeling. Witness had told his children not to go with the Gray children. The Grays and Scollie had several ructions although Scollie took better care of the children than their parents. He had never heard Scollie complain of his treatment at the Gray's.

Witness denied that Mrs. Gray had blamed him for leading her husband to drink and for helping Gray to spend his money. When Mrs. Gray was angry she threatened other people. He didn't think she meant it when she said of Scollie: "I'll poison the d—d old brute."

The last men he left that night when he went home were Mr. Dawson and Mr. Holden.

RE-EXAMINED.

To Mr. Wood witness said he first observed that the window had been smashed when he returned from the Burnham's. He knew all the furniture in Gray's house and thought it would bring about $50 if sold at auction. The furniture was insured for $300. At the time of the fire the sewing machine was not in the house. The Grays' said it was sent off for repairs. Mr. McGregor said he had nothing to do with putting this prosecution in motion.

ADJOURNED FOR SUPPER.

When Mr. McGregor left the box it was after 6 o'clock and the investigation adjouned until 8 o'clock.

SISTER AGAINST SISTER.

Mrs. McGregor Tells of the Many Threats Mrs. Gray Made to Do Away With Scollie.

When County Magistrate Edmison ascended to the Judicial seat at 8 o'clock, the crowd in the Court Room exceeded that of the afternoon by several hundreds. Citizens learned that Mrs. McGregor was to be put on the stand and they expected to hear some damaging evidence. In this they were not disappointed. The prisoners took their seats with the same look of unconcern. Mrs. Gray did not bring her bady into Court, the experience of the afternoon, having demonstrated that the infant Gray is no respector of law courts and a most vigorous exponent of free speech.

Mrs. Mary McGregor took the stand shortly after 8 o'clock. She is a little stouter than her sister the prisoner, though of the same height. In personal appearance they are not unlike each other.

She deposed that she was the wife of Wm. McGregor and a sister of Mrs. Gray, and had lived in the vicinity of the Grays for some years. She remembered the date of the burning of the Gray's house very distinctly. She knew David Scollie. She was not at the Gray's very often. She saw Scollie the Wednesday before the fire—she passed him on the road.

She and her sister had a conversation about Scollie in the November before he died. It took place on the road to town. They were driving. Mrs. Gray said they had some trouble with Scollie about the house, and she was going to get rid of him.

Witness asked her how she was going to do this. Mrs. Gray replied that she would watch her chance and get Scollie up Fitzgerald's lane some dark night and shoot him. Witness then gave the location of the lane. It was not much frequented, especially in the winter. Witness said to Mrs. Gray, "If you do that you will never get to Heaven." Mrs. Gray replied that she would do it in such a way that some one would be blamed who knew nothing about it, and Tom, her husband would be away. She didn't give a damn as long as Tom didn't get into it.

Further than this Mrs. Gray said she would chop Scollie's head off and then burn the house and destroy all traces. She had told Tom about it and he had said better leave the place to Scollie than do that.

Witness said that on the Tuesday prior to the fire Mrs. Gray told her that the shanty lamp which Tom always gave Scollie, was not safe, and she was afraid of fire. On this occasion Scollie had a dream that an earthquake was going to come on that Tuesday and swallow him up, and that Tom was going to his brother Robert's. Witness said Scollie slept in the front room upstairs—the room nearest Peterborough.

Witness said the first she knew of the fire was when the Gray children came to the door that night. She heard them first. Gray's little girl said that Scollie had set fire to the house with the lamp. Her husband got out first and she slipped on a jacket and followed. She did't notice particularly what the Gray children had on, but one of them only had stockings on—no shoes.

Witness then gave the ages of the Gray children as well as she could remember. The oldest ones carried the three smaller ones to her house when they came. She saw the fire when she got out a little ways. She saw no light in the upstair windows. The first person she met was Mrs. Gray. Witness was lamenting because no one was around to save Scollie. She said, " Is there anyone coming to save poor Scollie." Mrs. Gray replied, "I do not want Scollie saved." Before this Mrs. Gray said: "My good house and barn are lost." She was moaning these words to herself. The witness' husband came along and told her to go home or she would be frozen, so she made for home. She was not at the fire but a few minutes before her husband returned from Mr. Burnham's.

Coming up the road Mrs. Gray told witness how her little girl had awakened in the night and smelling the smoke had tried to open the door but couldn't for the flames.

When the witness left her home she could see the front door and shutters all ablaze. That night Mrs. Gray had on her husband's jacket and an old dress and hat. Mrs. Gray said she saved Tom's boots, a dress and some buffalo robes. The last night that Scollie lived Mrs. Gray said he would not live another winter. Another time Mrs. Gray came to her about a piece in the paper and said she hoped there wasn't going to be any trial, but if there was she hoped the witness wouldn't swear against her. Witness replied that she hoped she wouldn't have to. About the 11th of July after the fire, Mrs. Gray drove Gray to the depot and he left Peterborough.

This concluded the examination in chief of Mary McGregor. Mr. Stratton asked that the cross examination be postponed until the morning. He understood that there were other witnesses—some medical evidence had to be taken.

County Crown Attorney Wood opposed this request for postponement. There would be no medical testimony put in.

Mr. Stratton submitted that the medical evidence should be put in now. If the Crown didn't the fact should weigh heavily against the prosecution. The Crown had positively not made out a case. He couldn't do justice to his clients if he was compelled to go on tonight.

Mr. Wood pressed for the continuance of the case. Mr. Stratton should have pressed his objections at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Stratton then went into the matter of the medical testimony. This testimony was used to bring the Grays back to Canada and it should be put in.

The magistrate said the Crown wasn't compelled to put this testimony in now.

The Crown and Defence argued for some time and the magistrate ruled that the case should go on.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Witness told Mr. Stratton that she had been examined in this matter before when Mr. Murray called at her house accompanied by Mr. John Graham Weir; she didn't remember the date. Murray asked her if she could give any evidence against the Grays. She didn't think at this time that her husband was suspected or charged by the Grays with Scollie's death. There was no ill feeling between them and the Grays—only a little falling out about school matters. The men weren't very good friends before Gray left for Florida.

At this juncture the infant Gray which had been brought into its mother set up an awful howling and continued it with such persistency and effect that the replies of the witness could not be heard by Court Stenographer Butcher, nor by the press reporters. The youngster did more than all of Mr. Stratton's eloquent pleading, for it caused the magistrate to adjourn the case until 10 o'clock this morning.

WILL CLOSE TODAY.

Had the cross-examination of Mrs. McGregor been concluded last night it was not the intention of the Crown to put in the medical testimony. Dr. Caven, who conducted the post-mortem on the body of old David Scollie is in attendance at the Pietzel inquest in Toronto. He may arrive in Peterborough today, and while it is possible that the medical testimony may be put in this morning the chances are that the Crown will allow its case to stand without further evidence.

NOTES OF THE TRIAL.

Mr. R. Patching, of the Toronto Globe, and Mr. John Currie, of the Mail Empire, are reporting the preliminary trial for their respective newspapers.

Court Stenographer Butcher, who took the evidence in the Hyams' trial is acting in like capacity here.

Crown-Attorney Wood is ably handling the case for the Crown, while Mr. W. A. Stratton's cross examination of the witnesses has been favorably commented upon by the members of the bar in attendance at the hearing.

Detective John Murray occupied a seat yesterday by Crown-Attorney Wood, and every now and then made valuable suggestions to the able prosecuting officer.

INJURED TWO FINGERS.

Wm. McMullen Meets With a Painful Accident.

Mr. Wm. McMullen, a young man employed at the Canadian General Electric Works, was operating a bolt machine shortly before 6 o'clock last night when in some manner he caught his hand in the machine and had two fingers badly mangled. One finger was broken and the other cut to the bone.

McMullen lives on Park street and was immediately driven home and medical aid summoned. He will not loose either fingers but will be unable to attend to his work for some time.

OFF FOR MILLBROOK.

The Athletics Leave for There To-Day Instead of the Juniors.

The Junior Lacross team received word from Millbrook yesterday stating that the Millbrook lacrossists wanted a match with the Senior Peterborough team and that when the match was made with the Juniors they were under the impression that it was a senior team. So the match was cancelled and the Athletics will go to Millbrook today instead. The team will consist of the following players:

Goal, Dobbin; point, Lynch; cover point, Brown; 1st defence, Hickey; 2nd defence, Joe McDonough; 3rd defence McMann; centre, Tom McDonough; 3rd home, Percy Rubidge; 2nd home, Galley; 1st home, Borland; outside home, McCabe; inside home, Lipsett; captain, Doris.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous coveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous coveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board. which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

IS GUILTY!

Holmes as Much as Admits Murdering the Pietzels.

"I'LL SWING FOR THIS"

Are the Words He Uttered When Told of the Finding of the Bodies.

INQUEST IN PROGRESS.

TORONTO DETECTIVES FIND MORE CLUES IN THE SHAPE OF A MATTRASS AND A TOY—HOLMES WILL BE BROUGHT TO TORONTO.

Special to the Times.

PHILADLPHIA, July 17.—H. H. Holmes, according to one interpretation of a remark made by him, has virtually confesed to the murder of the two Pietzel children, whose bodies were found in the cellar of a Toronto house. It was learned at the office of the District Attorney that during the two hours' interview Holmes had yesterday with three members of the District Attorney's staff, he said: "I suppose I'll swing for this." This is the only remark from his lips which in any way would tend to criminate him, and the District Attorney takes this as a practical admission of Holmes' guilt.

Notwithstanding Holmes' remark, his counsel says he can prove an alibi in his client's case. He says that Holmes was not in Toronto when the Pietzel children were murdered. This, he states, can be proven by Mrs. Howard, Holmes' third wife, who is at present in Franklin, Ind.

HOLMES HEARD THE NEWS

WHILE EATING HIS BREAKFAST—REFUSED TO SPEAK.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 17.—While H. H. Holmes, the convicted swindler of the Fidelity Life Association and the supposed murderer of Pietzel and his three children, sat eating his breakfast in his cell in Moyamensing Prison the first news of the finding of the two bodies in the Toronto cellar was brought to him. The intelligence came through the morning papers. That the prisoner got the papers was a mistake, for the first thing the District Attorney did on reaching his office was to telephone to the county prison positive orders that Holmes should not hear the news. The warning, however, came to late. When the prisoner's eyes fell on the headlines that led to the account of Detective Geyer's terrible disclosures he gave a start. Then with feverish haste he read the account from beginning to end. By the time he was through his iron nerve had come back to him and there was not a sign of tremor in his voice, not even an intonation that would denote more than passing interest, as he remarked to his keeper: "Well, I suppose, they will want to talk to me again."

REFUSED TO CRIMINATE HIMSELF.

Holmes was taken to the City Hall, handcuffed to Superintendent Richardson. For two hours he was plied with questions by Councillor Thomas W. Barlow and District Attorney Graham. Holmes seemed to be ill at ease. He nervously twirled his fingers, and moved about in his chair, but he refused point blank to say anything that would tend to criminate himself. In all forms known to shrewd lawyers questions were put to him, but none of the verbal traps caught the wily prisoner. Stoutly and vehemently he declared that he knew nothing about the bodies and that the children, so far as he knew, were safe in London with Minnie Williams. Needless to say his story was not believed but nevertheless, it could not be shaken by any of the assaults of clever legal inquiry.

SAYS HE IS INNOCENT.

Holmes looked relieved when told that he could go back to prison, and Attorney Barlow looked tired when he emerged from the conference. "I can say nothing," said Mr. Barlow, "except that the District Attorney is preparing a statement, which will be made public in a few days. Holmes did not confess, and shows no inclination to do so." Later in the afternoon the prisoner's counsel, R. O. Moon and Lawyer Shoemaker, saw Holmes in his cell. They had a half hour interview with him, after which Mr. Moon said: "Holmes was in nowise nervous, and he stuck to the story of his innocence to the end. He said he had never been in the St. Vincent street house, and that the people who had identified him by his picture must be mistaken. If the bodies were those of the Pitezel children he declared he did not know how they got there. He reiterated his former story that he had left the children with Miss Williams in Toronto, supplied with enough money to take them to Europe."

A STRONG CASE AGAINST HIM.

"I will admit," continued Lawyer Moon, "that the facts as told in the newspapers make out a very strong net for Holmes, but still you must keep in mind the fact that only one side of the case has been heard. The facts must be sifted, coolly, dispassionately sifted, and everything pro and con must be weighed. I am going away on my vacation in a few days, and, as I summer near Toronto I shall run over there and look things up. I shall not, however, attend the inquest. Mr. Rotan has gone to London armed with pictures, and he may learn something there. The story that Holmes told me today is the one he has been telling me all along."

THE INQUEST OPENED.

ONLY THE FORMAL EVIDENCE OF OFFICIALS TAKEN.

Down at the Morgue last evening Coroner Johnston empannelled a jury to inquire into the death of Alice Pietzel, the elder of the two children who were so villainously done away with in a St. Vincent street house by their supposed friend and guardian, Harmon W. Mudgett, alias H. H. Holmes, H. H. Howell and Howard. The coroner explained, however, that before the conclusion of the inquiry he might ask the jury to consider the evidence in so far as it affected the younger child's death.

The jury is composed almost entirely of well known Yonge street merchants, and they answered to their names as follows: Joseph E. Sutcliffe, 182 Yonge street; David Davis 270 Queen street west; Thomas Leeming, 188 Yonge street; John Brimer, 189 Yonge street; Hubert McKendry, 202 Yonge street; Thos. Claxton, 197 Yonge street; Thomas McIntosh, 200 Yonge street; John Symonds, 223 Yonge street; Sydney J. Davis, 431 Yonge street; Robt. Wright, McCaul street; Frederick S. Roberts, 290 Yonge street; Donald Sutherland, 294 Yonge street; Andrew Sinclair, 320 Yonge street; John Congdon, 47 St. Nicholas street; William L. Smith, 216 Sackville street. Mr. Brimer was chosen foremen, and then the jurymen spent exactly fifteen seconds viewing the remains. The stench was too great to admit of any longer stay.

With a view to establishing the identity of the bodies, Detective Cuddy stated that there were the same as the ones found in the cellar of 17 St. Vincent street; Undertaker Ben Humphrey identified them as the bodies he got from Mr. Cuddy, and Caretaker Hunt, of the morgue, said that he obtained them from Mr. Humphrey.

Coroner Johnston said that the evidence was in pretty good shape, but he thought it advisable to adjourn for a day. The inquest will be resumed at 8 o'clock this evening at the police headquarters.

Mrs. Pietzel, mother of the dead children, who is living at present in Galva, Illinois, a suburb of Chicago, has been notified of the finding of the bodies and if she does not put in a claim for them very soon they will be buried here at the expense of the city. Their horrible condition necessitates this being done at once.

THE MATTRASS FOUND.

IT IS IN THE POSSESSION OF THE TENANT WHO SUCCEEDED HOLMES.

The old mattrass which was brought to the St. Vincent street house during Holmes' brief tenancy has been found in the possession of Mrs. Macdonald, who for a short time occupied the premises after Holmes and before the Armbrusts. It is believed that Holmes purchased it at a second-hand shop kept by Mrs. McCuaig at the corner of Agnes and Elizabeth streets, but as this lady's recollection of any such transaction is not clear the point cannot be considered as established beyond a doubt.

Mrs. Macdonald, who took the house on December 22, now lives on Russell street. "I took the house," said she, "a day or so before Christmas last. When I went in I saw a part of a bedstead standing in the hall near the front entrance, and in the bedroom on the left hand side was an old mattrass. I supposed at the time that they had been left by the previous tenant and removed them to the back shed. The landlady told me when I was leaving that the last occupant of the house owned the articles and that she thought I might take them if they would be of any use to me."

MRS. MACDONALD STILL HAS THEM.

The mattrass and all the parts of the bed except the slats are still at Mrs. Macdonald's. She states that she never noticed any foul odor, but as she spent only a mouth or so in the house, and that in the middle of the winter, this is not surprising. She is positive that she saw no burnt clothing, nor did she know anything of the old garments found by Armburst stuffed up the chimney. She used a stove and paid no attention to the fireplace. She remembered the boards which lay in the cellar over the spot where the bodies have since been found.

Mr. Ryves is quite clear on the point that the express wagon which removed the trunk from 16 St. Vincent street was labelled "C. S. Herbert," and from this it is inferred that the driver was either Samuel J. Totten, John Totten or Robert Ritchie, the three men who at that time were engaged in delivering goods for Herbert.

Samuel J. conducted the business and the other two were employed by him. Neither he nor Ritchie can remember any such incident as the moving of the trunk, and John Totten, who now lives at Oakville, will be questioned in the matter.

HERE'S ANOTHER LINK.

A TOY THAT ONE OF THE GIRLS HAD IS GIVEN TO THE POLICE.

When the Pietzel children were last seen alive by some friends in Indianapolis they had an egg shaped wooden toy which contained an imitation of a snake. This morning this identical toy was handed over to the detectives by one of the Macdonald family, who found it in the St. Vincent street house when they moved in.

LOOKING FOR A FOOT.

WAS PROBABLY CUT OFF IN THE EXHUMING OF THE BODIES.

The department does not consider it at all likely that the boy Howard is buried in the cellar here, and the only further search that will be made will probably be for the missing foot of one of the girls, which is thought to have been severed in the exhuming. The foot is undoubtedly missing, but it is not thought likely that it was severed by Holmes.

HOLMES A CUTE ONE.

HOW HE USED TO DECEIVE THE WILLIAMS WOMAN IN CHICAGO.

"I used to know Holmes in Chicago," said a gentleman from that city to a reporter. "He used to keep a drug store on 63rd street and he and Miss Williams, who was known as his wife, lived over it. Holmes was quite a ladies, man and the frequent visits he had from women aroused the jealousy of his companion who used to sneak down stairs to spy upon him.

"But Holmes soon fixed her. He is a very ingenious fellow, as his career has shown, and he soon rigged up an electrical apparatus in such a way that when the Williams woman put her foot on the step of the stairs to descend an alarm was rung below and he had time to get rid of or conceal his visitors."

THREE SLAIN!

Three Babies Said to Have Been Murdered at a Baby Farm.

DEATH BED CONFESSION.

Strange Tale by a Woman As She Lay on What She Thought Her Death Bed.

TRIPLE MURDER THIS.

THE WOMAN TOLD THE DOCTORS AT ST. MICHAEL'S HOSPITAL THAT SHE HAD SEEN HER NEIGHBOR KILL THE THREE INFANTS.

(Special from Toronto.)

TORONTO, July 17.—The detectives today have a decidedly interesting case on hand and if the story as it has reached them be true a crime will be brought to light before many days, that in fiendishness is scarcely equalled by the Pietzel murder case, of which all Canada is talking.

For some time past the police have been aware of the fact that a woman living on Victoria street has been taking in children to nurse, in fact has been running a baby farm on a small scale, but without a license.

No suspicion was created, however, until yesterday when a woman living next door to the baby farm was taken to St. Michael's hospital in a dangerous condition.

Shortly after being taken there she was confined and while in a precarious state, and with apparently no other object but to relieve her conscience, told how her neighbor had murdered three infants, and how she had been a witness to the last tragedy.

The officials at the hospital immediately informed the police, and if the woman's story can be at all substantiated, the keeper of the baby-farm will spend tonight behind prison bars.

MANITOBA'S REMEDY.

It Will Not Take the Shape of Restoration of Separate Schools.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 17.—The opinion is strongly held here that whatever remedy is given to Manitoba it will not take shape of restoration of Separate schools. This is a significant announcement of the Citizen this morning.

"We are not on principal favorable to Separate schools. We believe that Common schools for all creeds and classes tend to create more friendly feelings and a greater degree of mutual respect among those who differ in creed. They promote a solid national sentiment."

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Hugh Cameron, a Lumberman, of Pembroke Loses His Life.

Special to the Times.

PEMBROKE, July 17.—Hugh Cameron, an employee of the Pembroke Lumber Co., was killed by lightning while working on a boom about a mile from town this morning. He was well known amongst Ottawa valley lumberman and was about forty years of age. He leaves a widow but no family. Two other men who were with him were stunned, but have recovered.

SMUGGLED CHINESE.

Frederick Lincoln, of Buffalo, and McLain, of Chicago, Jailed at Detroit.

Special to the Times.

DETROIT, July 17.—Some time past the customs officials have suspected that Chinese were being smuggled across the border from Canada in sleeping cars. The suspicion was verified late last night when some important arrests were made on a Wagner sleeping car which had just crossed the river from the Grand Trunk railroad and was being switched to the Wabash road. Division Supt. Chamberlain of the Wagner company entered the car, accompanied by Special Treasury Agent Wood and Inspector Carney. The conductor, Frederick R. Lincoln, of Buffalo, and Porter Charles McLain, of Chicago, were obliged to permit the officers to inspect the berths, although they protested that there was a woman in the stateroom. In this compartment were found four Chinamen with Herbert Johnson, of Windsor, Johnson, the conductor and the porter were arrested, and with the Chinamen went to jail in default of $1,000 bail each required by the United States Court Commissioner.

"BUSH' OUT FOR A SPIN.

Getting into Shape for the London Cup—F. H. Thompson Coming Home.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, July 17.—E. A. Thompson, of the Argonaut crew of Toronto, Canada, had a long practice spin this morning at Putney, where he is preparing for the race for the London Cup, which occurs on the 25th inst. Guy and Vivian Nickalls and Guinness are among those entered. F. H. Thompson, also of the Canadian crew, sails for home on the Germanic tomorrow.

MENTION THIS PAPER.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 18 1895.

British Columbia is agitating for representation in the Dominion Cabinet, as if Premier Bowell didn't have enough worry with the members that are already in it.

Professor Emery E. Smith, of California has succeeded by experiments in cross fertilization in producing an entirely new violet, highly scented and of great beauty. In size the flower covers an American silver dollar. Its color is a clear violet purple, which does not fade. The fragrance is very powerful. The result is characterized by knowledge as "one of the most remarkable botanical achievements of this century."

An Anarchists' celebration took place the other day on Staten Island, when in a sequestered grove, the unkempt and unshaven agitators talked all they wanted and drank all the beer they could. So long as these gentry prefer the product of the brewery to that of the distillery there is not much danger of their doing anything more desperate than making fiery speeches, and if they could only be induced to drink water they would become perfectly harmless.

Tarte claims that the Liberals have a solution for the Manitoba school difficulty, but are unwilling to produce it lest the Conservatives may not be embarrassed. The Liberals some time ago professed to be anxious to keep this question out of party politics, but this statement, if true, shows how much more powerful are the bonds of party than the love of country.

The new anti-trust law of Texas, which goes into effect July 30, is stringent enough, as far as words go. It defines a trust as a combination of capital, skill, or acts by two or more persons, firms, corporations, or associations or persons to restrict trade; to increase or reduce prices; to prevent competition in the manufacture, sale or transportation of goods; to fix any article intended for use in Texas at any standard price, or to make any agreement not to sell or carry an article below a common standard figure; or to keep the price at a figure so as to prevent free competition, or to agree to pool interests so as to effect prices. Foreign corporations violating the law are prohibited from doing business in Texas. The penalty for those who violate the law within the State is imprisonment in the penitentiary.

THE GOVERNMENT'S PLEDGE.

There can be no doubt as to the policy to which the Ottawa Government is pledged on the Manitoba school question.

That policy was stated in the remedial order calling upon Manitoba to restore Separate schools as they existed before 1890; in Premier Bowell's speech in the Senate, in which it was declared that the Federal Government would restore these schools if the Province did not effect restoration by Provincial legislation; in the two statements made by Finance Minister Foster in the Commons during the crisis, to the effect that Manitoba would only be given until January to carry out the order sent from Ottawa; and it was reiterated by the latter again on Monday, when he declared that the Government "intended to adhere to that policy word for word, line for line, and letter for letter."

The Government's pledge is clear enough, but nobody in Ontario expects to see that pledge fulfilled, simply because the members of Parliament dare not enable the Ministry to make its promise good.

COOKERY AS A FINE ART.

Several Changes That Have Been Noted in the Preparation of Salad.

It is the duty of every woman to make herself familiar with the details of housekeeping, especially the portions relating more particularly to the cuisine. To concoct dainty and wholesome dishes requires, besides manual skill, a trained judgment and a knowledge of certain chemical laws. In one well-cooked dinner will be found enough scientific material to fill a text-book.

So much for the material portion!

Cooking has also its artistic side. To make dishes destined to adorn her table present as attractive an appearance as possible should be the pride and the pleasure of every good housekeeper. No matter how well trained her servants may be, her own dainty taste, together with her practical knowledge of cookery in all its details, will enable her to give the finishing touches which tempt the palate as well as charm the eye.

It is at this season of the year that one grows to dislike the sight of familiar beef, mutton, and canned vegetables of various sorts, which have supplied so large a part of our sustenance during the winter season. The wise housekeeper begins to vary the diet, as far as possible, by the introduction of green vegetables, salads, fruit, etc.

Regarding the preparation of the salad, several changes are noticed. It was formerly the unwritten law of salad concoction that the more substantial portion should be composed of vegetables not saccharine in their nature. Recently, however, epicures have declared this ancient and time-honored doctrine to be a fallacy. Shaddock, oranges, and the small and delicious alligator pears have been served with either French or mayonnaise dressing, for the course between the roast and the dessert, and the result has been a most novel, as well as palatable, dish.

To prepare oranges for a salad, slice them very thin. Serve on flat plates with dressing of oil, vinegar, salt and pepper, as mayonnaise is a trifle heavy for the fibre of the orange, though it serves excellently on the shaddock (grape-fruit), which does not possess a flavor so delicate as that of its cousin the orange. This fruit should be peeled, quartered and served with mayonnaise over it.

A very toothsome salad may be prepared by mixing the alligator pear, cut in small pieces, with either mayonnaise or French dressing, but to the epicurean palate the pleasant flavor of vinegar unmixed with egg is preferable. Some housewives serve the fruits salads on the crisp leaves of lettuce. The blending of the green and yellow presents a most artistic appearance and is also pleasing from a gastronomic standpoint.

Tomato frappe.—A salad bearing this name recently made its debut at a luncheon party. Its preparation was exceedingly simple. The tomatoes were peeled and squeezed through a colander into a mass of pulp. This was placed in a long, narrow jelly mold and consigned to the ice-box to become thoroughly congealed. In serving, the hostess used a flat salad-knife and divided the frappe into rather thick slices, to which was added an appetizing accompaniment of mayonnaise dressing.

Egg salad.—Slice hard-boiled eggs and arrange upon crisp leaves of lettuce. Serve with mayonnaise dressing, which may either be poured over the salad or served in a separate dish and passed to each guest.

Salad of caviare and tomatoes.—This combination results in a most tempting dish. Buy a small pot of caviare and add to it a dressing made from two tablespoonfuls of oil and one tablespoonful of vinegar. Season with cayenne pepper, but no salt. Mix thoroughly with the caviare, then add a hard-boiled egg, cut in small slices, and two tomatoes, previously peeled and sliced, being careful not to break the tomato slices. Serve very cold on a bed of crisp lettuce-leaves.

Tomato and lettuce salad.—This is by no means a novelty, but if carefully prepared will add a charm to the simplest menu. One tomato will be required for each guest, and care should be taken to select large, firm ones. Throw them into a pan of boiling water, let them remain for about two minutes, then remove them and peel off the skins. They will come off very easily, requiring only a trifling aid from a sharp knife. If the skin resist very much, return them to the boiling water for a few seconds, but be sure that they are not allowed to become soft and "mushy." Place the peeled tomatoes on a flat dish in the ice-chest and allow them to become thoroughly chilled, not merely cold. Prepare a mayonnaise dressing according to the excellent receipt given in a preceding issue of this magazine. When just ready to serve, cut a small portion out of the top of each tomato, using a very sharp knife. In this cavity, place a generous spoonful of the mayonnaise; serve with a border of crisp lettuce-leaves around the dish, or if preferred, each tomato may be placed on a salad plate with a leaf of lettuce and served individually.

Light Fabrics for Summer.

For evening toilettes all through the summer chiffon, mousseline de soie and taffeta will be the leading materials. For the street, those who do not mind the heat will look stylish in tailor-made costumes, not so plain as heretofore, and enlivened by silk guimpes in place of the stiff collar and shirt-bosom—in some cases, if not in all.

Crepon is a light, summery fabric, the popularity of which shows no evidence of being on the wane. It makes a very comfortable dress, and its wave and crinkled surfaces are given every imaginable tint. Ripple crepon makes a charming gown in all shades of brown, and can be brightened up by the use of plaid taffeta for vests and sleeves. On very young girls plaid ribbons are added, placed on each seam and ending in bows near the bottom of the skirt. Among other light cloths are Saxony serges, Victoria cloth, Henrietta, and all the old favorite heather mixtures. From France comes a cloth basket weave, which is put on the market just as it comes from the loom without either dyeing or dressing. It is extremely pretty and uncommon, and is also very serviceable.

Negligee gowns will always be popular. In the country they are permissible even at the breakfast-table of a boarding-house or small hotel, and everywhere they are charming for afternoon wear before the dressing hour. Cashmere, Henrietta and light silks are the principal fabrics used for them; challis is also pressed into service, and beautiful creations of white muslin, and lawn and organdie combined with lace and ribbons are shown at the principal shops.

Norfolk jackets are again coming into favor. They are seen on many stylish gowns of tweed, cheviot, and serge, and also in the more delicate silks and satins, and in all the hot-weather fabrics.

SELF-SACRIFICE.

The Mother's Conception of Her Duty Was Clear and Her Purpose Firm.

Miss Stella Delaney was lost in thought.

This is a warning against venturing into unfamiliar territory. To do Stella justice, it must be said that she seldom wandered in thoughtful fields. But the present was an extraordinary occasion.

Mr. Archibald Vandermillion had asked her to become Mrs. Archibald Vandermillion, and he must have meant it, for he committed his proposal to writing and availed himself of the postal facilities in transmitting it. Mr. Vandermillion was not by nature a courageous man. He had not the nerve to propose verbally. That is why he sent a letter.

Like the dutiful daughter that she was, Stella Delaney laid the letter in her mamma's lap and asked the maternal advice.

Mrs. Delaney read it carefully and then said:

"I don't think Archibald Vandermillion would suit you at all for a husband."

"Why, mamma?"

"Well, in the first place, he is old enough to be your father."

"But, mamma, girls often marry elderly men, especially if they don't show their age particularly."

"But this is precisely what Mr. Archibald Vandermillion does. He shows every day of his age. Then, again, he has led a very wild life for at least thirty years. Think of that. He was sowing wild oats fully ten years before you were born. An inexperienced girl like you could do nothing whatever in managing a man like that. He has had his own way all his life, without the least restraint from a judicious wife, and it is very strange that he should think of giving up his bachelor freedom."

"But, mamma—"

"Hear me out, Stella, love. Not for all his vast wealth, nor for the elegant establishment he could give you, would I commit my delicate daughter of nineteen years to the care of such a man as Archibald Vandermillion. I should be an unnatural mother even to think of such a sacrifice for a moment. The sort of wife he needs is one who can curb his unbridled inclinations and habits, and transform him into a useful member of society. For these reasons, Stella dear, I have resolved to marry him myself."

With the virtue of self-sacrifice upon her noble features, Mrs. Delaney swept out of the room, leaving her daughter lost in deep thought, as before remarked.—Harper's Bazar.

A Mind-Cure

An attack of hiccoughs had considerably aggravated Mr. Twiller's natural irritability.

"Can't ye do something to help me out of this?" he asked indignantly. "D'ye want to see me hiccough myself out of existence? I s'pose ye think it would be funny to think of my wrestling with a harp and a pair of wings and the hiccoughs all at once, don't ye? I s'pose ye"—but here another spasm caught him.

"What can I do?" she asked pleadingly. "I can't hold your breath for you and count nine, you know."

"No. But you can scare me, can't ye? Ye can holler 'Boo!' in my ear when I'm not expecting it, or something like that."

"Mr. Twillers," she answered freezingly, "I am surprised at you. The idea of my engaging in any such nonsense is sufficiently absurd to be worthy of you. I have someting more important than 'boo' to say to you."

"Eh?"

"I will have to have a new wrap this winter"——

"What's that?"

"And, while it is a little more expensive to start with, I have decided that sealskin will be the most economical in the end. So to-morrow you can give me a check"—

"Mary—are you insane? What does this mean?"

She looked at him in silence for a moment and then said,

"Your hiccoughs are gone, aren't they, dear?"

"Why—er—yes come to think of it, I believe they are."

"I thought," she said, "that if anything would scare you that would."—Judge.

The Spring Poet's Difficulties.

The poet sang a song of spring of zephyrs sweet and vernal, of groves that ring and brooks that sing and melodies eternal. He sang of grasses growing lush, of groves by birds invaded—then through two feet of flowing slush across the street he waded.

He sang of deep, umbrageous grots and odoriferous zephyrs, of shady spots and flower-plots and sweet and lowing heifers.

He sang of flower-burdened breeze and sweet mellifluous glory, and then went out and froze his knees—but that's another story.

The poet sang a song of spring and ode of rhythmic dizziness, of groves that ring and birds that sing and all that kind of business. He sang of showers and brooks and flowers, this wrapt poetic wizard, then roamed around for thirteen hours lost in a snowy blizzard.

He sang of daisied upland slopes and woods of glorious greenery, and trotted out all kinds of tropes to decorate his scenery. He sang how swallows fly and dip, told how the groves were ringing—and then went out and caught the grip and discontinued singing.—New York World.

BANK HAS SUSPENDED.

BANQUE DU PEUPLES CANNOT MEET PAYMENTS.

It was Shaky and Depositors Have Been Afraid of it For Some Time—It Will Effect Slightly Some Banks in Toronto.

Special to The Times.

MONTREAL, July 16.

La Bank du Peuple, the leading French Canadian bank in Canada, has suspended payment. It was rumored to be in a very shaky condition for some time past. Last week it was reported on the streets that the bank owed the clearing house $100,000. The rumor was true, but the other banks came into line and saved the moribund institution for the time being. A few weeks ago the stock of the bank was worth 150. Trouble arose between the manager and directors, which precipitated a run. The other chartered banks rallied to the aid of the Peuple's and produced $1,000,000 to help it through. This stopped the run temporarily, but the credit of the institution has steadily declined until the the climax came today.

BANQUE DU PEUPLE NOTES.

TORONTO, July 16.—"No," said Cashier D. R. Wilkie, of the Imperial Bank, "the suspension of the Banque du Peuple cannot affect us up here in the least."

"What about those who hold notes of that bank?"

"Those notes ought at once to go to a premium. From the time the bank suspends they bear interest. If you have any bring them down and I'll give you par for them."

The notes of the bank are secured by a Government deposit, and are a first lien on the assets. The failure has not affected other bank stocks materially.

TALK OF LYNCHING.

TWO MEN DANGEROUSLY ASSAULT A LITTLE GIRL IN HULL.

It Was a Most Dastardly Crime—Policemen are Searching for the Girls' Assailants—May be Lynched if Caught.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, July 16.—There is great excitement in Hull over a most atrocious crime that has been reported to the police. Yesterday a 16 year old girl from the vicinity of Venosta, accompanied by her father, came into Hull and related the circumstances of a most vicious indecent assault upon her. She said at a late hour at night two men from that district broke into the house, and going directly to her room, assaulted her. One of them held his hands over her mouth to prevent her from shouting. They left her in an almost unconscious condition. Only her father was in the house at the time. Two policemen left Hull today for the purpose of arresting the men. There are threats of lynching if they are caught.

BIG EXPLOSION FEARED.

NO LESS THAN 80,000 POUNDS OF NITRO-GLYCERINE IN DANGER.

A Big Forest Fire Is Nearing the Victoria Powder Works in British Columbia—Grave Fears Entertained.

Special to the Times.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 16.—Fierce forest fires are raging at Telegraph Bay, four miles from here, and destruction of the Victoria powder works is threatened. In the magazine are stored 80,000 pounds of nitro-glycerine, and the gravest fears are entertained that the fire will reach it. The local firemen fought it all Sunday night, being relieved in the morning by employes of the works. The assistance of the firemen was asked again in the afternoon. The magazine is a wooden building, and it was feared one of the showers of sparks would set fire to it. It has been guarded constantly. Probably an attempt will be made to remove the powder on barges. If the magazine explodes it will do great damage here.

H. C. ROGERS Postmaster

SATIRA ANN.

Gabe, you're plum' simple about S'tiry Ann. As ef good worsted, made up to home, wasn't good enough for her Sunday's best, that you must go and get her a silk mixed and a mantel maker to cut and baste it. In mine and your mother's days we didn't have such fine fixin's."

"But society makes more requirements now than it did then, Aunt Jemimy."

"It don't require paupers to be dressed in silk no more now than it did then, and it's not accordin' to fitness."

"You must not call Satiry a pauper to me, Aunt 'Mime. You know she had respectable bornin', and it's not her fault that she's poor and an orphan. When mother and me took her to raise—a little, slim, big-eyed thing of ten—I promised I'd be a—a parent to her, and I ain't no cause to regret all I've done for her, for she's been more than a daughter to—to mother. She's so kind and good that even the cats love her more than common."

"That's 'cause she gives them their eatin'. It's a sinful waste, the plates of good broken vittels she sets down to them cats."

"Aunt 'Mime, I think we can feed two cats off our table scraps without its bein' imputed any great extravagance, 'specially as the mice would pretty nigh take us if we didn't keep 'em. As for Satiry, every brute critter on the place loves her."

"An' some that ain't brute critters too, I'm guessin'."

Gabriel colored and gave his aunt a sidelong glance. She saw, but, pretending not to, went on:

"Hows' her an' Luke Snell gettin' on? You've trigged her out so fine now I reckon he'll be poppin' the question pretty soon, for fear some of the other fellows gets ahead of him; for it can't be gainsaid that S'tiry Ann has plenty of admirers, but for my part I never could see any beauty in a complexion of chalk and cheese. Shouldn't wonder if she'd make a heap of doctor's expense for the man that marries her."

"Satiry has perfect health, aunt."

"No sign she'll always have; but if Luke wants to risk it I reckon he's able, an' it's none of our concern."

Gabriel flushed again, and then turned pale to the tips of his fingers, all the blood in his being seeming to surge in one great wave about his heart.

"I must be going," said he, rising. "Must I tell mother you'll be over tomorrow? She wanted special for you to come."

"Yes; I reckon."

"It's wonderful how Gabe sticks up for S'tiry Ann," said the aunt, as she looked after the retreating form of her nephew, "an' taint for nothin' neither or I miss my reckonin'. I wish Luke would marry her offhand an' get her out of the way, for I don't want my children knocked out of the prospect of inheritin' the best farm in the county by that little white-faced thing. Men's never too old to make fools of themselves, an' Gabe's only thirty."

Yes, only thirty; that was all, but he had been called "Old Gabe" so long that the idea of seniority had long since attached to him. He had not resented the appellation when, in his teens, it was first applied to him, but now, as he pursued his way along the meadow path, it impressed him with a keen sense of injustice.

"I wonder if Satiry cares anything out of the common for Luke Snell," he went on thinking. "I never thought of them as anything but friends till Aunt 'Mime set me on it to-day. It's plain she doesn't think of there being anything in me for a young girl to fancy. I wonder if she really has a suspicion of the state of my feelin's, and what she'd think if she had. Think me a fool, I reckon; which I s'pose I am. Well, if it's to be Luke, I'll not stand in the way, and most of all, I'll never let Satira guess. She's more than life to me, and it'll be more than death to give her up and make no sign, but old Gabe can do it."

Wise Aunt 'Mime! She had counted not amiss on the effect her words would have on Gabe. Once make him think that Satira's happiness depended on his silence, and he could die and make no sign. "For, if she loves Luke, it would pain her kind little heart to know that I care," thought he; but a great surge of pain swept his being as he thought how in the plentitude of his affection he had lavished on his heart''s idol the personal adornments he so rejoiced to bestow, only the sooner to lose her because of the added attractions they gave her in the eyes of a younger and handsomer rival; but, having made his renunciation, it was the nature of the man that it be whole-souled, and thenceforth he did what he could to make, as he supposed, the waters of true love run smooth.

It soon became evident to him that Luke had a "more than common fancy" for Satira, and he did not stop to question for a moment that she returned the sentiment, so if he often hurt her by his own coldness and change of demeanor, he was unconscious of it, and Aunt Jemima failed not to help along the illusion that it was, as she expressed it, "a sure case between the young folks."

"Why do you never get me to help you with your figgers any more?" Satira ventured timidly, one evening, when Gabriel was struggling with several pages of accounts.

"I s'posed you wouldn't care to—now."

"Why now!" with an accent and a searching glance, but he avoided meeting her eyes. Dared he let her sit beside him, as in the olden time—some three months in reality, but years as reckoned by what he had felt and suffered—and risk the accidental touch of her little fingers, or her fluffy hair, perchance, against his cheek, as they bent over the ledger together.

"This once," love pleaded, ere he answered: "If you're sure you don't mind, I'd be proud to have you."

"If he's sure I don't mind. Why will he treat all my little kindnesses so cool, and as if he thought I didn't mean them? And he's done so much for me. Seems as if all at once he's got set against me," Satira was thinking, as she went on adding, subtracting, multiplying and dividing, the pain in her tender little heart growing heavier and heavier as the slow minutes ticked away, for it was in vain that Gabriel tried to seem his own natural self, and in order to avoid "making a fool of himself," he assumed a coldness of demeanor that was chilling to her, so that it was with the utmost effort that she kept a steady voice as she went on.

At last the effort became too much for her. "Nine and nine are eighteen and seven are twenty-five, with two to carry," she faltered, and just then a big tear splashed down on the page and she could not see what came next.

Gabriel turned and took her face between his two hands, and for the first time in weeks looked squarely in her eyes, but the long lashes drooped, the blood mounted to her face and two more tears rolled slowly down her cheeks.

"What is it, Satira? Is it anything about Luke? Maybe old Gabe can make it right for you, if it's only a lovers' quarrel."

wish I never had seen him."

"Why, aren't you engaged to him, Satiry?"

"No; I'm not."

"But you love him, don't you?"

"No; I never!"

"Do you love anyone, Satiry?"

The flushed face dropped lower, but no answer came. He raised her face again.

"Satiry, look at me."

For an instant only, the gray eyes unveiled themselves, but Gabriel saw that in their depths which set his nerves thrilling.

"Satiry, can it be possible that you love me?"

"Would it be so very wonderful if I did?"

"It would be a glimpse of the Delectable mountain, after wallopin' for ages in the Slough of Despond."

"There's some that deserve to stand plump on top of the Delectable mountain, for very goodness," answered Satira.

"Satiry," there was a ring of pain in his voice, "do you love me for what I've done for you?"

"I love you because—just because I love you."

'And you do not think me old and ugly?"

"Old and ugly!"

That was all she said, but there was a look in her eyes, a ring in her voice that satisfied him.

"Oh, Satiry!" as his arms encircled her, "an hour ago I thought I was the most miserable of men; now I know I'm the happiest."

So Aunt Mime's heirs lost their prospect of "inheriting the finest farm in the county" after all.—Good Housekeeping.

THE PEITZEL MURDER.

HOW THE BODIES WERE DISCOVERED IN THE CELLAR.

A Horrible Stench that Annoyed the Occupants of No. 16 St. Vincent Street—Holmes Will be Arrested for Triple Murder—Inquest and Post-Mortem.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, July 16.—The unearthing of the bodies of the two murdered children, Etta Alice and Nellie Pietzel, in the cellar of Mrs. Frank Nudel's house at 16 Vincent street yesterday bids fair to become the turning point in the career of one of the most remarkable and cold blooded criminals which this or any other age has produced, and it is at the same time an admirable proof of the saying that murder will out. It dispels the mystery which surrounded the disappearance of the unfortunate children, and from what is already known goes far towards the fastening the crime of foullest murder on the man who posed as their friend and guardian, but who in reality regarded them as a danger to his own safety, and for that reason, and without the slightest compunction, planned and ingeniously executed their deaths.

FINDING THE BODIES.

The clue which led to the discovery of the bodies came from Thomas W. Ryves, an elderly man who lives at No. 18 St. Vincent street, next door to the scene of the tragedy.

Last October Mrs. Nudel's house was empty, and she advertised for a tenant. One Saturday afternoon a quiet stranger called and arranged to take the premises at a monthly rental of $10. He said that a widowed sister, then living in Hamilton, was coming down, and that she intended keeping boarders. He obtained the key and left. The house was afterwards occupied by new tenants.

FOUND THE BODIES.

The first intimation of the true state of affairs was when Detectives Geyer and Cuddy paid them a visit yesterday. The smell was very noticeable, and Cuddy, securing a shovel, began to dig at a spot where it was evident the soil had been already disturbed at no distant period. As each shovelful of earth was removed the odor increased in strength until the entire house was reeking. The occupants, amazed beyond all power of expression, were driven out to the verandah. It required very little digging to bring up a portion of the upper body, which proved later on to be that of the elder girl.

When it was quite clear that there could be no mistake a message was sent to Inspector Stark and he issued instructions to have an undertaker secured and the bodies carefully exhumed.

Undertaker Benjamin Humphrey sent a man up and the work was resumed. The job was one which no one with a weak stomach could dare to attempt. The odor was simply indescribable, and the detectives were obliged to steadily smoke away at cigars while the operation was going on. At 5 o'clock the bodies were both in their caskets and removed to the undertaker's.

POST MORTEM COMMENCED.

At three o'clock this afternoon at the Morgue, Frederick and Esplanade streets, Dr. A. J. Harrington, 908 Bateurst street and Dr. A. B. Orr, Cowan avenue, commenced a post mortem examination of the bodies of the children to determine, if possible, the cause of death. The awful state of the bodies made the operation a sickening one, the stench being almost unbearable.

WILL ISSUE A WARRANT.

Canada has too frequently in the last few years been chosen as a field for murder, but to the credit of the authorities the offenders have been apprehended, convicted and hanged. The most famous case of this character was that of Birchall, who decoyed Benwell to the Woodstock swamp and there murdered him. Another case was that of Day, who brought his wife to Canada at Niagara and there shoved her over the cliffs not far below Clifton. He was hanged at Welland. But crafty and cruel as these men undoubtedly were, in comparison with Holmes they appear humane.

WILL PROBABLY ISSUE A WARRANT.

In reply to a question as to what course would be adopted in reference to Holmes, Inspector Stark said that so far he had made no definite arrangements and had not yet consulted the Crown-Attorney. He believed, however, that the inquest would be over soon and in the event of a verdict of murder a warrant would be issued for Holmes' arrest and steps would be taken to secure his extradition just as if no charge overhung him in the States.

THE INQUEST TONIGHT.

The warrant for the inquest was issued by Coroner R. B. Orr, but he has turned over the investigation to Coroner A. J. Johnson, who was out of town but who hurried home on receiving his instructions by telegraph. The bodies were removed to the morgue today and the post mortem performed by Drs. John Caven, Orr and John Ferguson. It is not deemed probable that much evidence will be taken tonight. The jury will be called, the remains viewed and after a little of the evidence has been heard an adjournment for a few days will be made.

CUPID AND PSYCHE

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way"

And another thus:

"If you jumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

HAVE GOOD EYES.

Nearly All the Members of the Canadian Team at Bisley Have Won in the Queen's Prize.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 17.—The following are the scores of the Canadian riflemen in the stage organization competition, 500 yards, at the meeting of the National Rifle Association at Bisley today: Mitchell, 32, Rolston, 32, Armstrong, 32, Broadhurst, 32, White 34, Mayhurst, 34, Anderson, 34, Simpson 29, Boville 29, Wynne 29, Spearing 33, Chamberlain 24, Morris 30, Mercier 28, Meadows 28, Tink 25, Bent 31, Russell 31, Skeding 31, Nutting 26. Nearly all the Canadians have won prizes ranging from £5 for their shooting in the Queen's prize and other competitions.

SURPRISED MR. McRAE.

He Returns Home to Find Burglars Enjoying Themselves.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 17.—When Peter McRae entered his residence on Somerset street, a few minutes after ten o'clock last night after a short absence, he was given the biggest surprise of his life. He heard three or four short sharp whistles and immediately afterwards saw at least four men rush from the dining room and sitting room towards the rear end of the house. He ran after them, but just before reaching the swing door leading to the kitchen, one of the party turned around and threw a blanket coat over Mr. McRae's head, at the same time threatening to hit him with the socket of an old blunderbuss if he attempted to capture them. The man then made after the other members of the gang. They rushed down the cellar stairs and effected an escape through the cellar windows facing the yard. They carried off considerable silverware.

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 15—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference, and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

Twenty Thousand Roses.

There are nearly 20,000 rose trees in bloom now at Dunlop's conservatories Bloor-st. west, Toronto. Visitors are always well come. Mr. Dunlop is proud of his establishment and takes pleasure in speaking oc his beauties. He ships them by ma and express to all parts of Canada, and as these orders are filled direct from the trees, he guarantees them to arrive in good condition. Sale room, 45 Yonge-st., and 45 King street west is most important when health is concerned. Why is Bates; bread the best? Because it is made from home brewed yeast, and No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat. It will keep moist and sweet longer than any other bread. Walter Bates, manufacturer and proprietor, 654 Stewart street.

GOOD SWEET BREAD

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

HOTEL IN RUINS.

The Knapp House Destroyed by Fire–Race Horses Killed.

Special to The Times.

MONTREAL, July 17.—Knapp Hotel, at Blue Bonnett, which has been called for one hundred years the half way house on the upper Lachine road, was totally destroyed by fire this morning together with an adjoining cottage. Late last evening a party of hotel men numbering thirteen drove out to the hotel for supper, hardly had they seated before cries of fire were heard, and the party hastily left the table and on going outside beheld the stables in flames. A rush was made to rescue seven horses, but only five got out. They were badly scorched. The flames then burst across the yard and caught the hotel which inside of half an hour was a mass of ruins.

Mrs. Morton's cottage, adjoining was included and that lady had a narrow escape being fast asleep at the time. Mrs. Morton has a small insurance and her loss will be about $2,000. Mr. Knapp is comparatively ruined, having only $2,500 insurance, his loss amounting to $10,000.

CORBETT WAS AFFECTIONATE.

Miss King Saw Him Put His Head on "Vera's" Shoulder.

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, July 17.—There was another hearing in the Corbett divorce case today. Miss Marie King, an actress in the Corbett company was recalled. She repeated her testimony about the woman known as "Vera" travelling with Corbett and said that his manner toward her was very affectionate. She said that once she saw "Vera" put her head on the pugilist's shoulder in a railroad train, and at another time she said she saw Corbett rest his head on "Vera's" shoulder.

ONLY SIX WILL VOTE.

Ontario Conservatives are Standing by the Cabinet.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, July 17.—Judging from appearances today, the vote in favor of Mr. McCarthy's resolution will be small. It will be another case of the Noble Thirteen.

As already stated, it does not give satisfaction to the Liberals, and now the Ontario Conservatives are not going to support it.

At a caucus of the Ontario Conservatives it was decided to stand by the Government at this stage of the proceedings.

Only about six Conservative members will vote for McCarthy's resolution. Among these six will be found Lieut. Col. Denison.

Great pressure is being brought to bear on the Ontario Conservatives to vote with the Government on the supposition that before next January a settlement will be made by Manitoba. This is, however, extremely doubtful.

Tenders FOR Indian Timber Limits

SEALED TENDERS will be received by the undersigned up to noon of Friday, the 3:th August, next, for the green standing pine, spruce and tamarac timber over nine inches in diameter at the stump, and all dead and fallen timber, on the Temiscamingue Indian Reserve, which contains an area of 60 square miles and is situated at the head of Lake Temiscamingue, in the County of Pontiac, in the Province of Quebec.

And also sealed tenders for the green standing pine over inches in diameter at the stump, and all dead and fallen timber, on the Wahnapitae Indian Reserve situated on the north shore of Lake Wahnapitae, in the District of Nipissing, in the Province of Ontario, containing an area of four square miles.

Each tenderer shall state the sum he is willing to pay in cash as a bonus for each limit over and above the ordinary Crown dues chargeable under tariff of the Department, and there shall accompany each tender an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion in favour of the undersigned for TEN PER CENT. of the amount of the tender, which sum shall be forfeited in the case of the failure of the successful tenderer to complete purchase of limit as hereinafter specified; and in the case of unsuccessful tenderers the cheque will be returned.

The successful tenderer shall, within fifteen days from date of notice of acceptance, pay the balance of bonus, together with ground rent and license fee, and furnish satisfactory bonds by himself and two sureties for the proper carrying out of the terms of license.

The purchaser or purchasers will be allowed ten years for the removal of the timber specified in the licenses, the Department reserving the right to authorize the cutting and removal of timber of other descriptions by the Indians.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Further information as to the rate of dues, &c., can be had on application to the undersigned

PLEASE ACCEPT

This public acknowledgment to save time. It is only natural that you should feel proud and gratified with the effect of using this remarkable article—it eclipses everything. But we really deserve no credit for giving the samples, less than actual cost (we don't believe in free samples) or for making them doubly valuable by putting them in seasonable Glass Gem Jars.

THANKS
Very Much.

The new "Eclipse" Baking Powder is so splendid and so cheap, (but don't put it on the same level as ordinary powders at similar prices), the result must be such an enormous demand that only a slight increased price will be needed to pay the required moderate interest on our heavy outlay.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

Band Concert To-morrow Night.

The Fire Brigade Band will render an excellent program of music in Inverlea park tomorrow night.

The Weather.

Probs. — Fresh westerly winds; some local thunderstorms, then clearing; a little lower temperature.

Street Cars Collide.

Street car No. 3 ran into another car yesterday and had the rear steps on one side torn off. No one was injured.

Special Meeting.

There will be a meeting this evening of St. Peter's Court, No. 225, C.O.F., at 8.30 p.m. All members are requested to attend.

Defeated at Millbrook.

The Athletics went to Millbrook yesterday and after hard a fought game with the lacrosse team of that village, was defeated by two goals to one.

Will go to Picton.

Peterborborough Canton met last night and decided to go to Picton on July 23 and take part in the great Oddfellow's demonstration to be held there.

Stepped on a Spike.

A horse belonging to Commodore Calcutt and hitched to one of the big brewery wagon, stepped on a spike on Hunter street yesterday and ran it into its foot a distance of four inches.

Baseball at Jubilee.

Lindsay's baseball club will play a match game of baseball at Jubilee Point tomorrow afternoon. Those desiring to witness the game can take in the excursion which the City of Peterborough will run from here. Tickets for the return trip cents.

Canoe Parade To-night.

The illuminated canoe parade will take place tonight. Mr. R. M. Roy has been appointed judge and Mr. Roy's and Mr. Fisk's steam launches will be in attendance. It will be a verry pretty spectacle as some of the illuminations are said to be very gorgeous.

Grass on Fire.

A few minutes before 6 o'clock last evening the fire bell rang and the brigade turned out. It was found that a large patch of grass on Benson avenue had caught fire and endangered the sidewalk and fences. A stream of water was turned on for a few minutes and extinguised the incipient blaze.

Rev. A. De Barritt Coming.

Rev. A. De Barritt, of the South American Evangelical Mission, will conduct services in the various churches in Peterborough from Sunday August 25th to September 8th. Secretaries of Christian Endeavor societies or kindred bodies desiring an address on South America may write Dr. Torrance who will arrange dates.

Railway Notes.

Running 60 miles an hour a train of 350 tons, with the full breaking weight of the train utilized, and the rails in the most favorable conditions, could be brought to a full stop in 900 feet at 80 miles an hour in 1,600 feet; at 90 miles an hour in 6,025 feet; and at 100 miles per hour in 2,500 feet.

Roadmaster Harry Ferguson has been called upon this season to settle many claims for damages caused by sparks flying from locomotives, but says that in most cases it has been found that the blaze was started by the carelessness of smokers in throwing away matches or emptying pipes along the roadside. It is reported that a fine field of wheat was burned near Powle's Corner, about four miles south of Fenelon Falls, the other day.

A NEW BICYCLE CLUB.

A Meeting Last Night and Organization Discussed.

WHEELMEN to the number of thirty or more met last night at the Brantford agency on Simcoe street and discussed the feasibility as well as the advisability of forming a bicycle club. There are fully 100 persons in Peterborough owning wheels, and most of them belong to the C. W. A., but Peterborough has not a regularly organized bicycle club. There is no club room for the cyclists to meet at, no adopted uniform or colors, no club meets or races and no place to entertain visiting cyclists of other clubs. Because Peterborough has not a regularly organized club, was the principal reason she did not get the big C. W. A. meet here last month.

At last night's meeting a committee was appointed to meet a committee of the present Peterborough 'Cycling club and ascertain whether this organization would disband and co operate in the formation of a new club.

If the proposed organization is formed it is proposed to adopt a uniform and colors, secure suitable club rooms and hold numerous club runs during the summer.

BAD WEEK FOR FINGERS.

Another Employee of the Electric Works Loses a Digit.

Frank Barrett, an employee of the Electric Works while operating a punching machine yesterday afternoon, got his hand in the machine and had the first joint of the first finger on his left hand punched off. The finger will have to be amputated further down.

Mr. James Davie, a young lad in the employ of the Dickson Co. shingle mill, while at work on Monday forenoon, had the little finger on his right hand caught in the pointer. It was so badly mutilated that it had to be amputated.

Wm. McMullen who had two fingers crushed at the Electric Works on Tuesday night in a bolt machine will have to have them amputated.

IS THIS MURDER?

A Man Found Unconscious On the Roadside—An Inquest Held.

It is reported on good authority that on Monday night, the 8th inst., Thomas McQuade, of Manvers, was seized and beaten on the boundary line between that township and Cartwright by two men, who, it appears, were after a little money which he had on his person, some $30. He was left by the roadside in an unconscious state, where he remained for two nights and one day. On Wednesday he was found and taken home, after which he regained consciousness and told who the men were that had attacked him, shortly after which he died.

We understand an inquest was held Friday at Blackstock, but—for that statement we are not able to vouch.

Suspicion rests on a couple of well known characters of that neighborhood, who, it is said, were seen in McQuade's company in the evening in question.—Lindsay Post.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

THE GRAYS WILL BE TRIED FOR MURDER AT THE FALL ASSIZES.

The Strongest Evidence in Possession of the Crown Will Come out at the Trial—The Theory of the Crown and What it will try to Prove—Probable Line of Defence.

YESTERDAY at the conclusion of the cross-examination of Mrs. Mary McGregor at the preliminary hearing of the Grays the Crown rested its case and County Magistrate Edmison committed the prisoners to stand their trial for the murder of David Scollie, at the September Fall Assizes.

Mr. Stratton asked for the dismissal of the prisoners after the testimony had all been taken. He said that there was nothing to show that murder had been committed, nor that the house had been fired. Certainly there was not one iota of evidence against Thomas Gray. By holding back the medical evidence the Crown was endeavoring to sneak the case through to trial and then surprise the prisoners with unexpected evidence.

County Crown Attorney Wood said the guilt of the male prisoner rested upon the guilt of Mrs. Gray. The magistrate was not supposed to decide the guilt of either of them, but to say whether or not the evidence adduced was sufficient to send them to the grand jury. He reviewed the evidence, touching on the salient points and referring to the reasonable belief that Gray had a guilty knowledge of the deed by his statement to McGregor that he expected the old man to be dead when he returned from the shanties. There was also a strong motive for the crime.

The magistrate said he was glad it was not his duty to determine the guilt of the prisoners. He went carefully over the evidence and then committed the prisoners. Neither of the Grays cared to make a statement, and they were taken back to the jail.

MRS. McGREGOR FIRM.

SHE WAS NOT SHAKEN FROM HER EVIDENCE IN CHIEF IN THE CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Mr. Stratton at once resumed his cross-examination of Mrs. McGregor. She was questioned about the visit of Mr. Weir and Detective Murray to her house. Detective Murray said he came to see what she knew of the fire at the Grays. Witness told him she did not know very much more about it than what Mrs. Gray had told the reporter the morning of the fire. Murray asked her if she had heard Mrs. Gray threaten she would poison Scollie. She said no, and witness turned to Mr. Weir and asked him if she had said that, and he replied to her "You and the Grays were not on the best of terms." Murray then asked if Mrs. Gray had not asked her not to swear against her. Witness had told Mrs. Burnham that Mrs. Gray had asked her not to swear against her and Mrs. Burnham had told her she would have to tell all she knew about the fire. Up to the time Murray came to her house she had never told anyone, except her little girl, Maggie, that Mrs. Gray had threatened to shoot Scollie and witness told her not to do it. Up to the time Murray came her little girl was also the only one to whom she had said that Mrs. Gray had threatened to chop Scollie's head off. She might have told others of the strange dream. On another occasion Mrs. Gray spoke of Scollie when Gray had been drinking in Hogan's hotel and Scollie went in and pulled Gray out, and Mrs. Gray was mad about it and said if any man pulled her out of an hotel he would never move.

Mr. Murray and Mr. Wood were sitting between Mr. Stratton and the witness, and remarks passed between them, and Mr. Stratton again objected to Mr. Murray speaking in this way. "Mr. Murray must stop this, or I must ask that he be put out of this court."

Mr. Murray—I won't be put out of this Court, sir, and I know better than to do any such thing as you charge.

Mr. Stratton—I object to Mr. Murray saying "no" so as to guide the witness.

Mr. Murray—I did no such thing, sir, and you are somewhat fresh in this matter. This is not the first court of justice I have been in and I was never accused of such conduct before.

Mr. Wood—I had asked Mr. Murray a question and he simply answered me.

The witness continuing told of coming to town with Mr. Weir and Detective Murray to give evidence before Mr. Edmison. She remembered Mr. Weir saying "Tom (Gray) was always a mean scoundrel," and that William James (McGregor) had always been an honest man. Mr. Weir also said "Tom was a mean scoundrel and always a liar," and told her to keep to the truth. Murray had remarked that "Tom was as much to blame as she (Mrs. Gray) if this thing happened." While her sister was living with her after the fire witness suspected that there had been something wrong, but did not know whether to think her a murderess or not.

To the Magistrate—The witness said at the time she called out "Is there no one to save Scollie" and her husband was coming from Burnham's, the fire had gained so much that no one could enter the building. When witness cried out for some one to save Scollie, Mrs. Gray said "What do you want Scollie saved for." It was not her husband who used these words. Her husband came home between eleven and twelve o'clock on the night of the fire. She had lived happy with her husband until this fire, and since William James had sometimes talked to her about her wicked sister. Her husband had ordered their children not to go with the Grays. Gray stated that McGregor could have saved Scollie if he liked and this with the note had caused the trouble between her husband and Gray. Witness had not had a meal with her sister since the 12th of July. She had few meals at her sister's, and her sister few at her place. Witness did not give any reason for the strained relations between herself and her sister, while their husbands were on friendly terms. The witness repeated the conversation she had with Mrs. Gray on November when driving into town, and she said Scollie would not live another winter, that she would chop his head off and burn him and no one would know. On the return trip she remembered that Mrs. Gray said when the trouble came Tom (Gray) would be clear of it. She could not remember what she purchased when in town.

She was being questioned as to whether she realized that her evidence tended strongly, if there had been murder, to fasten the crime on her sister, but the magistrate ruled the question as hardly proper and it was dropped.

The cross examination was continued, and it was now after 12 o'clock, and the witness had been questioned closely and in detail in regard to her several conversations. Mr. Wood objected to repetition in the cross examination, as he claimed the witness had been examined two or three times touching the same conversation. However, the examination which aimed at testing the witness' credibility and tying her down to her statements, was proceeded with.

The story of the strange dream was closely questioned. The witness said Mrs. Gray sometime after the fire said she had sent to Cameron's store for whiskey the day before the fire. Witness was sure it was whiskey, but Mrs. Gray said they sent her gin. There was no sickness that she knew of in the Gray family at the time. The next conversation she had with Mrs. Gray was in regard to her husband putting the piece in the paper, and Mrs. Gray asked her if she was willing that the letter should be published, and she had said she was. It was in connection with this that the statement came out that Mrs. Gray asked witness not to swear against her if there was any more trouble.

THE CASE REVIEWED.

WHAT EVIDENCE IS THE CROWN HOLDING BACK—THE DEFENCE.

After the committal of the prisoners, general opinion prevailed that neither would be found guilty of murder. However, this belief generally prevails after a preliminary examination. Detective John Murray, who has had wide experience in criminal and murder cases in Canada, made the following statement to THE TIMES.

"In my experiences in criminal cases I have never known such convincing and strong evidence brough out at a preliminary hearing. Why, at the Hendershott preliminary hearing there was not nearly so much evidence and it was a much weaker case. The evidence at the Gray's hearing was several times stronger than at the Birchal hearing."

The theory of the Crown is that Scollie was killed and the house fired afterwards. The amount of debris on the body at the time he was found is in favor of the theory. The motive of the crime was the property that would come to the prisoners by Scollie's death. That arson was contemplated is sustained by the evidence of Wm. McGregor that the Gray's made out a false insurance list and insured their effects for $500. He swore these goods wouldn't sell for $50. The utterances and threats of Mrs. Gray will show that they were tired of Scollie and that his murder had been contemplated.

The Crown has held back the medical testimony which will show that the head was cut off. They will prove that Gray wasn't far away from the house on that night, and that he had no business that would call him away to his brother's, and that he was not in the habit of visiting this brother.

They will show that the axe Mrs. Gray smashed the windows with, was in the room and that it could not have been brought from the woodshed at the time the fire first started. It was in the house at the time.

THE TIMES has it on good authority that the Crown will show that Scollie was killed some hours before the house was fired.

THE DEFENCE.

The defence will prove that Scollie was a great reader and was in the habit of reading in bed with a lamp by the side of it. It will also show that on this night he had a shanty lamp which Mrs. Gray referred to as being dangerous.

It is probable that the oldest of the children will be put on the stand and will relate facts regarding how they got out of the house on the morning of the fire. It will be shown that the loss of their home was more to the Grays than what they derived from the sale of the property. That Gray was in worse circumstances after the fire than he was before it. That he gained nothing by Scollie's death and the fire.

BIG PROFITS ON SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

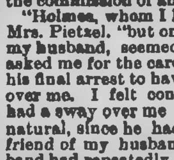
WAS HYPNOTIZED.

Mrs. Pietzel Says That Holmes Influenced Her. Very Strangely.

HE WAS A SVENGALI!

SHE DID AS HER HUSBAND TOLD HER—HOLMES ELUDED HER ON YONGE STREET.



CHICAGO, July 18.—Among those who left last night for the east was Mrs. Pitezel who was on her way to Toronto to identify the bodies of the two children found in the cellar of the house at 16 St. Vincent street. She talked about her past life and her husband's dealing with Holmes just before leaving. Mrs. Pietzel is ill, broken in health and mind; she believes in the hypnotic influence exerted by Holmes. Her story was straightforwardly told, and it is impossible to believe, after any length of time in her company, that she was either a confederate or an accomplice of Holmes in the commission of any of his crimes.

"Holmes, whom I had never met," said Mrs. Pietzel, "but once before the death of my husband, seemed from the time he asked me for the care of the children until his final arrest to have a peculiar influence over me. I felt controlled by him. He had a sway over me that then I thought natural, since he had been the intimate friend of my husband. Besides my husband had repeatedly told me that I could trust him, that he was a good man and that he would always be true to us. The children idolized him. There was nothing that he could not do with them.

PIETZEL LAST SEEN ALIVE BY HIS WIFE.

"Again and again my husband told me how much he thought of Holmes and how honorable he was until I came to the same opinion myself, although at first I did not like the man and told my husband so and begged him to have nothing to do with him. I saw my husband last on August 24, 1894. He had gone to St. Louis. He was then privately interested with Holmes. Whatever the enterprises were they did it together and I was lying sick with my baby. I could not go to Philadelphia to identify the body which they suspected to be that of my husband. It was after that that Holmes told me that the body was not that of my husband, that it was a bogus body made up to look like him, and that if I or the children said anything about it the insurance company would get hold of us and we would be punished severely.

"I was very sick and I loved Holmes. He talked kindly and offered to take Alice, Nellie and Howard from me and educate them. He said that he would put them to school and pay all expenses. The children loved him and I was alone in the world and poor. I let him take them and they went away. At this time and all other times Holmes acted to me like a gentleman.

WORRIED ABOUT THE CHILDREN.

"He constantly kept me under the impression, though, that I and the children were to be mixed up with the bogus body which he said was found in Philadelphia. He said that Pitezel was alive and that I would see him again when the trouble was over. He wished though, to save us from arrest and after the children were gone I moved about the country. I began to worry about the children. I wanted to see them and wished to know where they were. Holmes always put me off with the story that I must keep quiet until the detectives stopped their work. When he took me to Detroit it was he who registered me there as 'Mrs. Adams.' He told me so when he came up to the room where Dessie, my eldest daughter, and I were. I told him he did wrong to put my name down incorrectly but he explained that the detectives must be kept off the track and that I was protecting my husband by doing this.

HOLMES GAVE HER THE SLIP.

"I finally heard the children were at Toronto, and Dessie and I and the baby went there alone to search. After reaching the city I went into a department store on Yonge street to get something for baby. Just after we came out of the store on the other street I met Holmes face to face. He was cool and unconcerned. He said: "Why, I was looking for you; just wait here a minute while I go in the store. I have something in there that I want to get. I will join you in an instant. Before I could ask him a question he had entered the store. I waited there until the baby began to cry and then I told Dessie to go in the store and look for him. Then I went in myself but could not find him, and I never saw him again.

EVIDENCE AT THE INQUEST.

HOLMES' MOVEMENTS TRACED FROM PHILAPHIA TO TORONTO.

Within the chamber in the Court street police building, where drunks, disorderlies and criminals usually foregather, not altogether out of choice, last night sat Coroner Johnston and the jury he had selected to hear the evidence as to the death of Alice Pitezel. The first witness was Detective Frank P. Geyer, of Philadelphia. The officer has written the main part of his evidence and he read it carefully to the jury. It was a history of the case from the finding of the body in the house at 1316 Callow Hill street, Philadelphia, until the finding of the bodies in the cellar of 16 Vincent street, which has already been published in the TIMES.

HOLMES' STAY IN TORONTO.

The witness traced the movements of Holmes in Toronto commencing on October 18. He was here off and on until the 26th. The two children, Alice and Nellie arrived in Toronto on October 19 and registered at the Albion Hotel as "Alice and Nellie Canning." Under the name of "Mrs. C. A. Adams and daughter, of Columbus," Mrs. Pitezel, her daughter Dessa and the baby registered at the Union Hotel on October 18. She left there on October 25. Holmes and his wife left the Palmer on the 26th and the children were taken from the Albion on the morning of the 25th and were not heard of again until their bodies were found in the cellar of the St. Vincent street house.

THE GIRLS WERE AT THE ALBION.

Photographs of the children and of Holmes were put in as exhibits and the next witness, George Dennis, night clerk of the Palmer House, identified the former as the two girls he had been asked by the latter to meet at the Union Station one night last October. Dennis was then train porter at the Albion. He did as Holmes requested and took them to the hotel, where they registered under the name of Canning.

Herbert H. Jones, bookkeeper at the Albion remembered the three. The girls registered on Oct. 19 last and remained there until the morning of the 25th. Holmes called for them and paid for their board and lodging.

HOLMES RENTED THE COTTAGE.

Mrs. Frank Nudel recognized the photo of Holmes as the man to whom she rented the cottage at 16 St. Vincent street. He told her it was for a widowed sister, who was coming from Detroit with her two daughters. He paid $10 for one month's rent. Towards the end of the month she found the house vacant, and with her husband, made an inspection of the house and cellar, but saw nothing out of the ordinary.

Miss Minnie McFarlane, the pretty daughter of Mrs. Nudel, corroborated her mother's story about the renting of the house.

THE GIRLS WERE AT THE HOUSE.

Thomas W. Ryves, who lives at 18 St. Vincent street and who is mainly responsible for the discovery of the bodies, recognized the photograph of Alice as that of a little girl he had seen play in the yard of 16 St. Vincent street with a smaller girl whose face he did not see. The witness would not be positive about Holmes, however. He thought the picture looked like the man who was the occupant of the house next door to where he lived, but he would not be sure. A trunk was sent to the house, which he ascertained by lifting was empty, and then a week after a bedstead and a mattrass arrived and lay on the verandah for a couple of days. The next day the two children arrived. Late in the afternoon the man borrowed a spade from Ryves, saying he had bought a load of potatoes and wanted to fix a place for the reception of them. He returned the spade the next morning about 10 o'clock. The day following the trunk was taken away and Holmes disappeared. The witness did not see the children after the borrowing of the spade.

Adjournment was then made until Friday evening at eight o'clock.

ABOUT THAT TRUNK.

EXPRESS DRIVER ROBERT RITCHIE RECOVERS HIS MEMORY.

Robert Ritchie, the express driver who at first stated that he knew nothing of the removal of the trunk from the St. Vincent street house, yesterday afternoon made up his mind to tell the truth and came down to the detectives and gave them details of the occurrence. One afternoon in October last he was instructed by his employer, S. J. Totten, to go to the house. He went and found a trunk on the verandah. He saw Holmes and talked to him about the trunk. Ritchie took it to the west end of the Union station. He described Holmes as wearing a black soft felt hat.

Nothing new was discovered by the further search on St. Vincent street. Mr. Armbrust thinks it probable that the missing foot has been removed in the soil taken away by the Health department.

Mrs. Ray Potter Fell On Her Face—Says the City Must Pay.

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Mrs. Ray Potter, who was a very beautiful woman up to June 15 last, is suing the city for $10,000 damages. Her lawyer, Wm. J. Walsh, said yesterday that when crossing Fifth avenue, at Eighteenth street, she stepped into a little hole in the sidewalk and fell on her face.

The damage to her beauty and the shock sent her to bed, where several doctors were called in to attend her. Now the city is asked to pay for its negligence.

Special to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—Honolulu advices note the capture near Pearl City, of Manuela, the famous "leper outlaw," who has for years been defying arrest. Manuela was surprised in his house by C. A. Browe. The rifle and ammunition he handed to his captor. He has been living in the Hailawa mountains, coming to his house at night and returning to the shelter of the hills at dawn. Manuela is a half caste Portugese, and is devoted to his wife and family. His wife has determined to follow him into his lifelong exile.

THE BIG CONGRESS.

Formal Opening of the Pan-American Convention Yesterday.

THOUSANDS ATTEND IT.

DELEGATES TO THE BIG RELIGIOUS GATHERING ARE POURING INTO THE QUEEN CITY.

Special teo the Times.

TORONTO, July 18.—Flowing into Toronto are the delegates to the Pan-American Congress in considerable numbers. Secretary Shiris had an office opened at the Union Station to furnish information and direct visitors to their hotels or billets, as the case might be.

Among the first distinguished arrivals were Hon. C. C. Bonney and Dr. Paul Carus, of Chicago. Later on the private car of Hon. A. B. Stickney arrived with Bishop Whipple, Dr. Wilcox, President Rogers, of the Northwestern University, and others. From that on delegates of greater or lesser importance continued to reach the city.

HOW IT CAME TO BE HELD.

"During the Columbian Exhibition," said Mr. Bonney to a reporter, "a series of gatherings known as 'The World's Congresses of 1893' were held in Chicago. There were some two hundred of these. Forty-six were on religious subjects, of which the Parliament of Religions was one. Then there were thirty-three congresses on education. I was president of the whole series.

"The beneficial results from all these gatherings was so marked, so far beyond expectation, that it was decided not to let the work drop. This Pan American Congress, therefore is the direct outcome of the Chicago conference. Being limited to a single week instead of to six months, as were 'The World's Congresses of 1893,' the committee have acted wisely in considering education and religion as the two great themes for discussion. The Congress will undoubtedly be a brilliant success in every particular."

ABOUT CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS.

Rev. Dr. Wilcox, of Lafayette, Ind., is well known in Christian Endeavor work. "The organization," he said "is making great progress in all parts of the West and its growth is permanent and steady."

He said while he had not noticed a great deal of interest abroad in the present Congress still the proceedings would undoubtedly be closely followed by the thinking class.

THE INAUGURAL SESSION.

ADDRESSES OF WELCOME BY PROMINENT TORONTONIANS.

The inaugural session of the Congress opened at the Horticultural Pavilion this afternoon at three o'clock in the presence of several thousand citizens and delegates. On the platform, which was handsomely decorated, sat Lieut.-Governor George A. Kirkpatrick, Rev. Dr Samuel G. Smith, of St. Paul, president of the Congress, Mayor Kennedy, Rev. Dr. Thomas, and many other distinguished persons. The chair was occupied by W. B. McMurrich, Q.C., of the joint local committee.

Appropriate addresses of welcome were delivered by the Lieut.-Governor, Mayor Kennedy and Rev. Dr. Thomas, after which the president of the Congress and several other noted delegates made suitable replies. After these pleasant courtesies had been exchanged, the session adjourned, to meet again this evening at eight o'clock, when the Mayor, who is vice-president of the Congress, will occupy the chair. "The New Movement for the Unity and Peace of the World" is the subject of the first paper on the program, to be delivered by Hon. C. P. Bonney, ex-president of the World's Fair Religious and Educational Congress, Chicago. He will be followed by President Smith, who will read his annual address. The remainder of the evening will be given to Prof. Clark, of Trinity University, who will talk on "Religious Congresses and their Responsibilities.

LOOKS FOR GOOD TIMES.

President Rogers of the Northwestern University is the head of probably the greatest Methodist educational institution in the world. In an interview he said that in the States the educational system of Ontario was looked upon very highly. Speaking generally of times over there President Rogers said everyone over there looked cheerfully forward to a rapid revival. All that was wanted was a series of two or three good crops and one at least was assured at present.

PAN AMERICAN POINTERS.

Archbishop Ireland will not arrive until tomorrow.

Hon. C. C. Bonney has been invited to be the guest of Mayor Kennedy.

Dr. Norcross, of Pittsburg, will reach Toronto on Saturday. He will be the guest of Mrs. John Macdonald, "Oaklands."

Miss Jane Adams, superintendent of the Hull House, Chicago, will stop with Miss Carter, Jarvis street.

Dr. Morgan Wood, Detroit, will stay with Dr. Sims.

Dr. and Mrs. Pate, of Orangeburg, South Carolina, will be the guests of Ald. Bates.

Prof. Blackman, of Yale University, and Bishop Gilbert of St. Paul are to be the guests of Rev. Prof. Clarke of Trinity.

Dean Harris, St. Catharines, Rev. A. K. Carrol, editor Independent, New York, Rev. A. L. Lambart, editor Freeman's Journal, New York, and Dr. Conaty, of Worcester, Mass., will be entertained by Rev. Father Ryan, of St. Micheal's.

Rev. D. Gracey, president of the International Missionary Union, Rochester, N.Y., will be the guest of C. Gooderham.

Mrs. Charles Henrotan, who was vice president of the women's branch of the World's Congresses, will be the guest of Mrs. S. H. Janes.

Dr. Wilcox, of Lafayette, Ind., will spend his visit with Dr. Anderson, College street.

Dr. Burleson, president of Baylor University, Waco, Texas, will stay with Dr. Thomas.

Rev. Mr. Cornell, of Fon du Lac, has arrived.

Dr. Fraser, of the New York Independent, is in the city.

The tickets for the Massey hall for tomorrow night are all exhausted. No more will be issued.

The proposed race of horseless carriages between Chicago and Milwaukee will find its chief difficulty in poor roads. The recent race in France, which this trial imitates, was over an improved road. If horseless carriages ever become practical, the good-roads advocates will have a real and sound argument with which to support their agitation.

Inside of two years the bicycle will be used as extensively in carrying shoppers from country to town as it is now used in running from one part of the town to another. And when that time comes the town which has the best roads leading into it will draw the largest share of these country shoppers.

A New York lawyer who is being sued by a dentist for work done on his teeth, has entered a counter-suit of $1,000 damages for the pain he endured during the operation. If the dentist were one of those wicked deceivers who advertise that they can fill and pull teeth without pain to the victim the lawyer ought to have a good case.

President Cleveland is not the only happy father who is beside himself with joy these days. The Rev. John Hutchinson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Arlington, N.J., is sharing new-baby honors with the President. While Mr. Hutchinson was conducting the Sunday evening service, the sexton approached the pulpit and whispered something to the pastor, who immediately looked pleasant and embarrassed. He confused the number of the hymns, got mixed on the scripture lesson, omitted to have the collection taken and neglected to read the usual notices. The local papers give assurance that mother and daughter are doing well—doing better, probably, than the father did in the pulpit that night.

The August Number of the Delineator is Called the Midsummer Number and contains a large variety of interesting matter suitable for the season. A special article is devoted to dressing for stout ladies, and another to bathing and swimming, with illustrations of the latest fashions in bathing costumes. Mrs. Roger A. Pryor's article on the ettiquette of letter writing bears the stamp of authority, and will be helpful to every one who reads it; and the paper on art needlework in the employment series will direct the attention of many women to this occupation as a means of livehood. The popular kindergarten series is continued by Mrs. Sara Miller Kirby, and Harriet Keith Forbes contributes an artistic paper in the series on burnt work. There is a very practical paper on cleaning and renovating laces, feathers and gloves, and a variety of useful information is given in the monthly talk around the tea table. The housekeeper will find some new receipts in seasonable cookery, and much that will help to make housework easier in things the housewife should know. There is also an excellent article on the the newest books and others on floral work for August and the revelations of mother and son. OUR ROADS.

In the Majority of Cases the Work is Done Without Regard to the Result.

For the last four years we have been working on this question with a view to arousing the people to a sense of its importance, says the Municipal World, and if possible, convince them that the work of road building would do more to lift them into prosperity than any other work to which they could direct their energies. We have obtained from nearly every township in the province, returns as to the present expenditure for road purposes, and an average for a number of years past, also statements as to the amount of statute labor performed each year. In return for which they practically receive nothing. This has been going on for nearly a century. If the amount which has been sunk in this manner could be ascertained, it would startle even the most phlegmatic of our citizens.

The job of making a ditch in a low part of the road is let for $50 or $100 no proper outlet is made for it into the adjoining property, it holds its full of water, and after a couple of winters the action of the weather and stagnant water causes the sides to slip and in a short time the ditch is filled up. Another job is let for grading a piece of road, when the foundation is not first drained, the travel on it in the wet season makes it as bad as ever. Gravel of all qualities is hauled on the road and dumped in the quagmire, soon to be lost sight of. In other instances it is put on so thinly as to be of no use. When convinced of this an extravagant quantity is used, the wheels are allowd to rut it while loose, no further attention is paid to it, and in a short time deep gutters are formed where the wheels travel; rains fill these gutters; heavy traffic cuts through and it is damaged rather than improved. In many cases large sums of money are expended for gravel, which, owing to the amount of earthy substances among it, makes the road worse than it would be if this material had not been put on, but the natural soil of the road-bed properly drained and rounded up. Culverts are constructed of perishable material, which on account of its exposure to the varying changes of wet and dry, collapses in a short time under a load, and not only the cost of a culvert but large sums for damage are wasted. Small timber bridges are constructed in ravines and high and expensive grades are made at either end, without any knowledge of the great pressure of the embankment, and the weakness of the structure which in many instances collapses before the contractor has reached home with the people's large draft. Hundreds of dollars are expended in cutting down hills, where if the proper pains were taken in laying out the road, it could be deviated from a straight line, hills skirted, the ascent made easier and the large cost of reducing the grade, together with the subsequent cost of keeping the gutters open, and repairing the damage done by the water and frost would be saved. These items together with the many items of from five to twenty-five dollars expended throughout the township in filling holes and making small surface ditches, grading patch by patch without any regularity and many other trifling items of work, make the amount when footed up at the end of the year of alarming dimensions.

Roads have been constructed by road work under pathmasters, and good roads can be constructed under the statute labor system, but more money has been squandered, labor misapplied, wasted, and practically thrown away. Draining, grading and other elementary principles involved in making and keeping of a good road in a great majority of cases are ignored and the work is done without rule, reason or any regard for the ultimate result. All the water that falls on the road is allowed to stand in ditches made to receive it, which saturates the foundation, stands in pools and ruts on the road, and the traffic churns and mixes it with soft dirt until it is removed by the slow process of evaporation. During the dry season this lazy process is put in operation and leaves the roads more susceptible to the damaging influences of the wet autumn weather.

Objections to the Present System.

Every road is a structure and needs a foundation. A good road will never be built by accident or maintained by ignorance. It is quite as senseless and futile to attempt to build and maintain a good highway by calling out A B and C from their various occupations to maul and scrape a few miles of soft dirt with hoes and shovels, as it would be to expect the same persons under a similar system to contribute their personal labor in the successful erection of a courthouse or gaol. In either case the proper completion of the work requires that it be done under an intelligent supervisor, and by persons whose knowledge and instruction fits them for this kind of work. Besides these objections, the system of working out the road tax as at present operated, presents certain features which are inequitable as among the people themselves. The money collected from these persons who agree to pay their assessments in money rather than by personal labor is in many cases diverted to mysterious use, which only the municipal politicians have power to disclose. While on the other hand the labor performed here and there by that little squad composed of the youth taking his first lesson, strong in ambition, but weak in physique; the hired man proud of his holiday; the middle aged willing to work, but more anxious to yarn; the prosperous farmer anxious to work according to the intention of the law, but cannot see his way clear to do more than his neighbor; the veteran roadster whose hair has grown grey anticipating good roads as the result of his many years' labor; the grandfather, who when his work is done has completed his manual labor for the year.

How to Kill Sparrows.

To kill sparrows, put cayenne pepper in the crevices of buildings they infest; this treatment killed hundreds about the Maryland state house. Or support a long and wide plank by a stake, scatter grain under it, and when the sparrows are busily eating pull the stake away by means of a string, and the heavy plank deadfall will kill the sparrows. Others will quickly return to take their place. Many believe the English sparrow does more good than harm.

Early Potatoes.

Early potatoes should pay well, as they are always in demand. A potato field should be kept clean from the time of planting to the harvesting of the crop. Many potato fields are allowed to become so overrun with weeds as to make the cost of harvesting more than all other labor given during the season. Keep the weeds down from the start and the tubers will be large and the yield heavier.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

SCISSORINGS.

There is no benefit so large but malignity will still lesson it—none so narrow which a good interpretation will not enlarge. No man can ever be grateful who views a benefit on the wrong side or takes a good office by the wrong handle.

The meaning of song goes deep. Who is there that, in logical words, can express the effect music has on us? A kind of inarticulate, unfathomable speech, which leads us to the edge of the infinite and lets us for moments gaze into it.

All great ages have been ages of belief. When there was any extraordinary power of performance, when great national movements began, when arts appeared, when heroes existed, when poems were made, the human soul was in earnest.

Few people are dull while they are diligently employed—none who take an interest in their work and try to do it well. It is when they lay it aside, and with it all sense of responsibility, that things sometimes take on a sombre and colorless aspect.

If we wait until we have more than we want before beginning to give, we shall die without giving. But if we give out of our scanty portion to those whose need is greater than ours, we shall live as givers, and shall enjoy living. The man who only gives from his surplus never knows the real joy of giving.

The thumb, according to professional palmists, is an unerring index to the mind. If a person is trying to deceive you he will invariably draw his thumb in towards the palm. On the other hand, if he is telling the truth, the thumb will be relaxed and point away from the palm.

HERE AND THERE.

The modern hotel must be made safe everywhere.

If you fail after doing your best you have still done well.

After one puts a project on foot, he then has it on hand.

Are you still keeping those good resolutions and that dairy?

Because a man falls on the ice it does not follow that he cuts any.

There is no such thing as inherited experience. Take yours and pay for it.

Some women talk women's rights, and others get there without talking at all.

There are not twenty farmers living in Iowa ten miles distant from a railway station.

Something is wrong with the man who clubs and kicks his cattle, horses and poultry.

Probably we hear so much about the new woman because it isn't polite to say "old woman."

Thirty-two hundred patents have been granted in this country for methods of electrical locomotion.

Only forty United States vessels are now engaged in whaling. Thirty years ago there were 500.

A fatal fall from a great height is said to be painless, as unconsciousness precedes the crash of concussion.

JAPANESE PROVERBS.

The ignorant are never defeated in any argument.

A woman with a three-inch tongue can slay a giant.

Patience is the rope of advancement in all lines of life.

With a mote in the eye one cannot see the Himalayas.

Everybody has eight eyes for his neighbor's business.

When the sense of shame is lost, advancement ceases.

Genius hears one individual and then comprehends ten.

Negligence looks at the battle-field, then makes its arrows.

Seeking information is a moment's shame; but not to learn is surely a lasting shame.

DAIRY NOTES.

Remember that the value of butter increases with the quality.

Milk from cows nearing the period of lactation does not churn as easily as milk from fresh cows.

An exchange truly says that creamerymen everywhere owe themselves and their patrons the obligations to use every effort in their power to stamp out and crush the monstrous fraud called filled cheese.

The great secret in fancy butter-making, says a dairy writer, is a studied purpose to keep all foreign substances out of the milk, cream and butter, and have only original material from start to finish and fancy butter results.

The New York Experiment Station has been making some practical tests with cows, as to the amount of water they drank. It was found that during lactation, or the milk-giving period, the average per month was 1,600 pounds.

HAVE GOOD EYES.

Nearly All the Members of the Canadian Team at Bisley Have Won in the Queen's Prize.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 17.—The following are the scores of the Canadian riflemen in the stage organization competition, 500 yards, at the meeting of the National Rifle Association at Bisley today: Mitchell, 32, Rolston, 32, Armstrong, 32, Broadhurst, 32, White 34. Mayhurst, 34, Anderson, 34, Simpson 29, Boville 29, Wynne 29, Spearing 33, Chamberlain 24, Morris 30. Mercier 28, Meadows 28, Tink 25, Bent 31, Russell 31, Skeding 31, Nutting 26. Nearly all the Canadians have won prizes ranging from £5 for their shooting in the Queen's prize and other competitions.

ONLY SIX WILL VOTE.

Ontario Conservatives are Standing by the Cabinet.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, July 17.—Judging from appearances today, the vote in favor of Mr. McCarthy's resolution will be small. It will be another case of the Noble Thirteen.

As already stated, it does not give satisfaction to the Liberals, and now the Ontario Conservatives are not going to support it.

At a caucus of the Ontario Conservatives it was decided to stand by the Government at this stage of the proceedings.

Only about six Conservative members will vote for McCarthy's resolution. Among these six will be found Lieut. Col. Denison.

Great pressure is being brought to bear on the Ontario Conservatives to vote with the Government on the supposition that before next January a settlement will be made by Manitoba. This is, however, extremely doubtful.

SURPRISED MR. McRAE.

He Returns Home to Find Burglars Enjoying Themselves.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 17.—When Peter McRae entered his residence on Somerset street, a few minutes after ten o'clock last night after a short absence, he was given the biggest surprise of his life. He heard three or four short sharp whistles and immediately afterwards saw at least four men rush from the dining room and sitting room towards the rear end of the house. He ran after them, but just before reaching the swing door leading to the kitchen, one of the party turned around and threw a blanket coat over Mr. McRae's head, at the same time threatening to hit him with the socket of an old blunderbuss if he attempted to capture them. The man then made after the other members of the gang. They rushed down the cellar stairs and effected an escape through the cellar windows facing the yard. They carried off considerable silverware.

SMUGGLED CHINESE.

Frederick Lincoln, of Buffalo, and McLain, of Chicago, Jailed at Detroit.

Special to the Times.

DETROIT, July 17.—Some time past the customs officials have suspected that Chinese were being smuggled across the border from Canada in sleeping cars. The suspicion was verified late last night when some important arrests were made on a Wagner sleeping car which had just crossed the river from the Grand Trunk railroad and was being switched to the Wabash road. Division Supt. Chamberlain of the Wagner company entered the car, accompanied by Special Treasury Agent Wood and Inspector Carney. The conductor, Frederick R. Lincoln, of Buffalo, and Porter Charles McLain, of Chicago, were obliged to permit the officers to inspect the berths, although they protested that there was a woman in the stateroom. In this compartment were found four Chinamen with Herbert Johnson, of Windsor, Johnson, the conductor and the porter were arrested, and with the Chinamen went to jail in default of $1,000 bail each required by the United States Court Commissioner.

Don Alonzo Ran Third.

LONDON, July 17.—Mr. M. F. Dwyer's Don Alonzo ran third at Newmarket today in a selling plate of 103 sovereigns, for three-year-olds and upwards, the winner to be sold for 200 sovereigns, which was won by Favour Royal. The distance was five furlongs.

Inspector De Barry, of Buffalo, has apprehended half a dozen more Canadian plumbers who recently went to Buffalo to fill the places of strikers.

The town of Dulham was not used to seeing foreigners of any sort, or to hearing their voices in its streets, so that it was in some sense a matter of public interest when a Canadian family was reported to have come to the white house by the bridge. This house, small and low storied, with a bushy little garden in front, had been standing empty for several months. Usually when a house was left tenantless in Dulham it remained so and fell into decay, and, after some years the cinnamon rose bushes straggled into the cellar, and the dutiful grass grew over the mound that covered the chimney bricks. Dulham was a quiet place, where the population dwindled steadily, though such citizens as remained had more and more reason to think it as pleasant as any country town in the world.

Some of the old men who met every day to talk over the town affairs were much interested in the newcomers. They approved the course of the strong-looking young Canadian laborer who had been quick to seize upon his opportunity; one or two of them had already engaged him to make their gardens, and to do odd jobs and were pleased with his quickness and willingness. He had come afoot one day from a neighboring town, where he and his wife had been made ill by bad drainage and factory work, and saw the little house, and asked the postmaster if there were any work to be had out of doors that spring in Dulham. Being assured of his prospects, he reappeared with his pale, bright-eyed wife and little daughter the very next day but one. This startling promptness had given time for but few persons to hear the news of a new neighbor, and as one after another came over the bridge and along the road there were many questions asked. The house seemed to have new life looking out of its small-paned windows; there were clean white curtains, and china dogs on the window sills, and a blue smoke in the chimney—the spring sun was shining in at the wide-open door.

There was a chilly east wind on an April day, and the elderly men were gathered inside the postoffice, which was also the chief grocery and dry goods store. Each was in his favorite armchair, and there was the excuse of a morning fire in the box stove to make them form again into the close group that was usually broken up at the approach of summer weather. Old Capt. Weathers was talking about Alexis, the newcomer (they did not try to pronounce his last name), and was saying for the third or fourth time that the more work you set for the Frenchman the better pleased he seemed to be. "Helped 'em to lay a carpet yesterday at our house, neat as wax," said the Captain, with approval. "Made the garden in the front yard so it hasn't looked so well for years. We're all goin' to find him very handy: he'll have plenty to do among us all summer. Seems to know what you want the minute you p'int, for he can't make out very well with his English. I used to be able to talk considerable French in my early days when I sailed from southern ports to Havre and Bordeaux, but I don't seem to recall it now very well. He'd have made a smart sailor, Alexis would; quick and willing."

"They say Canada French ain't spoke the same, anyway"—began the Captain's devoted friend, Mr. Ezra Spooner, by way of assurance, when the store door opened and a bright little figure stood looking in. All the gray-headed men turned that way, and every one of them smiled.

"Come right in, dear," said the kind-hearted old Captain.

They saw a charming little creature about six years old, who smiled back again from under her neat bit of a hat; she wore a pink dress that made her look still more like a flower, and she said "Bon jour" prettily to the gentlemen as she passed. Henry Staples, the storekeeper and postmaster, rose behind the counter to serve this customer as if she had been a queen, and took from her hand the letter she brought, with the amount of its postage folded up in a warm bit of newspaper.

The Captain and his friends looked on with admiration.

"Give her a piece of candy—no, give it to me an' I'll give it to her," said the Captain eagerly, reaching for his cane and leaving his chair with more than usual agility; and everybody looked on while he took a striped stick of peppermint from the storekeeper and offered it gallantly. There was something in the way this favor was accepted that savored of the French court and made every man in the store a lover.

The child not only made a quaint bow before she reached out her hand with childish eagerness for the unexpected delight, but she stepped forward and kissed the Captain.

There was a murmur of delight at this charming courtesy not a man there would not have liked to find some excuse for walking away with her, and there was a general sigh as she shut the door behind her and looked back through the glass with a parting smile.

"That's little French Marry, Alexis' little girl," said the storekeeper, eager to proclaim his advantage of prevous acquaintance. "She came here yesterday and did an errand for her mother as nice as a grown person could."

"I never saw a little creatur' with prettier ways," said the Captain, blushing and tapping his cane on the floor.

This first appearance of the little foreigner on an April day was like the coming of a young queen to her kingdom. She reigned all summer over every heart in Dulham—not a face but wore its smiles when French Mary came down the street, not a mother who did not say to her children that she wished they had such pretty manners and kept their frocks as neat. The child danced and sang like a fairy, and condescended to all childish games, and yet, best of all for her friends, seemed to see no difference between young and old. She sometimes followed Capt. Weathers home, and discreetly dined or took tea with him and his housekeeper, an honored guest; on rainy days she might be found in the shoemaker's shop or at the blacksmith's, watching them at their work; smiling much but speaking little, and teaching as much French as she learned English. To this day, in Dulham, people laugh and repeat her strange foreign words and phrases. Alexis, the father, was steady at his work of gardening and haying; Marie, the elder, his wife, washed and ironed and sewed and swept, and was a helper in many households; now and then on Sunday they set off early in the morning and walked to the manufacturing town whence they had come, to go to mass; at the end of the summer, when they felt prosperous, they sometimes hired a horse and wagon and drove there with their child between them. Dulham village was the brighter and better for their presence, and the few old-fashioned houses that knew them treasured them, and French Mary reigned over her kingdom with no revolt or disaffection to the summer's end. She seemed to fulfil all the duties of her childish life by some exquisite instinct and infallible sense of fitness and propriety.

One September morning, after the first frost, the Captain and his friends were sitting in the store with the door shut. The Captain was the last comer.

"I've got bad news," he said, and they all turned towards him, apprehensive and forewarned.

"Alexis says he's going away" (regret was mingled with the joy of having a piece of news to tell). "Yes, Alexis is going away; he's packing up now, and has spoke for Foster's hay cart to move his stuff to the railroad."

"What makes him so foolish?" said Mr. Spooner.

"He says his folks expect him in Canada; he's got an aunt livin' there that owns a good house and farm, and she's gittin' old and wants to have him settled at home to take care of her."

"I've heard these French folks only desire to get forehanded a little, and then they go right back where they come from," said some one, with an air of disapproval.

"He says he'll send another man here; he knows somebody that will be glad of the chance, but I don't seem to like the idea so well," said Capt. Weathers, doubtfully. "W've all got so used to Alexis and his wife; they know now where we keep everything and have got to be so handy. Strange they don't know when they're well off. I suppose it's natural they should want to be with their own folks. Then there's the little girl."

At this moment the store door was opened and French Mary came in. She was dressed in her best and her eyes were shining.

"I go to Canada in ze cars!" she announced joyfully, and she came dancing down between the two long counters toward her regretful friends; they had never seen her so charming.

Argument and regret were impossible—the forebodings of elderly men and their experience of life were of no use at that moment, a gleam of youth and hope was theirs by sympathy instead. A child's pleasure in a journey moves the dullest heart; the captain was the first to find some means of expression.

"Give me some o' that best candy for her," he commanded the storekeeper. "No, take a bigger piece of paper, and tie it up well."

"Ain't she dressed a little thin?" said gruff Mr. Spooner, anxiously, and for his part he pointed the storekeeper to a small plaid shawl that hung overhead, and stooped to wrap it himself about the little shoulders.

"I must get the little girl something, too," said the minister, who had just come in for his mail. "What do you like best, my dear?" and French Mary pointed shyly, but with instant decision, at a blue silk parasol, with a white handle, which was somewhat the worse for having been openly displayed all summer. The minister bought it with pleasure, like a country boy at a fair, and put it into her hand.

French Mary kissed the minister with rapture and gave him her hand to shake, then she put down the parasol and ran and climbed into the old captain's lap and hugged him with both arms tight round his neck. She thought for a moment whether she should kiss Mr. Ezra Spooner or not, but happily she did not decide against it and said an affectionate good-bye to him and all the rest. Mr. Staples himself came out from behind the counter to say farewell and bestow some raisins. They all followed her to the door and stood watching while she tucked her bundles under her arm and raised the new parasol and walked away down the street in the chilly autumn morning. She had taken her French gayety and charm and all her childish sweetness and dignity away with her. Little French Mary had gone. Fate had plucked her like a flower out of their lives.

She did not turn back, but when she was half way home she began to run and the new shawl was given gayly to the breeze. The captain sighed.

"I wish the little girl well," he said, and turned away. "We shall miss her, but she doesn't know what parting is. "I hope she'll please them just as well in Canada."

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Hugh Cameron, a Lumberman, of Pembroke Loses His Life.

Special to the Times.

PEMBROKE, July 17.—Hugh Cameron, an employee of the Pembroke Lumber Co., was killed by lightning while working on a boom about a mile from town this morning. He was well known amongst Ottawa valley lumberman and was about forty years of age. He leaves a widow but no family. Two other men who were with him were stunned, but have recovered.

CORBETT WAS AFFECTIONATE.

Miss King Saw Him Put His Head on "Vera's Shoulder.

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, July 17.—There was another hearing in the Corbett divorce case today. Miss Marie King, an actress in the Corbett company was recalled. She repeated her testimony about the woman known as "Vera" travelling with Corbett and said that his manner toward her was very affectionate. She said that once she saw "Vera" put her head on the pugilist's shoulder in a railroad train, and at another time she said she saw Corbett rest his head on "Vera's" shoulder.

HOTEL IN RUINS.

The Knapp House Destroyed by Fire—Race Horses Killed.

Special to The Times.

MONTREAL, July 17.—Knapp Hotel, at Blue Bonnett, which has been called for one hundred years the half way house on the upper Lachine road, was totally destroyed by fire this morning together with an adjoining cottage. Late last evening a party of hotel men numbering thirteen drove out to the hotel for supper, hardly had they seated before cries of fire were heard, and the party hastily left the table and on going outside beheld the stables in flames. A rush was made to rescue seven horses, but only five got out. They were badly scorched. The flames then burst across the yard and caught the hotel which inside of half an hour was a mass of ruins.

Mrs. Morton's cottage, adjoining was included and that lady had a narrow escape being fast asleep at the time. Mrs. Morten has a small insurance and her loss will be about $2,000. Mr. Knapp is comparatively ruined, having only $2,500 insurance, his loss amounting to $10,000.

Forest fires are raging four miles from Victoria, B.C.

CUPID AND PSYCHE

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

Will It Be a Failure.

The prospect of the C. N. & P. Railway making any further advancement seems rather gloomy, if we judge from the report given by the Cobourg Sentinel Star, of the meeting which was held in the county town, last week. It says that the result of the meeting was anything but satisfactory. The contractor's Canadian agent was notified to be present and close the contract but he failed to appear. A telegram was sen by him from Quebec stating that the English contractor had all the details of the scheme before him, and had sent no instructions. Without such instructions, the agent wired, he was powerless to act. The board, therefore, had no business to transact other than the legal routine of the annual meeting. A resolution was passed that Mr. Bowen, the English contractor, be given until August 15th to close the contract and proceed with the work; and if no action was taken by him at that time, the board would invite tenders from other contractors to build the road.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

When they were searched at the prison the box which was used by them in the goldbrick game was found. Pasted in it were the words: "You have gambled and lost. Don't try to find us, for we have gone."

Triplett was arrested in Chicago and when his wife came to the jail and saw him behind the bars she fell dead.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 15—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference, and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

Twenty Thousand Roses.

There are nearly 20,000 rose trees in bloom now at Dunlop's conservatories Bloor-st. west, Toronto. Visitors are always well come. Mr. Dunlop is proud of his establishment and takes pleasure in speaking oc his beauties. He ships them by ma and express to all parts of Canada, and as these orders are filled direct from the trees, he guarantees them to arrive in good condition. Sale room, 45 Yonge-st., and 45 King street west is most important when health is concerned. Why is Bates; bread the best? Because it is made from home brewed yeast, and No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat. It will keep moist and sweet longer than any other bread. Walter Bates, manufacturer and proprietor, 654 Stewart street.

GOODSWEET BREAD

LATEST FROM SLOPEVILLE.

Correspondence of The Times.

Mr. J. O. Gorman is at home on his holidays from Fisher's University where he has been graduating during the past 3 months.

Mr. Michael McCann has recovered from a severe attack of plurisema with which he has been confined during the past month.

Mr. T. Barry left for Warsau on the morning train yesterday to arrange a football match between the Douro team the "Peerless" and the Warsaw "Bone Rattlers."

Mr. P. G. Towns is recovering from the effects of a sprained ankle.

The Town Council met on Monday for the purpose of letting the contract of placing 10 electric lights on the main streets of the village Mr. McCann took the contract of lighting Walker Broadway while Mr. Henry Whibbs will light up Buckeye Avenue.

The first shingling match of the season took place in the village on Tuesday last. The competitors for the honors were Tom O'Brien of Skibareen and Billy O'Brien, of Cognaway and Massey McMahon, of Flynnville, Texas. The contest took place on the roof of that elegant mansion which Mr. Wm. O'Brien has erected on Mount Lovesick overlooking our picturesque little village, and commanding an excellent view of our busy streets and the surrounding country. The contest was won by "Tom" who laid and nailed 7,500 shingles in 9 hours and 51 seconds. He feels quite proud over his success and will issue a challenge to any man in the province on 10 hour shingling match for a wager of not less than $5.000 to be contested for any time between now and the 15th day of October.

Mr. Louis Sullivan has finished his new works, "The Revised History of Slopeville." He has sold it to the firm of Crowe, Flynn & Co., who will publish it in about 2 months. We understand that Mr. David Condon has secured the position of general agent.

In Advanced Years

The strength and pure blood necessary to resist the effects of cold seasons are given by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I have for the last 25 years of my life been complaining of a weakness of the lungs and colds in the head, especially in the winter. Last fall I was again attacked. Reading of Hood's Sarsaparilla I was led to try it. I am now taking the fifth bottle with good results. I can positively say that I have not spent a winter as free from coughs or pains and difficult breathing spells for the last 25 years as was last winter. I can lie down and sleep all night without any annoyance from cough or pain in the lungs or asthmatic difficulty." E. M. CHAMBERS, J. P., Cornhill, N. B.

No Use For Silver Cups.

The Oddfellows at Picton wired the Peterborough baseball club to find out if they would play a match game in Picton during the big demonstration next week for a $30 silver cup. The club replied that it would go for $30 cash, but not for the cup. The Pictonites wired back not to come.

Was This the Thief?

Yesterday Chief Roszel received a telegram from F. Death of Mrs. J. H. Walton.

The death of Mr. Joseph H. Walton, of Smith, occurred in Toronto yesterday afternoon, after a lingering illness. The direct cause of her death was an operation which was performed in Toronto. Deceased was in her 60th year. The funeral will take place today from the residence of Mrs. John Walton, Hunter street.

The North King Aground.

A despatch from Brighton, Ont., yesterday says: Twenty minutes past two yesterday morning the schooner North King, Capt. Jerrold, while on her way from Charlotte for this port, ran aground about half a mile west of the main light. There was a dense fog also. The captain says the variation of the compass caused the accident. She is on flat rock. The steamer is not much damaged. A tug from Kingston is on the way to her assistance. Some of the passengers were landed in small boats and conveyed to Brighton station, where they took the trains to their destination.

The Biggest Fish.

The editor of the Hastings Star says that some large lunge are being caught in the river Trent and Rice Lake, and the largest he had ever heard of was captured in Mud Lake, some 30 years ago, by the late Chas. Armstrong, of Dummer. It tipped the scales at 34 lb. We have something better than that to tell Bro. Scriver. Some years ago, we saw a maskinonge that weighed 60 lbs. when dressed for the table. It was landed after a two hours' struggle by Mr. John McAvilla, near Hickory Island in the Trent river, about five miles from Campbellford. The monster measured about 6 feet, and was said to have weighed 70 lbs. when taken out from the water.—Campbellford Herald.

Sold Liquor to Italians.

This morning Magistrate Deacon and License Inspector Short proceeded to Omemee, where a charge of illegal liquor selling against Jos. Franzee, foreman of the gang of Italians working at the G.T.R gravel pit. The inspector has been quietly working up the case for some weeks, but experienced great difficulty in getting at the facts owing to the men being intimidated by Franzee, who is also interpreter for the gang, and possibly also because they sympathize slightly with the illicit business. As we were on the point of going to press we examined a telephone message stating that Franzee had been convicted and fined $50 and costs $6 43 for selling beer, failing to pay which he will spend the next three months in jail at hard labor.—Lindsay Post.

The Lady in Bloomers.

The Whitby Chronicle man evidently has the ladies' interests at heart and should be sent to Toronto to cope with Trustee Bell. He describes the first pair of bloomers he saw as follows: "We saw the new fangled bicycle girl in her bloomers, while on an excursion on Tuesday last, and were not at all shocked. If we were a woman we would not wear anything else. The costume is handsome, comfortable, suitable, cool, and imparts to its wearer a hearty, vigorous look. Women look so puny in their long, trailing, tiresome skirts that we do not wonder at their seeking a new style of dress." We heartily endorse our contem's sentiments. Of course woman likes to resemble man as closely as she can with due modesty, and we fail to see the immodesty of a woman attiring herself suitable to her occupation. We think Trustee Bell, whose strong opposition to bloomers is creating such a sensation in Toronto, is one of these cranks who think women have no rights.

STREET AND BRIDGE COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Street and Bridge Committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. In reference to the claim of J. G. Weir for an accident on the Hunter street bridge, we recommend that he be referred to the County Council.

2. With regard to the petitions for street watering outside of the contracts we recommend that the matter be left with the petitioners to arrange with the contractors.

3. Mr. David Knox having complied with the conditions upon which a grant of $50 was made to him towards constructing a drain, we recommend that a check be issued to him for that amount.

4. In regard to the claim made on behalf of Mrs. Thos. Dunn for an accident, your committee is of the opinion that the town is not liable for the accident and recommend that the matter be left in the hands of the Town Solicitor.

5. Your Committee having considered the matter of granolethic sidewalks, have come to the conclusion that where property owners desire such sidewalks the town would be justified in paying one-half the cost on the walks being properly constructed.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
HENRY BEST,
Chairman.

The report was adopted as read.

SEWERAGE COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Committee on Sewerage beg leave to report, that, it having been decided to instruct the contractor to proceed with the work on the outfall sewer, it will be necessary to make preparations to carry the work on further than the present contract extends, and we recommend that the Town Solicitor be instructed to take the necessary steps towards having the sewer extended from Townsend street to Brock street under the local improvement law and to prepare a by-law for that purpose.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
HENRY BEST,
Chairman.

The report was adopted as read.

2. Your committee recommend that the Bell Telephone Co. be paid for the telephone in the street inspector's residence up to date and be instructed to discontinue it.

3. We reccommend that the Fire, Water and Light Committee be instructed to make a new arrangement with the Light & Power Co., for the incandescent lights in the town buildings.

4. The Street and Bridge Committee to which the matter of the claim of Mrs. Chrysler was referred having settled the matter for $75, your committee issued a check to the solicitor for that amount to settle the claim.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
THOS. CAHILL,
Chairman.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

The committee of the whole council which met the deputation from the county asking for a grant for the erection of the bridge at Rosa's, recommended in a report that the sum of $750 be granted for that purpose. The report was carried.

On motion the request of the town engineer for permission to lay a two-inch pipe across the Hunter street bridge for the purpose of enabling the people of Ashburnham to erect a stand pipe, was granted. Permission from the county must now be secured.

Councillor Best and Denne, moved that the clerk be instructed to write to the property owners along the creek for permission to lay a 12-inch plank sewer along the creek. In explanation Mr. Best said there was more sewerage being emptied into the creek at present than into the George street sewer. It was a feasible plan, the cost would be 20 cents a foot, the whole to cost $640. This sewer would finally be connected with the outfall sewer. This strip, when completed would be the cheapest and best strip in town.

The motion was discussed and carried by a vote of 6 to 4.

NEW FIRE HOSE.

On motion of Councillors Mills and Phalen, the Fire, Water and Light Committee was instructed to immediately purchase 500 feet of Baker Fabric fire hose at 90c a foot.

NEW WALKS.

On motion of Councillors Mills and Phalen the Property Committee was instructed to meet the Property owners on George street, between Charlotte and Brock, with a view to having new permanent and uniform sidewalks.

On motion of Councillor Dawson the clerk was instructed to write the Street Railway Co. to comply with the agreement regarding the extension of the line.

NO MORE GRANTS.

A deputation consisting of Messrs. Alf, Kingscote, A. H. Webb and J. C. Craig, was present to ask for a grant to defray the expense of entertaining the Ancient Order of Foresters, who want to come to Peterborough from Toronto.

Councillors Dawson and Stone so strongly opposed the giving of any more grants that no action was taken on the written application which appears above, and the deputation was not heard. It is not likely that societies or organizations will receive grants of money from the Council in future.

NEGOTIATIONS ARE OFF.

In answer to a question put by Councillor Mason, Councillor Cahill stated that he understood that the negotiations between the town and a large manufacturing concern in Toronto with a view to the location of the firm in Peterborough, were off, as the terms submitted by the town were not acceptable to the firm.

HOTEL STABLING ACCOMMODATIONS.

In regard to the communication re the case of Martin Connors against whom a charge of not providing stabling accommodation is pending in the police court, Councillor Cahill introduced a bylaw which was read a first time, amending the clause in the present bylaw to read that stabling accommodation be within a reasonable distance of hotels.

A FAMOUS BALL GAME.

Lindsay's Ball Twirlers Defeat the Hiawatha Sluggers.

The Lindsay ball tossers, accompanied by their friends, their coachers, rooters, umpire killers and the whoop-'er-up contingent of the team, ran their excursion to Hiawatha yesterday. A train consisting of seven passenger coaches packed with the excursionists and two baggage cars containing balls and bats, masks, "deckers," and patents bases that work automatically and run out to meet the base runner in case he is apt to be put out on a forced run, steamed into the G.T.R. Station at 8.30 and immediately invaded the City of Peterborough which conveyed the party down the river to the historic Indian village.

The trip down the river was enjoyed by everyone and all spoke in praise of the accommodation afforded by the commodious steamer.

Arrived at Hiawatha the party had dinner and then all assembled to witness the exciting game of baseball between the Hiawatha team and the pig skin devotees from Lindsay. The teams lined up as follows:

LINDSAY.		HIAWATHA.
Clar. Andrus	Catcher	J. Beaver
Clate Andrus	Second base	J. Howard
Burke	Left field	J. Downs'
McWilliams	Short stop	D. Fawn
Hamilton	Pitcher	W. Beaver
Reeves	Third base	A. Crow
Stalker	Right field	J. Pandush
Sinclair	Center field	A. Anderson
Robinson	First base	C. Thompson

Umpire—Frank Dennison.

It was a good game of ball, but the Hiawatha's weren't in it from the start. Their batters evidently thought the ball was a tomahawk for they dodged every time it split the plate. To the Lindsays the sphere looked as big as a pumpkin and they slugged it into the next concession. The score was 17 runs to 5 in favor of Victoria's county town.

Jimmie Blaine, of the City of Peterborough was so elated at the result that he passed around a box of his famous Cabljero cigars. Everybody took one—even the stack on the steamer smoked.

The party passed through Peterborough on the return about 8 o'clock.

A General Invitation.

The committee of citizens which have had in charge the matter of presenting an address to Mr. Charles McGill, general manager of the Ontario Bank, congratulating him on his promotion to that position, have arranged to present him with the address on Monday evening next. The presentation will take place in the Council Chamber at 8 o'clock, and I, on behalf of the committee, invite all citizens to be present and join in the congratulations to a citizen of the town who has been highly honored by being called to such a responsible position in this financial institution.

Mayor.

THE CANOE PARADE.

Many Gaily Decorated Canoes Parade the Little Lake Last Night.

Between two and three hundred people gathered at Burnham's point last night to witness the illuminated canoe parade under the auspices of the Otonabee Canoe Club. The weather was sublime and the waters of the Little Lake as smooth as a mill pond, leaving nothing to be desired for the event so far as the elements were concerned.

At 9.15 the parade commenced in earnest and some 20 canoes, all illuminated by antidiluvian Chinese lanterns and all presenting much the same appearance formed in line and headed by R. M. Roy's natty little steam launch, meandered around the lake. The spectacle was a pretty one, so far as it went, but the diminutive number of craft, the painful similarity of illumination, and the utter absence of manoeuver, was in a measure calculated to dampen the expectancy of the average observer. The canoe club, however, undoubtedly did as well as could be expected with the material at hand, and the scene was materially enhanced by a display of fireworks from Mr. Roy's yacht, "Rob Roy."

Mr. H. O. Fisk, in his yacht "Libuella," took command of the proceedings, and Mr. R. M. Roy officiated as judge. Much credit is due the latter gentleman for his fair and impartial decisions, which resulted in the following awards for the best illuminated canoes:

First prize—Mr. Chas McClelland.
Second prize—Mr. Ernest Rutherford.

The members of the club are loud in their praise of Mr. H. O. Fisk for the efficient manner in which he contributed to this event, which is the first of the kind the club have held for five or six years. It is understood that last night's parade is but the initiative step towards a series of parades on a larger and grander scale. The club also intend holding the first of a series of races on Thursday evening next.

MASONIC OFFICERS.

Those who were Elected at Yesterday's Session of the Grand Lodge.

The election of officers occupied the attention of the Masons delegated to the Grand Lodge in Toronto yesterday. The Deputy District Grand Masters were elected first and resulted as follows:

St Lawrence—O. Bascomb, Kempville.
Ottawa—A. Hood, Arnprior.
Algoma—A. Moore, Rat Portage.
Nippising—A. A. Mowry, Gravenhurst.

Then came the report on the condition of Masonry by E. T. Malone, chairman of the Sub-Committee on Masonry, after which the election of grand officers was taken up and resulted as follows:

Grand Master—W. R. White.
Deputy Grand Master—William Gibson.
Grand Senior Warden—Benjamin Allen.
Grand Secretary—J. J. Mason, of Hamilton. Grand Treasurer—Hugh Murray, Hamilton, both re elected.

The election of Grand Junior Warden, Grand Chaplain, Grand Registrar are being proceeded with.

Peterborough is represented at the Grand Lodge by Messrs. W. F. Johnson, R. M. Dennistoun, B. Shortly, E. H. D. Hall and R. E. Wood.

WALLBROOK AND SIMONS

The Well-known Comedians Were Greeted by a Good House.

There was fun galore at the Opera house last night, when Wallbrook and Simons, the well known comedians, once more made their bow to a crowded house, assisted by other local talent. The aggregation gave a splendid and varied performance, which met with liberal appreciation on the part of the audience.

The eccentric dancing of Wallbrook was a revelation to those present. His one-foot clog was a neat performance. He has greatly improved since his last appearance.

Dan Simons also did some good dancing. His songs and his performance with the trick giraffe brought down the house.

The trapeze act by Maurice LaBelle was a daring feat and he was accorded tremendous applause. Harry LaBelle on the slack wire gave a better performance than ever and executed some daring manœuvres on the almost invisible wire.

Rickett's and Hickey's musical act was well received. On the mandolin Mr. Ricketts, accompanied by Miss Brault, played a solo that was encored. A laughable sketch by Messrs. Reynolds, Simons, Wallbrook and Connors fairly brought down the house.

The amateurs scored a success, and their next appearance will doubtless be the signal for another large turnout.

THE NEWLY-WEDDED PAIR.

Everybody spotted them for a bridal couple as they boarded the City of Peterborough yesterday morning with the Lindsay excursionists, and there was a good deal of winking and nodding among the passengers. The bride who was a country girl of 20, was very uneasy and evidently much put out, but the groom, who was two or three older, didn't propose to be sat down on without showing his colors. He therefore walked straight up to a man who was grinning and winking and queried:

"Are you grinning at us, sir?"

"Oh! no, no, no," replied the grinner as he instantly sobered up.

"Didn't know but you were. We were just married this morning and we are going to spend a week at Jubilee Point. Have you any objections to the marriage?"

"Of course not."

"Any objections to the bridal tour?"

"No, sir."

"You have seen newly-wedded couples before, haven't you?" kindly inquired the groom.

"Yes, a few," was the sheepish reply.

"Didn't scare you out of your boots, I hope. Do you or any of your friends here want to ask any questions?"

The grinner was a very sober looking man now, and he had no reply to that.

"Because, if they do, now is the time, you know. If anybody's at all curious I'll give 'em our names, ages, where born, how brought up, politics, religion, etc., and add that it was a case of love at first sight and neither of us had any money to speak of. Did you say——?"

No, the grinner didn't say. He was out of sight before the groom had gotten that far, and for some reason there was no more smiling and nodding among the other passengers.

"Well, Tillie, said the husband, as he looked all around and then sat down beside the blushing bride. "I thought the crowd wanted to know all about us, and I was willing to explain, but it seems I was mistaken, and so I guess we'll land at the other side all right. Are you quite comfortable, dear? Have a gum drop and then lay your dear, sunny head on your hubby-dubby's manly shoulder."

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.
